CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people, all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any other form of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a public testimonial. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those written for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

—A poor young man once fell in love with an heiress, and the passion being returned it only wanted the parents' consent to make them happy. At last, meeting the father, he asked for the daughter's hand. "How much money can you command?" "I cannot command much," was the reply. "Well, what are your expectations?" "Well, to tell the truth I expect to run away with your daughter and marry her, if you don't give your consent."

—A young lady viewing an intelligent ape a day or two ago in San Francisco, offered him her purse, which was accepted with chattering remarks. The ape helped himself to the contents, consisting of eighteen silver half dollars, one five and two and a half dollar pieces in gold, all of which he put into his mouth and deposited in his pouch and looked for more. The lady, astonished, called an employe of the gardens who, after an hour of coaxing, "swapping" a peanut for a coin, induced Mr. Ape to disgorge piece by piece. The purse was torn to tatters.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately, then renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and gives even both the hair and the body. This branch, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its gracefulness and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of color it imparts.

Safe Life Insurance.

The hostile investigations into life insurance and the collapse of so many unsound insurance companies are directly favorable to sound and strong companies. The managers of these must often have been annoyed, at the conduct of competitors who have striven to get business from them by underbidding, offering insurance for less than its cost and making reckless investments of the proceeds of this course. The managers of the great companies who have managed them with caution and conservatism, refusing to tempt customers by offering bargains which could not surely be carried out and to make "promising" and precarious investments, have now their reward. We print to-day the result of the official examination of the New York Life. It is evident that a severer test could not be applied to an insurance company than the careful appraisal of all its assets at their present market value. This test applied to the New York Life shows a surplus of about $6,000,000, or nearly one-fifth of the whole "admitted assets" of the company; which seems remarkable in view of the great depreciation since many of the company's investments were made. The table of stocks and bonds is particularly interesting and creditable. A total advance of ten per cent. over cost price in any list of permanent investments at this time is an evidence of unusual foresight and sagacity.

News and Notes.

Sir Edward Thornton goes as British Minister to Madrid, and will be succeeded at Washington by Hon. Lionel Sackville West, brother and heir presumptive of Lord Sackville, now British Minister at Buenos Ayres.

A joint resolution has been offered in the House of Representatives, by Mr. Riddle, of Tennessee, proposing an amendment to the constitution for the election of postmasters every four years, by the voters of the district, village, town or city, in which the duties of their offices are to be performed. The resolution was referred to the committee on the judiciary.

Billy Pastor, the minstrel, who died a few days ago, was the latest possessor of the famous emerald, known as "the gravestone," which superstitious actors believe causes the death of every one who wears it. It is certainly a curious circumstance that every recent owner of this handsome stone has died soon after coming into possession of it.

A Liverpool man, after lighting his cigar on the street, dropped the burning match through a sewer grating. Instantly a deafening explosion ensued, the pavement was torn to pieces and flames burst out. He had ignited a quantity of sewer gas, which continued burning for a long time.

Henry Norfolk, on trial for the murder of his wife, near Friendship, Md., in May last, was convicted of murder in the first degree. It may be explained that they had three children, all girls, and he killed her because they were not boys.

A Maryland bride, forty years old, went off in a spasm just as the important words were to be spoken, and was taken from the church to the insane asylum a raving maniac.

The pianos and organs used in the public schools of Boston, as well as those of many families, are tuned by blind pupils from the Perkin's Institute, who are found to be capable of peculiar skill in that occupation. Their lack of sight makes them more dependent on hearing, and the latter sense thereby gains in delicacy.

Professor—"In one evening I counted twenty-seven meteors sitting on my piazza." Class expresses great astonishment at the sociable character of the heavenly bodies.

There are three thousand people employed at Stewart's store, corner of Broadway and Tenth street. They have an immense loft, furnished with long lines of tables, at which are served tea and coffee for the clerks at lunch time, the clerks bringing their own lunch to take with their tea and coffee. These tables accommodate 500 at one time.

Mysterious lights have recently been seen on the coast of Wales. They seemed to rise from the sea and flash about in an erratic manner, and no one can understand them. As far back as the fifteenth century they were observed, and in the seventeenth century they became so bold as to land for a while and burn a field of hay. The tints of the flames are various.

New Hampshire Items.

On the evening of the 1st., as C. B. Rogers and a man named Wheeler were crossing the Merrimack river about one mile from Suncook, their boat sank and left them, one with an oar and the other with two umbrellas. Rogers succeeded in reaching the shore, and getting another boat, pulled Wheeler in. It was a wonder how they kept on top of water, for they both had on heavy ulsters, and it was in the middle of the river that their boat went down.

The reports concerning wheat-raising n this State this year are all one way and very favorable. Comer Paddleford of North Monroe gathers 100 bushels from 2 1-3 acres. In Stratham Enoch M. C. Lane has harvested 42 1-2 bushels from one bushel and a half of sowing. George Jenkins of Campton gets 56 bushels from 3 1-2 bushels, and A. Roble of the same town from an equal sowing gets 55 bushels, both crops very nice wheat. These Campton reports are strong arguments in favor of wheat raising on our upland farms. In Croydon, William W. Partridge has raised 30 bushels to the acre, and Welcome W. Partridge of the same town has raised 64 bushels on 290 rods of land. The wheat crop in the entire State must be large.

The Grand Jury, November term, of the Grafton County Supreme Court have returned thirty-five indictments. Scales and Clark, the men, who stole the wool from James W. Johnson, did not contend. The former was sentenced to ten years and the latter, who pleaded poverty as the cause of his crime, to eight years at hard labor. Both pay the costs of the trial.

The northern accommodation train on the Northern Railroad ran into the rear of a freight train at West Canaan, on Tuesday, creating a smash which required several hours' labor to clear up. Nobody was injured.

A few days ago, while removing the coal camp at Raymond, formerly occupied by the late David L. Magoon, who was found guilty of poisoning his wife by strychnine, a box was found under the brush in the camp which contained the body of a child and a bottle of strychnine. An investigation is to take place.

David W. Bowman of Herniker committed suicide Thursday evening about seven o'clock by cutting his throat. He attempted to hang himself early in the evening, but was discovered by his wife. Cause not known. Mr. Bowman was a farmer and in comfortable circumstances. Nothing unusual had been noticed in his appearance.

The Carroll County Five-cent Savings Bank at Wolfeboro is to be placed in the hands of a receiver, who has not yet been designated. There is a large deficiency between the liabilities and the assets, besides a shrinkage upon the securities.

THE CITY.

Dr. Robert W. Hooper of Boston has resigned the office of Director of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad, and George E. B. Jackson has been elected to fill the vacancy.

The following is the last monthly school report: District No. 1—whole number in attendance, 512; boys, 256; girls, 256. District No. 2—whole number, 493; boys, 235; girls, 258. District No. 3—whole number, 377; boys, 208; girls, 169. District No. 4—whole number, 135; boys, 72; girls, 63. Total in attendance, 1517; boys, 762; girls, 755.

Miss Susan Hale is evidently going to receive a hearty welcome. A hundred tickets were sold on the first announcement of her new entertainment, but a few more may be found at Mr. Myers' bookstore; they will be soon all gone. Entertainment on Wednesday evening at Miss Morgan's school, commencing at eight o'clock precisely.

Hartz, the famous magician, whose marvelous performances have gained for him a world-wide reputation, will be here Thanksgiving week. The Lowell Courier speaks of him as follows: "His feats are certainly wonderful. No magician or illusionist has ever appeared in our city with a more bewildering series of seemingly impossible tricks than he."

A new time table on the Eastern Railroad goes into effect this morning. The only change effecting local trains is that the mail train leaves Portsmouth at 10:57 A. M., instead of 11:05, as previously. This train reaches Boston at half-past one P. M.

The announcement that Rev. Mr. DeNormandie of the Unitarian Church would preach on Sunday upon the subject of damnation, brought out a full congregation. The pastor's text was from Luke 20:46-47, and the sermon went to prove that the word damnation used more frequently by Paul, than by any other writer in the Scriptures, meant judgment. The sermon was attentively listened to by the audience, and was one of the ablest expositions of the reverend preacher. He announced that on next Sunday he should preach upon the subject "what it is to be saved."

SUPREME COURT--5TH WEEK.

The jury in the case Lamprey vs. Donacour, tried on Friday, agreed on a verdict at about nine o'clock Friday evening, and then separated,—the verdict to be announced at the coming in of the Court this morning.

NO INSTRUCTIONS.

The fire department on the navy yard is kept in a high state of efficiency, and the "fire-bill" gives every resident officer a position and specified duty. To the marine corps is naturally assigned the responsible duty of keeping guard, and the hook and ladder truck is also in charge of the marines. The hours of labor have been recently changed on the yard, the knock-off bell for dinner ringing at 11:30 A. M. instead of at noon as formerly; and the first time it was so rung a detachment of the marines came tearing down the yard with the hook and ladder truck, under the impression that they were running to a fire, while the commanding officer of the corps made most astonishing time along the walks toward his assigned position. As the commander hurried past another one of the yard officers, the latter, divining the misapprehension which had occurred, called out, "Colonel, Colonel! There isn't any fire—it's only the go-to-dinner bell!" But the hurrying officer merely waved his hand, replied "Had no instructions," in a tone that implied that only death or an official order could stop him till he arrived at his post, and kept on with unchecked speed until he got there. The marine section of the navy yard fire department was ahead of all the rest of it, that day, but it does not turn out any more at the sound of the 11:30 bell, so the needed instructions have probably been served out.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, Nov. 10th.

Jefferson Janvrin, of Hampton Falls, was arraigned for cruelty to animals, in having beaten ducks. Judge Batchelder quashed the first complaint, on the ground that it was not complete. Mr. Janvrin was immediately brought up on another complaint, which the Court held to be good, and Mr. Janvrin was ordered to pay a fine of $10, and costs of prosecution, from which sentence he appealed, and gave bonds in $100 for his appearance. [A complaint against Mr. Janvrin, founded on this same alleged "cruel beating, torturing, tormenting, wounding, mutilating and killing" of a "certain number of ducks, to wit, six ducks," was quashed before the Supreme Court on Monday of last week, on the score of the information in the complaint being insufficient.]

COMICAL CHARITY.

The New York Sun of Thursday says: "The will of Mrs. Caroline A. Merrill, widow of Nathaniel W. Merrill, who died in this city leaving an estate of about $100,000, was filed yesterday in the Surrogate's Court. Mrs. Merrill bequeaths $5,000 to St. Vincent's Hospital, $5,000 to the Athenæum in Portsmouth, N. H., $10,000 to a niece and nephew, and the residue to Cardinal McCloskey, with the proviso that, should the Cardinal die before her, then the bequest was to go to Chancellor Preston." The Tribune's account is a little different, it reading as follows: "The will of Caroline A. Merrill leaves $50,000 to the New York Hospital, $5000 to St. Vincent's Hospital, $2000 to the Portsmouth, N. H. Athenæum and $50,000 to Cardinal McCloskey. To her nephew and niece she gives $5000 each. All the rest of the property is given to Cardinal McCloskey. The estate is valued at $400,000." Who Mrs. Caroline A. Merrill was is not stated, but if she intended her bequest to a Portsmouth institution as a charitable gift, she would have done far better to have given it to the Old Ladies' Home under Mr. Loyne's superintendence, to the Children's Home under the supervision of the Episcopal church, or some one of the many other excellent charitable institutions of the city, than to the wealthy and "exclusive" Athenæum.

The Sun of Saturday says the relatives of Mrs. Merrill will contest the will which gives the bulk of the $400,000 she left to the Catholic church, on the ground that undue influence was exerted to induce her to make that disposition of it, and that she was not mentally qualified to make a will at the time the document was executed, nor ever afterward until her death, which was hastened by the use of strong liquors. The New York Hospital governors will make no attempt to secure the admission of the will to probate, though the Hospital is remembered in the will to the extent of $50,000. It is asserted that she was always an Episcopalian until about 1870, when being travelling in Europe, much enfeebled in body and in mind, she was persuaded by emissaries from Rome that she would be restored to health if she willed her property to the Romish church. She was a native of this city, and was received into the Catholic church here by Rev. Canon Walsh.

The World of Saturday says Mrs. Merrill is "the widow of the late Nathaniel W. Merrill of Portsmouth, N. H.," formerly of the firm of Taylor & Merrill of New York. "The contestants of the will are the nephews and nieces of Mrs. Merrill, she having left no nearer kin. They are seventeen in number, as follows: Wm. T. Salter, Orange, N. Y.; Mary T. Salter and Augusta P. Salter, Portsmouth, N. H.; Augusta L. Tibbetts, Durham, N. H.; Caroline S. Delgardo, Madrid, Spain; Geo. Merrill, Paris; Richard Tibbetts, Mexico; Geo. H. Salter, Albert E. Salter, Mary Key Porter, Harriet S. Howard, Anna Salter, Ellen E. Buchanan, Robert E. Tibbetts, Geo. W. Tibbetts, Augustus Tibbetts and Jane J. Thomas." The World places the bequest to the Athenæum at $200 instead of $2000.

SANITARY COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

[Concluded from last issue.]

To prevent gravel and other street wash from being carried into the intercepting sewer, silt or catch basins should be built at the lower ends of the old sewers, in which the gravel would collect and might be removed from time to time, allowing only the lighter matters held in suspension to pass along. A silt basin and an overflow basin could easily be combined into one structure.

It is proposed that the intercepting sewers shall be built of glazed stoneware pipe whenever practicable, that material being, by reason of its strength, durability, non-absorption of liquids and glassy surface, the best available for such a purpose.

The following is presented as a somewhat detailed description of the proposed intercepting sewers:

FOR THE NORTH POND.

Beginning at a point between the Eastern and Concord railroads, near the present outlet of the culvert from Jones's brewery, construct a silt basin with overflow at about grade nine feet above mean low water, or about the ordinary height of the surface of the water in the culvert at that point. From the Eldredge brewery lay a 6-inch stoneware pipe to this silt basin,—also receive into it the flow of the culvert from Jones's brewery. From the silt basin to a point near the present end of the Cabot street sewer, lay a 12-inch stoneware pipe, about 1620 feet long, with the upper end at grade 9 and falling one foot in each 450 feet of length. This pipe to be laid between the tracks of the two railroads, where the ground is lowest, in order to save excavation, and to have four man holes and four lamp holes located at about equal distances. [Lamp holes are merely vertical pipes from the sewer to the surface of the ground, through which, as is indicated by the name, a lantern may be lowered to facilitate examination from an adjacent man hole.]

Continue the Cabot street sewer across the track of the Eastern railroad, and construct a silt basin and overflow, with a 12-inch pipe connecting with the intercepting sewer. From thence lay a 15-inch stoneware pipe about 820 feet long, with a fall of one foot in 600. This to continue between the tracks of the two railroads to a point near the foot of Langdon street,—there crossing obliquely to the low ground on the easterly side of the Eastern railroad, and thence parallel to said railroad to the foot of Brewster street. To have two man-holes and two lamp-holes at the angles and at uniform distances along the straight portion, as indicated upon the map.

Continue the Cabot street sewer to the line of the intercepting sewer and there construct a silt basin with its overflow continued across the railroads to the ponds, and a 12-inch pipe leading from the basin to the intercepting sewer. Thence lay an 18-inch stoneware pipe about 810 feet long and falling one foot in 700. To be parallel to the railroad to a point about one hundred and fifty feet south of the Concord Railroad station, and there deflect to the left to a point between the track of the two railroads near where the present Bridge street sewer passes beneath. This part to have two man-holes and two lamp-holes. Near the last named point build a silt basin with overflow to the pond. The silt basin to receive the Bridge street sewer and to have an 18-inch pipe connection with the intercepting sewer.

From thence build a brick sewer of 24 inches diameter and about 1650 feet long, with a fall of one foot in 1200, running diagonally across the railroad tracks to the southwest corner of the Eastern railroad station,—then as nearly straight as may be to the lower end of Vaughan street (passing under vacant lots and between buildings), thence along the low ground and nearly parallel to the shore line, to the bulkhead of the C. & P. railroad wharf, where will be built an outfall chamber, with self-acting tide gate to prevent the inflow from the river at high tide. The outlet to be below low water mark. This brick portion of the sewer to have three man-holes and three lamp-holes.

FOR THE SOUTH POND.

Beginning at a point in rear of the southerly houses on the east side of Richards Avenue, lay a 6-inch stoneware pipe extending northward about 500 feet until it reaches the end of the present covered sewer from Summer street. To have two man-holes and one lamp-hole and to be laid with as great a rate of fall as can be obtained. This is to receive the house drainage from Richards Avenue.

From the point of junction with the Summer street sewer lay a 12 inch stoneware pipe extending northeasterly about 150 feet, with a rate of fall of one in 300. This pipe to receive the flow from the present Peirce street sewer through a 12-inch branch pipe about 200 feet long with a lamp-hole at its upper end. These two pipes to enter a silt basin and overflow, from which a 15-inch stoneware pipe is laid, with a fall of one in 400, to a point in rear of the court house. The Mark street sewer is prolonged as a 12-inch pipe to the foot of Rogers street, uniting there with the old sewer and the two having a silt basin and overflow in common, from which a 12-inch pipe communicates with the intercepting sewer. The Court House sewer is also continued as a 12-inch pipe to a silt and overflow basin, and thence into the intercepting sewer. All these various 12-inch pipes have lamp-holes at their upper ends, and the 15-inch pipe has in its 900 feet of length, three man-holes and two lamp-holes.

From the man-hole at the lower end of this 15-inch pipe lay an 18-inch stoneware pipe about 850 feet long, with a fall of 1 in 450, to a point on Washington street near the head of Puddle Dock, — at which point the old Washington street sewer will enter it, passing through a silt basin with an overflow into the dock. In this length of 850 feet will be two man-holes and one lamp-hole.

At the man-hole located near the Pleasant street or Universalist church will be received a 6-inch pipe sewer which begins at the foot of Livermore street, extends thence to the foot of Edwards street and thence to said man-hole.

From the man-hole on Washington street lay a 24-inch brick sewer about 1100 feet long, (with a fall of 1 in 1000.) along the shore-line of the dock, through Charles street to Water street, and thence to the bulkhead of Melcher and Salter's wharf, where it will discharge through an outlet chamber with tide gate into the river below low water mark. This brick sewer is to have two man-holes and one lamp-hole.

In addition to the sewer just described, and supplementary to it in the duty of keeping sewage from entering the South Pond, it is proposed to lay a 6-inch stoneware pipe, starting from the foot of Wentworth street and extending easterly along the shore line of the pond, (with a fall of 1 in 100,) a distance of about 1100 feet, through South Mill street, crossing the ship yard and discharging into the river below low water mark. This 6-inch pipe should have two man-holes and two lamp-holes, but will probably not require a tide-gate.

I estimate that these intercepting sewers can be built, (at present prices of labor and materials,) in the manner herein described for the following amounts:

For the North Pond.....$8,600
For the South Pond.....8,300

Total.....$16,900

Having thus provided for maintaining the purity of the ponds in the future, we will now turn our attention to the removal of the noxious matter already there.

Firstly, the filthy pools at the foot of Cabot and Brewster streets should be filled in with unobjectionable material, and so ditched and connected with the culverts under the railroads or with the intercepting ewer, that no surface water can collect or remain there. This filling should be made with clean gravel, ashes, or other imperishable material. The low spots near the upper end of the proposed North sewer should also be filled in a similar manner. The deposits of soft and putrid mud in both ponds should then be dredged out to such a depth that no portion of the bottom shall ever be uncovered by the ordinary operations of the mills.

It being a matter of considerable interest (as bearing upon the question of the best manner of disposing of the material dredged from the ponds) to know something of its composition and properties, I took samples of the mud from each pond and placed them in the hands of Prof. W. Ripley Nichols, of the Mass. Institute of Technology, for chemical analysis. His letter communicating the result of the analysis is hereunto appended.

As it would appear that the mud has no special value as a fertilizer, I would propose that for the South Pond it be deposited upon the shore thereof, and that from it an embankment or levee be constructed, by means of which the overflow of the marsh from Edwards street to Richards Avenue may be prevented at all states of the tide, and the enclosed land thereby reclaimed and rendered productive and of value. If the exposure to the rains, which Prof. Nichols suggests, should not prove sufficient to deodorize the material, a light covering of loam or gravel could be spread over it, which would effectually do so. If this embankment were to be built over the line of the proposed sewer, it might be enlarged and become a portion of the grading for a street to extend nearly parallel to Court street from Richards Avenue to the Universalist church.

I would suggest that the material from the North Pond be similarly deposited on low land bordering thereon, or that it might be utilized to some extent upon the city farm. Or, if the gates at the mill are of sufficient capacity to pass a scow, the mud might be taken out into the swift current of the river and there dumped.

I estimate that to remove the necessary amount of mud from the two ponds and satisfactorily dispose of the same, will cost about $2000, while for the filling near the foot of Brewster and Cabot streets an expenditure of $500 would probably suffice.

Respectfully,

L. FRED'K RICE, Civ. Eng'r.

BOSTON, NOV. 3, 1877.

L. Fred'k Rice, Esq.—Dear Sir: I received from you on the 29th ult. two specimens of mud for chemical examination. The nature of the material is such that it would be very difficult to give a close average composition of the whole mass of the mud, but as fair samples as I could take gave the following results:

Moisture—No. 1, 51 per cent.; No. 2, 45 per cent.

Organic Matter—No. 1, 7 per cent.; No. 2, 5 per cent.

Mineral Matter—No. 1, 42 per cent. (soluble in acid, 9; insoluble in acid, 33). No. 2, 50 per cent. (soluble in acid, 8; insoluble in acid, 42.

The specific gravity of the wet mud was in each case 1.4, so that the cubic foot of mud, as I received the samples, would weigh 87.5 pounds. I found that the mud treated with acid gave off twenty-five per cent. of sulphuretted hydrogen by weight, or from every cubic foot of the mud there would be disengaged two and three-tenths cubic feet of sulphuretted hydroden. The two samples were substantially the same in this respect.

I also found the amount of chloride of sodium (sea-salt) in the muds to be as follows: In No. 1, one per cent. and in No. 2, one-half per cent. of the wet mud. I noted that the muds contained considerable iron and sulphate of lime, and am of the opinion that the spreading of a quantity of the material upon the land in warm weather should be objected to on sanitary grounds. Even in cold weather there would probably be some offense.

As far as injury to the land itself goes, I should think that if the mud were spread this fall and the ground was such as to afford reasonable opportunity for the rain and snow water to leach through the deposit, most of what would be injurious would be washed out before another summer. I should think that it might well be harrowed in and sown upon in the spring. Of course what is now growing would be killed by the application.

Yours truly, WM. RIPLEY NICHOLS.

REPORT

SUPERINTENDENT OF THE INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

Of the State of New York,

ON THE EXAMINATION OF THE

New York Life Insurance Co

OF NEW YORK CITY.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT,

Albany, October 24th, 1877.

The Superintendent having personally, and through the services of the Deputy Superintendent, aided by the force of the Department, commenced and completed a searching examination into the affairs of the NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY of the City of New York, it affords him unqualified pleasure at being able to announce and make public the gratifying fact that the result of this examination is most satisfactory, and that, from the data in possession of the Department, the solvency of this, or other companies undergoing a similar test, can be readily ascertained, at little expense, for many years to come.

This Company was organized in 1845, and no investigation having been made, either by the Department or other properly constituted public authority, prior to the date when the Department was formed, much time has necessarily been expended to bring the matter to a conclusion.

The services of four one gentlemen of character, standing, and experience, have been procured, who have valued and appraised the property situated in forty counties in this State and in the State of New Jersey, covered by 2,629 mortgages amounting to the sum of $17,354,847.84, and forty-nine pieces of property owned by the Company, amounting in value to the sum of $2,541,576.46; which services have been intelligently and efficiently performed. The abstracts of title to each and every piece of these large amounts of property have been closely examined and reported on to the satisfaction of the Superintendent. All other investments, amounting to $10,311,045.67, have been carefully looked into, and evidence of payment by the Company, either by check or otherwise, for such investments, demanded and given, although many of these payments were made twenty years ago. The cash securities of the Company, the cost of which on the books amounts to $9,730,929.91, are of the most unexceptionable character, and are worth $589,515.76 more than cost.

The Superintendent personally examined these securities, taking the letter, number, and denomination of each security, and preserving the record of the same in the Department. In every instance where securities had depreciated in value, such depreciation had been promptly charged to profit and loss account, and all items of doubtful character had been stricken off by the Company from its assets, and omitted from its reports. Complete seriatim lists of policies, premium loans, and uncollected and deferred premiums have been made, and are on file in the Department.

LIABILITIES.

Every item of liability, real and actual, or contingent, are sworn to by the officers in the last Annual Report made to the Department, a copy of which is herein embraced, has been closely scrutinized, and the statements in said report found to be true to the letter, and no other liabilities were found to exist.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The different Departments—Medical, Actuarial and Agency—have been reviewed, with the most satisfactory results—gentlemen entirely competent and assiduous having been found in charge of each branch, to whose conduct and performance or their duties much is due.

Agents collecting funds of the Company at different points are held to a rigid accountability, remittances being required at the larger points tri-weekly, while at the smallest points settlements are not allowed to be delayed longer than one week. Bonds are required where the sums handled are sufficient to justify the same.

The system of book-keeping adopted by the Company, after many years of experience, seems to be perfect,—the checks by one division on another being so complete, that no wrong can be done to policy-holders by false entries of any kind short of wide-spread collusion among many employes, all of whom were found to be ex remely courteous, and, acting under instructions from the principal officers of the Company, were prompt in furnishing full information as to every detail.

Judged by the hardest test that could be applied under the law, and with every doubtful item eliminated from their resources, the net surplus, as shown by the detailed statement of this Company, which follows, amounts to $5,962,878.79.

This exhibit clearly established the fact that where a Life Insurance Company is honestly, ably and prudently managed, there is no occasion to force a showing of solvency by including in its assets prospective value of real estate, and excesses of premium payments to be received.

For the reasons above given the Superintendent has no hesitation in stating that this great Corporation is entitled to public confidence and its officers to his warmest commendation.

—"That Umbrella of Mine?" It was last heard of going down street, being held over "That Girl of Mine" by "That Rival of Mine."

—A small Parisian, having returned with his nurse from the park, is asked by his fond pa what he will be when he grows up. "A soldier," he says, with conviction. "A hussar?" pursues his parent. "No." "Artillery-man?" "No." "An infantry-man?" "No." "Well, what kind of a soldier will you be?" "A soldier for nursemaids."

—When Mrs. Scott Siddons was in Providence a year ago last February, Mrs. Ettie Henderson loaned her a very valuable album to get her signature. The album was subsequently missing, and it was supposed that some one of the many who visited her had taken it away by mistake. Mrs. Siddons recently sent the book to Mrs. Henderson from Sidney, New South Wales. She found it packed away in a small box with some books of "Iolanthe," a character which she had never played since she was in Providence.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, at times that exist, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more, so confident am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid lady who uses it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, it will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under such conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Inflammation and Ulceration from menstrual stages, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Threatened Consumption, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfils a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain from THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 300 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of these diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur

Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures than any medicines; have cured cripples, and alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a thinner. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gips nor griebes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

MESSRS. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. When the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by pain or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Bulium in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of chalp, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, so exactly larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tasting. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of proprietary medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to Friends in its favor. Power of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any medicine of the kind known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a public testimonial, hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially in the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS, AUBURN, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Effects of Breathing Foul Air.

The air we breathe, which a great English physician calls gaseous food, may become impure to the degree of being indigestible to our lungs and unfit for the performance of functions which are quite as important as those of our solid and fluid victuals. Dull headaches, nausea, loss of appetite, and of the sense of smell, and the sadness produced by the unsatisfied hunger after oxygen, are only incidental and secondary evils; the great principal curse of the troglodyte habit is is influence on the respiratory organs. In 1853, when Hanover and other parts of Northern Germany were visited by a very malignant kind of small-pox, the great anatomist Langenbeck tried to discover the peculiarity of organic structure which disposes one man to catch the disease while his neighbor escapes. "I have cut up more human bodies than the Old Man of the Mountain with all his accomplices," he writes from Gottingen in his semi-annual report, "and, speaking only of my primary object, I must confess that I am no wiser than before. But, though the mystery of small-pox has eluded my search, my labors have not been in vain. They have revealed to me something else—the origin of consumption. I am sure now of what I suspected long ago, viz., that pulmonary diseases have very little to do with intemperance or with erotic excesses, and much less with cold weather, but are nearly exclusively (if we except tuberculous tendencies inherited from both parents, I say quite exclusively) produced by the breathing of foul air. The lungs of all persons, minors included, who had worked for some years in close workshops and dusty factories, showed the germs of the fatal disease, while confirmed inebriates, who had passed their days in open air, had preserved their respiratory organs intact, whatever inroads their excesses had made on the rest of their system. If I should go into practice and undertake the cure of a consumptive, I should begin by driving him out into the Deister (a densely-wooded mountain range of Hanover,) and prevent him from entering a house for a year or two."—Popular Science Monthly.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash-, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

The Eastern War.

The London News correspondent telegraphing from Dolny Dubnik, Nov. 6th, says: "In consequence of the evacuation of this place by the Turks the Russians have contracted the circle of investment to thirty miles. The Russians have 120,000 men, sufficient to fill two continuous lines of trenches around the whole position. Five or six thousand cattle are visible in Osman Pasha's position, and other indications show it is probable that he can hold out thirty or forty days longer."

A Russian official despatch says: "A cavalry detachment captured Vratza, half way between Plevna and Sofia, Friday, with several thousand wagons and a large quantity of stores. The attack was so sudden that our loss was small, though the place was defended by 800 Turkish infantry and 300 Circassians."

News and Notes.

The French Chamber of Deputies organized on Sunday by the choice of Jules Grevy as President, by 299 votes against 150 blanks. The former Vice President and Secretaries were re-elected.

Mr. J. B. Lawes, writing to the London Times, estimates that the whole crops of 1877 produced in England will not exceed 10,000,000 quarters, leaving as much as 13,000,000 quarters to be imported, unless the high price of wheat should somewhat reduce the average demand—an alternative which he thinks rather the more probable of the two. In any case, however, very considerably more than half the bread of England must this year come from abroad.

The quarrel between the Canada Southeastern Railroad and the Passaumpsic of northern Vermont continues. Arrests and counter-arrests are made, but the track of the Passumpsic is not relaid.

Four little boys, children of Joseph Ends of Pittsburg, Pa., during the absence of their parents Friday night, playfully emptied the contents of a kerosene can into the grate. Three of the little fellows were seriously burned, one of whom has since died.

At Columbia, Ill., Henry Goetz and his wife were murdered and their house was pillaged. Charles Strahl was arrested at St. Louis as the murderer, taken to Columbia and lynched by the citizens.

There was a big fire in Kennebuckport, Me., Sunday night. The post-office, Parker House and other buildings were burned; loss $30,000.

Fifty-eight "American stone-masons" recently went to London to take the place of the striking English masons. Fifty-five of these American masons are Irish, two German, and one French.

Congress.

The Senate has confirmed John L. Stevens as minister to Sweden, and John Defrees as public printer.

The House by a strict party vote has decided to cut the army down to 20,000 men, and that one quarter of the army shall be stationed on the Texas border. The South hasn't forgiven the army yet for the part it took in preserving the Union.

New Hampshire Items.

At Bridgewater, Friday afternoon, a man named Putney, a woodcutter, struck another named Tobine, seventy years old, with an axe, splitting his head open. A horse belonging to Putney entered land of Tobine's and began feeding. Tobine started to drive the horse off, when Putney rushed upon him with an axe. Physicians say Tobine cannot live. Putney is at large.

The case of the State vs. William Flanders, for manslaughter, George E. Austin of Bow being the victim, was concluded Friday. The jury were out all night and came in Saturday morning, having failed to agree, seven being for conviction and five for acquittal. Flanders was remanded to jail.

A. G. Cotten of Brownington, Me., procured an advance of $1600 from George Emery of Woodville, whose house he had contracted to build, ran in debt some $1200 more to various parties, and slid out of town in the night.

A farm in Temple, owned by Barnard Farrar, was burned Friday night, and a Frenchman named John Collington has been arrested for setting it on fire.

An unoccupied house, shed and carriage-house in the suburbs of Nashua were burned Friday night, it is supposed by tramps.

Political.

Senator Conkling pronounces the President's civil service reform order "factional in its intent, made in the interest of envious and presuming little men." He also says that Packard was "more elected than Hayes by three or four thousand votes," and adds: "People say this man assumes all the virtues of reform in an office which he has gained by the simple repudiation of the ladder that lifted him. It is the general record of usurpers that though sustained they do their favors to the other side. The President has a democratic Cabinet."

The Wheeling, Va., Register, a democratic paper, says: There comes a story of a postmaster in Webster County, who posted a letter through the mails with a ten cent Confederate postage stamp on it. The Postmaster General overhauled him for it, and the postmaster got out of it by replying that he "only intended to give practical effect to the President's policy."

The jury at Columbia, S. C., have found a verdict of guilty against Congressman Smalls for bribery, etc.

Senator Conkling, in the Senate on Monday, stated that what purported to be an interview with him, published in the New York Herald, was a mere fabrication from beginning to end, as he has not held an interview for publication with any person for months.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 159.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Dover is older than Hampton, yet the latter has more old houses, built nearly two hundred years ago. Dover has one old one. It will now be noted.

In early times one of the garrisons, for security against Indian depredations, stood a little west of Central Square, which is the one north of the Central street bridge. That garrison was Major Richard Waldron's. On the night of June 27, 1689, the Indians made an attack, killed Major Waldron and several others.

Major Waldron had a son Richard. The latter had a son Richard, who had a son Thomas Westbrook Waldron, born in 1721. He was possessed of wealth, was a captain in the provincial militia, and in 1745 went with Sir William Pepperrell of Kittery, in the expedition against Louisburg, which resulted in its capture.

This Capt. Thomas Westbrook Waldron in 1741 built a large house, about where his ancestor's garrison stood. It faced easterly toward the square. It was a large double house, its rooms spacious with ceilings high. I knew it 44 years ago. It was then occupied by three families, Deacon David Wentworth and Wm. Randall in the lower tenements, and Hiram Wentworth up-stairs.

Some years later, this house was moved back a few feet, its front turned to the south, facing Second street, and Morrill's block erected on the old spot and front yard. The building still stands, and, if our dates are correct, it is 135 years old. It has withstood life's storms and life's changes. While its first occupant was alive, men of fame and others in social life, gathered in its spacious rooms, for the captain was given to hospitality.

We have received from Horace King of Thompsonville, Conn., agent for New England, four parts (Nos. 45 to 48, inclusive) of the New and Revised Edition of Zell's Encyclopedia. This work has been revised to date, many new articles written and inserted and eighteen Colored Maps added, and its usefulness and accuracy thereby materially increased. It is published by Zell, Davis & Co., of Philadelphia, in sixty-four numbers. Price 50 cts., per number.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY

Without recalling the excellence of the past, the publishers of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY announce, for the year to come, the following papers:

THE PICTURESQUE SIDE OF AMERICAN FARM LIFE.—This subject will be treated in a series of separate papers engaged from writers who stand in the front rank among Americans, both in qualities of style and in keen insight of nature. Mr. R. Rhodes, author of a delightful paper on "Fox-Hunting in New England" in the Jan uary number, will represent the same section in this series. Julian Hawthorne, whose papers on similar topics have been highly prized and popular (in ur of SCRIBNER will write of Farm Life in New York. Mr. Charles Dudley Warner, the journalist, will describe the characteristics of Western farming, of which but little has been written. It is expected that the first number will appear, will be of a refined and typical character, commensurate with the subject-matter. It is thought that no paper or series of papers yet issued in SCRIBNER will so fully realize the constant desire of the magazine to keep out of the ruts, and, both in text and illustrations, to obtain quality rather than quantity, and to print fresh, strong and delicate work from original sources.

"ROXY," — by Edward Eggleston (author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," etc.). This new novel will doubtless be the most important American serial of the year. The first number was published in November. Those who have read it in manuscript declare ROXY to be much the most striking and remarkable story this author has ever written. It is illustrated by one of the ablest of the younger American painters—Mr. Walter Shirlaw, President of "The American Art Association."

AMERICAN SPORTS.—Some of the most novel and entertaining of these papers are yet to appear, the scenes of which will be in the West, the Middle States, the South, New England and Canada.

OUT-OF-DOOR PAPERS,—by John Burroughs, author of "Wake Robin," etc., will contain not only articles on Birds, but on "Ramping," "Camping Out," and kindred topics. Mr. Burroughs' papers will begin in the January number, the first being entitled "Birds and Birds," and illustrated by Fidelia Bridges.

ARCHITECTURE OF BIRDS.—Dr. Thomas M. Brewer will contribute four exquisitely illustrated articles on birds' nests, which every lover of nature will delight in. Dr. Brewer has probably the finest collection of birds' eggs in the world to draw upon for illustration of these papers.

THE SADDLE HORSE.—Col. George E. Waring, whose excellent work of various sorts our readers are familiar, contributes two illustrated articles on the horse. He treats specially of saddle-horses and their use for pleasure and for sport, including roadriding, fox hunting and racing. The nature of the English thoroughbred and that of his Eastern progenitor (the Arabian) are fully considered in relation to these uses.

SAXE HOLM.—New stories by this popular writer will be given in early numbers of SCRIBNER, beginning with "Joe Hale's Red Stockings," to appear in January. This "novelette" chronicles an episode of the late war for the Union.

"HIS INHERITANCE,"—By Adeline Trafton, so well begun in the Midsummer Holiday number, will be continued nearly through the year. It will be found to be of increasing interest to the very end.

"A KNIGHT OF FORTUNE,"—Bjalmar Hjorth Boyesen's new novel—will be begun in SCRIBNER at the conclusion of "His Inheritance." It will reveal a phase of American society undreamed of by most of our readers, and will be certain to increase the reputation of the writer as a master of English and of his art.

THE EDITORIAL DEPARTMENTS will continue to comprehend the drama in America, and will include the present admirable summary of English publications. Besides the special articles above enumerated, the magazine will contain Poems, Sketches, Essays, Reviews, and shorter Stories of the highest character. A large practical reduction in price is made by an increase in the number of pages.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS of the MAGAZINE, in variety and excellence of design and in typographical execution, will continue to be in advance of those of any other popular magazine at home or abroad.

Subscription price, $4.00 a year, payable in advance to us or to any book-seller.

No club rates or other discounts to subscribers. The Magazine is now sold at all news stands, and its circulation is increasing in a constant, steady and ratio from year to year.

100,000 COPIES OF

ST. NICHOLAS!

FOR THE

Christmas Holidays.

Only 25 Cents a Copy.

Some idea of the attractions offered in the CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY NUMBER of ST. NICHOLAS, of which 100,000 copies will be issued, may be gained from the following: There are poems by Henry W. Longfellow and William Cullen Bryant; a fine hitherto unpublished sketch of boy life, by the late Theodore Winthrop; and a short story by the author of "Alice in Wonderland;" a new fairy story, "Prince Marjoram Day," by Frank R. Stockton; "The Peterkins' Charades," by Lucretia P. Hale; a poetic riddle by Dr. J. G. Holland, and a conversation between the managers of young folks in old times and nowadays, by Gail Hamilton.

Of the story element, the brightest feature is the beginning of the new serial by Miss Alcott, entitled "Under the Lilacs," with illustrations by Mary Hallock Foote.

The Christmas Number contains also the opening of a new serial story for Boys, a tale of tropical life, by Gustavus Frankenstein, entitled "Tower-Mountain," admirably illustrated by the artists Moran and Kelly; a Portrait of Miss Alcott, with a sketch of her life; several poems by Two Little American Girls; a Play, and a Christmas Carol (set to music); and a table of contents complete short stories, bright, funny, exciting and pathetic, &c., &c.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1878,

Besides Miss Alcott's serial for Girls, and the three serials for Boys, to follow each other in rapid succession, will contain a short serial story by the Author of "The Schonberg-Cotta Family;" and an article, "Around the World in a Yacht, Boys!" has been promised by a brilliant writer, now on the actual tour of the world in his own yacht. There will be contributions by a daughter of the famous Peter Parley, and a Letter to Young Americans by George MacDonald. The "How" series of miscellaneous papers, by various authors, will tell How to bind your own books; How they mine coal; How to enjoy yourselves at home; How to be an amateur printer; How to entertain company; How to be a carpenter; How to make an ice-boat; How to build a house; How India rubber is gathered; How matches are made; How money is made; How mackerel are caught; How they laid the Atlantic cable; How they mine in California; How they live in the tea country! How to be a parlor magician, etc. There will be also a series of stories and sketches of Foreign Life, TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE, such as "Old Nicolai" (a Russian story), "A Day among the Welsh Castles," "Christmas in Germany," "The Indians of the Amazon," "How Kitty was Lost in a Turkish Bazaar," Master Montezuma," (a Mexican story), "Hannah Lapp Maiden," and many others.

THE CITY.

Diaries for 1878 already invite us to purchase at Goodrich's, under the City Hall.

A. F. Howard, Esq., assignee of Hill & Carr, is paying his first dividend of ten per cent. on the liabilities of the firm.

The last month's freight earnings of the Eastern Railroad are said to have exceeded any previous month's in the history of the road.

The third social assembly in the Light Artillery course will be given this (Tuesday) evening in Mechanics' Hall; grand march at 8:30; music by Harlow's band. Tickets 50 cents.

Mr. Robert Gurney, an insane man, residing on Mechanic street, left his home Sunday morning and wandered to Greenland. Exhausted and bewildered he dropped in the road near Greenland Parade, where he was recognized by Mr. Matthew Lowd, who brought him home in the evening.

The fall and winter arrangement which went into effect Monday on the Eastern Railroad has one change which is made with a view to insure a connection at Rochester with the eastern-bound trains over the Portland & Rochester Railroad. Those passengers leaving Portsmouth at five minutes before ten o'clock A. M., reach Rochester at eleven o'clock, in season to connect with trains for Alfred, Springvale, etc., on the Portland & Rochester. As at some seasons there is considerable travel for the Portland & Rochester from this vicinity, which formerly was enabled to connect in this way, we are glad to know that the connection is restored.

SUPREME COURT--5TH WEEK.

Monday, Nov. 12, before Stanley, J.

The Court came in at eleven o'clock. The flowage case of Forsaith vs. Salisbury Mills was announced to be settled. The list of cases on the jury list was gone over. The new docket was taken up, and cases marked for the jury were disposed of in their order.

In the case of Lamprey vs. Donacour, the verdict of the jury was for the defendant. Lamprey and Marston for plaintiff; Wiggin and Fernald for defendant.

In the case of Jane S. Janvrin vs. George Janvrin, libel for divorce, filed April 8th, 1874, a hearing was had upon a motion made by Mrs. Janvrin's counsel for a new trial, while the defendant moved for judgment on the report of the referee refusing the divorce. The libellee appeared in person, and desired to be heard, and insisted that he had been ever ready, willing and anxious to have the case tried. The counsel for Mrs. Janvrin maintained that she was entitled to a re-hearing on the ground of newly discovered evidence. Judge Leavitt opposed the motion for a new trial and gave a history of the delays in the case. Mr. Janvrin is eighty-three years of age, and insists that if the request for a new hearing is granted the libellant will not try her case, and he wants it finished before he dies. Judge Stickney complained that Mr. Janvrin had conveyed his furniture, which by the marriage settlement was to be Mrs. Janvrin's. This Mr. Janvrin denied. The Court declined to grant motion for new hearing,—and in the meantime the interesting question as to who shall pay $235 for the referee's report, before there can be judgment ordered upon it, must be considered.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The meeting for women, at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, at the North church, was largely attended, the house being nearly filled. The praise service was preceded by a prayer, offered by Mr. Loyne. The exercises began with the hymn, "I will sing you a song," after which Rev. Mr. Owen led in prayer. Mr. McGranahan, accompanied by his wife, sang "Wonderful words of life." After some remarks by Mr. Whittle, Mr. McGranahan sang "Memories of childhood," with much effect. Mr. Whittle's theme was "The gift of God," founded on John 4:10. Jesus is the gift of God to men. This gift is offered to us to-day, if we will accept it. Faint and weary, Jesus sat by Jacob's well, seeking to save a lost and sinful woman. He came into the world to seek and save sinners. We do not first seek him, but he seeks us, for he wishes to save us. As did the woman of Samaria, so men, now, begin to question, and make excuses. They want to understand the whole plan and process of salvation. But salvation must be taken on simple trust, just as we take some of the common laws of nature. The matter is a personal one,—not between the sinner and Christians, but between the sinner and God. Everyone who would be saved must first believe himself a sinner, needing salvation; when we come to this point, submit ourselves to Him, and trust in Him, then the Lord will answer and save. The speaker closed by exhorting every mother present to seek Christ. Mr. Shelton, a reformed opium eater, gave a very effecting account of his struggles against this terrible habit, and of his final triumph over it, by the help of Jesus. During the singing of the hymn, "Only trust Him," quite a number rose for prayers.

The 7:30 meeting for men was nearly so large as that of the afternoon. The praise service was rendered with more than usual spirit, the select tons being "Yield not to temptation," "Rescue the perishing," "O, sing of His mighty love," and other pieces. The regular service began with singing "Pull for the shore," after which Rev. Mr. Hubbell led in prayer. The choir then sang "Only an armor bearer." Mr. Whittle read the 30th chapter of 1st Samuel, as a scripture lesson. Mr. McGranahan then sang "My Redeemer," and also "Memories of childhood." Mr. Whittle took the "parable of the prodigal son" as the subject of his remarks. The young man illustrates the course of the sinner in his downward path. Men naturally desire to get away from God—no not want to know him. The speaker drew a graphic picture of the degrading effects of sinful habits, illustrating by cases that had come under his own observation. Men must come to a knowledge of themselves, before they will be persuaded to turn to God. God is ready to receive those who will turn to Him. He loves the sinner, and wants to save him. The father meets the son, when he is "yet a great way off," and welcomes his return; so God will welcome every returning sinner. Mr. Shelton again gave his testimony to the power of Christ to deliver from the habit of opium eating. Mr. McGranahan then sang, "Come Home," with great pathos. At request, several persons arose for prayers, and Mr. Whittle offered prayer in their behalf. During the singing of the "Gates Ajar," most of the congregation retired. A social meeting followed, in which, several testimonies were given. A number rose for the prayers of Christians. The meeting closed with the benediction by Mr. Hubbell.

The nine o'clock prayer meeting, and the afternoon and evening overflow meetings, were well attended.

The forenoon meeting, Monday, was well attended.

The gospel meeting, in the evening, was as large as the former ones of the same kind. After the usual praise service, the audience joined in singing the hymn "Whosoever will," and Dr. Alden offered prayer; other hymns were sung, and Mr. Whittle, after invoking a blessing, took for the subject of his remarks the story of Cain and Abel, as related in Genesis. He quoted passages to show that the New Testament writers believed the narrative, and said they mentioned nearly every miracle related in the Old Testament. He said we must believe the whole Bible, or reject the whole. This story shows one man accepted of God and another one rejected; Abel's offering was accepted, because he acknowledged himself a sinner,—his offering recognized a need of redemption through sacrifice; Cain's was rejected, because he would not repent, but wanted salvation in his own way. Christ is the sacrifice for sinners; they must come to God through this sacrifice, just as they are, acknowledging their sins, and looking to Christ for salvation. How shall any man dare to appear before God, after rejecting his son, Jesus Christ?

While the choir sang a hymn a part of the congregation passed out, but the larger part remained. Prayer was offered by Mr. Noyes, and remarks made by Mr. Hubbell; Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "Why not to-night?" and during the singing several persons rose for prayers; on invitation quite a number of others also arose. After prayer by Mr. Whittle, an enquiry meeting was held.

The meeting for men at Mechanics' Hall was led by Mr. Shelton, a large number of men being present.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, November 12th.

Henry Moulton, a gentleman who divides his time between this city and Brentwood, (giving the most of it to the latter place, however,) returned home last week from his country residence. On Saturday he got gloriously drunk, and made things lively at his home. On Monday he was brought before Judge Batchelder, charged with drunkenness, and brawl and tumult, to both which charges he pleaded guilty, and was assessed $9.90 on the first complaint and $13.04 on the other. Up country he goes again.

[Communicated.]

OUR POOR.

The approaching winter brings us plenty of work in the matter of relief for the poor. For the past five years, at least, each succeeding winter has brought with it increasing numbers of poor families, and the present we fear will find more destitution among us than any of its predecessors. This sad fact must be met by sympathetic hearts and willing hands. There is plenty of money in Portsmouth, so that there is no need of one person lacking for the necessaries of life. Our wealth is not ours while there is a fellow-being among us in want! There will be appeals for aid from different sources from time to time, and we must be prepared to respond according as we have received.

Don't shrug your shoulders, knit your brows and exclaim that "folks have no business to be poor." Perhaps they have not, in one sense. Shiftlessness, thriftlessness, liquor-drinking and other causes contribute to poverty; and in many instances all these are inherited, so that the unfortunate thus born is no more responsible for his condition than he is for that of his neighbor. But no matter if he is. If he is a sufferer he must be helped. Don't forget that! And don't let any old boots, or shoes, or old cast-off garments lie in your attics this winter until you have satisfied yourself that all in want are provided for.

We have many benevolent institutions among us, which have done and are ever ready to do. Nearly all of our religious societies have each their subordinate local mission society. We have likewise, as agencies of relief, the Howard Benevolent Society, the Home for Indigent Women (with the valuable missionary labors of Rev. Mr. Loyne) and last but by no means least, the Children's Home, which is mainly supported by St. John's Episcopal Church. In this Home there are some twelve or thirteen children, that are not only well fed and clothed but are taught good morals and good manners; in short, have all the advantages of an average home. The church rector, Mr. Holbrook, has been signally active in ferreting out cases of real want and promptly administering relief thereto; besides originating and personally managing the Home above alluded to. A case of neglect on the part of a drunken mother to provide for her two children (the father being absent at sea) was promptly met on Saturday last by the wide awake Episcopal clergyman, who ordered them to be sent to the Children's Home, where they are to remain until the father can find an employment that will enable him to board them at his expense. This is but one of many instances of charity from this source we doubt not, but as it came under our personal observation we are led to record it. We care not whether these reliefs are under the auspices of the Episcopal, Unitarian, Presbyterian or Catholic churches, whether the contributors are evangelical or infidel, if so be that they are doing good to their fellow-men,—loving their neighbor as themselves—for this is all there is of true religion.

THE VICINITY.

Mr. Horatio W. Trefethen, of Kittery, has sold his fishing schooner, the "Ranter," to parties in Winchester, Mass.

The York County Bible Association will hold a one day's session in the Methodist church at Eliot on Thursday, the 15th.

Thomas Burns, Henry Ward and Henry Wilson have been arrested for breaking into the cider house of Mr. Albert C. Lane at Stratham, for which offense they were each bound over by the Exeter court in the sum of $300 for their appearance at the April term of the Supreme Court.

Albert Lewis, of Kittery, a youth of only sixteen years, on Saturday shot in that town a fox four feet long—the first one killed there this season. Master Lewis brought the pelt to this city on Monday, and disposed of it to a Portsmouth furrier. Foxes are reported more numerous in Kittery than for many years past.

The Portsmouth & Dover railroad is doing a very good business in the freight line. Since the 1st of August last, the Station Agent here has paid in to the Treasurer of the Eastern road, for freights alone collected here, the sum of $23,000. That is at the rate of nearly a hundred thousand dollars per year. The amount collected for the month of October, was $8,309.90.—Dover Democrat.

YORK, ME., NOV. 12.

Capt. James Donnell, of York, has a cat thirteen years old, weighing thirty-seven lbs. When we consider the fact that ten lbs. is large weight for a common full-grown cat, this one appears a monster. She is apparently in good health, but her limbs are not sufficiently strong to hold her up but a few moments at a time.

From one squash seed that was accidently thrown upon his manure heap, Dr. J. J. Hazen has raised fourteen handsome squashes of the Hubbard variety. The fourteen weigh 201 pounds; the lightest is 11 1-2, the heaviest sixteen; twelve of them are of very uniform size. If anybody can beat this from one seed and with no care, we want to hear from the case.

Lieutenant John Donnett, U. S. R. M., of York, is about to erect a residence at York Village. He purposes putting up the finest set of buildings in York, and we have some very nice ones already.

Between sunset of the 9th and sunrise of the 10th some mischievous boys hoisted, or in some other way hung, an old wagon up into an elm in front of the telegraph office. It hung there all day Saturday for the amusement of passers-by, but the rope, by continued swinging of the wagon, wore off, and at about sunset it fell, "and great was the fall thereof!" Both arms were broken and the body was sadly bruised, insomuch that life is despaired of. No aid has been called and the arms have not yet been set. A verdict has been rendered regarding the disaster, but for want of space we do not give it.

Diphtheria is still raging at Cape Neddick. A little child of Capt. Jonathan Talpey died last week, aged about three years; others of his children are sick, but it is thought are getting better.

Mr. S. A. D. Grant is canvassing the town for subscribers to the "New Century," published at Portland. Three splendid premium chromos are given to each subscriber. Mr. Grant is very young for the business, but has a vast deal of energy, and we hope he may have abundant success, as the young need and appreciate encouragement. P.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The first Protestant Episcopal church in New Hampshire was erected in 1634, at Portsmouth. The church and parsonage were nearly opposite the residence of Mr. Charles Burroughs on Pleasant street. John Mason, one of the first grantees of the tract of New Hampshire, also Governor of Newfoundland, and afterwards Governor of Portsmouth, England, sent from England the Communion Service, Bible, Prayer Book, Altar cloth, etc. Wm. A. Gibbons, Assistant Governor, and eighteen other persons, gave the church a glebe of fifty acres of land. The Rev. R. Gibson was rector until 1642, when the Puritan Government at Boston compelled him to leave. A long "interregnum" occurred. In 1732 the Churchmen of Portsmouth, liberally assisted by Mr. Thomlinson and many others of London, erected a church, and named it "Queen's chapel" in honor of Queen Caroline, consort of George II. She gave the Communion plate, Christening basin, two large flagons, a paten and chalice stamped with the Royal Arms, and a number of Prayer Books. Mr. Hope of London donated the lot. In the year 1758, during the French and English War, an English squadron, under Capt. John Marsh, was sent to reduce and capture the French Colony at Senegal, on the African coast. The expedition was successful. The Castle, Fort St. Louis, and the town with the military stores and treasure fell into the hands of the British. A baptismal font of beautifully variegated porphyritic marble, intended for the cathedral, (as is supposed,) came into the possession of Major Mason, commander of a corps of marines, was brought away by him, and presented to the church at Portsmouth by his daughters Sarah Catharine and Anna Elizabeth in 1761. This font is now used in the church. A Latin inscription stating the above facts is on the lids of the basins. There are two compartments, once silver-lined, but the silver was wrenched out when the town was sacked. There are keyholes in these lids, showing that it was locked after baptisms. The church bell was also captured from the French at Louisburg, and was recast by Revere & Son of Boston. The firm name and date (1807) is on the bell. There was a donation in 1793 of an elegant bible by Arthur Brown, L L. D., and Member of Parliament, in token of his affection and respect for the church of which his grandfather, Arthur Brown, M. A., was rector from 1736 to 1773, the year of his death. "Queen's chapel" took the name of St. John's church in 1791, was destroyed by fire Dec. 24th, 1806, and was rebuilt in 1807 and 1808. The interior was somewhat changed a few years since, but the old galleries and organ loft remain nearly as they were. The honored names of Benjamin Franklin, Daniel Webster and Jeremiah Mason appear as benefactors and proprietors of the time-hallowed church. When Mr. Mason removed to Boston Hon. Levi Woodbury bought his pew. Over in the pleasant chapel on State street stands probably the oldest organ in America, built in London, and presented to Queen's chapel, Boston, by Thomas Brattle in 1713; it has a history. It remained unpacked in the porch of the church for seven years (being considered an ungodly instrument), but was finally put up and used until the close of 1756, when it was sold to St. Paul's church, Newburyport, Mass. They used it until 1836, eighty years. It was then sold for $450 to St. John's, Portsmouth, and put in the "chapel," undergoing some repairs, including a new case. And there it now is, 164 years of age, and ready to raise its voice. A little boy who came to hear it afterward harnessed the lightning. At 86 it sounded the dirge of Washington. But one newspaper was published in the colony to announce its arrival.

To the pleasant citizen, local historian, and good Churchman, George M. Marsh, Esq., I am chiefly indebted for the facts recited in this notice. Rev. Charles A. Holbrook is rector of St. John's since Jan. 16, 1876, and is vigorous in all Church work. The youth, the middle-aged, the aged, are all cared for. Nothing escapes his notice.—Church Journal.

Physical Effects of Cocoa.

E. B. Shuttleworth publishes a paper on the above subject in the Canadian Pharmaceutical Journal. During a period extending over a year and a half, experiments were tried with the drug by administering it to the members of the Toronto Lacrosse Club. At the commencement of every match each player was served with from a drachm to a drachm and a half. This was chewed in small portions during the game, the saliva being swallowed. As a summing up of the trial, a majority of the experimenters were quite enthusiastically in favor of the use of the drug, while the balance remained indifferent, having derived no direct or apparent advantage from its use. Mr. Shuttleworth, after ample opportunity for observation afforded by experiment, concludes that the drug may be classed in the same category with tea and coffee, but that its effects are much more strongly marked. This view has also been advanced by Dr. Pigeaux of Paris; he, however, observes that he found it less exciting to the nerves than either tea or coffee, but its action over the heart is twice that of the latter and four times that of the former. Mons. Colpaert says that the brain is also affected. He remarks that persons using cocoa for a great length of time and in excess, are ultimately reduced to a complete state of mental imbecility or idiocy.

The miners employed in Keet's mine at Deadwood have taken possession of the mine, and are armed and provisioned for a seige. They claim that $2500 is due them for wages. They defy the sheriff to remove them, and bloodshed is feared.

A few days ago Mr. Swann, of Maryland, presented the petition of Mrs. Elizabeth Wirt Goldsborough, widow of the late rear Admiral Louis M. Goldsborough, for a pension at the rate of $100 per month. A short time after he presented a supplemental paper, signed by Admirals Porter, Rowan, Rodgers, Poor, Powell and all the higher grade officers of the navy, earnestly indorsing the application of the petitioner.

WOMAN. By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have long felt desirous of offering a speedy, potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications pre-noted by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness. To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon the numerous testimonials I have received from the sufferer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and effectual remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act and in harmony with the laws which govern the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even my conscience am I that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single female for whom I recommend it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. I have thus been perfect in not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I refund the price of the bottle. Two-thirds of the medicine having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under those conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions which from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine I do not extol as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of local diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing, nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes." BUCKINGHAM'S DYE, For the Whiskers. This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the colored or gray hair or whiskers to a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off. MANUFACTURED BY R. P. HALL & CO., Nashua, N. H. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine. No. 5.

Centaur Liniments. They relieve pain; They subdue swellings; They cure burns without a scar. The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe. J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castorin is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes. COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876. Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.: I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation. Very truly yours, NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. SIZE OF PELLETS. Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic. The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of clean, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they must be a drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic. $500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in effect, but a slight colored or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug. Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Foreboding, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them. They are sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. R. CATARRH

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOES SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, despite the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those which go for the best of all reasons. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating what I believe to be a fact, that I have derived, from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. I at fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous lining of the nose became so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS
AUBURN, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

—Stanley Matthews looks like Grant. But he feels like thunder.

—Major Pitcairn, British officer at Concord and Lexington, was a joker—mayhap a saucy one. Among the relics of the old Christ Church at Boston is an ancient singing-book, on the fly-leaf of which is written: "Major Pitcairn's compliments to the head singer, with the request that she will not sing quite so loudly, as it is impossible for him to sleep."

—The ways of evading the licensing act in Dublin are numerous. A doctor going his rounds observed an unsavory heap of rotting cabbages near a door, and remarked upon it to a bystander. "But you'll not buy a head for less than sixpence," said the man. "Sixpence!" said the doctor incredulously. "Yes," replied the other, "Mrs. —— is a gay sort of creathur, and when you buy a head of cabbage she gives you a glass into the bargain."

—His home is up north in one of those staid old towns which revolve about an Orthodox church, and he came down here for a fortnight's visit at this particular time because Moody and Sankey are to be here next week. He stops here with a widowed aunt and a handsome cousin, and last night they proposed, with the help of a neighbor, to initiate him into the beauties of a game of whist. He said he knew nothing about cards, but if his aunt was quite sure it wasn't wicked he would try his best to learn. That worthy lady quieted his conscientious scruples, and he learned very fast, so fast that in an hour he played an excellent game, but at length he grew drowsy, and while his partner was dealing, fell asleep. When it came his turn to play his aunt called to him to do so, and partially opening his eyes he responded, "Yes, I'll straddle the blind," and a second after he straightened up in his chair and said in a mournful tone. "Two dollars in the pot and only king high." When they succeeded in waking him and his aunt asked him what he was dreaming about, he said it was the blinds on the little church in his native village, and the two dollars he put in the missionary box to convert the king of the Hottentots last Sunday.—Wicked exchange.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY

Without recalling the excellence of the past, the publishers of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY announce, for the year to come, the following papers:

THE PICTURESQUE SIDE OF AMERICAN FARM LIFE.—This subject will be treated in a series of separate papers engaged from writers who stand in the front rank among Americans, both in quality of style and in keen insight of nature. Mr. R. Robinson, author of a delightful paper on "Fox-Hunting in New England" in the January number, will represent the same section in this series. John Burroughs, whose papers on similar topics have been so highly prized and popular fen re of SCRIBNER will write of Farm Life in New York. Maurice Thompson, the poet-naturalist, will describe the characteristics of Western farming, of which but little has been written. It is expected that the illustration of this series will be of a novel and original character, commensurate with the subject-matter. It is thought that no paper or series of papers yet issued in SCRIBNER will so fully realize the constant desire of the magazine to keep out of the rute, and, both in text and illustrations, to obtain quality rather than quantity, and to print fresh, strong and delicate work from original sources.

"ROXY," — by Edward Eggleston (author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," etc.). This new novel will doubtless be the most important American serial of the year. The first number was published in November. Those who have read it in manuscript declare ROXY to be much the most striking and remarkable story the author has ever written. It is illustrated by one of the ablest of the younger American painters—Mr. Walter Shirlaw, President of "The American Art Association."

AMERICAN SPORTS.—Some of the most novel and entertaining of these papers are yet to appear, the scenes of which will be in the West, the Middle States, the South, New England and Canada.

OUT-OF-DOOR PAPERS,—by John Burroughs, author of "Wake Robin," etc., will contain not only articles on Birds, but on "Tramping," Camping Out," and kindred topics. Mr. Burroughs' papers will begin in the January number, the first being entitled "Birds and Birds," and illustrated by Fidelia Bridges.

ARCHITECTURE OF BIRDS.—Dr. Thomas M. Brewer will contribute four exquisitely illustrated articles on this subject, which every lover of nature will delight in. Dr. Brewer has probably the finest collection of birds' eggs in the world to draw upon for the illustration of these papers.

THE SADDLE HORSE.—Mr. George E. Waring, whose excellent work of various sorts our readers are familiar, contributes two illustrated articles on the horse. He treats of the saddle-horses and their use for pleasure and for sport, for fishing and shooting, for hunting and racing. The nature of the English hunter and that of his Eastern progenitor (the Arabian) are fully considered in relation to these uses.

SAXE HOLM.—New stories by this popular writer will be given in early numbers of SCRIBNER, beginning with "Joe Hale's Red Stockings," to appear in January. This "novelette" chronicles an episode of the late war for the Union.

"HIS INHERITANCE."—By Adeline Trafton, so well begun in the Midsummer Holiday number, will be continued nearly through the year. It will be found to be of increasing interest to the very end.

"A KNIGHT OF FORTUNE."—Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen's new novel—will be begun in SCRIBNER at the conclusion of "His Inheritance." It will reveal a phase of American society undreamed of by most of our readers, and will be certain to increase the reputation of the writer as a master of English and of his art.

THE EDITORIAL DEPARTMENTS will continue to employ the ablest ceras in America, and will include the present desirable summary of English publications. Besides the special articles above enumerated, the magazine will contain Poems, Sketches, Essays, Reviews, and shorter Stories of the higher character. A large practical reduction in price is made by an increase in the number of pages.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS of the MAGAZINE, in variety and excellence of design and in typographical execution, will continue to be in advance of those of any other popular magazine at home or abroad.

Subscription price, $4.00 a year, payable in advance to us or to any book-seller.

No club rates or other discounts to subscribers. The Magazine is worth all it costs, and its circulation is increasing in a constant and steady ratio from year to year.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1877.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 1877.

Senator Stanley Matthews' resumption bill recently introduced in the Senate provides that redeemed legal tenders, or those returned to the Treasury may be re-issued as required by public exigencies, but that the amount of those outstanding shall not, at any time, exceed $350,000,000. It also stipulates that a reserve coin fund of $100,000,000 shall be retained in the Treasury, redemption of legal tenders in gold to cease when it shall have been reduced to this point, the Secretary being authorized to issue four per cent. gold bonds in lieu of the coin, for resumption purposes, and to sell four per cent. bonds for legal tenders which shall be receivable for all dues against the United States. It is claimed that the bill embodies the views of the President and Mr. Sherman. Mr. Matthews is reported to have said that in his opinion the President will sign the silver bill which passed the House on Monday, being confident that the Senate will concur. But it is likely to meet a determined opposition under the lead of Mr. Edmunds.

The result of the Wisconsin election has emboldened the friends of the resumption act and the opponents of remonetization here, it being held as an evidence of re-action in the West, where they were for the time overslaughed by the temporary furor against the first and in favor of the latter. It is also claimed that the unexpectedly large vote given to the republican nominees in Massachusetts was due to the apprehensions that had been aroused there among both democrats and republicans by the aggressive attitude of the inflationists in Congress. There appears to be a good deal of indignation felt towards Mr. Bland for the trick he is alleged to have been guilty of, amounting to wilful deception and betrayal of confidence. Away from Washington it is only partially understood how often members of Congress vote for or against a measure, relying wholly on the statements of associates as to its purpose and scope, and basing their votes on such second hand information. I may cite the outrageous River and Harbor bill of two years ago as an instance where many members put themselves on record in favor of a measure that caused some of them no little anxiety when they looked up its provisions for themselves, incited thereto by the harsh criticisms of the press. It is said that the supposition was general that Mr. Bland had moved the passage of the bill be introduced last season, and that the motion was carried by a vote of nearly six to one on that understanding. Subsequent investigation showed that it was really a bill reported by the committee on banking and currency, substantially the same as his in its main feature, that of restoring silver as a legal tender, but materially differing in some of its minor points. It was rumored that Speaker Randall was highly incensed and would take occasion to publicly state his opinion of Mr. Bland's tactics.

Senator Chaffee has lodged a very serious complaint against the Pacific Railroad Company and several of its branches, alleging that it has persistently and notoriously refused to comply with the terms upon which large subsidies were granted it; hence the President is requested to inform the Senate what impediments exist to enforcing the terms in question. He appears very much in earnest in the matter, and a more perfect understanding of the spirit in which it has observed its promises may aid members of Congress to a just disposition of the claimant now importuning them for a similar gift in its behalf.

There is no reasonable ground to apprehend anything but conviction in the case of republicans on trial in South Carolina, or others whose prominence or ability may seem to stand in the way of the complete rehabilitation of the shotgun minority with autocratic power over the majority. It is understood here that the stenographic notes taken eight years ago by Woodruff, and which no one else pretends to be able to read, are the chief reliance for convicting all the republicans indicted at Columbia. He is said to have bargained for his own immunity by making a case against them from his "notes." The case of Senator Patterson yesterday came up before Judge Humphries and was again postponed to the 21st. The Judge incidentally remarked that there was no occasion for hurry and there would be none in the disposition of the case.

A mistaken impression appears to have gone abroad that the routine work of the Patent Office has been largely interrupted since the fire. It is wholly erroneous, current work being now attended to as promptly as before that disaster.

The politicians have quite generally settled down to the verdict of a drawn battle on Tuesday, and the prevailing sentiment appears to be one of quiet thankfulness that it is well over without serious disaster to their respective sides.

While Mexican affairs lost, to some extent, their interest to the public with the convening of Congress, they still appear to be regarded with anxious solicitude by those responsible for their peaceful solution. Latest dispatches are satisfactory as confirming the good faith of Diaz and his officers; but they also render it certain that the present authorities of Mexico are opposed by a determined faction equally hostile to them and us.

Washington military authorities appear to think that the Turk, if not actually in the "last ditch," hasn't much further to go to reach it. In other words that his situation could not well be more desperate.

French politics afford us some diversion; and a fresh delegation of Indians of the Ponca tribe have taken up their quarters at the Washington House, where they are daily interviewed by a stream of callers, largely female. KNOX.

News and Notes.

There is a singular contest going on in a Hartford, Conn., family, where a sixty-years-old father and his twenty-years-old son are both courting the adopted daughter and sister. The girl is in a strait between the two; the young man is of the right age and suits her, but he can't support a wife, while the old gentleman has plenty of money, and she also owes him gratitude for taking her from a life of poverty. Meanwhile both parties urge their suits openly and vigorously.

The signal service offices in Washington and Baltimore are now connected by the telephone, and there is also a line established between the Washington office and Fort Whipple, across the Potomac, all of which are working satisfactorily.

"Champagne Charley," of London, is dead. Charles Thorpe was born thirty-four years ago. His father left him $50,000 a year. Being clever, he sought the society of literary men; and liking a social glass, his means enabled him to choose champagne. Hence, a few years ago, after his exploits had been told so often as to make him comparatively well known about London, some one embalmed him in verse, and "Champagne Charley" was long a favorite song in the music halls. He never liked it, and always denied that he was the original of the song, and his friends deny it now, in deference to his memory. But it is said to be true, nevertheless.

Some months ago Mark Williams and some of his friends, residing some four miles north of Raleigh, Tennessee, were engaged in a row with some colored men and shot two of them. Since then a reign of terror has existed in that section. A number of colored men have been shot at by night, resulting in the driving away of a number of hands from the plantations. Law-abiding citizens have been overawed by the ruffians. Last Saturday night Scott Smith, a worthy negro, residing on Taylor's plantation, was called to the door by fifteen or twenty men, among whom he recognized Williams, and was fired upon with a volley and wounded in the head and arm. The gang, believing they had killed him, left. Smith went to Memphis on Monday to seek redress and protection. It may not be amiss to say that the "radicals" do not govern Tennessee, which is a good democratic State.

Thiebaud Bauer and William Miller had a three hours' contest at wrestling on the stage of Boston Music Hall, Monday evening, "Græco-Roman" style, for $1000 and the championship. Only one "fall" was won, and that by Thiebaud, who placed Miller flat on his back.

Steamer Tom Morgan blew up at Greenville, Miss., on Saturday, and the owner, captain and engineer were killed. The Canadian schooner Magellan was wrecked off Three Rivers, Michigan, on Saturday, and all hands (captain and eight men) were lost. Lugger Fortune was run down by a steamer near Carrollton, La., on Saturday; the captain, owner, and one of the crew of the lugger were drowned.

Henry Houseman, a porter, shot himself and his three children in New York, Monday night; one of the children was instantly killed, and the other two and the father will die. The cause of the tragedy was the drunkenness of Houseman's wife, he having threatened to destroy himself and children if the woman did not keep sober; finding her drunk on his return from work, he carried out his threat.

Mrs. LeBau, one of Commodore Vanderbilt's daughters, has brought suit in New York to revoke her father's will; she asks $1,000,000.

James Spencer, the last survivor of the famous fight between the frigate Essex and the British ships Phœbe and Cherub, in Valparaiso harbor, died last week at the Sailors' Snug Harbor, aged seventy-eight.

Philip R. Himes, who left New Bedford forty-two years ago on a whaling voyage, and has been heard of once since through indirect sources, and then about fifteen years after leaving, has written a letter which was received on Friday, stating that he is living in New Zealand. His relatives considered him dead long ago.

The prevalence of diphtheria brings out many new facts in connection with the origin and spread of this dreaded malady. A New Haven paper says it was introduced into that part of the country about twenty-five years ago in an exceedingly virulent form by the exhumation of remains in West Haven. Nearly all who were exposed to the exhalations from the graves died in spite of all that could be done to save them. The poison that arises from drains and other receptacles of refuse acts in a similar, even if less violent, manner, and the subject of ventilation has its extreme importance freshly illustrated by those facts.

The bonded warehouse on the North Point dock, in San Francisco, California, was destroyed by fire Monday, entailing a loss of $350,000.

A despatch from Rio Janeiro states that the Argentine torpedo ship Fulminate exploded in the harbor of Buenos Ayres, killing eleven persons. Captain Davidson, late of the American navy, narrowly escaped.

Eleven whale ships, which remained in the Arctic two weeks after October 1st (when the rest of the fleet left,) made a big catch, taking seventy-three whales in the two weeks. Previous to Oct. 1st the whole fleet took only thirty-three whales. The barque Rainbow leads, with 2300 barrels of oil and 6500 lbs. of bone.

Many of the Dartmouth students are now on the lookout for winter schools. The Seniors, instead of having an examination in psychology, are required to write an abstract of the subject.

A double-tenement house in Nashua, belonging to James Farry, and occupied by him and a family named Angie, was burned Tuesday morning. Loss $2000; no insurance.

J. Knox Beattie, who is wanted at Lawrence, Mass., for a murderous assault committed Oct. 13th, in an altercation with J. Gorham Shingles, proprietor of the Trimountain House at Newton, on Sunday night, had his left thumb shot off. After receiving the wound Beattie took to the woods and has not since been seen.

A rather remarkable family group was photographed at Farmington recently, consisting of G. N. Fernald, one year and three months old; G. W. Fernald, the father, twenty-four years; J. E. Fernald and J. O. Nute, grandfathers, forty-seven and fifty years respectively, and David Nute, Robert Fernald and Hon. G. L. Whitehouse, great-graudfathers, each eighty-one years of age.

The Hillsboro' County Agricultural and Mechanical Society, after a life of over a quarter of a century, has voted to break up, and its affairs are to be subject to liquidation. The Society in its early days was one of the best in the State, and its fairs were the pride of Hillsboro' County. Bad weather for the exhibitions for several successive years began the failure of the Society. Exhibitors were unable to get their premiums, and the receipts of the society were not enough to pay the bills, and for several years they have been loaded down with debt. They made an attempt to retrieve their fallen fortunes by removing to Nashua, but there they met with reverses, and the exhibition was nearly a failure. This year it was found impossible to get up enthusiasm enough to have the annual exhibition, and on Saturday the Society met and voted to break up, and all the property owned by the Society will be sold at auction at an early date; but it falls far short of enough to pay the indebtedness. Two years ago the Society passed its quarter-centennial, which was duly observed.

THE CITY.

The cable steamer Minia succeeded on Monday in picking up the shore end of the Direct Cable, testing the same, finding it perfect, and after sealing and buoying it was obliged to return to the lower harbor.

An article in Tuesday's issue gave the number of children at the Home under the auspices of the Episcopal church as thirteen, when in fact there are seventeen. A larger house is desired, and is being sought by the Rector, Mr. Holbrook, with a view to the extension of this work of charity.

At the regular meeting of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, on Monday evening, it was voted that the thanks of the Society be extended to an unknown donor for a gift of $10. It was also voted to allow Mrs. Wm. H. Danielson five dollars as compensation for a week's care of the Rachel Kehoe-Russell children, until they could be provided with a permanent home.

Miss Susan Hale, who gives her unique and amusing entertainment this evening at the rooms of Miss Morgan's school, is a brilliant and gifted woman, fully sustaining the reputation of her talented family. Her fine dramatic power is exhibited in the play of "the Elixir of Life," which she gives this evening. Tickets at Myers'; begins at 8 o'clock. The Hourly will call passengers for the ball at the low price of 10 cts.; leave names at Thacher's for the Hourly.

We have been shown a stocking-mender (we believe that's what they call it—anyway, it is an implement used by women to put in stockings when darning them,) made at Mason & Hamlin's organ manufactory in Cambridgeport, Mass., by Mr. Wm. Haley, a son-in-law of Mrs. William Watkins of this city. It is a Japanese-looking concern, showing 536 pieces of black and white wood, and though not difficult to make after you know how to do it, at first sight appears a marvellous piece of workmanship.

On Monday, in the National House of Representatives, Hon. Frank Jones introduced a bill to appropriate $1000 for a survey of the mouth of Piscataqua river, with a view to improving the harbor. That's business. Mr. Jones may not be the most brilliant orator on the floor of the House, but he will strengthen himself more in this city by doing his level best to get the obstructions removed from our harbor, than he would by making fifteen first-class speeches for buncombe. In this connection it may not be out of place to say that a large and valuable vessel, commanded by one of the best seamen and best-acquainted skippers sailing out of the port, hit Ham's ledge a rap one day last week, though she fortunately escaped without serious damage; and the same day another large schooner was compelled to bring up in a hurry with her anchors, to avoid being swept by the tide on the ledge making out from Badger's island.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, November 13th.

James Wilson and Bertha Stetson, up for drunkenness, were adjudged guilty, and fined (with costs) $9.90 each. Having depleted their respective treasuries in getting drunk, they were unable to pay the amount the city charges for the privilege of so doing, and went to Brentwood in default.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

At about four o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, a working train on the Conway Railroad, when running across Portsmouth bridge toward Kittery found the draw of the bridge open. The engineer, Hiram Goodwin, reversed the engine, but the train had too much way on to be stopped, and the engine and three freight cars ran into the opening. The engineer and fireman stepped off just before the engine went down, but one brakeman was carried into the river; the latter, however, was fished out unharmed other than by a wetting, by Mr. William Perkins, one of the bridge workmen. Two vessels had just passed through the draw, and a third one, lumber-laden and bound for Dover, was just starting to haul through, when the train came along. The engine is now laying in some forty-five feet of water, probably but little harmed; but the cars are supposed to be pretty well stove up, liberal-sized pieces of them having been seen floating away with the flood-tide.

SUPREME COURT--5TH WEEK.

Tuesday, Nov. 13, before Stanley, J.

Seneca Pettee and Charles S. Pettee vs. Isaiah A. Dustin. Action of replevin for goods attached by Dustin (as Deputy Sheriff) as property of Grey & Sanders, of Derry, on a writ in favor of Weeks & Conner, merchants, of Manchester. The plea was a justification of the taking the goods under the writ as property of Weeks & Conner; the plaintiff denies the goods were the property of Weeks & Conner, but of Messrs. Pettee & Son, as mortgages of a certain chattel mortgage given Pettee & Son by the owners of the property, under which mortgage the plaintiffs took possession of the same. The plaintiffs claimed to hold the goods not embraced under the mortgage by means of a pledge of the goods. There appears to have been a contest between the parties as to the possession of the stock of goods, and this action is to determine the title of the property. The jury returned a verdict, answering the disputed question as to change of property that there was a change, which was a verdict for the plaintiffs, with nominal damages. Bartlett for plaintiffs, C. R. Morrison for defendant. The case will go to the law Court upon exceptions filed by the defendant.

Ablie A. Dunbrach vs. Washington H. Hobbs; complaint under bastardy act. After a jury was empanelled the case was agreed to be tried by the Court, and the jury was dismissed. The parties live at Hampton. Lamprey and Wiggin for complainant; Marston for defendant.

In the evening a hearing was held before Judge Stanley in chambers, relative to the appointment of a receiver for the Wolfeborough Savings Bank; B. C. Carter representing the depositors, E. C. Banfield for the trustees.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The gospel meeting, Tuesday evening, at the North Church, was one of great interest and power; the house was filled, and many were unable to find seats.

The praise service was introduced by singing "I need Thee every hour."

The regular service began with the hymn, "My faith looks up to Thee," after which Rev. Mr. Haines of North Hampton led in prayer. Mr. McGranahan, accompanied by his wife, then sang, "Rejoice with me, for I am free," and "Speak of the mercy of God."

After invoking the Divine blessing, Mr. Whittle took for the subject of his discourse, Luke 19:1—10. Jesus came to seek and save the lost, and in this chapter, we find him seeking for sinners. Zaccheus was a publican and a sinner, but he desired to see Jesus, the mighty Savior; and went about in a business kind of way. So every one that desires salvation must make it his business, if he would find it. Many, that seek salvation, do it in a very un-business-like way; and if any obstacle comes in their way, they immediately give up. But Zaccheus pressed forward in an unusual way, even climbing a tree to see Jesus, while some now are unwilling even to rise for prayers, or go into an enquiry meeting. We cannot hope to receive Christ while we are unwilling to yield to him in every point. A child was not willing to come down the back stairs though its Christmas present was there, so many are not ready to go by some unknown way, though there the "gift of God" is waiting for them. Pride hinders many from coming to Christ, and the fear of the sneers of companions many more. Men should never neglect their salvation from the cry of excitement, or from any other excuse. God meets men in the most natural and unexpected way; he met Zaccheus in a tree, he meets every one that seeks him in his own way, and gives to each, perhaps, a separate experience. Zaccheus was not ashamed of Jesus; and we should not be ashamed to receive him to our homes, and acknowledge him there. If the prominent men and women of the religious congregations of Portsmouth would do their duty, and receive Christ, the whole place would be stirred, and many of the young be turned to God.

While singing "The Great Physician," most of the congregation retired, and an enquiry meeting was held, more than usual remaining to engage in it.

The meetings during the day were large and interesting; the Bible reading and children's meeting were especially so; at the latter quite a number arose for prayers.

THE VICINITY.

The diphtheria has been so prevalent for some time past in Cape Neddick, Me., that the schools have been temporarily closed.

President Elliott, of Harvard University, and his bride, have been staying for a short time past at the Pepperell House, Kittery Point, but have now left.

Not long ago Mr. Lowell B. Dow, of South Seabrook, had a bushel and a half of shelled beans, nearly his entire crop, stolen from his barn. A few nights later some thief got into the cellar of Mr. David Boyd's house near Seabrook depot, and stole seventy pounds of pork. It is supposed some person is preparing for a gigantic dish of pork and beans.

Gen. Butterfield, and Major Thomas, adjutant, are trying to raise a military company among the young men of the Spruce Creek district of Kittery,—the other officers to be elected.

The Eastern Railroad depot at Greenland and the Farragut House at Rye Beach are connected by a telephone, and a recent trial was most successful, the tunes played on a piano, and every word of hymns and songs sung, at one end, being distinctly heard at the other end.

The case of Forsaith of South Hampton against the Salisbury (Mass.) Mills Co., claim for $4000 damages for flowage of land, previously reported as settled and withdrawn from the Supreme Court now in session in this city, was compromised by the defendant company paying $1500.

The following officers have been elected by Whipple Lodge of Good Templars, at Kittery: W. C. T., Mark Fernald; W. V. T., Hannah J. Adams; H. R. S., William A. Williams; W. F. S., Fannie W. Adams; W. T., Lucinda Hayes; W. M., John Ball; W. I. G., Addie J. Calor; W. O. G., William Morse.

Miss Cynthia Nason, of Sturgeon Creek, Eliot, was serenaded recently on the occasion of her birth-day, by a party of sixty gentlemen, the music being led by Capt. Mel. Dixon. The large party was generously entertained, and after partaking of refreshments adjourned to the grove, where a dance was had to the music of Ellery Garland's quadrille band.

Mr. Albert S. Wilson, Mr. Wm. Parker and Mrs. A. Manson, of Kittery, have all lost sheep recently by their being killed by dogs. Colburn Barrell, of York, lost six sheep in the same way a few days ago, and had others bitten. It is said there are over four hundred dogs in Kittery, and only one hundred and twenty-five licenses issued; the claims for damages to sheep by dogs, which the town must pay, amount to more than $500, and nearly all this damage has been done within two months.

During the past few weeks thieves have been uncommonly busy in East Salisbury, and many of the citizens have been on the lookout for them. A few evenings since a farmer of that village was watching his cornfield, when he discovered three persons stealing therefrom. He discharged his old "King's Arm," in the direction of the thieves, and it was reported the next morning that a young man by the name of Fowler, of South Seabrook, had twenty-three shot picked from his body, he being well wounded in the shoulder.—Merrimac Valley Visitor.

There are some enterprising thieves out Seabrook way, and the indications are that it is local talent that is thus employed. For three months past stores have been robbed in Rye, Hampton and Seabrook, bulky articles of provisions—such as could not be transported any considerable distance—being taken therefrom in each case; chicken roosts and turkey coops have been robbed right along, and corn and potatoes harvested at night when the owners were asleep. Whenever the thieves' den is discovered, which the citizens of the towns named (and adjacent towns in Massachusetts) hope will be soon, the larder will be found in good condition.

How American Women Abuse Their Husbands.

Dr. Theodore Christlieb, the German "evangelical" whose sweetness and light so took captive the rest of the evangelicals at the alliance meeting in New York some years ago, has found a serious blot upon our civilization in the great republic. As Colonel Higginson tells the story in the Woman's Journal, Professor Christlieb confided to a recent American visitor that he had great fears for the future of our nation because "the spirit of Christ" was not here. Pressed to explain his meaning, he did not cite any of those financial or social scandals that make us uneasy, but "seriously declared that on more than one occasion he had heard an American married woman say to her husband, 'Dear, will you bring me my shawl?' and the husband had brought it!" and further, that he had seen a man come home and find his wife sitting in the best chair in the parlor, and not only did she not rise to get his dressing gown and slippers, but she did not rise at all, and let him find his own chair as well as other comforts! These were the things that this profound professor, named after the "love of Christ," found to evidence a dangerous lack of that article in the United States. It is hard to to overe-stimate the value of this well-weighed criticism from so eminent a source, based, as it is, on undeniable facts. The female woman in this country has unquestionably arrived at a degree of individualism which places her in many things on a level with man. She cannot be depended upon to get out of bed at four o'clock of a winter morning to make a fire and get breakfast, while her lord and master takes a beauty nap, with anything like the certainty that she once could. She won't eat up the little chicken's gizzard while there's any breast left,—no, nor afterward either. She objects to fill her husband's pipe and "start" it with a few gentle puffs, as any professor's spouse ought to. She opens her husband's letters on the same ground that he opens hers. A man has no right here to whip his wife, or to harness her to a plough, as the German farmers do. In fact, it's getting so in our country that a wife has almost as many rights as a husband, and the conviction is slowly gaining ground that marriage is a matter of mutual service and attention. We owe Professor Christlieb something for bringing this to our notice. He may have stopped us on the brink of a precipice, as it were.—Springfield Republican.

Our personal appearance is a matter in which our friends and acquaintances have a right to a choice whether we shall inflict upon them an exterior uncared for and unattractive, a countenance marred by a neglected grizzled beard, or a crown guiltless of covering, half covered, or thached with white hairs, or whether we shall in deference to our fellows, pay due regard to our own persons, and make them presentable and acceptable in society. There are many helps for those who desire to do this, and there are none among them more acceptable than Hall's Hair Renewer and Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers. Both these preparations are kept for sale at our drug stores, and if any of our friends are looking a little the worse for wear, we advise them to make a note of it.—North Star, Danville, Vt.

Portsmouth Chronicle

Lieut. Bullis, with a small party of scouts, recently crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico near the mouth of the Pecos river, but was attacked by a body of 500 Indians and compelled to retreat. The loss is not stated. Col. Young has left Fort Clark with 200 cavalry to re-enforce Lieut. Bullis.

A new literary venture of no slight importance is on the verge of launching in Springfield. It is that of a "new, first-class monthly magazine," to be named "Sunday Afternoon," and intended to be better than its title. It is purposed by Rev. Washington Gladden, the editor, and Edward F. Merriam, the publisher, to make this magazine something quite superior to, and different from, the accustomed religious periodical, and yet to secure for it a distinctively Christian character, without the hindrances of dogmatic dispute and theologic grievance. In its prospectus it especially pledges itself to supply reading matter that is peculiarly adapted to Sunday—Sunday, that is, in the estimation of those who think Sunday still retains a religious character.

ST. NICHOLAS!

FOR THE

Christmas Holidays.

Only 25 Cents a Copy.

Some idea of the attractions offered in the CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY NUMBER of ST. NICHOLAS, of which 100,000 copies will be issued, may be gained from the following: There are poems by Henry W. Longfellow and William Cullen Bryant; a fine hitherto unpublished sketch of boy life, by the late Theodore Winthrop; and a short story by the author of "Alice in Wonderland;" a new fairy story, "Sweet Briar," by Frank R. Stockton; "The Peterkins' Charades," by Lucretia P. Hale; a poetic riddle by Dr. J. G. Holland, and a competition for prizes by members of young folks in old times and nowadays, by Gail Hamilton.

Of the story element, the brightest feature is the beginning of the new serial by Miss Alcott, entitled "Under the Lilacs," with illustrations by Mary Hallock Foote.

The Christmas Number contains also the opening of a new Serial Story for Boys, a tale of Tropical life, by Gustaves Frankenstein, entitled "Tower Mountain," admirably illustrated by the artists Moran and Kelly; a Portrait of Miss Alcott, with a sketch of her life; several poems by Two Little American Girls; a Play, and a Christmas Carol (set to music); and had a dozen complete short stories, bright, funny, exciting and pathetic, &c., &c.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1878,

Besides Miss Alc tt's serial for Girls, and the three serials for Boys, to follow each other in rapid succession, will contain a short serial story by the author of "The Schonberg-Cotta Family;" and an article, "Around the World in a Yacht, Boys!" has been promised by a brilliant writer, now on the actual tour of the world in his own yacht. There will be contributions by a daughter of the famous Peter Parley, and a Letter to Young Americans by George MacDonald. The "Jack-in-the-Pulpit" Series of instructive papers, by various authors, will tell How to bind your own books; How they make money; How to enjoy yourselves at home; How to be an agreeable guest; How to entertain company; How to be a carpenter; How to cut an ice boat; How to build a house; How India rubber is gathered; How matches are made; How money is made; How mackerel are caught; How they laid the Atlantic cable; How they mine in California; How they work in the tea country; How to be a parlor magician, etc. There will be also a series of stories and sketches of Foreign Life, TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE, such as "Old Nick" (a Russian story), "In Day Among the Welsh Castles," "Easter in Germany," "The Indians of the Amazon," "How Rose Was Lost in a Turkish Bazaar," "Easter Monuments," (a Mexican story), "Hansa, the Lapp Maiden," and many others.

"Jack-in-the Pulpit," "Young Contributors' Department," "Letter-Box," Riddle-Box," and "For Very Little Folks," will be continued.

The four bound volumes of ST NICHOLAS already published are the most wonderful, beautiful and attractive Christmas Presents for Young People. Each volume is complete in itself. Vols. 1 and 2, $5.00 each; vols. 3 and 4, $4.00 each.

Sold everywhere.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately, often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus healthy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to WOMAN, I have been enabled to perfect a safe, potent and agreeable medicine that meets the indications presented by that class of diseases with perfect certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own clinical observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of woman, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for this class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, bear the scrutiny of my brethren of the lawn which govern the female system. I am willing to stake my reputation. As a physician, X-ray, from mature consideration, I feel it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single patient, or, in recommending it for any of the ailments for which I recommend it, that I offer and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. A trial of its effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, with the remainder, having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. Had I not the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it. As I do under these conditions; but having witnessed its truly miraculous cures in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has worked cures, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhea, Excessive Flowing, Painful Monthly Periods, Suppressions when from unnatural causes, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Barrenness, or Sterility, Female Weaknesses, and very many other chronic diseases incident to woman not mentioned here. In all affections of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the age of medicine. I do not exist as a cure-all, but it admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint, nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain it in THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, sent, post-paid, on receipt of $1.50. It treats minutely of those diseases peculiar to Females, and gives much valuable advice in regard to the management of those affections.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It promotes a luxuriant growth, cleans the druff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;

They subdue swellings;

They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castorin is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,

NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Burns, Swellings, Bums, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Medicine in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking the large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, compound of clump, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious taste. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is embodied in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor for any Pellets, in any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other forms of mercury, mineral poison, or injurious drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care is required while using them. They operate without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Costiveness and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will prove the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrh, Catarrhal Affections, after so many possible failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Dose SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possesses such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines was such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a tenth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country speak in the emphatic language of the Catarrh Fiend known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published testimonial. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those written for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, is as outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the least I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

That a statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for using. Price of the Radical Cure, $1.50. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Discovery of a Statue by Praxiteles.

In the second week of May, 1877, there was found in the Olympian temple of Zeus, not far from the portrait statue of a Roman lady, a colossal marble statue of a nude youth. The lower portion of the legs and the right forearm are wanting. With the left elbow he leaned upon the stem of a tree, supporting on his arm a little boy. Of the latter figure, unfortunately, only the lower part remains, and the tiny hand that he had laid confidingly on the shoulder of his bearer. Over the tree stem on which the arm that supports the boy is rested falls the drapery in rich, deeply-cut, and wonderfully worked folds, affording to the arm a soft resting place, and gracefully hiding the support of the tree stem, which in this portion was technically necessary. The body of the youth rests with an easy negligence on the left leg, so that the soft flesh of the right hip shows, in manifold displacements, the play of the muscles of the blooming, youthful form. The head is marked by the finest, most spiritualized youthful beauty, and somewhat resembles the heads we see on the Vatican Meleager, or the Hermes of the Belvedere. The body, too, resembles those figures, only it is slenderer, softer, more vivacious. At the first glance, we are struck by the careless execution of the hair, which, in the parts that were usually unseen by the spectators, is only slightly indicated. The back of the statue is also less thoroughly wrought. Now Pausanias reports that among the gifts of recent date was a marble Hermes carrying the boy Dionysius, and that it was a work of Praxiteles. The savants who have charge of the excavations have therefore, and there is no doubt correctly, inferred that our statue is really the Hermes of Praxiteles, and that we now, for the first time, behold an original work of that great artist—a work that is equal to the greatest treasures we possess of ancient art, and which must ever remain a corner-stone of our knowledge of the history of Greek sculpture.—London Athenæum.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY

Without recalling the excellence of the past, the publishers of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY announce, for the year to come, the following papers:

THE PICTURESQUE SIDE OF AMERICAN FARM LIFE.—This subject will be treated in a series of papers, by various writers, who stand in the front rank among Americans, both in qualities of style and in keen insight of nature. The first paper, by Sidney Lanier, author of the popular "Science of Hunting in New England" in the January number, will represent the same section in this series. Dr. John Burroughs, who has written similar topics have been a highly prized and popular feature of SCRIBNER will write of Farm Life in New York. Maurice Thompson, the poet-naturalist, will describe the characteristics of Western farming, of which little has been written. It is expected that the illustration of this series will be of a refined and typical character, commensurate with the text. It is thought that no paper or series of papers yet issued in SCRIBNER will so fully realize the constant desire of the magazine to keep out of the ruts, and, both in text and illustrations, to obtain quality rather than quantity, and to print fresh, strong and delicate work from original sources.

"ROXY," — by Edward Eggleston (author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," etc.). This new novel will appear in the most important American serial of the year. The first number will be published in November. Those who have read it in manuscript pronounce ROXY to be much the most striking and remarkable story this author has ever written. It is illustrated by one of the ablest of the younger American artists, Mr. Walter Shirlaw, President of "The American Art Association."

AMERICAN SPORTS.—Some of the most novel and entertaining of these papers are yet to appear, the scenes of which will be in the West, the Middle States, the South, New England and Canada.

OUT-OF-DOOR PAPERS,—by John Burroughs, author of "Wake Robin," etc., will contain not only articles on "Birds, but on "Tramping," "Camping Out," and kindred topics. Mr. Burroughs' papers will begin in the January number, the first being entitled "Birds and Birds," and illustrated by Fidelt Bridges.

ARCHITECTURE OF BIRDS.—Dr. Thomas M. Brewer will have some exquisitely illustrated articles on this delicate, which every lover of nature will delight in. Dr. Brewer has probably the finest collection of birds' eggs in the world to draw upon for the illustration of these papers.

THE SADDLE HORSE.—Col. George E. Waring, whose excellent work of various sorts our readers know, will contribute a series of practical articles on the horse. He treats specially of saddle horses and their use for pleasure and for sport, in India and Kentucky, and will give the making the nature of the English thoroughbred and that of the Eastern race—for the Arabian are fully considered in relation to these uses.

SAXE HOLM.—New stories by this popular writer will be given in early numbers of SCRIBNER, beginning with "Joe Hale's Bed is Cringy," to appear in January. This "novelette" chronicles an episode of the late war for the Union.

"HIS INHERITANCE," by Adeline Trafton, so well begun in the Midsummer Holiday number, will be continued nearly through the year. It will be found to be of increasing interest to the very end.

"A KNIGHT OF FORTUNE."—Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen's new novelette will be begun in SCRIBNER at the conclusion of "His Inheritance." It will reveal a phase of American society undreamed of by us as yet in our literature, and will certain to increase the reputation of the writer as a master of English and of his art.

THE EDITORIAL DEPARTMENTS will continue to employ the ablest pens in America, and will include the present admirable summary of English publications, besides the several articles above enumerated, the magazine will contain Poems, Sketches, Essays, Reviews, and shorter Stories of the highest character. A large or proportional reduction in price is made by an increase in the number of pages.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS of the MAGAZINE, in variety and excellence of design and in typographical execution, will continue to be in advance of those of any other popular magazine at home or abroad.

Subscription price, $4.00 a year, payable in advance to us or to any book-seller.

No club rates or other discounts to subscribers. The Magazine is worth all it costs, and its circulation increasing in a constant and steady ratio from year to year.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1877.

Congress.

In the Senate, on the 13th, Senator Chaffee of Colorado made a long and very able speech in favor of his resolution enquiring into the manner in which the Union Pacific Railroad has kept faith with the government.

The resolution offered in the Senate by Mr. Sargent, of California, in regard to promotions in the navy, has direct reference to the recent promotion of Commodore Howell to be a Rear Admiral. Senator Sargent says that Admiral Howell has been for a long time incapacited for active service and that he is a chronic sufferer from rheumatic gout, which facts ought to have been known to the Examining Board and should have prevented his promotion to the grade of Rear Admiral. Mr. Sargent is chairman of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, and it is understood his purpose is to fully investigate the operations of the Examining Board.

Senator Eaton, of Connecticut, introduced a bill to admit to register foreign-built vessels of wood or iron belonging to citizens of the United States; provided that such vessels shall have been purchased in good faith. This bill should be entitled "An act to encourage foreign ship building, at the expense of American ship-builders."

A large delegation of bankers and business men from Philadelphia and New York appeared before the Senate committee on finance, to urge the defeat of the silver bill. The committee has agreed to strike out the provision for free coinage.

In the House, the navy deficiency bill was passed without a division, after a somewhat lively debate, which elicited some vigorous criticism of ex-Secretary Robeson and a warm defence of that official by Mr. Hale of Maine; the democrats talked loudly of re-investigating the ex-Secretary, but were met more than once by the triumphant assertion from the republican side that a previous attempt to find criminality in his conduct had ignominiously failed. An hour was devoted to the discussion of the resumption-repeal bill, Mr. Crittenden of Missouri making an eloquent and forcible appeal against what he termed a national crime.

The Eastern War.

Despatches report Osman Pasha preparing to evacuate Plevna in the direction of Widdin. A despatch from Vienna says that the Russians who have been concentrating at Tirnova have started on their march to recross the Balkans. Servia has decided to join in the fight; a Russian subsidy of 2,000,000 francs has arrived. The Montenegrins have captured a fort commanding the town of Antivari, with its garrison, two guns and a quantity of ammunition and provisions. The Montenegrins are advancing on Antivari. Gen. Skobeloff has captured an important position in the rear of Plevna, and firmly established himself in it, repulsing the last Turkish attack with great slaughter.

In the neighborhood of Erzeroum the Russians are pushing the attack; they are also bombarding Batoum, on the Black Sea.

Democracy vs. the Army.

The debate in the House of Representatives on the army bill exhibited democratic "statesmanship" in a ludicrous light. Hewitt of New York talked a lot of twaddle about impeaching Secretary McCrary for having increased the army when the democratic House had not appropriated any money to pay the army; that is to say, it is a crime for an executive officer of the government to do his duty, when the democratic House, for partisan purposes solely, does not do its duty. The recruiting complained of by Hewitt was the enlistment of 500 men in the far West, to fight Chief Joseph and save the lives of hundreds of defenceless men and women on the Western frontier; this recruiting cost the government nothing, and did not nearly raise the strength of the army to 25,000 men, the standard fixed by law; but Mr. Hewitt evidently considers the refusal of a democratic House to do the duty its members had sworn to do, enough to overthrow any law of the nation,—and if the law says the army shall consist of 25,000 men and the democratic House don't want 25,000, all the democrats have got to do is to signify their dissent and the law is nullified without any further useless formality.

Another comical feature was the attempted usurpation by the House of the Constitutional prerogative of the President. The Constitution makes the President the Commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States; yet the "democratic House" coolly proposes to take five fall regiments of cavalry—one-fourth the entire army as it now exists—from the President's control, and station the said regiments in Texas, whether the President will or no. The Constitution makes the President Commander-in-chief; the "Constitution-shrieking" democrats propose to set aside the Constitution, and take supreme command themselves.

When the democratic House had gone so far, it is no great wonder that a Confederate Brigadier, General Hooker, offered an amendment prohibiting the expenditure of money for the support of troops to be used in any State "for the purpose of suppressing insurrection, maintaining order or supporting any government," unless such forces shall be applied for by the Legislature or the Governor of such State. The effrontery of this proposition is amazing. An ex-rebel officer gravely proposes to make it a misdemeanor for the President of the United States to use the army to put down a rebellion, unless he first gets the consent of the rebellious State itself! But this was a little too much for even the democratic House; and after General Garfield denounced the Hooker amendment as "a plan to facilitate another rebellion," it got but thirty-eight votes. It is a pity the thirty-eight could not have been put on the record, but as this occurred in committee of the whole the republicans failed to force a call of the yeas and nays.

News and Notes.

The Pope is very ill, and it is believed his death is close at hand.

William Sexton and Cyrille Dion played a match at billiards, 600 points, French caroms, for $1000 and the champion medal, in Tammany Hall, New York, on the evening of the 13th inst., Sexton winning by 172 points.

The Ophir mine of California has struck a bed of immensely rich ore, supposed to be a continuation of the "big bonanza." Ophir stock has gone up high in consequence.

Reports of Senator Blaine's condition represent him as a very sick man. He has been attacked with dysentery, and Friday night, the 9th inst., so weakened had he become that it was feared he would not survive. The worriment of mind caused by his recent domestic trouble has tendered to aggravate his bodily illness.

The shooting of Elmer Fletcher at Vandalia, Me., has been explained. It appears that one Jack Duncan had stolen $2800, and told Elmer of it, threatening to kill him if he told of it. Elmer told his mother, and Duncan finding this out killed him.

E. Near, of Orwell, N. Y., took a notion that he could cure his daughter of a desire to marry an objectionable young man by giving her a whipping. While this was going on up stairs, the mother, with an infant in her arms, went to interfere, when the brute pushed her down stairs, killing the child and severely injured the mother.

A vast amount of scandal is promised in connection with the suit to set aside Commodore Vanderbilt's will. The exposure of lots of immorality on the part of that ancient railroad mariner is threatened unless Wm. H. Vanderbilt comes down with $1,000,000. The parties had better wash their dirty linen in private.

Mrs. Belle Lynch, who, on her husband's death, assumed charge of the paper at Ukiah, Cal., of which he had been editor, cannot complain that she is not treated with perfect equality and just as if she were a man. Already she has been thrashed by two indignant readers, and the people have solemnly resolved to drive her out of the county.

There is a robust Christian element in San Antonio, Texas. It whipped an infidel who delivered a lecture against Christianity and sent him out of town with a warning that hanging would be the penalty of a second attack on his part upon the Christian religion.

Charles Capper, a rifle-target scorer, was shot in the breast and instantly killed by Dr. Lansing, while scoring for a rifle-match at Albany, N. Y., on the 12th inst. Capper leaves a wife and four children.

The American girls employed by the New York cigar manufacturies to take the place of the strikers, are said to be astonishing the employers by the quantity and quality of their work. The strike is considered a total failure, and a most disastrous one for the strikers, who find their occupation permanently gone.

Miss Wainwright, supporting George Rignold at the Globe theatre, Boston, is grand-daughter of the late Bishop Wainwright of New York, daughter of Commodore Wainwright, U. S. N., who lost his life gallantly fighting the famous Harriet Lane against a whole rebel fleet. She is also niece to Senators Anthony and Bayard, as also to Mr. Peter Wainwright of Boston. Young, beautiful and highly educated, a perfect French scholar and accomplished musician, she ought to become famous; and judging from the impression already made she will at least be a favorite with Boston.

Major Reno, who was sentenced to be dismissed from the service last Spring for insulting the wife of a brother officer, and whose sentence was commuted by the President to suspension for three years, isn't satisfied yet, and makes the cheeky proposition that this suspension be removed and he be granted a year's leave of absence in Europe. Army officers are highly indignant at the application, and General Sherman has written a savage protest against it.

Bangor's novelty is a case of stealing a man's leg. It had to be amputated, and the man brought suit for malpractice against the doctor who first attended him. A number of doctors were then called in to examine the limb, but the meeting adjourned without settling the matter, and with an agreement to meet for further consultation, one of the doctors locking up the leg in his office. The next morning it was missing, and the conundrum now is, who stole it?

Political.

There is a vigorous squabble going on among the Prince and anti-Prince factions of the democratic party in Boston, and it is very probable that Mayor Prince will be ex-Mayor next year.

The New York legislature is decisively republican in both branches. The Senate will stand—republicans, 19; democrats, 12; anti-Tammany, 1. House—republicans, 67; democrats, 56; anti-Tammany democrats, 3; independent democrats, 1; democratic greenback, 1. Republicans over all—Senate, 6; House, 6.

It is alleged that Edwin C. Bailey, editor and proprietor of the Concord Patriot, and formerly proprietor of the Boston Herald, is in Boston, making arrangements for a new daily evening democratic penny paper. He is said to have been in consultation with some prominent democrats, from whom he received encouragement enough to warrant the undertaking. The amount to be raised to start the paper is $75,000.

The newspapers of Wisconsin, republican and democratic alike, say that hard money won in the recent election there. There is hope even for the Northwest.

Ex-United States Marshal Shaffenberger, of Colorado, who has been in the Kansas penitentiary for the past eight months for robbing the United States government of $40,000, has been pardoned by President Hayes.

New Hampshire Items.

A house belonging to Isaac Bennett, in Belmont, was burned Monday night, the 12th. Probably the work of an incendiary. Loss $1500; insured $1000.

An attempt was made on the night of the 12th inst. to break into the store of Downing & Read, grocers, of Exeter. This is a third attempt at store-breaking there within a few weeks. It is supposed that the would-be thieves are mischievous boys in the vicinity, from the awkward manner in which they go to work. On the last attempt they piled a lot of dry goods boxes on each other, and in this way reached the rear store window, the glass of which they broke so that they might open it, but were unable to get in, owing to shutters on the inside.

Father Pease, 94 years old, over seventy years in the ministry and first settled over the Conway Baptist Church, sixty years ago, preached there on a recent Sunday.

THE CITY.

Ship Paul Jones, Capt. Jacobs, arrived below Baltimore on the 13th inst.

The Bailey house on Court street, with the spacious grounds connected, has been secured by the managers of the Children's Home, and will be at once occupied by that most deserving charity.

Those desiring copies of the sermon preached by Rev. James DeNormandie on Sunday forenoon, the 11th inst., on "What it is to be d——d," can secure them, free, at Mercer Goodrich's bookstore.

At the last meeting of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, at the close of the hearing on the petition of E. A. Clough for a new road, the Board voted to indefinitely postpone the further consideration of the matter.

Mr. Tower, a Boston diver, visited this city Wednesday forenoon to reconnoitre at the draw of Portsmouth bridge, and make arrangements for raising it. Another car, badly broken up, floated to the surface and went off up-river in the forenoon. The wheels of all the cars are at the bottom of the river, keeping the engine and tender company.

On Sunday evening, by invitation of Rev. E. M. Grant, the Portsmouth reform club will hold a temperance meeting in the Universalist church. Rev. L. F. McKinney, chaplain of the Manchester reform club, and an eloquent speaker, will deliver an address, and speaking is expected from members of the club; there will also be good music. Admission free, and invitation extended to all.

A fashionable wedding took place Wednesday forenoon at St. John's church, the contracting parties being Mr. Robert C. Peirce, son of the late Col. Joshua W. Peirce, and Miss Marianna Hackett, daughter of Hon. William H. Y. Hackett. The ancient church was filled with the elite of the city, and among the guests were ex-Governor Goodwin and a large number of the representatives of the bar, with other distinguished parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, rector of the church, assisted by Rev. Joshua R. Peirce, brother of the groom. The bride was elegantly attired in a navy blue travelling costume. After the nuptials, a recherche reception took place at the fine residence of the bride's father, which was attended by a large and select party. At its close the happy pair started on an extended western tour. The gifts were numerous and characteristic of the position of the families.—Times.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The meetings still continue with unabated interest; the gospel meeting at the North church, Wednesday evening, was a very large one, every part of the house being filled.

At the praise service were sung, "Oh, where are the Reapers," "Ring the Bells of Heaven," "My High Tower," and other pieces.

At the beginning of the regular service was sung, "I love to tell the Story," and then prayers were offered by the Rev. Mr. Coult of Salem, after which Mr. McGranahan and wife sang, "In the presence of the King." The congregation then united in singing, "Jesus, keep me near the Cross," which was followed by "Where wilt thou spend Eternity," sung by Mr. McGranahan with thrilling effect.

Mr. Whittle announced that Thursday evening he should preach on Heaven; he then took as the subject of his remarks the "Parable of the rich man and Lazarus," Luke 16:19—31. Though this may be a parable, it teaches some spiritual truths. The man spoken of here, made a total failure of life. He had given him abundance of this world's goods; "he was clothed in purple and fine linen, and fared sumptuously every day;" yet he was selfish and cared not for God. When the beggar was laid at his gate, he cared nothing for him, though the law required him to administer to his wants. But the end came; the rich man died, was buried, and is represented as being in the future world. There he is described as having his memory remaining and unimpaired; the events of this life still pass through his mind; he could see the happy state of those who were in "Abraham's bosom." His state was fixed, and between him and the blessed "a great gulf was fixed." We read that "these shall go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into life eternal." He had chosen to pursue a certain course, and now he must take the consequences. Our future life is determined here, else why did the rich man desire that a message be sent to his brethren, "lest they also come in this place of torment." Christ humbled himself, became poor and of no repute, suffered on the cross that, we, through him, might be saved. Everything had been done for the rich man that God could do; he had "Moses and the prophets," and, if he would not believe them, neither would he believe, though "one rose from the dead." Everything has been done for our salvation; Christ has died for us; "how shall we then escape, if we neglect so great salvation."

Mr. McGranahan sang with unusual power "What Then;" and Mr. Whittle offered prayer for the unconverted.

During the singing of the hymn "Sinners turn, why will ye die," the congregation retired, and an enquiry was held for those who desired to converse on religious subjects. A meeting for men was also held at Mechanics' Hall.

The other meetings during the day, were well attended.

SUPREME COURT--5TH WEEK.

Wednesday, Nov. 14, before Stanley, J.

The Court was occupied throughout the day in the hearing of case Dunbrach vs. Hobbs.

In the matter of Carroll County Savings Bank, the Court made an order postponing the decree until the depositors can have an opportunity to confer upon the subject of an assignee.

THE OLD ASSEMBLY HOUSE.

Not a few there are, who, from what they remember or have heard from others of the above antique structure of former years, never pass Raitt's court without a wish to see it reproduced in its old-time locality. Much is it to be regretted that the photographic and steroscopic arts did not have an earlier existence, that we might look upon its pictured resemblance as it was, as future generations will be able to look upon present landmarks of interest that will in turn take their place among the things of the past. From Brewster's Rambles, to which we are indebted for so much it is pleasant to know of days gone by, it appears to have been built by Michael Whidden in the last century, as General Washington attended a ball given to him there in 1787, when he pronounced the dancing hall, with its drawing-rooms, the finest he had ever seen in any part of the country. Besides the assemblies that occurred there every winter, when the wealth and fashion of Portsmouth society joined in the mazy dance, and the Washington birthday ball that closed the season, it held the same relation to Portsmouth for theatrical purposes that Drury lane theatre of London, the Park theatre of New York, and the Federal street theatre of Boston, did to those cities. The late veteran actor, William Charles Drummond, first husband of the fair Mrs. Barrett, (the name by which she was known in her later life), loved to tell when past eighty in years, of the happiest period, as he said, of his whole theatrical life, when, in 1817, in the company of the Boston theatre, he performed with his beautiful wife, in her 17th year, at the Assembly House; he as Romeo to her Juliet, and Paul to her Virginia. So popular were they, flowers were sent to them daily from the gardens of Portsmouth, and a lover of the drama among its citizens furnished them a pleasure boat large enough to convey the whole company in moonlight sails upon the Piscataqua on the evenings when they did not perform; the shores on both sides of the river having plenty of listeners to the choice music, vocal and instrumental, that reached their ears from the sons and daughters of Thespis, including the airs from the delightful old operas of "The Mountaineers," and "Paul and Virginia," included in their programme of performances. The theatrical people who were wont to come from Boston annually were not of the strolling class, such as we read of in the player's story in Goldsmith's Essays, and of which specimens still are seen, but sterling artists who would have done credit to the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, or New York's "old Drury," and there was sufficient cultivation in such matters among the people of Portsmouth fully to appreciate their performances. Besides the legends that survive of the Assembly House, its history can be read, during its entire existence, in the old volumes of the New Hampshire GAZETTE in the Atheneum library, from the many festive scenes and public exhibitions that occurred within its walls.

A lady has to tell of going there when a child to see a display of wax-statuary, that, as she remembers it, must quite have equalled Mrs. Jarley's famous show, and of handing her admission ticket to the life-like wax figure of the showman, an early Barnum, that stood at the entrance of the exhibition hall. Daniel Lambert, Larry O'Brien, (the Irish Giant), and all the other monstrosities wont to be found in old-time displays of the kind, were there, including the Witch of Endor raising Samuel from his tomb, which must have been especially choice and enlivening. Then there were the Sixteen Sister States, represented by as many little girls, fancifully dressed, with wax faces and hands, who were pounding upon inverted brass basins, being set in motion by the crank of a hand-organ that furnished music for the show. What a favored age it must have been when so much of the wonderful was to be seen, and how unfortunate are we not to have been born at an earlier period; enough it is to excite a wish for a home in one of the dwellings of Raitt's court, composed as they are mainly of the old edifice, in the hope of seeing some of the scenes of the past re-enacted at the witching hour of night, when spirits walk abroad, as did "the buried majesty of Denmark" to revisit the haunts of their earthly career,—if we may believe what our old friend Shakespeare informs us. Innumerable were the purposes for which the ancient temple of the muses was used, from Shakespeare's plays, and other of the old dramatists, well performed, to a puppet-show. Three thousand persons, as stated at the time, were in 1797 gathered in the large garden in the rear of the building, to witness the ascent of an immense balloon, of fancy colored paper, which, being the first thing of the kind ever seen here, drew together a large crowd. Some of the exhibitions were rather primitive, truly, but they "diverted" (to quote a phrase of the time) the good people who went to see them; but we will not laugh at them, for who can say but that a future generation may regard us as equally simple in being attracted by things that interest us now.

Our venerable fellow citizen, Capt. N. J. Ham, who has many interesting memories of the past to relate, tells of a time, in his boyhood, when he was awakened at his home, next door, by the Assembly House being on fire, through the carelessness of a writing master, who occupied the dancing hall as a place for his scholars; of his arousing Dr. Thorne from his slumbers on the opposite side of the street, to aid in extinguishing it, and the vexation of the owner, Mr. Whidden, with the writing master, when he learned that he had left two huge fires burning in the fireplaces of the hall, that had set the mantelpieces in a blaze, thus endangering, on such a blustering winter night, another conflagration, of which Portsmouth had already had a sufficiency. Another story of the building is that when it was once struck by lightning, the sole was stripped from the shoe of a young lady occupant, without inflicting injury to her foot. One of our citizens has a recollection of going there in his youth to a singing-school, and being told by the master that "nature had not designed him for a vocalist;" which he could not quite understand, as he had an idea that he was getting along as well as most of the class; but when the year following another teacher to whom he went, gave a hint of a similar import, he came to the conclusion that whatever else the gods had done for him, they had not made him musical.

Judging by what a few of the oldest of our residents can remember, and what others have said of it, so many happy memories were never associated with any other place of public amusement in Portsmouth; but these are for the present sufficient in this sketch of the once familiar landmark that was so conspicuous a feature in Vaughan street. J. H. B.

THE REPORTER'S OFFICE.

Editor Chronicle; The first excellent report of the Revival in your paper called forth a little criticism from some persons, because your reporter saw fit to intersperse a few remarks of his own. It was said that the reporter had only to note what he heard; and not to make any additions or subtractions, or comments. Of course the reason for this was that the criticisms there given were not as highly complimentary to the evangelists as their friends desired; if they had all been in favor, no one would have had a word to say against the reporter giving expression to his own views. The principle, however, is quite the same; it is no worse for a reporter to criticise than to praise; and if he is to give any impression of the sense of a meeting or of a discourse, can he do it without some words of his own? Is this altogether a fault, or is it a legitimate part of his office?

It is certainly something that he almost always does, but too frequently only in that stereotyped way, and with the repetition of those same adjectives which are used until they have become meaningless and an offence. Every prayer is fervent or earnest, though it be nothing but a mill-race of words without devotion or reverence, petition or aspiration; and many a discourse is eloquent and impressive, if only its sentences are so long, complicated and obscure, that if a fog-bell were to be rung in the middle it could not be heard at either end. Eloquent, able, scholarly preachers, or speakers in any department, are exceedingly rare; and it takes all force or meaning from words to use them so frequently and apply them so indiscriminately. A reporter says "the services to-day showed an apparently increased interest," "much good has already been done in the community," "a powerful sermon was preached last night,"—but are not all these his opinions, and favorable to increasing the interest already aroused? Why not object to them as well as to anything unfavorable? A strictly just person surely would. Certainly there is as much out of the way in these, as when your first reporter states (what was an unquestionable fact) that the great majority of listeners were far from accepting such views as were then presented. But it will be said a newspaper desires through its reports to give a fair impression of what is going on. If one reads in his morning or evening paper that a large congregation was present at such or such an unusual time or place, would it not be better to add that five or six churches were closed that all their attendants might, after long-repeated and vehement persuasion, be gathered into one, so that the public might be fairly informed? During the present religious (?) revival, probably at no meeting has the number represented nearly a half of the constituency of the churches engaged in the work; an increased interest ought to crowd every church,—not merely one.

Would not all such information be within the reporter's province, and something the public would be truly glad to have? Indeed there is no subject upon which reporters might more freely express opinions than upon this subject, which most intimately concerns all. One must not, of course, leave it doubtful which are his own words, and which the words of the speaker; nor should one make any comments in any ugly spirit, so as to set any one in an unfair light before the public; nor express opinions upon a subject where he had no information or interest; but with such limitations, surely the reporters' field ought to be regarded as pretty wide and free. The fact is, we are all delighted and think it very well, no matter how much is said, if only it agrees with our views or helps our side,—and when it is opposed to us, and we think it injures our cause with the public, we blame the reporter, and say it is his province to confine himself strictly to what was said and done! A man who is impartial, and honest, ought to confess that one is as legitimate as the other,—criticism as well as praise,—the unfavorable as well as the favorable. Thus the office of the reporter will steadily rise in dignity and influence, while if he be regarded as a senseless machine, only more and more inefficient and worthless persons will enter it, and the newspaper prove dull and dead indeed. The public would be pleased to hear again from your first reporter. FAIR PLAY.

The Horse Chestnut for Rheumatism.

Last year we met an American-born fellow-citizen with horse chestnuts in his pockets, which he said he carried as a safeguard against rheumatism. We had not known of such a reputation before, and supposed the idea originated on this continent. But Bouillon says that the oil from nuts is used with advantage against gout and rheumatism, which shows the same idea prevalent in France. We further find that in China the seeds of their species (Æsculus turbinata) is used to prevent muscular contraction in severe cases of rheumatism. If all these experiences come from distinct observations, and each without any knowledge of what the other has found, it may be that there may be more than mere imagination in the chestnut being a rheumatic cure. Have any of our readers had any reliable experience with it? For we suppose that the knowledge of its powers must be wider than we know.—The Gardner's Monthly.

ST. NICHOLAS!

FOR THE

Christmas Holidays.

Only 25 Cents a Copy.

Some idea of the attractions offered in the CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY NUMBER of ST. NICHOLAS, of which 100,000 copies will be issued, may be gained from the following: There are poems by Henry W. Longfellow and William Cullen Bryant; a fine hitherto unpublished sketch of boy life, by the late Theodore Winthrop; and a short story by the author of "Alice in Wonderland," a new fairy story, "Sweet Marjoram Day," by Frank R. Stockton; "The Pyterkins' Charades," by Lucretia P. Hale; a poem for little folks by O. W. Holmes, and a comparison between the manners of young folks in old times and nowadays, by G. S. Hamilton.

On the story element, the brightest feature is the beginning of the new serial by Miss Alcott, entitled "Under the Lilacs," with illustrations by Mary Hallock Foote.

The Christmas Number contains also the opening of a new serial story for Boys, a tale of tropical life, by Gustavus Frankenstein, entitled "Tower-Mountain," admirably illustrated by the artists Moran and Kelly; a Portrait of Miss Alcott, with a sketch of her life; several poems by "Two Little American Girls;" a Dog and a Cat song, Carol (set to music); and half a dozen complete short stories, bright, funny, exciting and pathetic, &c., &c.

The new cover is by the English Artist, Walter Crane, the famous designer of "The Baby's Opera."

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1878,

Besides Miss Alc tt's serial for Girls, and the three serials for Boys, to all of now each other in rapid succession, will contain a short serial story by the Author of "The Schonberg-Cotta Family," and an article, "Around the World in a Yacht. Boys!" has been promised by a brilliant writer, now on the actual tour of the whole in his own yacht. There will be contributions by a daughter of the famous Peter Parley, and a Letter to Young Americans by George MacDonald. The "Hans Series of indr c ive paper-, by various authors, will tell How to bind your own books; How they make coal; How to enjoy yourselves at home; How to be an agreeable guest; How to entertain company; How to be a carpenter; How to make an ice boat; How to build a house; How India rubber is gathered; How matches are made; How money is made; How mackerel are caught; How ice is at the Atlantic cable; How they mine in California; How they work in the tea country; How to be a par or magician, &c. There will be also a series of stories and sketches of Foreign Life, TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE, such as "Old Nicholas" (a Russian story); "A Day among the Welsh Castles," "Easter in Germany," "The Indians of the Amazon," "How Kiko was Lost in a Turkish Bazaar," "Master Skylark" (a Mexican story), "Hansa, the Lapp Maiden," and many others.

"Jack-in-the Pulpit," "Young Contributors' Department," "Letter-Box," Riddle-Box," and "For Very Little Folks," will be continued.

The four bound volumes of ST. NICHOLAS already published are the most wonderful, beautiful and attractive Christmas Present for Young People. Each volume is complete in itself. Vols. 1 and 2, $3.00 each; vols. 3 and 4, $4.00 each.

Subscription Price, $3.00 a Year, postage paid. Single copies, 25 cents each.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the fall of the hair immediately; then restores a new growth; and always gently restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brittle, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair is restored and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

WOMAN.

By an immense practice, extending through a period of years, having within that time treated many thousand cases of those diseases peculiar to woman, I have been enabled to perfect a most potent and invaluable remedy for those indications presented by that class of diseases with positive certainty and exactness.

To designate this natural specific compound, I have named it

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The term, however, is but a feeble expression of my high appreciation of its value, based upon my own personal observation. As a close observer, I have, while witnessing its positive results in the few special diseases incident to the separate organism of women, singled it out as the climax or crowning gem of my medical career. On its merits, as a positive, safe, and efficacious remedy for that class of diseases, and one that will, at all times and under all circumstances, act kindly and in harmony with the laws governing the female system, I am willing to stake my reputation as a physician. Nay, even more—I recommend it, that it will not disappoint the most sanguine expectations of a single invalid—lady who uses it for any of the diseases for which I recommend it, think it over and sell it under A POSITIVE GUARANTEE. If a beneficial effect is not experienced by the time two-thirds of the contents of the bottle are used, I will, on return of the bottle, two-thirds of the contents having been taken according to directions, and the case being one for which I recommend it, promptly refund the money paid for it. And I feel the most perfect confidence in its virtues, I could not offer it as I do under these conditions, but having witnessed barely miraculous results in thousands of cases, I feel warranted and perfectly safe in risking both my reputation and my money on its merits.

The following are among those diseases in which my Favorite Prescription has wonderful curative powers, as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained by any medicine: Leucorrhœa, Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Prolapsus, Anteversion and Retroversion, Irregularities, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Womb, Inflammation and Ulceration, Bearing Down Sensations, Internal Heat, Nervous Irritability, Hysteria, Dyspepsia, Dependency, Threatened Miscarriage, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Impotency, Sterility, or Barrenness, Female Weakness, and very many other chronic diseases incident to women not mentioned here. In all situations of this nature, my Favorite Prescription works cures—the marvel of the world. This medicine, I do not claim as a cure-all, but as admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most perfect specific in all chronic diseases of the sexual system of woman. It will not disappoint nor will it do harm, in any state or condition.

Those who desire further information on these subjects can obtain in DR. PIERCE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER, a book of over 900 pages, well illustrated, for sent of $1.50. It treats minutely on those diseases peculiar to females, and gives many valuable hints in regard to the management of those affections.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purpose."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;

They subdue swellings;

They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. They have been endorsed by physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a lame man. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Grubs and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverish-ness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & Co., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,

NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets

SIZE OF PELLETS.

Or Sugar-Coated, Concentrated, Root and Herbal Juice, Anti-Bilious Granules. THE "LITTLE GIANT" CATHARTIC, or Multum in Parvo Physic.

The novelty of modern Medical, Chemical, and Pharmaceutical Science. No use of any longer taking huge large, repulsive, and nauseous pills, composed of clumsy, crude, and bulky ingredients, when we can, by a careful application of chemical science, extract all the cathartic and other medicinal properties from the most valuable roots and herbs, and concentrate them into a minute Granule, scarcely larger than a mustard seed, that can be readily swallowed by those of the most sensitive stomachs and fastidious tastes. Each little Purgative Pellet represents, in a most concentrated form, as much cathartic power as is contained in any of the large pills found for sale in drug-shops. From their wonderful cathartic power, in comparison to their size, people who have not tried them are apt to suppose that they are harsh or drastic in effect; but such is not at all the case, the different active medicinal principles of which they are composed being so harmonized and modified, one by the others, as to produce a most searching and thorough, yet gently and kindly operating, cathartic.

$500 Reward is hereby offered by the proprietor of these Pellets, to any chemist who, upon analysis, will find in them any calomel or other form of mercury, mineral poison, or opiate drug.

Being entirely vegetable, no particular care or caution is required while using them. They act mildly, but surely and thoroughly, without disturbance to the constitution, diet, or occupation. For Jaundice, Headache, Constipation, Impure Blood, Pain in the Shoulders, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations from the Stomach, Bad taste in the mouth, Bilious attacks, Pain in region of Kidneys, Internal Fever, Bloated feeling about Stomach, Rush of Blood to Head, High-colored Urine, Unsociability and Gloomy Forebodings, take Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. In explanation of the remedial power of my Purgative Pellets over so great a variety of diseases, I wish to say that their action upon the animal economy is universal, not a gland or tissue escaping their salutary impress. Are does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in clumsy wooden or pasteboard boxes. Recollect that for all diseases where a Laxative, Alterative, or Purgative, is indicated, these little Pellets will give the most perfect satisfaction to all who use them.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most responsible people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And remember, this testimony is not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which that so-deservedly friends to friends is in favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily avail themselves of the superior power and good of our known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published testament, and the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although having very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

Knowing the benefit of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

Anecdote of Rufus Choate.

Rufus Choate and Chief-Justice Shaw of Massachusetts, often indulged in wordy combats, and wit was generally freely expended by both sides. Choate was once arguing a case before the Chief-Justice (who was one of the heaviest men ever elevated to the bench,) and, to express his reverence for the conceded ability of the Judge, said in yielding to an adverse decision:

"In coming into the presence of your Honor, I experience the same feelings the Hindoo does when he bows before his idol. I know that you are ugly, but I feel that you are great!"

It is said that Choate had a command of language, and his brain teemed with a wealth of diction truly marvelous. When Judge Shaw first heard there was a fresh edition of Worcester's Dictionary out, containing 2,500 new words, he exclaimed, "For heaven's sake, don't let Choate get hold of it."

Choate, in an important assault and battery case at sea, had Dick Barton, chief mate of the clipper ship Challenge, on the stand, and badgered him so for about an hour that Dick got his salt water up, and hauled by the wind to bring the keen Boston lawyer under his batteries. At the beginning of his testimony, Dick said that the night was as "dark as the devil, and rained like six bells." Suddenly Mr. Choate asked him:

"Was there a moon that night?"

"Yes, sir."

"Ah, yes! a moon—"

"Yes, a full moon."

"Did you see it?"

"Not a mite."

"Then, how do you know there was a moon?"

"The Nautical Almanac said so, and I'll believe that sooner than any lawyer in this world."

"What was the principal luminary that night sir?"

"Binnacle lamp aboard the Challenge."

"Ah! you are growing sharp, Mr. Barton.

"What in the blazes have you been grinding me this hour for—to make me dull?"

"Be civil, sir. And now tell me what latitude and longitude you crossed the Equator in?"

"Sho'—you're joking."

"No, sir, I am in earnest, and I desire you to answer me."

"I sha'n't."

"Ah! you refuse, do you?"

"Yes—I can't."

"Indeed! You are chief mate of a clipper ship, and are unable to answer so simple a question?"

"Yes, 'tis the simplest question I ever had asked me. Why, I thought every fool of a lawyer knew that there ain't no latitude at the Equator."

That shot floored Rufus.

A Maine Girl.

Eva E. Works, the girl who hayed all summer in Brewer village dressed in male attire, was born in Dixmont, near Bangor. Her parents lived on a farm, and she, as soon as she was old enough to do any work, commenced to help around the farm. Three of her brothers went into the army. The father was in rather poor health and needed help. Eva, as she grew stronger, did a good deal of the hard work on the farm, and knowing that she could do work easier in boy's clothing than girl's she assumed male dress. She continued to do the work on the farm, and as she grew older and stronger, she became a very good farm hand. In 1872 her father died. The mother was then dependent upon her for support. Eva continued on the farm, carrying on the laborious work in a most successful manner till the house and outbuildings caught fire and were totally destroyed. Not daunted in the least by this most unfortunate misfortune, a house near by was rented and the farm continued to be run by her. Thinking, however, that she could possibly support her mother some other way better than by farming, she moved to Chelsea. There the mother lived while Eva worked in Boston, and gained a living for the two. A part of the time she was a hostler at a stable and the remainder of the time drove a team. This went on for two years, when in May last the mother sickened and died, and Eva, not having to support any one beside herself, came to her native Maine once more. After she had become accustomed to the garb of a man she preferred to continue in that dress, and she now stoutly affirms that she will ever appear in male apparel.—Belfast (Me.) Journal.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1877.

Congress.

Messrs. Maxey and Coke, the democratic Senators from Texas, on the 14th inst. made earnest speeches in the Senate in favor of the government doing something to furnish better protection for the dwellers on the Texas border from Mexican raids. Mr. Maxey urging that the army should be kept up to its legal standard of 25,000 men. The army bill was reported, minus the sections limiting the strength of the army to 20,000 men and stationing four regiments of cavalry on the Texas border.

The time of the House was mainly taken up by speeches from democrats in favor of the repeal of the resumption act, and from republicans in favor of letting the resumption act stand as it is. Hon. Martin I. Townsend, of New York, made one of the best speeches of the session in favor of resumption.

The Eastern War.

A Russian official despatch says that the Russians, under General Heymann, had defeated the Turks at Mount Azizie, in front of Erzeroum. The Russians lost 800 men, while the Turkish loss was 2500.

News and Notes.

Peter Mahoney (or Mahaney), a drunken, worthless ruffian, fatally stabbed Miss Bridget F. Kenneally, a young Irish woman, on the street in South Boston, Wednesday night, 14th inst. The unfortunate victim, who is said to have been a worthy, industrious and in every way estimable young woman, gave the drunken scoundrel no provocation whatever for the assault. The assassin, who is a notorious South Boston rough, was arrested in a liquor saloon immediately after the murder.

Robert L. Case, president of the defunct Security Life Ins. Co. of New York, has been found guilty of perjury by a jury.

"Slippery Dick" Connolly, of the Tammany Tweed ring, has been served with notice of a suit to recover $7,000,000 of stolen money.

W. F. Coolbaugh, president of the Union National Bank of Chicago, shot himself dead at the base of the Douglas monument in that city on the night of the 15th inst. It is said he was driven to the act by the drunkenness of his wife.

SCHOONER EVADNE, Capt. SICKMAN, sailed from La Have, N. S., last December, with a cargo of potatoes for New York, and had never since been heard from until a few days ago, when a ship arriving at Queenstown, Ireland, from Rangoon, reported passing the wreck of a large schooner with the name "Evadne" on the bow. She was undoubtedly wrecked with the loss of all hands in the heavy storms of last January.

Steamship City of Brussels had a very rough passage on her last trip from Liverpool to New York, arriving at the latter port on the 14th inst. with loss of foreyard, fore-topgallant mast, and an anchor and chain. In going up New York harbor she ran down and sunk schooner Alexander Young, coal-laden, and drowned two of the crew.

Field & Leiter's immense dry goods establishment in Chicago, the largest establishment west of New York, was burned on the night of Wednesday, 14th inst. Loss estimated at over a million dollars; insurance $900,000. Three men were killed by falling rubbish, or burned to death; several persons are missing, and five others were badly injured.

A brutal prize-fight took place between two roughs, named Harry Hicken and William C. McClellan, in New York, Wednesday night, for $250 a side and the light-weight championship, the money being subscribed by Wall street nabobs, and the disgraceful exhibition "witnessed by young bloods of some of the wealthiest and most respectable families in the city." The human brutes pummeled each other terribly for an hour, and then the referee declared a draw.

The large number of stowaways who arrive at Liverpool in Atlantic steamers, says the London Times, gives some notion of the bad times prevalent in New York. Two of these stowaways were taken before the local magistrates last week and fined $25 and costs each, with the alternative of two months of hard labor. They both pleaded that they could get no work in America, and were destitute.

The superiority of civil over ecclesiastical law has been expressed by the Pennsylvania Court of Common Pleas. It was a case of six years standing between a priest named Father Stack and Bishop O'Hara, and the latter was beaten.

Collections by the fish commission under charge of Spencer F. Baird during the past summer off the coasts of Maine and Massachusetts, which are very valuable, are being classified in the Smithsonian Institution. The operations of the summer have added greatly to the knowledge of previously visited fishing banks, and brought to light one up to this time unknown, about fifteen miles off the mouth of Boston harbor. It is so rich in fish that from 500 to 1000 pounds have been taken by trolling within half an hour, and among the victims was discovered a species of flounder previously unknown on the American coast, and hitherto believed to be peculiar to Greenland.

Mr. Barnum sent a scientific expert, Professor J. K. Taylor of Bridgeport, out to Missouri to make an examination of the "fossil man" lately discovered in Colorado. The Professor's report is published, and the conclusion which he has reached is that it is a genuine fossil, formed by mineral matter in a mold produced by a figure which "was once a living animal organism." The figure is about seven and one-half feet high, and has features of a "decided Indian type." Mr. Barnum offers $10,000 to any sculptor who will produce a facsimile of it, and $1,000 to the poor of Denver, and a like sum to the poor of Bridgeport, if it is shown that this is not a genuine fossil.

Governor Hubbard, of Texas, said in a recent speech at an agricultural fair, that Texas was getting rich at the rate of $100,000,000 per annum. The taxable property in 1876 was $250,000,000, while now it is $350,000,000. At this rate, he predicted, it will in 1880 amount to $700,000,000, with a population of 3,000,000, represented by more than twenty members in Congress.

The regents of the Smithsonian Institute propose to erect a building costing $125,000, to contain the $1,000,000 worth of articles presented by foreign exhibitors at the centennial exposition, provided Congress will furnish the funds, of which there seems to be but little doubt.

Under the law, the Postmaster-General is authorized to make all appointments of postmasters whose salaries are less than $1000 each, and all postmasters whose salaries exceed $1000 are appointed by the President. Of the former there are in all 35,948, and of the latter (those appointed by the President,) but 1397, thus showing a vast deal of patronage that is placed in the hands of the Postmaster-General. The total number of persons employed in the Post-office Department proper is 373, which is a very small force as compared with other departments, as the Pension Bureau of the Interior Department alone employs a greater force than the entire Post-office Department proper. The whole number of officers, including postmasters, agents, etc., employed under the department, is 53,000.

New Hampshire Items.

Three pairs of twins have been born in Ashland within as many months.—of Mrs. John H. Barry, Mrs. B. H. Brown, and Mrs. Joseph Blanchard.

The Methodist clergyman at South Newmarket has a salary of $600 and a parsonage, the Congregational preacher gets $500 and the use of a small farm, and the Universalists pay their pastor $1000 per year.

Harness thieves are very troublesome in Greenland. The last victim is J. C. Weeks, who lost a pair, for the recovery of which and the capture of the thief he offers a reward of $50.

Both the Congregational and Methodist parsonages at Greenland are being repainted, and the academy building is nearly finished.

Three singing schools are in progress in Deerfield. There are not many towns in the State which have pretty girls enough to support two.

Timothy Dalley jumped out of a fourth story window in Manchester on Wednesday, and was killed. He was in the 'horrors" at the time.

The hard times have resulted in a fearful increase of crime and vagrancy. From all parts of the State there are reports of an unusual prevalence of petty offences and of the very frequent appearance of tramps and hungry wanderers. The present condition of business is not the direct cause of the multiplicity of these wanderers, for there is not a county in the State where an able-bodied person cannot find an opportunity to earn simple food, shelter and clothing. Advantage, however, is taken of the dull times, by strong men and boys, who, too lazy to labor, are swarming about the rural districts and telling their thread-bare stories of no work and no money. Not one out of a dozen of these muscular tramps will accept work if offered to them. As the winter approaches, the stern necessity for additional clothing, and substantial food presses upon these vagrants, and the result is breaking and stealing all over the State. Nor are these lesser offences all there is to be feared from these wanderers in our midst, for many of them are desperate enough, if hard pressed, to commit any deed of violence known in the catalogue of crime.—Patriot.

In the case of the "Granite Agricultural Works"—the trial of Mr. A. B. Latham of Marlboro, by Swain, Earle & Co. of Boston, to recover the amount of a note for about $200, which purported to be Mr. Latham's—the jury, this noon, brought in a verdict for the defendant, who recovers costs. The note purported to be made to C. B. Mahan of New Hampshire "Agricultural Works" fame, and who is accused of fraud by some of the farmers. Mr. Latham's defence was that he never made the note. The jury found for defendant; and the Boston grocery firm, who in business took the note from Mahan, lose their case and have to pay the costs of the prosecution.—Hartford Times.

Florias Tripp, a twelve year old boy at Short Falls, recently caught an otter in a trap set in the Suncook river for a mink. The otter was a beautiful animal, and measured four feet from tip of nose to end of tail. It is the first that has been caught in that region for twenty years.

Political.

As miserable a piece of democratic trickery as has lately come to light, has just been revealed in the case of Metcalf, republican Representative-elect from the Third St. Louis District of Missouri. Under orders from the democratic Secretary of State forwarded a certificate to Metcalf, so framed as to insure his failure of recognition before the House. This was discovered in time, however, and a peremptory mandate of the court compelled the issuing of a certificate in regular and legal form.

The Brooklyn Union says one "L. Silverman," who was chief operator in a recent scheme to have Revenue Collector Freeland removed in favor of Gen. E. L. Hayes, was at the time advertising clerkships for sale and endeavoring to dispose of those worth $1500 per annum for a bonus of $300.

It was Mr. Chittenden (republican) of New York, and not Mr. Crittenden (democrat) of Missouri, who made the great hard-money speech in the House on the 13th inst.

—A man who has been an inveterate smoker for twenty years has suddenly and permanently given up the practice. He knocked the ashes off his pipe into a keg of blasting powder.

—Everybody who has visited San Francisco knows Woodward's Gardens, with its fine collections of animals, birds, etc. The proprietor is famous for catching at every rarity that comes in his way, and it was with emotions of intense delight that he recently received a note from a friend just returned from the east stating that he had brought with him for the Gardens "a fine specimen of ground hog." An expressman was sent for the animal, who returned with a large box; a company of scientific men assembled in the proprietor's room to view the prodigy; the lid of the box was carefully raised, and there was disclosed to view—a huge sausage.

THE CITY.

The sunken locomotive and cars—or what is left of them—we understand will be raised on Sunday.

Lovers of Dickens cannot fail to be highly gratified at the second entertainment advertised by the Hutchings Association to-day.

The Secretary of the Navy, in response to a request made by Senator Rollins for the re-establishment here of the Marine Band, answers that it cannot be done.

Fishing schooner Annabel, sixteen tons, formerly of Portland, has been purchased by Capt. Thomas Jamieson of this city, and will be employed in winter fishing out of this port.

Capt. Albert Rand, of the steam-tug Clara Batemen, has purchased the smart little steamer "Little May," which was used as a pleasure boat on York river by the guests of the Marshall House last summer.

The oldest sexton in this city is Mr. Ebenezer Wyatt, who completed on Sunday last his thirty-second year as sexton at the Unitarian church, which church also has the longest settled pastor in the city. Mr. Josiah F. Adams, at the Universalist church, is the next sexton in order.—Times, 13th.

All the vessels of Valentine Doane, Jr's, fishing fleet have been laid up for the winter in the pool below the second Newcastle bridge, excepting the W. H. Y. Hackett, which will keep on at winter fishing, and the Henry M. Clark, which is to be put in the fruit trade between New York and the West Indies.

There was a runaway on Islington street, shortly after noon on Thursday, and when near Wardwell's store, the horse took to the sidewalk, striking Mrs. Thomas Rutter, knocking her down and cutting her head badly, and injuring her so that it was thought she could not recover. The team belongs to Mr. C. C. Lamprey, we are informed.

A horse belonging to a Mr. Hamilton, who keeps a meat shop on Vaughan street, ran away down Islington and Congress streets at about half-past two o'clock Thursday afternoon, with a wagon to which he was attached. Everybody discreetly got out of the way until he reached a point opposite Mr. Charles H. Joy's store, when a son of Mr. Joy's ran out and caught him by the head; but the frightened animal kept on, carrying the boy with him—off his feet a good part of the time, too—as far as Church street, where the boy managed to bring him up. It was a risky exploit, well done.

A large and pleasant surprise party was given Mr. Wm. H. Smith and family on Christian Shore, Wednesday evening. The occasion was the tenth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and it was their intention to have celebrated it in a quiet and private manner; but a few of their friends hearing of the coming event circulated invitations to upwards of fifty acquaintances, and when the hour of assembling arrived, the house was filled with visitors, each having some token of friendship. The presents were numerous and some of them quite elegant. After the usual time spent in "thawing out," the company settled down to a good time and the house was the scene of continual merriment until midnight.

PEOPLE WHO DON'T ADVERTISE.

Said an old patron to us the other day, "I would like to advertise, but business is so dull I cannot afford it." Such a man reasons backwards. The experience of every shrewd and successful man has shown that the time to advertise and sell goods is when people, not knowing from the ordinary modes what a dealer has for sale, learn through a judicious system of advertising where to go to make purchases.

We sat behind two ladies coming from Boston, recently, one of whom had been making extensive purchases of dry goods and was telling of the "bargains" she had obtained at a leading store in Boston. "Why," said the other, "I bought the same thing at a little less than that on Market street last week." "Indeed," exclaimed the other, "I didn't think I could find it in Portsmouth at all. I have never seen it advertised." We thought the lady was not so much to blame for buying in Boston, when the Portsmouth dealers in the goods she wanted to buy, did not inform her by a legitimate process that they had the goods on sale.

We recall the recent case of a merchant who on taking account of his stock found he had a surplus of a certain commodity on hand which he did not wish to "carry over." He sent a brief but business-like advertisement to the CHRONICLE, calling attention to these goods, which he promised to sell at low prices. He soon had calls for the article from persons he never saw or heard of before, and he was soon sold out of the article he feared would be a drug on his hands. This was not all, for others called for it until he was obliged to order more of a commodity he had previously despaired of selling. He ordered out the advertisement which had given him more customers in that line than he had catered for, entirely satisfied with the results of his special advertisement.

The time to advertise is when trade is dull. A dealer said to us last summer, "I do not want to advertise now, as I have all I can attend to; but next winter trade in my line will be dull, and I shall advertise extensively." Another dealer, some months since, told us he could not afford to advertise; but when the assignee in bankruptcy took possession of his assets he found several commodities which, if advertised and seasonably sold, would have very much increased the rate of dividend the creditors were compelled to receive. The only true rule is to advertise to get customers, not to omit to advertise because customers are few.

John Jones, for drunkenness, was requested to contribute to the treasury the sum of $9.90, with which request he courteously complied.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The attendance at the gospel meeting, Thursday evening, was larger than usual; at seven o'clock the house was filled, and an overflow meeting was held in the Methodist church.

The usual praise service was held, at which were sung, "Jesus paid it all," "What shall the harvest be?" "Are your windows open toward Jerusalem," and "Salvation."

The regular service opened with singing "That will be heaven to me," after which prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Gwen, and then Mr. McGranahan sang "If papa were only ready," and "Good news for Willie," with thrilling effect. The congregation then joined in singing, "O, think of the home over there," and Mr. McGranahan sang "Eternity."

After asking God's blessing, Mr. Whittle spoke from Acts 7:55-56. We sing and speak a great deal of heaven, and much of it is imaginary, but heaven is not an imaginary place. It is not a mere state of mind, or experience; according to the Bible it is place. In Psalms 11:4, it is called the "dwelling place of God," and it is thus described in other parts of the scriptures; in them also it is spoken of as being the place where the angels dwell. It is the place from which Jesus came, and the place to which he has gone. Stephen, in his dying hour, saw the heavens opened, and Jesus standing on the right hand of God. It is the place of departed saints. Elijah is spoken of as being taken up into heaven; and hundreds of years after, he and Moses appeared alive on the Mount of Transfiguration. In John 17:24, Jesus says "Father, I will that they also whom thou hast given me be with me where I am." But the Bible nowhere teaches that we can have any communication with the spirits of the departed, or that they can return to us; and the belief in such a doctrine is a dangerous error. At death, the spirit "will return to God who gave it;" so Paul thought, when he says "to die is gain." In the final day, the dead shall be raised, those on earth changed, and all the saints, perfected, shall dwell in heaven forever. Neither the departed nor we have yet received perfect joy, but in the resurrection morn, there shall be perfect joy forever. In that home, there shall be no more sorrow or pain, but pleasure forevermore. But who shall inherit that blessed home? "They that believe in Christ shall not perish, but have everlasting life." In that blessed country, many have friends whom they have promised to meet there; may God influence such, to-night, to redeem that promise, and seek Christ.

Mr. McGranahan sang "What then," and during the singing of "Shall we gather at the river," the congregation retired, some fifty or more remaining for an enquiry meeting. A meeting for men, conducted by Mr. Shelton, was also held in Mechanics' hall.

SUPREME COURT--5TH WEEK.

Thursday, Nov. 14th, before Stanley, J.

John D. Lyman vs. Boston & Maine Railroad, action to recover for 330 1-4 cords of wood at four dollars per cord, $1321, with $307.13 interest. The defendants paid into Court $1063.41, and the question on trial is as to the balance, which the defendants deny, claiming nothing more is due, and that but 234 cords were delivered. On the trial, on Wednesday evening, Mr. Philbrick of East Kingston, a juror, was taken sick and excused, and the case proceeded with eleven jurors. Wiggin and Fernald for plaintiff; Hatch for the railroad. The case was given to the jury just before the adjournment in the evening.

In the case Dunbrach vs. Hobbs, a deaway was asked, for an opportunity to examine a witness who was not present.

Leonard L. Hook vs. Worcester & Nashua Railroad, an action to recover for damages for killing horses of the plaintiff on the line of the Nashua & Rochester Railroad in Sandown, is next in order, a jury having been empanelled with Thomas Conner, Esq., of Exeter, as foreman. Hatch for plaintiff; General Stevens of Nashua for the defendants.

REPORTORIAL--OR, OTHERWISE?

Editor Chronicle: The communication of "Fair Play" in regard to "The Reporter's Office" does not seem to call for any response except from the closing wish to "hear again from your first reporter." "Fair Play" states the case with such evidence of fairness and rare good judgment, that any additional work from the "reporter's" pen would seem superfluous. It chanced that, being desirous of listening to the singing of the McGranahans, the writer of the report referred to wasted a valuable hour at the North church on the Sunday on which the self-styled "evangelists" made their debut here. Being requested as a favor to report what he might hear, he did so—experiencing much pleasure from the singing of two solos, and some indignation at an exhibition of bigotry and self-sufficiency worthy the barbaric days of hanging for supposed witchcraft. The reporter who performs his work mechanically may consent to have no idea or opinion of his own, and be willing to become a tool to praise the doings of vainglorious workers-up of popular excitement, but as the writer has no overwrought sympathy with religious (or any other form of) intoxication, he painted the picture as it was, and has been pleased with the frequent congratulations offered him since. To doom him to follow up the matter, requiring constant attendance, would be a species of "damnation" a little too extensive for courtesy, and rather disagreeable to a person accustomed to choosing his own company.

This conviction is confirmed by a portion of the text of Rev. James DeNormandie's excellent and widely read sermon of Nov. 11th, the text being a sermon in itself: "Beware of the scribes which desire to walk in long robes, and love greetings in the market, and the highest seats in the synagogues, and the chief room at feasts; which devour widows' houses, and for a show make long prayers." THAT "REPORTER."

A Congressman's Love Story.

Mr. Conger of Michigan has a love history, which is very remarkable. He has a smiling, fair wife, fat and forty, who leans upon him in the abandon of the honeymoon. She has dark hair, patted smoothly on her cheeks, and she wears gold rimmed spectacles. She was his first love. A quarrel separated them. Each married. Twenty years after, he, a widower, was in Congress; she, a widow, sat in the gallery and listened to his speech. It was the first time they had seen each other since their early days. She sent her card to him; he came at once to the gallery. After a little talk she asked him to call upon her at her friend's, Mrs. Dahlgren's. He said she would call if he could come as he used to in those long past days of youth. In a few weeks they were married at Mrs. Admiral Dahlgren's residence, and are completely infatuated with each other.—Washington letter.

—There's a heap o'nonsense about the "last rose of summer." Just examine one and you'll find it full of flies and worms, and smelling like a burnt boot.

—There is a precocious six-year-old boy who is wonderful on spelling and definition. The other day his teacher asked him to spell "matrimony." "M-a-t-r-i-m-o-n-y," said the youngster, promptly. "Now define it," said the teacher. "Well," replied the boy, "I don't exactly know what it means, but I know mother's got enough of it."

—A suggestion which meets with much favor in London is that the names of the brave fellows who were lost in their attempt to rescue the crew of the Cleopatra caisson during the storm in which it was cut adrift, should be inscribed upon the pedestal when the Needle is put up. The battle of the sites still goes on, but it is pretty well settled that the Egyptian trophy will find its last resting place on the green at Westminster, where its model is already becoming a familiar object.

ST. NICHOLAS!

FOR THE

Christmas Holidays.

Only 25 Cents a Copy.

Some idea of the attractions offered in the CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY NUMBER of ST. NICHOLAS, of which 100,000 copies will be issued, may be gained from the following: There are poems by Henry W. Longfellow and William Cullen Bryant; a fine hitherto unpublished sketch of boy life, by Lucy Larcom; "Hans Brinker," a short story by the author of "Alice in Wonderland;" a new fairy story, "Sweet Marjoram Day," by Frank R. Stockton; "The Dressed Turtle Dove," by Lucretia P. Hale; a poetic riddle by Dr. J. G. Holland, and a comparison between the manners of young folks in old times and at present, by Gail Hamilton.

On the story element, the brightest feature is the beginning of the new serial by Miss Alcott, entitled "Under the Lilacs," with illustrations by Mary Hallock Foote.

The Christmas Number contains also the opening of a new Serial Story for Boys, a tale of tropical life, by Gustavus Frecentzen, entitled "Tower-Mountain," admirably illustrated by the artists Horan and Reilly; a Portrait of Miss Alcott, with a sketch of her life; several poems by Two Little American Girls; a Play, and a Christmas Carol (set to music); and half a dozen complete short stories, bright, funny, exciting and pathetic, &c., &c.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1878,

Besides Miss Alcott's serial for Girls, and the three serials for Boys, to follow each other in rapid succession, will contain a short serial story by the Author of "The Schoonerboy Crusoe," and an article, "Around the World in a Yacht, Boys!" has been promised by a brilliant writer, now on the actual tour of the world in his own yacht. There will be contributions by a daughter of the famous Peter Parley, and a Letter to Young Americans by George MacDonald. The "How" Series of instructive paper, by various authors, will tell How to bind your own books; How they mine coal; How to enjoy yourselves at home; How to be an agreeable guest; How to entertain company; How to be a carpenter; How to make an ice boat; How to build a house; How India rubber is gathered; How matches are made; How they land the Atlantic cable; How they mine in California; How they work in the tea country; How to be a parlor magician, etc. There will be also a series of sketches and sketches of Foreign Life, TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE, such as "Old Nicholas" (a Russian story), "A Day among the Wild Castles," "Easter in Germany," "The Indians of the Amazon," "How Kites was Lost in a Turkish Bazaar," "Master Moutezuma," (a Mexican story), "Hanna, the Lapp Maiden," and many others.

"Jack-in-the-Pulpit," "Young Contributors' Department," "Letter-Box," Riddle-Box," and "For Very Little Folks," will be continued.

The four bound volumes of ST NICHOLAS already published are the most elegant, beautiful and attractive Christmas Present for Young People. Each volume is complete in itself. Vols. 1 and 2, $3.00 each; vols. 3 and 4, $4.00 each.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the fall of the hair immediately, often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and prevents both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thicken-; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to produce a natural color, be it brown or black, or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor grines.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

MESSRS. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Wounds, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expect worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that assures thrift and adaptivity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot supersede a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint," and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have yellow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternate with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint," only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

Purely Vegetable. No care required while using them.

The "Pellets" are Gum Coated Cathartic, or Bulius in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the gross, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Fullness after Eating, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

PRESCRIPTION.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to woman has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES
PECULIAR TO
FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has wrought magic cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppression, Weak Back, Nervous Irritation, Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congest on, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but too tedious to mention here.

The following Ladies are a few of the many those who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that, in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, and unquestionable as it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which that 5-day remedy has procured for friends in this favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following, unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

This statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

A New Enterprise.

There was a meeting at the Falmouth recently of a number of prominent business men of the city, also some others from Rockland, Waterville and New Hampshire, to listen to proposals from A. Mason, Esq., recently from England, regarding the feasibility of establishing a mining exchange and smelting works here, based on the plan of the Swansea works of Wales, England. Mr. Mason is a gentleman of large experience in mining matters and is perfectly conversant with all the points regarding such enterprises. He has visited all the well known productive mines of the world, and has recently thoroughly examined the New Hampshire and Vermont mines. He stated that we have the material in easy proximity for the establishment and subsequent furnishing of works equal to those of Swansea, and our grades of ores are even higher than those treated there. There are hundreds of mines in Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine alone that are not worked because there is no sale for the ore. If works could be established at some easy point for shipment, there would be no difficulty in obtaining any quantity of ore. Providence, New Haven and Portland have been considered as suitable localities for such works, but Portland seems particularly favored on account of its fine shipping port and being the center of a number of railroads; also, its close proximity to the mines of New Hampshire, Blue Hill and other places. Our ores are the same as those worked at Swansea, and there seems to be no reason why works cannot be established here of a similar nature that will be fully as successful. We have wood, coal, clay and ores in abundance. The proposition does not call for any large appropriation of money to start with, simply enough to start a mining exchange where ores can be bought and sold and a regular market value be established for them. As soon as that is done there will be plenty of capitalists ready to erect smelting works. The Swansea works last year exported $25,000,000 worth of copper, and the home consumption was nearly as great. It has been a source of immense wealth to its originators. We can scarcely estimate the advantages of the establishment of such works in our city and it is earnestly hoped that something will grow out of it. If the matter is favorably considered by our citizens, Mr. Mason proposes to return from England next spring with parties enabled to give full statistics and information in regard to the establishment of this enterprise.—Portland Argus.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1877.

Congress.

The Senate on Thursday passed the navy appropriation bill as it came from the House, without debate.

The army bill was passed, but was amended so as to eliminate the mandatory clauses which requires the stationing of four cavalry regiments on the Rio Grande, and makes it permissible so far as the President is concerned. This was done because, as the House passed the bill, in this respect it was held to be an infringement of the high constitutional privilege of the President, and enjoining him in his right to order the army as its Commander-in-Chief where he pleased. The Senate also struck out the amendment which restricted the strength of the army to twenty thousand men, and left the law as heretofore, to recruit the army up to twenty-five thousand men.

The bill as amended was returned to the House, where it was referred to the committee on appropriations.

The Eastern War.

The Russians have formally summoned Osman Pasha to surrender Plevna. Osman Pasha formally says he won't do it.

Chronicle Correspondence.

SOUTH SEABROOK, Nov. 15th.

The temperance crusade meeting, last Sunday, came off at four o'clock in the afternoon, in front of the residence of Jacob Rowe. As Mr. Rowe lives just beside the Eastern Railroad track and off from a travelled road, and the crusaders had been warned to keep off the premises and were liable to be kicked off, a position was taken beside the railroad track, the audience of some two hundred persons lining the fences on either side, with the railroad tracks between them, enabling the crusaders to draw comparisons between the benefits of the Eastern and the curse of the "Black Valley Railroad." Rev. Wm. A. Rand, and Messrs. George E. Merrill (who by the way was born in Portsmouth, his father being the well known blacksmith of that name, formerly of Portsmouth but now of Newburyport,) and Richard L. Gove, coming on the ground fresh from listening to a rousing, aggressive temperance lecture at the Baptist church by Rev. Mr. Martell, (who is supplying the pulpit there,) carried the spirit of the meeting with them, much encouraged to see that although this was the eighth Sunday crusade, the subject of temperance still seemed to keep its hold on the interest of the people. Mr. John M. Weare was not present at the meeting to give aid and comfort to the rum element of the town; the "village" being the citadel of the "hard liquor" traffic, Mr. Weare has so far confined himself to meeting the crusaders in that place, which causes comment among the total abstainers. It was announced that the next Sunday crusade would be in front of John Locke's on Walton road, the place the crusade was begun at. This announcement caused much surprise among the liquor sellers present, as it made evident to them that the "cold water" thrown on the crusade by John M. Weare did not wet through. J.E. Wolfe, of Newburyport, is to be present at the meeting to be held at the village on Sunday, the 25th inst. Several slaves of cider have signed the pledge; and although no sellers have given up the business, they have lost some customers. The liquor dealers are disturbed at an uprisal in the public mind of the law question; and if the crusaders with the gospel are not very much mistaken there will also be a crusade of law.

The new school-house in South Seabrook is framed and boarded; and if Mr. Weare, whose residence is several miles away, would visit the place and see the building with its two stories looming up before him, he might be brought to see that there is some advance in the educational interest of the place—on a comparison of the new school-house with the old one. The building is erected at the expense of the district, by the district's own vote, $1576 being the amount of the contract. ESO.

RYE, Nov. 15th.

The "gay season" has commenced, and for the next five or six months the janitor of the Town Hall will earn his salary, if present appearances do not prove deceptive. The Musical Union met two evenings last week for rehearsal, preparatory to accepting an invitation to go to North Hampton and assist in a praise meeting, in the Congregational church there, which event came off on Sunday evening last, to the undoubted satisfaction of all present. The Union on these occasions was strengthened by the addition of several talented singers from North Hampton.

The members of the Congregational society, although still without a minister, are not disposed to remain inactive, and to show that they are still alive and mean to make the fact manifest, met in force at the vestry one night last week, and decided to have a Festival,—with all that the name implies,—at the Town Hall, on the evenings of Dec. 19th and 20th. The management was placed in proper hands, and it is safe to assume that there will be no failure, on their part, to make it the event of the season.

G. H. Janness, Esq., lectured in the Town Hall, on Thursday evening, for the benefit of the Christian society's Sunday School. His subject was, "Our Children—What shall they read?" and was handled with his usual ability, and the lecture was warmly received by the attentive audience present. It is proposed to have more lectures, for the same laudable object.

"Si Holland," whoever he may be, who claims to "have been before the public seven years and never failed to please all," advertises to give a show, next Tuesday night, at the Town Hall.

Business at the "South End," in the building line, is reported as being quite brisk.

The market for produce is not very lively as yet, but several car loads of potatoes and hay have been shipped from Greenland depot, the present week.

If they are to have any "guessing" done at the Festival, it would be both instructive and entertaining to have a guessing match on the number of loads of sea-weed that have been hauled from the town's six miles of sea-coast this fall. NAT.

News and Notes.

The consolidation of the Atlantic & Pacific and Western Union Telegraph companies, in Pennsylvania, is likely to be blocked by a constitutional provision which prohibits any such transaction.

Advices from Chicago show that the suicide of Mr. Coolbaugh, the banker, was undoubtedly due to overwork, and the report that it was owing to his wife's habits of intemperance is a cruel and baseless slander, as Mrs. Coolbaugh is a most accomplished and upright lady.

The Trans-Pacific Cable Company, to lay a telegraph cable from San Francisco to Japan and China, via Hawaiian Islands, organized at San Francisco, with Leland Sanford for president. The capital is $10,000,000 in $100 shares.

A new gasometer in Indianapolis blew up on Thursday, doing $20,000 damage but causing no loss of life.

Nebraska had an earthquake on Thursday; at Columbus it was so severe as to crack the brick court house in nine places.

George W. Stevens, George W. Kemp, Warren H. Walker, Charles A. Stevens, Benj. Whitten, Taylor S. Dodge, Henry G. Mills and Edward Merrill, striking engineers on the Boston and Maine Railroad, were all found guilty of conspiracy and obstructing the mails, in the United States Court at Portland Thursday morning before Judge Fox. A motion for arrest of sentence was made and is to be argued a fortnight hence before Justices Clifford and Fox on exceptions. The penalty is from $1000 to $10,000 fine, with from one day to two years' imprisonment.

Secretary Sherman's response to the resolution of the House shows that on the 7th inst. there was nearly $60,000,000 in gold coin in the Treasury available for resumption purposes.

Newfoundland advices say that the schooner Rose of Carbonear is missing. She had fifty persons on board, men, women and children. About forty days have passed since she left the Labrador coast.

I have heard Morton speak hour after hour in the Senate chamber when the muscles of his face were visibly contracted with pain, and his skin pallid with suffering and weakness. Time and again has he fallen fainting in the corridors about the Senate chamber or in his committee room, yet so well did the attendants know his strong aversion to letting the public know his weakness that the incident was rarely known beyond the limited circle of those who chanced to see it, or knew those who did and wormed it from them.—Washington letter to Boston Post.

The steamer Georgia, which was recently stranded on the rocks in the straits of Magellan, was set afloat by a very ingenious device. About 120 feet of the vessel's keel had been torn out, and two-thirds of the iron plates bent or broken, but the wreckers filled her frame spaces with Portland cement, which hardened into a solid wall against the water. Wrecking pumps were then put to work, and, as her engines were uninjured, she was safely steamed into port.

Political.

The citizens' movement in Boston against the re-election of Mayor Prince is assuming formidable proportions, the entire republican party and a large number of the better class of democrats seeming to be engaged in it. A list of over two thousand names, signed to a petition to Hon. Henry L. Pierce to run for Mayor on a citizens' ticket, contains the names of hundreds of prominent democratic business men, who have viewed with dismay the influence over the city government wielded by the back slums during the past year, and evidently do not love their party so much as to be willing to see the city ruled by the dangerous classes as New York has been for so many years.

Senator Conkling has written to the Secretary of the Treasury asking for what reasons and causes Collector Arthur and Naval Officer Cornell are removed before their terms of office expire, his understanding being that under the new civil service rules officers are to be removed only for cause.

New Hampshire Items.

The house and shed of Stephen Deland, in New Durham, were totally destroyed, with the entire contents, by fire early Thursday morning. The cause is supposed to have been a defective flue. Loss $1400.

The stable floor of Farmer Robbins, on the Chesterfield road, Keene, fell into the cellar on the night of the 12th inst., and four cows which were fastened to the stanchions, were found hanging by their necks, dead.

Col. George W. Lane, of Derry, has raised this year from three-quarters of an acre of land, twenty-two tons and 1269 pounds of mangel wurtzels. He also grew sixty tons of pumpkins, one of which measured five feet one and one-half inches in circumference and weighed sixty pounds.

A drunken quarrel between George Adjutant and one of his sons, at their home in the northly part of Wolfeboro, on the evening of the 13th inst., resulted in the immediate death of an old lady by the name of Garland, mother-in-law of Adjutant, who was far advanced in years, being 96 years old. It appears that she was sitting in the room where the fight took place and was knocked upon the floor, remaining there during the melee, and when taken up and placed upon a bed it was found that she was dead.

THE CITY.

Reform Club meeting on Sunday evening at the Universalist church, at 7:30 o'clock.

Eastern Railroad shares advanced in the Boston market on Thursday from 4 7-8 to 5 1-2 per share.

The fullness of a merchant's store is not indicated by the beggarly account of empty boxes which he permits to block up the sidewalk.

Morris Brothers' Minstrels announce their first appearance in six years, in this city, to take place next Tuesday evening in Franklin Hall, the performance to conclude with the "screaming burlesque" of Helen's Babies. See advertisement.

Hartz, probably the most renowned magician of modern times, is to be in this city throughout Thanksgiving week, and will perform every evening and on Thursday (Thanksgiving day) and Saturday afternoons, in Franklin Hall. See advertisement.

The Hutching's Association, whose second entertainment is to be given in the Universalist vestry on Thursday evening next, gave an excellent performance on their first appearance,—so good as to surprise as well as please the large audience in attendance.

Schooner Neptune, of Newburyport, while fishing on Long ledge, on Wednesday, had her foremast carried away, and also lost an anchor. She was picked up by a fishing vessel and towed into this port, where she will repair damages before starting on her return for Newburyport.

The Tompson house at the corner of Islington and Bridge streets was erected in 1720.—The Critchley house, corner of Bridge and Hanover streets, was moved here from Exeter.—The land on which the residences of Messrs. Thomas and Luther E. Martin now stand, has been owned in the Martin family for 267 years.

Mrs. Thomas Rutter, the elderly lady who was knocked down and badly injured on Thursday by a runaway horse on Islington street, died at about twelve o'clock the same night. She was somewhat hard of hearing, and probably knew nothing of the animal's approach until it was too late for her to get out of his way.

Rev. Arthur May Knapp, who some weeks ago delivered several of the most interesting and entertaining lectures ever given in this city, on architecture, is to give four lectures on art, (two on architecture and two on sculpture,) illustrated by the stereopticon, in the Unitarian chapel on Court street. Tickets for the course, $1; evening tickets, 30 cents; to be had at the usual places. The lectures will be given Nov. 19th and 20th, and Dec. 8th and 10th.

The cable steamer Minia on Tuesday picked up the off-shore end of the Direct Cable, spliced the new section to it, ran out a mile and a half of cable to the westward and there bouyed the end, returning to the lower harbor to wait a chance to make the final splice with the shore end. On Thursday the two ends were picked up and the splice completed, and the cable was once more in working order. The Minia on Friday left for Portland, where it is said she is to be docked to have her bottom cleaned.

There is no better place in the city to buy ready made clothing for men and boys than at C. E. Myers & Co's, number three Bow street. They have on hand a large and well selected stock of overcoats and ulsters, as well as a full line of boys' and men's furnishing goods; and their prices are as low as the same quality of goods can be purchased for anywhere else in the city. Custom work also is done at this establishment, and their patrons in this line will find the work well done and the goods as represented, and the proprietors willing and able to suit the tastes of their customers.

The diver who went down to the bottom of the river at the draw of Portsmouth bridge, Thursday, to see in what position the sunken locomotive was laid, found the engine standing upright on a lot of old piles and timbers with which the bottom is thickly strewn; the tender being on its side, and the truck-frames and wheels of the freight cars scattered around "promiscuous like." The report on Thursday evening was to the effect that the services of that invaluble anchor-boy would be again called into requisition, the navy yard authorities consenting to her being used, and that the engine, tender, etc., having been properly slung beforehand, the whole lot would be raised at slack water on Sunday. On Friday the announcement was made that the raising would not come off until Tuesday.

The annual report of the Sailor's Home says "10,328 meals have been served at the restaurant and as much food has been sold to be taken away. There have been 125 lodgers, and several regular boarders. We find the year marked by an increase of shipping, there having been 918 vessels this year against 781 the year before, and 5678 sailors, showing that our port is not without its full share of business. Mr. Loyne has made 388 visits on board these vessels, and distributed papers and books as needed."

Harper's Magazine for December is a brilliant number of that ever popular magazine. It contains Milton's "Hymn on the Nativity," seven illustrations; "The Metropolitan Newspaper," twenty-seven illustrations; "Keramos," a poem by Longfellow, fourteen illustrations; "A year of American travel," Part II, by Jessie Benton Fremont; "Monmouth," a poem by James T. Fields; "Back to back," "The man in the cage," "My uncle's heiress," and other articles. Now ready for delivery at Moses Brothers' periodical depot and Myers' book-store.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

At the Universalist church, preaching at 10:30 A. M., by Rev. E. M. Grant.

At St. Mary's (Catholic) church, Children's Mass at 8:30, Solemn Mass at 10:30 A. M.; Sunday School at three o'clock, P. M.

At St. John's (Episcopal) church services at 10:30 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. every Sunday,—except the first Sunday in each month, when the Children's Choral Service and public cathechising, commencing at four o'clock, is substituted for the usual one at 7:30; seats free at this service.

At the Middle street (Baptist) church, services at 10:30 A. M. Preaching tomorrow by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. H. Alden.

At the Congregational church, service at 10:30 A. M. Preaching by Rev. James W. Hubbell.

At the Court street (Christian) church, preaching by the pastor, Rev. John A. Goss, at 10:30 A. M. Subject, "Conversion essential to salvation," Matt. 18:3. All are invited.

At the Unitarian church, preaching at 10:30 A. M.; vesper service at 7:30. Preaching to-morrow by the pastor, Rev. James DeNormandie; subject of morning discourse, "What it is to be saved."

At the Advent church, services at 10:15 A. M., 2:45 and 7:30 P. M. Elder George Brown, of Eliot, will preach to-morrow.

At the Methodist church, preaching at 10:15 A. M., by Rev. James Noyes, the pastor.

Special revival services on Sunday: At 3 P. M., gospel temperance meeting at North church, for men only; at same hour, meeting for men and women at Baptist church. At 7:30, preaching at North church by Mr. Whittle; meeting at Franklin Hall, conducted by pastors of the city; and if church and hall are filled, overflow meeting at Middle street church.

On Sunday evening, by invitation of Rev. E. M. Grant, the Portsmouth reform club will hold a temperance meeting in the Universalist church. Rev. L. F. McKinney, chaplain of the Manchester reform club, and an eloquent speaker, will deliver an address, and speaking is expected from members of the club; there will also be good music. Admission free, and invitation extended to all.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, Nov. 16th; Batchelder, J.

Business was very light, the only customer being George Pierce, who had used up one of the city's stock of drunks and was unable to pay the price demanded, $8.76, and accordingly goes to Brentwood to work the debt out with his jaws at meal-times.

SUPREME COURT--5TH WEEK.

Friday, Nov. 16th, before Stanley, J.

In the case of John D. Lyman vs. Boston & Maine Railroad, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $308.57, over the amount paid into Court by the defendants. The defendants will move to transfer the question of law arising in the case, to the law court.

The trial of No. 285, Hook vs. Worcester & Nashua Railroad, was resumed. Action is for the killing of two colts by the defendants, lessees of the Nashua & Rochester Railroad, which, it is charged, carelessly managed their trains so that the colts were killed; the bars on the side of the track were down, etc. The case occupied the entire day. The jurors not engaged on this trial were excused until Saturday morning at half-past eight o'clock, when No. 286, James Sleeper against the Worcester & Nashua Railroad, is set for trial. Action for damages for killing a horse on the Nashua & Rochester Railroad, which is operated by the Worcester & Nashua Railroad. A. R. Hatch and John Hatch for the plaintiff; A. F. Stevens for the defendants.

"PERSECUTION."

The venerable Mr. J. Janvrin of Hampton Falls was on Saturday again brought before the Police Court, on an amended writ, for cruelty to animals, in killing ducks encroaching on his fields. The provocation, if not the justification, was ample; and the sharp following up of this case begings to look like persecution. —Portsm uth Weekly.

If a man is annoyed by his neighbors' ducks, he may, or may not, be justified in killing them; but he is certainly not justified in torturing them. Mr. Janvrin is "persecuted" by the Society, because it is asserted that in consequence of his "provocation," he beat these ducks to death with a stick, jabbing out their eyes, breaking their backs, and performing other acts toward the unfortunate birds, (who certainly did not intend to provoke him,) unworthy of a "venerable" gentleman. We cannot see that a man is ever justified in wreaking his anger upon a helpless animal, however provoking it may be. The Society intends to take notice of all such proceedings,—whether a man beats his horse cruelly because he cannot or will not do as his master chooses; or abuses his dog because the animal makes a mistake; or tortures his neighbor's cat or ducks or hens because they annoy him. And whenever sufficient evidence can be obtained that these things have been done, the doer will be prosecuted, let whoever will, sneer or bluster. Perhaps one of these days people will find out that it is not safe to treat animals as if they were stocks and stones; for those who will not be persuaded to act with kindness, must be forced to remember that there is a law in New Hampshire which regards all cruelty as a crime. HUMANITY.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The gospel meeting at the North church on Friday evening was a large one, many being obliged to stand.

The praise service consisted of the hymns "There is a fountain filled with blood," "Come to the Savior, make no delay," "Oh, sing of his mighty Love," and "Only a step to Jesus."

The services began by singing "Coronation" by the congregation, and then the Rev. Mr. Hubbell led in prayer, after which Mr. McGranahan sang "The ninety and nine."

Mr. Whittle gave notice that at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, a gospel temperance meeting would be held in the North church for men only, and that they would be admitted by tickets which could be procured free at the book stores, of the committee, and of the pastors; short addresses would be made by reformed men; and at the same hour a general meeting would be held in the Baptist church. In the evening there would be meetings at the North church, Franklin hall, and at the Baptist church if necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan then sang a song of gospel invitation, "Whosoever will may come."

Mr. Whittle took for his text John 3:15—15, "And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the son of man be lifted up; that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but receive eternal life." Jesus gives eternal life to men if they will receive him. The text shows the death, by which he should die. When the people of Israel sinned, Moses lifted up a serpent of brass that whosoever should look upon it might be healed. The people desired that the serpents should be taken away; they were not, but a remedy was given. Men have been bitten by the serpent sin and need a remedy, yet some will not acknowledge it; they will not seek relief until they understand just how sin came into their hearts. So men might have refused in the olden time to look at the brazen serpent, because they could not tell just how or when they were bitten. Some might have refused to look because they were but slightly injured, others because they were waiting to become better, and yet others because they could not understand the remedy. But if we wait to get better before we come to Christ, or until we can find a scientific explanation of salvation, we shall never be saved. Men wish to be saved in their own way and it is pride that makes them reject Christ. God's remedy for sin is salvation by the cross of Christ, and that must be the true remedy, whether it accords with our reason or not. We have the testimony of many that this remedy is efficacious. God's word says "look" and "live;" "whosoever believeth shall not perish." We must look away from self, away from our sins, away from our goodness to the "Crucified One," and he will save.

After prayer by Mr. Whittle, the congregation united in singing "There is a life for a look," after which an enquiry meeting was held, and a meeting for men at Mechanics' Hall.

Portsmouth Chronicle

—In sleeve buttons, the latest fashion is for intaglios. This word means a reversed cameo—sunk instead of raised—cut in sardonyx, although some are cut in onyx and bloodstone. Antique subjects are generally chosen—Noah going into his yacht, for instance.

—"Gloria in Excelsis," the inscription on the front of the Boston Music Hall organ, caught the eye of an attendant upon the Graeco-Roman meeting last week, and he inquired of a classical friend what it might mean. "Glory to the highest," was the reply, "and a very appropriate motto for a wrestling match, too."

—Experiments in driving by electricity have been made in France. An electro-magnet is placed beneath the coachman's seat, from which one wire is carried along the reins to the horse's bit, and another to the crupper, so that the whole length of the spine forms part of an electric current. A sudden shock, which the driver can administer at discretion, will, it is said, arrest the most furious runaway.

ST. NICHOLAS!

FOR THE

Christmas Holidays.

Only 25 Cents a Copy.

Some idea of the attractions offered in the CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY NUMBER of ST. NICHOLAS, of which 100,000 copies will be issued, may be gained from the following: There are poems by Henry W. Longfellow and William Cullen Bryant; a fine Bibelot story by Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge; a Boy's story by the author of "Alice in Wonderland;" a new fairy story, "Sweet Marjoram Day," by Frank R. Stockton; "The Peterkins' Charades," by Lucretia P. Hale; a poetic riddle by Dr. J. G. Holland, and a comparison between the manners of young folks in old times and nowadays, by G. G. Hamilton.

Of the story element, the brightest feature is the beginning of the new serial by Miss Alcott, entitled "Under the Lilacs," with illustrations by Mary Hallock Foote.

The Christmas Number contains also the opening of a new serial story for Boys, a tale of tropical life, by Gustavus Frankenstein, entitled "Tower-Mountain," admirably illustrated by the artists Moran and Kelly; a Portrait of Miss Alcott, with a sketch of her life; several poems by Two Little American Girls; a Play, and a Christmas-Carol (music); and half a dozen complete short stories, bright, funny, exciting and pathetic, &c., &c.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1879,

Besides Miss Alcott's serial for Girls, and the three serials for Boys, to follow each other in rapid succession, will contain a short serial story by the Author of "The Schonberg-Cotta Family," and an article, "Around the World in a Yacht, Boy!" has been promised by a brilliant writer, now on the actual tour of the world in his own yacht. There will be contributions by a daughter of the famous Peter Parley, and a Letter to Young Americans by George MacDonald. The "How" Series of practical papers, by various authors, will tell How to bind your own books; How they mine coal; How to enjoy yourselves at home; How to be an agreeable guest; How to organize a company; How to be a carpenter; How to make an ice boat; How to build a house; How India rubber is gathered; How matches are made; How money is made; How mackerel are caught; How fish in the Atlantic sable; How they mine in California; How they work in the tea country; How to be a parlor magician, etc. There will be also a series of stories and sketches of Foreign Life, TRAVEL AND ADVENTURE, such as "Old Nicholas" (a Russian story), "A Day among the Welsh Castles," "Easter in Germany," "The Indians of the Amazon," "How Kitty was Lost in a Turkish Bazaar," "Master Monterumo," (a Mexican story), "Hanna, the Lapp Maiden," and many others.

"Jack-in-the-Pulpit," "Young Contributors' Department," "Letter-Box," "Riddle-Box," and "For Very Little Folks," will be continued.

The four bound volumes of ST. NICHOLAS already published are the most attractive, beautiful and attractive Christmas Present for Young People. Each volume is complete in itself. Vols. 1 and 2, $3.50 each; vol. 3 and 4, $4.00 each.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proved that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brown, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lest hair regrows with their expansion; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purpose."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;

They subdue swellings;

They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their benefactors are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a cure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castorir is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gripes nor grinds.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. It is a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,

NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. While the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated, beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle apply in the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot supersede a superior article. By reason of superiority, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

When the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellow blotches upon the face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Bilious." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Multum in Parvo Pill, scarcely larger than mustard seeds and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use. As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their beneficial influence, but being so thoroughly preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes, the daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following testimonial shows what one lady thinks the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but too numerous to here mention.

The following letter is one a few of the many thousands who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, stands as many miserable failures. Success undoubted, specific claims, properties in the remedy used. DOSE SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends of friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily attest its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends of friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily attest its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but from the nature of the disease, it must be a delicate matter to bring the testimonials in our possession representing a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from Hiram Wells, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indictment of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I sought some relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

I think a statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

—Josh Billings says: "When an old man marrys a young wife, the luv in the transaction is alwus on the one side, but the folly is equally divided."

—A woman in St. John, N. B., went into a store, and desiring to make some purchases on credit offered to leave her babe and another child on security. The firm not having any demands in that direction did not trade.

—George Francis Train was witness in a suit in Philadelphia, Monday, till he grew so rampageous that the judge ordered him to leave. He answered the usual question as to his occupation thus: "I'm a loafer. I have no occupation. I sit ten hours a day in Madison Square as a bummer and loafer. I have no business."

—Nautical nonsense—(By a Hoarse Marine, by Judy)—No ship should answer her helm without a speaking trumpet. You can tell the pitch of a vessel by any tar on board. When you were a vessel, see where it was before it were where you wared it. Is the mainyard where the poultry and pigs are kept? Does the painter on board a ship ever heave the lead? Is it the correct thing for a man-of-war to be seen in ship's stays? We suppose the buoy at the Nore is quite used to smacks? In hugging the shore look out for the Needles.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1877.

CONGRESS.

The Senate devoted the day, Friday, to hearing Senator Davis of West Virginia make a long and tiresome speech.

The House committee non-concurred in the Senate amendments to the army bill providing that the President shall be governed by the Constitution instead of by the "democratic House," and retaining the army at 25,000 men. Gen. Garfield made a powerful speech against inflation.

News and Notes.

The French ministry having resigned in consequence of the adverse result of the elections, MacMahon has accepted their resignations, and asks their aid in forming a new ministry. A gentleman in Paris, said to have excellent means of information, writes the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian as follows: "In my opinion civil war is now only a question of weeks, perhaps days. President MacMahon is entirely in the hands of the Bonapartists and Clericals. These know that the Marshal's resignation would destroy their last hopes of governing France. But for the fear of Germany and Italy the Government would long ago have resorted to force."

Pittsburgh, Pa., is greatly stirred up by the unaccountable disappearance of S. B. W. Gill, a prominent lawyer. He left the city September 16th to take his daughter to Vassar college, then went to Albany, and has not been seen or heard of since September 21. His financial affairs are thoroughly sound, his assets being $300,000, with small liabilities, and the general belief is that he has been murdered.

An effort is being made in Washington to defeat the confirmation of Naval Constructor Easby as chief of the bureau of construction and repair. Mr. Easby is a competent constructor and has a clean record, but that is no reason why, under the patent civil service reform rules, he should be jumped over the heads of other constructors as able as he.

A serious famine is reported from northeastern Brazil, where 80,000 cattle have perished from lack of food, and 1000 human beings have starved to death.

Frank Rande, a noted desperado who murdered a man and his wife at St. Elmo, Ill., some time since, and killed two police officers who attempted to arrest him, was captured in St. Louis on Friday by two officers, after a desperate fight in which one of the officers was mortally wounded, he in turn mortally wounding the ruffian.

The steamer Massachusetts, has been repaired and floated out of the dry dock. She has been made six feet wider amidships under water. An entire outside hull has been built, and her hull now is six feet eight inches thick of solid lumber. After repairing the interior and repainting she will be ready for service, but will not probably be put on the line until next spring.

Sister Simplicia, a Sister of Charity belonging to the convent of "Good Succor," at Turin, was recently walking out in charge of a procession of orphan pupils. A mad dog attacked the column, when the brave sister went for him, caught him by the nose, and held him until aid came to her relief. Her fingers were terribly bitten by the animal, and a few days after she died of hydrophobia, in terrible agony.

A Californian is said to have invented an ingenious water faucet, through which, if water is run, it comes out as cold as ice-water. Boiling water, placed in any receptacle, and allowed to run through, will be found cool and fit to drink. The faucet contains numerous small tubes inclosed in large ones, and between the outside of one and the inside of the other certain chemicals are packed, which produce the desired effect. The inventor declines to give further particulars.

Over two hundred bodies of the passengers of the ill-fated ship New Era, which was wrecked off Great Pond Inlet November 12, 1854, were buried in a trench in the little cemetery at Mechanicsville, N. J. After some fifty of them were buried it was discovered that most of the unfortunate German emigrants had money belts about their bodies. Several attempts have since been made to unearth the first bodies buried, in the hope that valuables would be found upon them. All of these attempts have been frustrated. In the storm on the night of the 11th inst. another attempt was made to rob the dead, but those who made it, after digging but a few shovelfuls of earth, were frightened away.

A leading dry goods firm in Boston has recently held a protracted auction sale of camel's hair shawls, and now these heretofore fashionable objects of admiration are tabooed by the ton of the hub as being too common for anything.

The Treasury Department has decided that cod liver oil, the product of Canada or Prince Edward's Island, imported in bottles, prepared for use as a medicinal preparation, is not free of duty under the treaty of Washington, which exempts from duty fish oil of all kinds, the product of those countries, but that it is liable to duty at forty per cent. as a medicinal preparation.

James Savage, of the Belgrade depot, Maine, murdered his wife on Thursday afternoon, while in a state of intoxication. He has been arrested.

The Border City Mill of Fall River, Mass., was burned on Saturday. The fire caught in the mule room, and the mill was totally destroyed. There were several accidents, but no lives were lost. The insurance is about $400,000.

Explosion of a Trunk.

Last Friday the Utica Central depot was the scene of a peculiar incident. At the time it created great excitement, and this is how it happened: "After the arrival of the Chicago express, bound west, and while John Decker, an employe in the baggage department, was engaged in sliding trunks from a car down a gangplank, he came to one, innocent looking and covered with white canvas. When it struck the ground at the bottom of the plank, a terrific explosion followed, and he found himself firmly clasping a trunk handle. At the same moment, the air was filled with torn and burning clothing, metallic turtles, paper packages, etc. When the smoke had cleared away, and the excitement of the bystanders had subsided somewhat, investigation was begun. The paper packages were opened, and in them were found small burglar alarms. They were made in such a manner that paper caps, like those used in boys' toy pistols, are employed. In the trunk were 200 of these paper caps, put up in extra non-explosive style. When it was taken from the car the burglar alarms struck them and the concussion produced the explosion. Mr. Ross, the owner of the property, was soon upon the spot, and everything was explained as above. The other apparatus turned out to be nothing but mechanical walking turtles, which Mr. Ross was taking to a friend in Utica. Although no one was injured to any extent, the persons standing around when the explosion occurred congratulated themselves upon their narrow escape."

—The most sensitive woman known lives at Shell Rock, Ia. The slightest odor of tobacco, ether, benzine or kerosene will throw her into convulsions. She came near dying the other day on going into a room which a man with a piece of tobacco in his mouth had entered some time before, although the room had been thoroughly aired afterwards.

Gaps in the Ranks.

The finest teeth will decay, and drop out of the dental line, unless due care is taken to neutralize the impurities with which they are liable to be infected.

Sozodont is the only preparation at present known that accomplishes this object with absolute certainty, and keeps the enamel spotless.

Spalding's Glue makes broken things stronger than ever.

THE CITY.

Morris Brothers' Minstrels at Franklin Opera Hall to-morrow evening, when "Helen's Babies" will be introduced to the audience. See advertisement.

Quite a crowd of volunteers assembled on Portsmouth bridge, Sunday, to aid, by looking on, in getting up the sunken locomotive and cars at the draw. The tender and engine headlight were taken up on Saturday. Several truck frames, with wheels, were raised an Sunday, but the engine was not.

Rev. Arthur M. Knapp gives the first lecture of the series on architecture, at the Unitarian vestry on Court street this evening. He is an excellent speaker, and the subject matter of his lecture is interesting to an extreme degree. Tickets may be had at the bookstores of Mercer Goodrich and Willis G. Myers See advertisement.

The Portsmouth Dramatic Club will give an entertainment in the Town Hall at Rye on Friday evening, Nov. 23d, at which time and place they will present the burlesque opera Bombastes Furioso, and the farces "Turn him out" and "The house dog." There will be no postponement on account of the weather, let the weather be ever so bad.

On Sunday, as the schooner A. J. Williams, brick-laden, was approaching the draw at Portsmouth bridge, the tide being on the ebb and the wind blowing strong from the north-west, owing to some trouble with the gear the sails could not be handled as promptly as desired, and though she was promptly headed up stream the schooner was carried by the tide and wind stern foremost against the pier, breaking off a large timber and somewhat damaging the vessel's stern. The spectators considered the vessel lucky in escaping sinking.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

Notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the weather on Sunday morning the nine o'clock prayer-meeting was well attended. After some songs were sung and prayers offered, Mr. Whittle, in some remarks, emphasized the importance of personal effort, and gave some practical directions to Christian workers. In the enquiry room, they should always use their Bible; should have implicit faith and confidence in its power; and should select such parts as they have tested in their own experience. It should be their object to find out just where the enquirer stood, then to apply and show him such Scriptures as related to his case; but never to engage in any argument upon doubtful or disputed points. Each one, therefore, should have at his command a list of scripture texts and promises, to which he can immediately refer. In every case try to get the sinner to look away from self, away from his own feelings to Jesus. He exhorted every one to be ready to speak to his friends, for they were often waiting and expecting them to do so. Mr. McGranahan and his wife sang "Wonderful words of life," and the former made remarks. Short and affecting addresses were also made by Messrs. Pierce and Hayes, of Boston, and the meeting closed with the benediction by Dr. Alden.

The gospel temperance meeting at three o'clock, at the North church, was a large and successful one, the house being nearly filled. The regular services were preceded by the usual praise service, "Coronation," "Yield not to temptation," "Are your windows open toward Jerusalem," "Jesus, lover of my soul," "Salvation," and "Rescue the perishing," being sung. The congregation united in singing "Pull for the shore," then Rev. Mr. Hubbell led in prayer, which was followed by the hymn "Hold the fort."

After the reading of Mark 5:1—20 by Mr. Whittle as a scripture lesson, with some pertinent remarks on the power of Christ to save from sin, Mr. Hayes of Boston gave an account of his reformation from the power of strong drink. He had signed pledges, promised his wife to reform, but in vain. His little crippled child came to him when on his bed from the effects of rum, five times in one day, to make him promise to leave off drinking. When he had recovered somewhat, he was induced to attend the tabernacle meetings. The spirit of God reached him, and he yielded his heart to God, who took away the appetite for strong drink, and made him a free man; and now he was rejoicing in Christ, as well as his wife, who had also became a Christian.

Mr. French of this city made a short address, giving his experience. Under the preaching of Mr. Fowler, in this very house, he rose for prayers, found Christ and salvation from the appetite of strong drink.

Mr. Shelton of Boston repeated the story of his rescue by the power of Christ, from the terrible bondage of opium-using. He exhorted all to seek Jesus, if they would stand safe, and not fall again into the depths of sin and degradation.

Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "Pity the drunkard," with much pathos.

Mr. Pierce of Boston began by saying "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." He had been addicted to strong drink for many years, had had the delirium tremens, and lost all standing in society. He then enlisted in the war, had the tremens, and was sent to the hospital a raving maniac. When he came to his senses he found himself a wreck in mind and body. On that sick-bed he promised God he would seek him. When recovered so as to go out, he sought a Christian church, rose there to tell his story, fell down before Christ, and there received forgiveness of sin and redemption from the power of drink. He related some very affecting scenes in his history, bringing tears to many eyes.

Mr. Whittle offered prayers for any that might be bound by sin to any bad habit.

At the singing of "I am coming to the cross," those of the congregation who wished retired, and a meeting was held for any that might desire to seek Christ, a large number remaining.

At the Baptist church there was a full attendance in the afternoon, and preaching by Rev. Dr. Alden.

A large audience had assembled at the North church in the evening long before the time for the services to begin, every seat being taken and many obliged to stand. A full meeting was also held at Franklin Hall.

The praise service was more interesting than usual, several new pieces being rendered, such as "Refuge," "Watching and waiting," and "There's a light in the valley."

After the opening hymn, Rev. Mr. Noyes led in prayer, Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "Have you any room for Jesus," and "My Redeemer" was sung very effectively by a quartette of male voices.

Mr. Whittle spoke from Rev. 3:20, "Behold I stand at the door and knock," etc. This is one of the last and most gracious promises of the Bible. Four things are to be considered in it: the person, the position, the place and the performance. The person spoken of here is Jesus that died on the cross for sinners. What is this Jesus to you? The position is one of expectation and beseeching. Jesus knocks at the heart expecting admittance there; for he has a right to expect that we should let him in. The place is the heart, the will power of men. It is the heart, the affections, the will that need to be put right. It is a hard and deceitful heart that refuses to receive Christ. Knowing our wicked hearts are "at enmity against God," still Jesus comes to us. He seeks admittance to our hearts, to our souls, to give us peace and rest. Jesus has been knocking at the hearts of each one of us; every time we hear the gospel, every time we read his word, every providence of God, is Jesus knocking at our hearts. Jesus always goes where he is invited, he never forces himself into unwilling hearts. O, hear his voice, open your hearts to him, and receive him as your Savior. If any one is lost it will be because he will not open his heart and receive Christ. "Behold, now is the accepted time, and now is the day of salvation." "To-day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts."

After singing, "I have a Savior," a large enquiry meeting was held.

"WHAT IT IS TO BE SAVED."

Despite the falling rain at the hour of morning service on Sunday, a large congregation was in attendance at the Unitarian church to hear Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's ideas of "what it is to be saved." There were in the audience representatives from many other churches in the city; Baptists appeared to have no fear of falling water, and Congregationalists deemed a slight sprinkling of no moment, so that they could hear a solution of this absorbing question. After the singing of one of Jeremy Taylor's favorite hymns, which for two centuries has served to exemplify the breadth of Liberal Christianity, and in which very many of the congregation joined, with apparently the same unction which characterizes the evangelical songs, the pastor proceeded with his sermon. He shew by scholarly and learned research whence the term "salvation" comes, to what it alludes, and the many processes by which according to Scripture it is attained. The preacher did not regard a misspent life, terminated just after a late repentance, as a fit preparation for sharing the benefits of salvation; nor did he hold to the often-claimed doctrine of the few that are to be saved. If this was the divine plan, he preferred the democracy of the damned to the aristocracy of the saved! It was rather by a life of uprightness and holy living, a proper discharge of all our obligations here, that we are saved hereafter; and it is better to be good through life, from principle, than to become so through fear of everlasting punishment. The sermon was free from sarcasm or unkind allusions to those who hold to a different faith. It was liberal, progressive, logical and devout, and was most attentively listened to by the entire congregation.

OUR ANONYMOUS EDITORS.

It is a rule in all newspaper offices to take no notice of anonymous communications, but on Saturday we received two—one of them on a postal card—which we have decided to print. Here is No. One:

Mr. Editor: I have been rather surprised at the sharp criticisms in your paper on the men who are laboring here for the good of this community. Rather different was the reception of Moody and Sankey in Boston last winter, and totally different the tone of the press there, as you know. TRUTH.

We do not see why "Truth" should be "surprised at the sharp criticisms" he refers to, as it is known that the columns of this paper have always been open to the temperate presentation of both sides of any question of public interest; and when we admit the attacks of the evangelicals upon the Unitarians and all others who do not accept evangelical views, we have no option (under the rule which has always guided the CHRONICLE) but to admit rejoinders of the attacked parties. As to the different reception in Boston of Messrs. Moody and Sankey, we know that the sermons of Unitarian and Universalist clergymen were reported side by side with Mr. Moody's by the Boston papers; and that scores of thousands of copies of the Boston Times, containing pictorial caricatures of the evangelists and incidents connected with their work, and filled with ribald ridicule of the whole movement, were sold on the streets every Sunday morning while the revival was in progress in that city.

Our anonymous postal-card editor's rebuke is as follows:

Mr. Editor: From the tone of your paper, I should suppose the subscription list to be confined to Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's parish! How is it? A word to the wise, from A SUBSCRIBER.

The fact that our correspondent had not grace to sign his name to his message shall not prevent us from giving him the information he asks for; so we hereby let him know that the subscription list of the CHRONICLE is not "confined to Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's parish," nor to any or all the evangelical parishes, or the Episcopal parish, or the Catholic parish, as we have subscribers among the members of each, and outside the membership of any. "A subscriber" seems to us a little unreasonable; here the CHRONICLE has had, morning after morning right along, reports (which cost us a good many hour's of night work) containing the attacks of the evangelists upon the non-evangelicals, yet not one of the latter has intimated to us that our subscription list "must be confined" to the evangelical; but the moment we admit to our columns a rejoinder from one of those who object to be thus publicly damned for their belief or want of it, then "A subscriber" sneeringly enquires if all our subscribers are Unitarians, and follows his sneer up with an implied threat of something dreadful to happen if we dare to do so any more! He manages to crowd a sneer and a threat into a very small compass, considering his religious belief.

A large proportion of our subscribers do not "accept Christ" according to the evangelical idea; that is, they do not hold the evangelical view of His life and mission. Major Whittle, in his first lecture, said that to reject Christ is worse than murder or any other crime in the catalogue. This means, if it means anything, that such men as Thodore Parker and Thomas Starr King, whose whole lives were spent in self-sacrificing efforts to benefit others, who were ever foremost in good works, and against whose lofty moral character not even sectarian prejudice dare whisper a suspicion,—or, to come nearer home, that such men as Ichabod Goodwin, W. H. Y. Hackett, Jos. A. Grace, Joseph Hiller Foster, William Simes, William J. Laighton, and others,—were and are worse than such persons as old Evans, La Page and Wagner, provided only that the latter would accept evangelical views. The gentleman who reported that lecture took exceptions to such a view, and we have received and published a few communications in the same vein; but the CHRONICLE has not commented editorially on the matter in any way. Now, it seems, we must not even carry out our hitherto unbroken rule of allowing both sides to be heard; but we do not feel just yet like handing over the control of the CHRONICLE to postal-card editors, whether they are "evangelical" or totally unregenerate.

KEEP THEM WELL LOADED.

On Saturday afternoon there was a very astonished mariner on Ceres street. As Capt. Ezekiel Holbrook, of the schooner F. Nelson, of St. George, Me., was going down the stone steps at the corner of Market and Ceres streets, a gun was fired from the door of Wm. Downs & Son's store, and the captain instantly felt a stinging sensation in his neck; putting up his hand he found he was bleeding, and very naturally concluded that he was assassinated, or another victim of didn't-know-it-was-loaded. A small crowd soon collected, and on investigation it was found that the bullet had not hit the gentleman at all, but had struck the stone steps a few inches from his leg and knocked off a chip, which chip had shot the captain as aforesaid. The gun, we are informed, was one of several standing in Messrs. Downs' store,—unloaded, of course,—and it was fired off by a man from the country, who was quite as much astonished and almost as much horrified when the concern went off as the seaman was when he got hit, as he—the countryman—only snapped the unloaded thing to try the lock. Capt. Holbrook cleared his vessel at the custom house as quick as possible, determined to sail at the earliest possible moment Monday morning, not caring to stop longer in a town where bullets fly around the streets in such an objectionable manner.

After all the terrible accidents that have happened from keeping unloaded fire-arms around, it is indeed strange that the dangerous practice should be persisted in to such an extent as it is. It is not the loaded gun or pistol with which the unoffending man or woman is at brief intervals sent into eternity by some funny fellow of an acquaintance, who points the weapon at his friend "just to make him nervous, when there's no danger, you know;" it is the unloaded gun that does the mischief. Speaking to a friend of this bad habit unloaded weapons have of going off and killing people, Saturday afternoon, he told us that a short time ago a friend of his picked up a gun and aimed it at him; and on his earnestly remonstrating, the friend assured him there was nothing to be alarmed at, as the gun was empty. "How do you know that it is empty?" he asked. "Because I do," was the answer; "and I'll show you so, too; see here," and with the words he drew the ramrod and dropped it down the barrel,—"and by gracious," said our friend, "if there wasn't about six inches of powder and shot in it!" Even a heavily loaded gun is dangerous in careless hands; but an unloaded one is almost certain death to somebody, if a practical joker gets hold of it.

SUPREME COURT--5TH WEEK.

Saturday, Nov. 17th, before Stanley, J.

In case Leonard L. Hook vs. Worcester & Nashua Railroad, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, assessing damages at $161.10, which was presumed to be an estimation of the colts at $150, with interest from time of killing.

Case James Sleeper vs. Worcester & Nashua Railroad was opened to the jury. In this case it seemed that the horse was a runaway that ran upon the track and was killed; the defendants, as was contended, being without fault. After the case was opened the Court held that the action could not be maintained upon the case as stated. To this ruling the plaintiff excepted and the case goes to the full bench upon the question of law raised. Messrs. Hatch for plaintiff; Stevens for defendant.

The cases Gordon vs. Boston & Maine Railroad, for injuries received by two ladies driving over a crossing of the railroad at one of the streets in Exeter north of the station, by reason of the horse being frightened at the sound of escaping steam from a locomotive, wagon upset, etc., have been continued to next term.

Several cases have been tried before the Judge during this term, the decisions in which have not been announced.

NAVAL MATTERS.

Capt. Earl English, commandant of this navy yard, is granted leave of absence for three weeks from Nov. 10th.

Carpenter William J. Laighton is placed on the retired list of the navy, from November 13th.

The following commissions (with others) are gazetted in the Army anp Navy Journal of Nov. 17th as having been issued: David B. Macomb to be a Chief Engineer in the Navy with the relative rank of Commander from September 21, 1860; John W. Moore to be a chief Engineer in the Navy with the relative rank of Commander from August 5, 1861; Thom Williamson to be a Chief Engineer in the Navy with the relative rank of Commander from August 5, 1861; Richard M. Bartleman to be Chief Engineer in the Navy with the relative rank of Lieutenant Commander from Oct. 28, 1861.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, Nov. 17th; Batchelder, J.

Two men, who were arraigned for an assault on a third one, were cleared by the complainant's own admission.

Mrs. John Dwyer was also up, for committing an assault on one Henry J. Davis, who if we remember rightly came near getting into an unpleasantness with Uncle Sam not long since, owing to some misunderstanding about the propriety of his taking from the post-office, and opening, letters belonging to the crew of schooner Active. The story of the assault, as told in the Police Court, was that Davis went into the refreshment establishment presided over by Mrs. Dwyer, devoured some rum and molasses, and then wouldn't, or couldn't,—at anyrate didn't—pay for the same; whereat Mrs. Dwyer remonstrated by hitting him in the head with a glass tumbler. There were no witnesses to the transaction except the two participants, and after patiently listening to their somewhat contradictory accounts the judge scooted them both out of court.

Sold everywhere.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

O ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

Ayer's HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; then restores the growth, and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with livelier expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes their original color.

Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are so wonderful and satisfactory as never.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from a grey, to either undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bedridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & Co., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Sore Mouth, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. While the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are respectively recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Precisely the same principle governs the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot successfully supplant a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million of dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Bilious Disorders, "Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and old affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and bowels costive, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Nullum in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Richly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has wrought marvelous cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppression, Irregularity, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but not mentioned here.

The following Ladies are a few of the many thousands who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are today offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily testify to its superiority over any nostrum of note known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published testimonial. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that it was the very relief of life. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured and at least arrive at a respectable old age.

If the statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

A Story of Jackson.

When Andrew Jackson was a young man attending court at Rogersville, Tenn., he lived at a hotel famous for its good cheer. One day, as he sat on the piazza, a youth came riding along and dressed in the pink of fashion, his eyes fixed on vacancy, replying not to the salutes which it was the custom of the times for strangers to give each other. At a glance Jackson saw the fop, and determined to play the part of Boniface. He welcomed the silent stranger with distinguished politeness, and the company about the fire made room for him. But the automaton was not to be won to conversation. He walked up and down the room contemplating his own graces, and presently exclaimed, commandingly: "Landlord, I want supper!" Supper was spread and the stately youth devoured it. Then he resumed his walk, answered not a word to the remarks of the fireside circle of lawyers and judges, and Jackson grew more and more wrathful. "Landlord, I want to go to bed!" was the next demand; and he added, "I want a room to myself." Jackson represented that the house was full, and there was no single room to be had; the young fellow was not to be moved. Jackson disappeared, and shortly returned, announcing that the guest's room was ready. The two went off through the front door, all the company following, and stopped—at the corn-crib, through the cracks of which a light was shining. "There's your room," said Jackson. "Do you wish to insult me sir?" said the fop. "No insult at all, sir. You vowed you would not sleep in a room with any one, and demanded a room by yourself. There it is, sir." "I vow I will not sleep there," said the dandy. "By the Eternal you shall!" exclaimed Jackson, and grabbing the youth, he sent him at one toss into the crib and locked the door. And there he stayed all night, and in the morning he was released and dismissed breakfastless by the impetuous Jackson. This is a tale related by an ancient lady of Rogersville.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1877.

Congress.

In the House, Saturday, the army appropriation bill passed as amended by the Senate. The bill as passed leaves the chief command of the army where the Constitution puts it, with the President, instead of with the "democratic House;" it also leaves the number of men in the army at 25,000, and cuts down the amount originally appropriated by the House $100,500. [The vote on the bill was partisan, except that Culbertson, Mills, Scelelcher and Throckmorton, of Texas, Gibson of Louisiana, Luttrell of California, Williams of Michigan and Williams of Alabama, democrats, voted with the republicans for the bill.] T. C. Metcalf, republican representative from the Third District of Missouri, was sworn in. The Paris Exposition bill was considered, and it is likely an appropriation to provide for a proper representation of this country at the exposition will be made.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.

After being tossed from the republican to the democratic side of the House and back again for nearly a week, as in a game of battle-door and shuttle-cock, Chairman Atkins demonstrating his incapacity meanwhile by frantic but unsuccessful efforts to again get it in his possession, the army bill at length passed and went to the Senate. There was no lack of demagogue appeals during the debates; and the hate still cherished against the army as the one insurmountable obstacle in the past to the full fruition of democratic hopes and aspirations, is so thinly invested with the pretence of "retrenchment and reform" as to deceive no one. The reciprocity of good-will so confidently counted on in return for the many concessions made to Bourbon prejudice and ill-temper during the past few months, was looked for in vain in the treatment accorded the army, as it has been in every other matter of legislation undertaken at this session. Texas members have certainly not added much to their reputation for consistency or comprehensiveness of view by their several votes as recorded, on the bill. But the Senate committee to which it was referred, promptly spoiled the provision made in it for the four cavalry regiments to be stationed on the Mexican and Indian frontiers of Texas, by striking out that feature. The point was made that the House could with quite as much right order the entire army to Texas as any portion of it, virtually annulling the Presidential perogatives as Commander-in-Chief of the land and sea forces of the United States. The limitation to 20,000 men was also disagreed to, and the numerical strength restored to the old figure of 25,000. In this shape the bill passed the Senate, with a few reductions in the amount to be appropriated for specific purposes. A Conference Committee will likely be asked for.

The navy deficiency bill passed the House substantially as it came from the committee.

Finances still engage the attention of both Houses; and the Record shows that we have a large number of able financiers in the House, or those anxious to be known as such. The President's disposition toward the Bland and Ewing bills is regarded as a matter of great moment by deputations of bankers and others here, enlisted on one or the other side of remonetization, and resumption, and seeking to influence legislation in accordance with their views. Holders of bullion are mourning the perversity of the Senate finance committee, which insisted on striking out the free coinage feature of Mr. Bland's bill. With the known tendency of the Senate to move cautiously in important matters, it is thought ample time for a hearing for all sides will be allowed, before it takes decided action on either. The delegation of New York bankers succeeded in eliciting nothing more definite from the President at their interview concerning his bias, than that he would give the matter (remonetization) his most careful consideration.

Senator Eaton has introduced several bills of interest to the shipping interests of the country; and also one providing a method for deciding disputed Presidential elections, such as the Electoral Commission was called upon to determine.

Ransome is prolific in bills, one of his latest appropriating $1,000,000 to pay certain persons for services to the Government in the South prior to 1861. These include mail contractors refused payment for proved disloyalty. It seems to be the impression that Wood's joint resolution, providing for the adjournment of the Extra Session on the 22d inst. may be adopted, giving such members of committees as remain here a little time to arrange the business before them, so as to allow them more time to participate in the political warfare which, it is taken for granted, will be precipitated directly the regular session has begun.

The President is reported to have given very cold comfort to the delegation of republican Senators who were authorized by their associates to call and express the sentiments elicited at the Saturday's caucus relative to the appointment of democrats to office, and in favor of holding him to the programme he announced for his guidance for the reform of the civil service. He is understood to have replied that he must depend on his own judgment in making appointments, and that Senators must use their own discretion as to confirmation or rejection. It appears unlikely to most observers that the present relations between the President and the party leaders in the Senate can long continue exactly as they now exist.

Democratic Senators by their action at the two caucuses recently held, seem to imply their belief that the republicans will be found a unit in favor of admitting Kellogg and Corbin; and that their policy, if this view is confirmed, will be to stave off a vote to the latest possible time.

Patterson and Belford, contestants for Colorado's seat in the House, have both been heard by the committee in their own behalf, but no present decision is expected. KNOX.

The Eastern War.

A despatch from Erzeroum says that Kars has been carried by storm after twelve hours' desperate fighting.

A despatch from Constantinople says that the Russians have been defeated at Orchanie, Etropal and Bergovatz, in the rear of Plevna. The hard-fighting Montenegrins have captured Antivari by storm, and are marching on Dulcigno.

The Russians took 300 guns and immense stores of ammunition at Kars, and captured the entire garrison. The fighting was desperate on both sides.

News and Notes.

A San Antonio despatch says several bodies of Indians have crossed from Mexico into Texas on raids. General Ord has warned settlers on the frontier, and he will follow them with troops. The Indians and Mexicans are unusually hostile on account of Lieutenant Bullis, who destroyed their camp near Saragossa. The Indians have received large reinforcements from Northern Mexico, and brag openly that any prisoners they take will have their eyes put out. They are consolidating their camps.

Mrs. Thomas Doran, of Bethel, Conn., attempted to kindle a fire on Sunday morning with mineral oil, and with her two children was terribly burned. One child is dead, and the other child and the mother will die.

The corpse of Louis Samuels, a dissipated character of New York, was found in a cellar one night last week, and was taken to the home of his family to be buried. The arrangements were all completed for Sunday, when Samuels appeared and objected to the whole proceedings. Who the dead man was is unknown.

Alexander Sayres fatally shot his wife, from whom he had been separated for two years, in a Methodist church in Philadelphia on Sunday.

Otis D. Brown, of Portland, broke his neck by a fall in Dooley's hotel, Boston, Saturday evening.

In some portions of Texas, where greenbackers have never been plentiful, the people have resumed specie payments, receiving and paying out gold in their daily transactions without any premium. Tired of waiting on the slow process of Congressional legislation on the subject, they concluded that as the premium had become so very small—less than two per cent., and in some places even one per cent.—it was not worth while to bother about it any longer.

Mrs. Morton is prostrated with her long vigils—for eighty nights she did not have a sound night's rest—and her friends do not think she will long survive the Senator. She is, however, preparing to leave Indianapolis for New Haven, where she intends to live until her youngest son has finished his college course. After that the two will return to Indianapolis and make that city their permanent home.

A maniac in Natick, Mass., caught a glimpse through a window, of a woman in her night clothes, and thought she was an angel. This was complimentary to her beauty, but dangerous to her life, for he fired at her with a pistol to find out whether she really wasn't human. The bullet grazed her head.

At the time of the surrender of Chief Joseph to General Miles, Lieut. Wood made a verbatim report of the speech delivered by the chief, which was as follows: "Tell Gen. Howard I know his heart. What he told me before I have it in my heart. I am tired of fighting. Our chiefs are killed; Looking Glass is dead; the old men are all dead. It is the young men who say 'yes' or 'no.' He who led on the young men is dead. It is cold and we have no blankets. The little children are freezing to death. My people, some of them, have run away to the hills and have no blankets, no food. No one knows where they are; perhaps they are freezing to death. I want to have time to look for my children, and see how many of them I can find. Maybe I shall find them among the dead. Hear me, my chiefs. I am tired; my heart is sick and sad. From where the sun now stands I will fight no more forever."

"Professor P. Valleau," of New York, is one of the great men of earth. He recently waltzed seven consecutive hours without a rest.

The gang of counterfeiters who have been circulating counterfeit bills on the Tamaqua (Penn.,) National Bank, were arrested in New York Saturday night. There is evidence to convict three of them, and four others are in a bad position.

The Pittsburg (Pa.) Despatch building was burned on Sunday, probably by an incendiary fire. The building was a very large and costly one, and the loss is very heavy.

George Alfred Townsend, well known as the "Gath" of the newspapers, had his face slapped in Washington on Sunday by E. P. Brooks, formerly editor of the Washington Republican. It is no great matter to slap "Gath's" face, for though he writes with a pen dipped in the gall of bitterness and the depths of iniquity, he is an insignificant-looking little buffer, who doesn't amount to a row of pins physically.

The Boston police have secured conclusive evidence that Peter Mahoney was the murderer of Miss Bridget Frances Kennedy, the young lady who was stabbed to death at the door of her sister's house last week. Mahoney was seen following her, and to leave the house just after the poor girl entered it; and the police have proof that friends of the murderer washed off his hands and the knife the blood that got on them. The worthless ruffian's neck is in a tickllish place.

The Cunard steamer Bothnia arrived at New York on Sunday, from Liverpool, after a terribly rough passage, during which her after cabin was stove to pieces by a sea. Steamship Thomas, at St. John's, N. F., from Liverpool, had her decks swept of boats, houses, skylights, ventilators, compasses, etc., and her second and third mates and one seamen were carried overboard and drowned.

New Hampshire Items.

The last Bank Commissioners' report on the condition of the Carroll County Savings Bank was in substance as follows: Total liabilities, $530,957.72; total assets, $422,072.19, showing a deficiency of $180,939.53. A committee of trustees appointed to investigate reports the liabilities, $530,423; total assets, $450,261; deficiency, $98,162. The officers of the bank claim that there are corrections and credits to be allowed, which will cut the deficits down to $30,000 or less, and for that amount the Treasurer is amply responsible.

Judge Stanley on Monday appointed Joshua G. Hall and Wm. A. Healey assignees of the Carroll County Savings Bank, of Wolfeborough.

There were showers, with heavy thunder and sharp lightning, at Manchester and Nashua, Sunday morning.

Heavy Failure.

Conrad Poppenhausen, the Long Island railway king, has petitioned to be adjudicated a bankrupt. The amount of his ascertained liabilities is $3,621,856, and the amount of nominal assets is $7,308,388. This includes $900,000 in notes of the Flushing, North Shore and Central Railroad companies. What these will realize is uncertain. There are twenty-four creditors, most of them secured by stocks and bonds on these railroads, or other securities. Poppenhausen had put over five million dollars in solid cash in these roads in extending and improving them. He paid all the obligations possible, but was compelled to stop because the Long Island Railroad failed to pay its notes for the floating debt, which he had endorsed. His troubles arise from the shrinking of values, (the general business depression here and in Germany carrying off nearly ten millions bonded and floating debt of these railroads,) and the falling off in receipts since he purchased the roads. In two years Poppenhausen has lost his large fortune. He is now sick in Germany.

Political.

The Wisconsin Legislature this winter will consist of twenty-one republicans and twelve democrats in the Senate, and in the House forty-three republicans, forty-three democrats, four greenbackers elected as republicans, six greenbackers elected as democrats, three independent greenbackers and one socialist. The greenbackers hold the balance of power.

It is said that when the Presidential party appeared before the audience at Atlanta, Mrs. Hayes came escorted by one O. H. Jones, well known in that city. It is asserted that Jones was one of the murderous gang who, having captured the gallant Adams and his party of Union scouts near Big Shanties, Georgia, in 1864, hung them so brutally at Atlanta. The rope around the neck of Adams being too long, his feet came down to the ground and he stood comparatively unhurt. The chivalric Jones thereupon seized a spade, and digging the earth away from under his feet, choked the heroic Union soldier to death.

Another great man has fallen. While Senator Maxey of Texas was speaking in the Senate, Wednesday, Senator Davis of Illinois, who wants to hear everything that is said and see everything that is done, left his own seat to get nearer the Texan. Forgetting himself, he took the risk of sitting down in one of the ordinary Senate chairs. The result was that the cane seating, as well as the legs of the chair, gave way, and the next moment four hundred pounds of solid Senator were gently dumped on the floor.

The Cincinnati Commercial professes to be quite happy over the success of the democrats in Ohio; not because it loves the democrats, but "because the taste of misgovernment that the people will get under their administration will make the State republican for the next nine hundred and ninety-nine years." The sincerity of this expression of joy the New York World is inclined to question, and it observes: "Rarely has so small an oyster been applied to so big a black eye."

—An Illinois editor bought his ink by the jugful, because it was cheaper, but his wife went to fill the inkstand one morning and she found it wasn't ink by a jugful.

THE CITY.

Morris Brothers' Minstrels at Franklin Opera Hall this evening. See advertisement.

Rev. Arthur M. Knapp will deliver the second lecture on architecture at the Unitarian vestry on Court street this evening.

There were more drunken men and boys on the streets Saturday night than have been seen before since the night before the fourth of July.

Schooner Mary Elia, Capt. Staples, of this port, with 250 tons of coal for Salisbury, arrived at Newburyport bar in thirty-six hours from New York, waited at the bar six and one-half hours for the tide, and then arrived at the wharf in Salisbury in forty-five hours from New York.

The managers of the Sailors' Home, in closing their annual report, say: The conductors of this enterprise thank its friends for their generous and unfailing interest; and though it is primarily for the sailor, it seeks to help those in our community upon whom the times press heavily, by furnishing food at the lowest possible price. Its acceptable aid "involves no loss of self respect, and will be of more value than ever, we fear, during the coming winter."

The Portsmouth Reform Club were greeted with a very large audience at the Universalist church on Sunday evening. Rev. L. F. McKinney, chaplain of the Manchester club, gave a splendid extempore address which fairly enwrapped his listeners. President Janvrin of the Portsmouth club related his experience, and the large chorus of this church gave some choice temperance revival hymns. It was one of the best meetings the club ever held. They will be continued every Sunday evening.

We hear that Howe Call, Esq., a promising young lawyer of this city, has received a pressing offer to enter a law copartnership at Baltimore. Mr. Call recently won a difficult case before the jury, at the present term of the Supreme Court, and his clients desire him to remain in Portsmouth. He is a ready speaker, and has rendered considerable service to his party friends upon the stump, and many democrats of the district urge him to remain and accept the successorship of Frank Jones as the nominee for Congress from this District.

Dr. John W. Parsons had a rather startling experience on Sunday morning at about four o'clock. He left this city on a professional visit to Hampton somewhere about midnight, at which time there was sufficient light for a man to find his way; but the sky becoming overcast and the night very dark, on his return he got off his route, and finally was astonished to find himself close to the edge of the cliff at Little Boar's Head, a flash of lightning fortunately showing him his dangerous position. The doctor stopped his horse pretty suddenly, but was unable to find the road until he alighted and struck matches; and he was not at all annoyed when he found himself safe at home.

On Saturday a well-dressed and gentlemanly-appearing man hired a horse at Cochrane's livery stable, for an hour and a half, saying that he might use the team longer in which case he would pay the additional price demanded. He returned to the city at about half-past two o'clock Sunday morning, and hitched the horse on Bridge street, where the poor animal remained until the afternoon without shelter, when the stable men learned he was there and of course at once took care of him. On Monday the horse was sick, and no great wonder. It is a pity the polished rascal (for any man who would treat a horse so is no less) could not be caught and put through a course of judicial sprouts; but it is supposed he left for Boston on the Pullman train.

A BLUSHING DENIAL.

Ed. Chronicle: Please do us the favor to make a correction in the locality of the shooting affair recorded in your Monday's paper. It did not occur at our store, and in no way had any connection with it. In writing up so full and particular an account of the occurrence, it would seem that your reporter ought to have been able to have correctly stated where it happened. We do not object to being publicly credited with any honor that justly belongs to us, but we are altogether too modest to be crowned with the laurels of others. WM. DOWNS & SON.

[Note.—Our reporter got his information from the man who was shot, and he said the bullet was fired from the door of Messrs. Downs' store; considering that authority pretty good, the reporter did not trouble himself to go further. In reality, the gun was fired from the next door, which is a few feet distant from the one named; but it was reprehensibly a careless trick, no matter where the gun was fired from or who fired it.—Ed. Chronicle.]

SUPREME COURT--6th WEEK.

Monday, Nov. 19; Stanley, J.

The Court spent the forenoon in looking over the docket. Case William R. Foster vs. Thomas E. O. Marvin, a suit about a uniform, was disposed of by an order for non-suit, for some informality in the papers. Frink for plaintiff; F. M. Hatch for defendant.

The suit Creswell and others, receivers of the Freedmen's Savings Bank, vs. James Pike, was continued.

John D. Ordway, of Hampstead, vs. Jonathan C. Sanders, of Derry. Action for the loss of a package of money entrusted to the servant of Sanders, a carrier of passengers, etc., between West Hampstead and Atkinson depot, there to be delivered to Perkins' Exeter and Boston express by Wm. Nelson, driver of defendant's stage. The case was tried at last January term, when a verdict was rendered, which the law Court set aside. The plaintiff seeks to prove that the driver was agent of the defendant, who succeeded his brother; the amount entrusted was $198.55 in currency and a check on Boston for five dollars, which is the claim in suit. Hatch and Bartlett for the plaintiff; Marston for defendant. The evidence was closed, and the arguments are to be made this morning.

TWO YOUNG FOOLS.

Two young girls, one a pupil at the High School, named Alice Stickney, and the other named Jennie Grey, one fifteen years old and the other sixteen, both quite attractive in appearance, and the daughters of respectable parents, left home on Saturday morning, purchasing tickets for Boston and showing considerable money at the time. The tickets were taken up by Conductor Leavitt, who takes out the 8:23 A. M. train from this city. It appears that some three weeks ago a couple of strange men, giving the names of Willey and Kittredge, came here and stayed three days, during which time they made a clandestine acquaintance with these silly girls, and from circumstances which came to light after the runaway the foolish escapade was connected with the men referred to. Steps were at once taken to rescue the girls from the consequences of their folly, and they were found in Charlestown, Mass., on Monday.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Eliza Laighton, widow of Hon. Thomas B. Laighton, and mother of Mrs. Celia Thaxter and Messrs. Oscar and Cedric Laighton of the Appledore House, Isles of Shoals, died in this city on Monday, at the age of seventy-four years. She was a most excellent woman, a true wife and devoted mother; and even in her old age, and despite the wearying and wearing complaint which kept her secluded from general society during the later years of her life, her cheerful, companionable disposition won her the warm regards of those who were admitted to her acquaintance. Blest with abundant good sense, she was an interesting conversationalist; and when long past seventy, neither age nor physical suffering had dulled her keen appreciation of humor, and her laugh was still cheery and hearty as a young girl's. An ardent lover of the beautiful in nature, she kept her island home at Appledore beautified indoors throughout the long winters with a wealth of plants, the common and the rare being equal favorites, so only they were equally beautiful; and her love for birds was to the last a source of pleasure to her. The devoted attentions of her children were doubly her due, for her youth and womanhood, and her riper years, were devoted to them; and they will have the sympathy of all who have enjoyed the venerable lady's acquaintance, in their affliction—not the less an affliction because long feared, and reasonably to be expected in the course of nature.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The gospel meeting at the North church on Monday evening was preceded by the usual praise service, the selections being "Whosoever Will," "Jesus of Nazareth passeth by," "Sowing the seed," "The gates ajar" and "There's a light in the valley."

The regular service began with singing the hymn "I hear thy gentle voice." Rev. Mr. Goss led in prayer, Mr. McGranahan sang "I have set before thee an open door," the congregation united in singing "There is a fountain filled with blood," and then Mr. McGranahan sang "Eternity."

Mr. Whittle took for his theme, Rom. 3:4—5. Salvation is either of works or of grace; our text says it is of grace, so other scriptures assert. The thief on the cross was to enter paradise by believing on Christ, the other thief would not believe. One was hardened by seeing the sufferings of Christ, the other melted into penitence. The gospel to-day either serves to turn men to Christ or to harden those that hear it, it is "a savor of life unto life or of death unto death." These men on the cross heard all the wondrous words of Jesus, saw all his sufferings, all the taunts given him; one only reviled and swore, the other recognized the divine service. True repentence is not because we have brought shame on ourselves, but because we have sinned against God. Those that take the ground that any good work can save them, make the death of Jesus of no effect. One thief recognized the Savior in his dying hour and called upon him for salvation. What did the thief do? Nothing, for he was nailed to the cross. Men now desire to do something to be saved; they are unwilling to be saved by grace. How was the thief saved? By faith in Christ, by believing in his name; it was through the suffering and death of Christ. "By grace are ye saved, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God." The church cannot save us, baptism cannot save us, good works cannot save us, nothing can save us but believing in Christ. "Whosoever calleth on the name of the Lord shall be saved." The meeting was closed by singing "There's life for a look," after which the usual enquiry meeting was held.

THE VICINITY.

The dedication of Greenland's Town Hall is set for Thursday evening, 22d inst. The exercises will consist of music, prayer, an introductory address by Charles W. Pickering, Esq., chairman of the building committee, and an address by Albert R. Hatch, Esq., of this city. Harlow's orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

At Kittery foreside, Thursday evening, occurred the Baptist Sabbath School concert; dialogues, recitations and music held the close attention of the large audience, the scholars manifested a zeal seldom equalled in the society, and the result was a particularly well ordered entertainment. Five young ladies represented the "World of Bliss,"—and it was the general impression that any four of them were superfluous; the wife of Mr. John Milton read the "Teacher's Reward;" and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ball admirably sung "Sweet Long Ago." It is but justice to mention exceedingly good vocal music by Miss Fanny Adams and Miss Flora Hayes, to hear whom we are always pleased.

Portsmouth Chronicle

A Story of Morrissey.

It is related that when John Morrissey was elected to Congress, and Colfax was Speaker, Morrissey, knowing Colfax's liking for a good cigar, diffidently approached the door of the Speaker's room in the Capitol building one day, but drew back when he saw that a number of other members were inside. At length the last visitor having departed, John timidly ventured in. Colfax received him with a kindly open hand. "You like good cigars, Mr. Colfax?" blurted out bluntly Mr. Morrissey. Mr. Colfax smiled, with an affirmative motion of his head. "Will you please accept from me a box of the very best Havanas ever landed in this country?" "It would delight me exceedingly, Mr. Morrissey, to receive it." "I'll send two of them to your house this afternoon." "Oh, Mr. Morrissey, you are too generous." Mr. Morrissey played with his fingers awhile, and then blurted out again: "Mr. Colfax, I have a favor to ask of you." Colfax started, alarmed, but asked: "And, pray, what is it, Mr. Morrissey?" "Why, you are just now making up your committees, and I would like to have you, if you will, put me on one where I'll have nothing to do." Colfax, relieved, smilingly gave assurance that the desire should be gratified. And Mr. Morrissey was made Chairman of the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Sold everywhere.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of these bodies it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the fading of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus baldness, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, promoting healthiness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures of obstinate hidebound cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinarians. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gives nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1878.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever published for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human frame, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by push or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Shall not the same principle govern in the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot succeede a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint," and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have yellow color of skin, or yellow blotches upon the face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and bowels costive, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Anthon's Portio Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is mild, but a grand change their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in clumsy wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. Where a laxative is required, it should be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this vast medical experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It gives tone and vigor, imparts efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system by its generous use of the best tonics. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz.: Prolapsus, or "Falling of the Womb," Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Irritability, Debility, Depressed Spirits, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, which we do not mention here.

The following ladies are a few of the many thousands who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Methvin, Hatcher's Station, Ga.; Mrs. T. A. Seymour, Rome, N. Y.; Mrs. Francis Hunsicker, Versailles, Ohio; Mrs. Leroy Putnam, North Wharton, Pa.; Mrs. Mary A. Hunolt, Adina, Mo.; Mrs. Harriet A. Friebel, Lerman, Pa.; Mrs. D. L. CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many unsuccessful failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Dose SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? This evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily attest its superiority over any school of what known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, is an outpoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

I think statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Anecdote of Daniel Webster.

During one of the college vacations Daniel and his brother returned to their father's in Salisbury. Thinking he had a right to some return for the money he had expended on their education, the father put scythes into their hands and took them into the mowing field. Daniel made a few sweeps, and then resting his scythe wiped the sweat from his brow. His father said, "What's the matter, Dan?" "My scythe don't hang right, sir." His father fixed it and Dan went to work again, but with no better success. Something was the matter with the scythe and it was not long before it wanted fixing again, and the father said in a pet: "Well, hang it to suit yourself." Daniel with great composure hung it in the nearest tree and retired.

A Convict's Escapade.

A man named Downey, confined in the New Brunswick Penitentiary, and having only a few days of his term to serve, made a remarkably bold escape a few nights ago, scaling the walls and making off under the fire of the officers' rifles. He might have retained his suddenly acquired liberty had it not been for an unaccountable freak of temerity, which led him a few nights after his flight to return to his old quarters, break into the workshop and carry off a number of tools. These were missing the next day, and a search for them resulted in their being found in a barn. Here officers concealed themselves, anticipating that Downey would at some time return for his plunder. He did so that night, and his capture was very easily effected.

—Tally one for the dog. In New York a few nights since burglars attempted to break into a store on Broadway. The dog inside heard the noise and began to scratch on the window curtain, which released the spring roller and let out a flood of light, which attracted the policeman's attention and enabled him to bag a burglar after a single shot.

—Jennie June says that the real capitalist of to-day is the servant girl, since she has everything provided for her but clothing, and the cost of all fabrics is less now than before the war.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1877.

The Chief Constructorship.

Representative Shelley, of Alabama, just before the adjournment of the House on Monday, offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the Secretary of the Navy to inform the House what naval vessels have been under repairs since the 1st of March last, with the name and cost of the same and the amount required to put them in a seagoing condition. This resolution was introduced on the suggestion of the following letter from a naval officer at this station to Mr. Shelley:

If your House wants to lop off some of the extravagance that is now going on, offer a resolution having a board of the highest naval officers, including a constructor and engineer, to examine and report on the old hulls which naval officers will be afraid to risk their lives in after they are completed. Besides, such an investigation will show the same condition of waste as was shown in the repairs of the Yantic at Norfolk under Constructor Easby, now Chief of the Bureau. His estimate as to the cost was $16,473.-55, while he spent before completing the same $171,830.05. For verification of this, read House Mis. Doc. 170, part 5, 44th Congress, 1st session, appendix, page 539, top of page.

We presume this is one phase of the movement to prevent the confirmation of Constructor Easby as Chief Constructor of the navy. We have always understood that Mr. Easby was a competent constructor and an honest official, though we know but little about him personally; but it is evident that his entire record will be thoroughly overhauled before he is confirmed by the Senate in the position to which President Hayes appointed him. And allowing Mr. Easby to be in every way fitted for that position, it is hard to see any reason for his appointment over the head of Thomas E. Webb, who stands first on the list of constructors in length of service, is master of his profession, and has been noted—we had almost said notorious—wherever he has been stationed, for his persistent opposition to everything in the shape of jobs, and his obstinate determination to run the department under his control as a business department, without fear of or favor to any person, clique or party. If the much vaunted civil service rules are to be enforced anywhere, this is a good place to do it; and if they are to be set aside in this case, at least some good reason should be given for Mr. Easby's promotion over Mr. Webb's head.

Congress.

The democratic Senators in caucus, Monday, decided to press upon the Senate the disposing of the claims of Spofford to a seat in the Senate from Louisiana at this session, and to vote against the proposed adjournment. A prominent democratic Senator said in speaking of the matter that his colleagues in the Senate felt that it was a great wrong for the people of Louisiana, to keep her from having any representatives on the floor of the Senate, and that they intended so far as lay in their power to remedy this by acting on the credentials now before the Senators; to this end they intended to oppose any resolutions looking to an early adjournment.

The new democratic door-keeper of the House has entered upon the work of reform by discharging all but one of the Union soldiers on his roll as assistant door keepers and messengers. The republicans at the last session of Congress secured an amendment to the appropriation bill requiring the retention of disabled soldiers in the employ of the House, but this law has been entirely ignored by the officers selected by the House at the present session, and every disabled Union soldier, with one exception, was dismissed on Monday. The one retained has lost both his hands, but it is very doubtful whether this will prevent his removal so that his place may be given to a democrat.

The Eastern War.

The Graphic says the following is the substance of a private cable dispatch received in that city by a prominent banking house: "Kars has fallen; Erzeroum will follow; Osma Pasha will very soon be captured at Plevna with his entire army. The Russians are putting forth extraordinary efforts, so as to finish up the war before the close of the year. They dare not permit the campaign to go over until spring, for Germany, Austria and England are in union as to the necessity of stopping the war before the Turks are entirely overwhelmed. Russia will have a large slice of Armenia. The Danubian principalities will be relieved from Turkish authority, and their future status left to a conference of the great powers. In any event, peace is certain. Sell wheat and provisions short, and get rid of railroad stocks."

The Turkish loss at Kars was 5000 men killed and wounded, 10,000 prisoners, 300 guns, and large amounts of stores. The Russians lost 2700 men. Gen. Melikoff directed the battle on the Russian side. The attack was made in the evening at 8:30, and lasted all night, the assailants climbing the cliffs where they were steepest. The first entrance into one of the Turkish redoubts was made at 11 o'clock at night, and the hand-to-hand fight lasted until 8:30 next morning, when the garrison fled toward Erzeroum, only to be brought back prisoners by the Cossacks.

Another Great Fire.

On Monday evening a fire broke out in the extensive rubber works of L. Candee & Co., at New Haven, Conn., while prominent officials of the New Haven and Norwalk fire departments were going over the building inspecting the new fire extinguishers which had been recently put in. It spread so rapidly that they hardly had time to get out. Fire extinguishers and other appliances were of no avail. The very combustible nature of the contents caused the flames to progress rapidly, and the efforts of the fire department could only save the adjoining buildings. Fortunately a majority of the eight hundred employes were not at work, five hundred girls having left at three o'clock in the afternoon for lack of work. The fire started in the cementing room. Some cement in use by a workman was ignited by a gas jet, and in an instant the whole room was in flames. About three hundred men were at work. Some in the third story could get out only by dropping. Those who dropped were the only ones hurt so far as known, although it was rumored that some were burned with the building; five men were very badly injured. The loss will reach $500,000, the insurance amounting to $350,000.

News and Notes.

Fifty-two vessels engaged in menhaden fishing sailed from New York Sunday for winter quarters along the coast of Massachusetts and Maine, and several will stop in Long Island Sound. About a dozen are steamers.

An astounding event in high society in New York is the elopement of a daughter of Mr. Arnold, of the great dry goods firm of Arnold, Constable & Co. She is nineteen years old and a belle, made so by a combination of personal beauty, intelligence and wealth. She fell in love with a clerk in her father's store. He is fifty years old, and poor, his special employment being that of floor-walker. Mr. Arnold sought to break off the intimacy, but the girl was self-willed. Saturday the couple sailed for Europe, having previously been united in marriage. She has a fortune in her own right, and is therefore independent.

Orlando Abbott and wife, of North Andover, Mass., while attempting to cross the Boston & Maine Railroad about three miles from Lawrence, Mass., on Tuesday, were struck by a freight train and themselves and their horse instantly killed.

An Atlanta man has invented a machine horse, and promises that if it will not carry a man faster than any ordinary horse can, he will eat it, cog-wheels and all.

British bark Nydia, from Liverpool for Tybee, collided with a steamer for Genoa. Both vessels were sunk, but the crews were saved, except two seamen from the Nydia and one from the steamer.

An explosion of a kerosene lamp, Monday evening, caused the destruction of the Fort Edward (N. Y.) Institute, the two hundred students escaping with difficulty, the flames spread so rapidly. The loss is estimated at $125,000.

The Boston Pilot has paid its second voluntary dividend of ten per cent to the poor people who suffered through the failure of Patrick Donahoe's bank. This action does the highest honor to the present proprietors of the Pilot, who were in no way bound by obligations assumed by Mr. Donahoe. It is purely a work of generous philanthropy.

The fall of Kars into the hands of the Russians must be accepted as true, and the details are sufficiently startling to render them of importance in forecasting the result in Asia Minor. Fifteen thousand men put out of the contest, Kars lost, with three hundred cannon and stores, is something to be considered in estimating the present and prospective situation of the opposing forces. The moral effect upon Turkey and Russia will doubtless be great. It will be recollected that early in the summer it was conceded that the Russians would take Kars; later it was popularly supposed the Russians would conclude this year's operations without having gained anything in Asia Minor. Now Kars, the key to Erzeroum, has fallen, and the army within it, instead of having retreated and saved itself, is killed and captive. Of course the objective point, Erzeroum, will now feel the full force of the Russian army. Operations against it may be delayed, according to the views and preparations of the Russians, but it seems hardly probable that the Turks will be able permanently to hold it. Still less is it probable that they will be able to retake Kars, but Kars is not the position of primary importance or aim. That point is Erzeroum, or rather the Russian purpose is to take and hold both places. With the work before the Turks, in Europe, it is difficult to see how they are to regain their dominion in Asia Minor. —Providence Journal.

Political.

Five maimed Union soldiers were on Monday removed by the Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives. They have been retained heretofore during all recesses since the Thirty-ninth Congress by the vote of both parties. At the last session their presence was a great strain upon democratic civil service practice, and at last it has proved entirely too much for it.

Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, Monday, in company with Senator Oglesby, called on the Secretary of State and stated he did not desire his name used in connection with the Berlin mission, as he did not want the position, preferring to practice law in connection with his brother.

The executive committee of the citizens' movement, in Boston, on Monday evening nominated by acclamation Hon. Henry L. Pierce for Mayor of that city.

The report in circulation that the Secretary of War had considered the charges made against Gen. Ingalls and others by Col. Dunn Piatt, and decided they did not make a court of inquiry necessary, is a mistake. The Secretary has been waiting for a movement on the part of the accused officers, and whenever any one of them requests a court, it will be convened by the Secretary without delay.

W. H. Sims was elected Lieutenant-Governor of Mississippi by something like 100,000 majority, but on the same day the people voted to abolish the office.

The democrats have not much to brag over Pennsylvania. The official figures show the democratic pluralities to range from 6,520 to 9,901. This is not so tremendous when it is proven that in three prominent republican counties over 20,000 republicans forgot to vote. It is fair to presume that their memories will return next fall.

What an inviting state of society for a northern man and a patriot must that be which supports or even tolerates such newspaper talk as the following, taken from an editorial notice of the death of Senator Morton, published in the Central Georgia Weekly, of Macon: "Yes, 'Bloody-shirt' Morton is dead. Thanks be to the God of the dead for the long-prayed-for relief! Grant is in Paris and Morton is dead! Is there not cause for rejoicing? Be glad, ye people of the United States that have so long suffered under the reign of these two bloodthirsty tyrants! They have sinned long and much, but they will suffer their just punishment in hell—if there be a hell—for assuredly there must be some place of torment for these wretches."

A man took a load of apples to Greenfield, recently, to sell, and disposed of the first two barrels to a lady for $3.50 per barrel. Afterward, finding that he could get only $3 for the rest of his load, he conscientiously returned to the lady and paid back $1, the difference in the price of her two barrels.

THE CITY.

Messrs. J. E. Ham & Co., of No. 27 Market street, advertise to-day a large stock of ladies' and gentlemen's overcoatings, gentlemen's pantaloon goods, furnishings, etc.

In another column will be found "an appeal" for the extension of aid to a worthy object. Mr. Atwood, who will call upon our citizens, comes well credentialed, and appears to be a gentleman and a man of more than average intelligence and ability, despite his great affliction.

The liquor store of H. Peyret & Co., on Congress street, was burglarized on Monday night, the thieves effecting an entrance by boring a hole through a window sash, throwing back the catch and raising the window. Some dozen bottles of wine and about three dollars in money were taken. On the same night the cigar case in the office of the Kearsarge House was robbed of several hundred Havana cigars, and an unsuccessful attempt was made to cut open the money drawer.

The runaway girls, Alice Stickney and Maggie Gray, were brought home to-day from Charlestown, Mass. It appears that the money they had when they left on last Saturday, amounted to only five dollars, and it was furnished them by a man here. The story circulated yesterday, about their departure having something to do with a couple of "drummers," had no foundation. The Stickney girl claims to have had good reason to wish a change of scene, while the Gray girl accompanied her only for the novelty of it.—Times, 20th.

SUPREME COURT--6th WEEK.

Tuesday, Nov. 20; Stanley, J.

On motion of Gen. Marston, Everett C. Banfield, of Wolfeborough, was admitted to practice in the courts of this State. Mr. Banfield was formerly Solicitor of the United States Treasury Department at Washington, and had previously been admitted to practice in Massachusetts and in the courts of the District of Columbia.

In case Ordway vs. Sanders, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $138.66.

George Boss vs. Alfred Elwyn, action upon a contract for labor for one year at $300. Defence that the contract was broken by the wrongful acts and omissions of Boss. Given to the jury in the evening. A. R. Hatch and F. M. Hatch for plaintiff; William H. Hackett for defendant.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The Tuesday evening meeting at the North church was fully attended.

At the praise service were sung "Let the lower lights be burning," "The half was never told," "The sweet bye and bye," "Dare to be a Daniel," and "Sing of his mighty love."

The congregation united in singing "Alas, and did my Savior bleed," at the regular service, Rev. Mr. Gile of Lawrence led in prayer, Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "Hear ye not your Savior calling?" the congregation sang "In the Christian's home in glory," and Mr. McGranahan, accompanied by his wife, sang "In the presence of the King," with great power.

After asking God's blessing on the services of the evening, Mr. Whittle took for his theme, "Confessing Christ," founded on Matthew 10:32—33, and the story of the blind man, John 9:1—12. This narrative illustrates how a sinner seeks Christ, in many points. First, Jesus saw the man before the man saw Jesus Jesus first sees the sinner, first enlightens him, before he can have any true spiritual vision. Again, the man was born blind, so men are born in sin. But a remedy has been provided, if men will only accept it, and they only must suffer if they will not receive it. This man believed in Christ, and received sight. How did his faith come? By hearing Christ. Sitting there in his blindness, he heard words of Jesus that gave him faith. So men now get faith by hearing the promises of Christ. The man's faith was tested; he was ordered to use a very simple remedy; he was told to go wash in Siloam, a place of a curse. The sinner must obey Christ; he must look to Calvary, that place of a curse; he must believe in Christ. Men cannot know themselves until their eyes are opened by the truth of Christ, so blinded are they by pride and self-conceit. The blind man was ready to confess Christ. He was not afraid that he should again lose his sight; he was not afraid to confess what Christ had done for him, though it was not popular so to do. Every heart that has received Christ should be ready to tell the story of his redemption. Because the man confessed Christ, he was cast out by the Jews; so may some of us be cast out by the men of this world, be cast out by society, be cast out by business men. Jesus declares that he is the Son of God, and we worship him as a divine Savior. Every one of us should say "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" and be willing to do what Jesus makes known to us. Jesus wants all of us to call upon him, to come to him, to give him our hearts.

After prayer, offered by Mr. Whittle, and singing "Am I a soldier of the cross?" an enquiry meeting was held, a larger number than usual remaining.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, Nov. 19; Batchelder, J.

James Gilchrist, better known as "Scotty," for brawl and tumult was fined $3, costs $6,90. Same gentleman, for an assault on Patrick Bates, was assessed the same amount, $9.90. Same gentleman, for assaulting a police officer while in the execution of his duty, was bound over in the sum of $100 to appear to answer at a higher court. We are glad Scotty is in all this trouble; on Saturday evening he was in the lockup, and by his outrageous, drunken yells and howls so disturbed us that we were unable to write the religious editorial we intended to finish that night; in fact, when we came to read over the pages we did manage to write, the spirit of the article was so unsatisfactory that we threw the lot into the waste basket; we sincerely hope Scotty will get hung this time.

Tuesday, Nov. 20, Batchelder, J.

AN APPEAL.

Ed. Chronicle: Not until within some few years past has interest in the spiritual welfare of the deaf and dumb taken definite form. Of the six New England states, Massachusetts takes the lead. A society known as the "Society of Deaf-mutes" has sprung up in almost every city where a sufficient number of such unfortunate people warranted the formation of one; it is a society composed of all the mutes of the different church denominations residing in the city and vicinity, whose object is to secure and enjoy religious instruction and preaching in their own language—"the sign-language" as it is called. The effect of establishing these societies, nonsectarian in their organization, and sustained as they have always been by the Christian and benevolent public, has been to open the way for a greater dissemination of the gospel of Christ among this class of persons, and that at less expense than would be done in any other manner. In times like the present it has been found necessary to seek aid from abroad, in places that have not such a society in their midst. Now surely the Christian and generous citizens of Portsmouth will kindly assist their unfortunate brethren in their struggling endeavors to maintain religious services. It is to be hoped that a helping hand will be extended by every one when called upon.

"GIVE US A REST."

Mr. Editor: I have no desire to interfere with the management of your paper, but, as one of your earliest subscribers, wish to say that one unevangelical reader will be glad when the necessity no longer exists for the publication of the dreary nonsense and repelling sentiments of the self-appointed expounders of the divine scheme of salvation who are now laboring for so many dollars a month here. *

[Note. We publish the foregoing communication, because it's so delightfully short. But we really hope our friends, of all shades of religious belief or disbelief, will spare us any further communications on religious matters; fact is, we're tired. We shall adhere to the CHRONICLE rule of allowing all sides a hearing if any one side is allowed it; and as we shall continue to give reports of the revival meetings, the only way we can see by which we can get around our own rule is to insist that the opponents of the revivalists' creed, if they wish to answer them, must hold opposition meetings and preach sermons, of which we will publish synoptical reports. In the meantime, we would like a communication on base ball, or some other fresh topic, for a change. —Ed. Chronicle.]

JUST THIS ONE MORE.

Editor Chronicle: I* would like to call the attention of your readers to the sermon by Mr. Whittle reported in the CHRONICLE of Friday, Nov. 16. In speaking of heaven he says: "It is the place of departed saints." "Elijah is spoken of as being taken up into heaven," and hundreds of years after, he and Moses "appeared alive on the mount of transfiguration." At this point he seems to have become frightened for fear he was giving too much fact, and hastens to make the following remark, or assertion: "But the Bible nowhere teaches that we can have any communication with the spirits of the departed, or that they can return to us; and the belief in such a doctrine is a dangerous error." Now how much influence can such absurd and ridiculous contradictions as the above have upon the thinking people? Do these men suppose that people cannot read the Bible for themselves? There are many among your numerous readers that are so "dangerous" as to suppose that this man told the truth when he said "Elijah is spoken of as being taken up into heaven," and he admits that Elijah did appear to Peter, James, and John. Now as we read in the 1st Cor., 15:50, "Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption." Believing this, we also believe that Elijah had changed, and had become a spirit, and that when he appeared it was a spiritual manifestation; or in other words that a spirit had given a communication, or at least had been seen by men who were then in the flesh. Again, we are so "dangerous" that we dare to read in Deut. 34:5—6, "So Moses, the servant of the Lord, died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the Lord. And he buried him in the valley," etc. We are such a dangerous class, that we dare to ask where did Moses come from, and what was this but a "spiritual manifestation?" Again, we ask were Jesus, James, Peter and John dangerous men because they believed they saw Moses and Elijah, or Elias? Was John a dangerous man, or did he believe a dangerous doctrine or a "dangerous error," when he said he fell down to worship an angel, and the angel communicated with him, telling him to do no such thing? "I am thy fellow servant of the prophets." Rev. 19:-10; also 22:9. Now these are dangerous questions to ask, I admit; but notwithstanding this, there a great many in this enlightened age that do ask them. Some may think I put too much stress on the word "dangerous;" but if what the same gentleman said in former discourses is true, we cannot look upon the word as half what it conveys. He is reported as saying last week, "There are some here to-night, who believe that God will let them into heaven on their good work, their upright life, but alas, these are all vain!" Now if it is true that good works are "all vain," and that murderers, robbers, and the wickedest men on the dark catalogue of crime, if "evangelical" in their belief, are better men than the upright, honest people who "reject" that belief, then indeed would I, for one, beg God to send me to hell, where I could have decent company. And I only echo the minds of many of your readers when I state that we prefer to be such dangerous people as Jesus, James, Peter and John, and commune with the pure spirits of our departed, than to engage in the crimes and degradation of a low and wicked life with the expectation of casting our sins on the shoulders of an innocent man at the end. Why are these people afraid to come out and discuss these questions with us, if they have the Lord on their side? I challenge them to do so; will they respond? We propose to answer the sermon above referred to next Sunday, and we ask all men of candid minds to come and hear "the other side of the question." I am happy to subscribe myself, Yours in the cause of truth, PALEMON C. MILLS, Inspirational lecturer.

*[Note. Just after we had finished a foot-note to the communication which precedes this, stating that we wanted no more communications on religious matters until we had got rested, Mr. Mills' article was handed in; and as the Spiritualists had not previously taken up any of our space, though we had published Mr. Whittle's assertion that their belief is "a dangerous error," we were obliged to set aside our new rule (for just this once) before the ink with which it was written had got fairly dry. We took the liberty to strike out all the first part of Mr. Mills' communication, as it was mainly commendatory of our course in giving all sides a hearing, and we neither claim praise nor fear censure for doing what we regard as simply fair and just. We have been so long in the newspaper business that commendations showered on our head slide off our ambrosial locks like rain off a duck's back, and denunciations rattle against our case-hardened ribs like musket balls against a monitor's turret. —Ed. Chronicle.]

—A singular accident occurred to W. B. Stewart, of Plainfield, N. J., recently. While dozing in a chair one of his legs "fell asleep," as it is called. Being startled from his slumbers, he suddenly arose, and the benumbed leg failing to give him support turned under him, and he fell, breaking the bones of the foot at the base of the toes.

A Leopard Loose in Ohio.

A telegram from Richwood, Ohio, to the Dayton Journal, dated 13th inst., has this story: "The people in the neighborhood of Richwood, Union county, were startled, yesterday, by the report that a wild leopard was ranging the woods. Some boys brought the news. The animal pounced upon them, and one of their number was dangerously injured. The neighborhood was aroused. Many turned out, and a hunt was begun, with the determination to capture or kill the savage beast. The party had not long been in pursuit, when they encountered the object of their search with a most disastrous result to themselves. The leopard made a sudden and most unexpected assault upon his pursuers, springing rapidly upon one after another till several were prostrated. John Sterling was badly torn and bitten. John Cahill received severe wounds in the head, Mr. Stanmates, two of the Davises, and Mr. Clifton, were all very much injured. Two of the party are considered to be in a very critical condition. It is said that during the chase the leopard was twice shot through the body, and during the fight, while standing over one of the prostrate hunters, the beast was shot a third time. This afternoon the dogs gave the alarm in the woods, about two miles north of Richwood. Half an hour later the men who went in pursuit found a dog that was literally torn to pieces, but the leopard was out of sight. There is, of course, great excitement among the people in town and country over the appearance of the ferocious animal. The supposition is that it escaped from a menagerie, though no exact description has yet been given of its color or size."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stores the fading hair of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur

Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castorin is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

MESSRS. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest covered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Sw-llings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

*NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior canned article supersede a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have countrified all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or Kings Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Bilious ness, Tropid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If your feet dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, mental heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and a loomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and habitual costiveness, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint," only partial disease symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Bultum in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninjured for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Blotches, Pimples, sores, Ulcers, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this science, and experience, and has become justly celebrated for the many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a most unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has wrought magic cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppression, Weak Back, Prolapsus or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but too numerous to mention.

The following Ladies are a few of the many those who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Methvin, Butcher's station, Ga.; Mrs. C. A. Seymour, Rome, N. Y.; Mrs. Francis Huswick, Versailes, Ohio; Mrs. Leroy Putnam, North Wharton, Pa.; Mrs. Mary A. Hinsdil, Edina, Mo.; Mrs. Mary A. Frisbie, Lehman, Pa.; Mrs. D. L. Gill, Chillicothe, Ohio; Mrs. Harriet E. Malone, West Springfield, Pa.; Mrs. R. Hall, Emporia, Kan.; Miss Louise Pratt, Dodgeville, Mass.; Mrs. L. A. Dashfield, Norfolk Va.; Mrs. C. Addison, Proctor, Iowa; Mrs. J. N. Vernon, St. Thomas, Ont.; Mrs. S. C. CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the communications which are to day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of worth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, although the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me inestimable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and to live and arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

IN MEMORIAM.

With sisters and brothers I've gathered
Offerings by our homestead hearth;
We have blended our voices together
In music, in laughter and mirth;
And when the chill month of November
Has brought Thanksgiving Day near,
Then our unbroken circle assembled,
'Twas the happiest day of the year.

Yet amid these bright scenes I have pictured,
The hour when changes would come,
When the golden cord would be severed
And one from our circle be gone;
But whom it might be, then I knew not
But dark is the veil that hides
From our searching imaginations
The future's surging tides.

And when the spring flowers were fairest,
To earth's silent keeping we gave
A sister, we all loved and cherished,
And the May flowers bloomed o'er her grave.
Years passed, when the rich crimson foliage
Whispered to us, the autumn is here:
Then again we gave to earth's keeping
A brother to each of us dear.

And thus are the fondest ties severed,
And one by one we must part,
With those loved and dear whose memory
Is engraved on our every heart;
"For let Fate do her worst, there are relics—
There are sweet re, ollections of joy,
Which cannot be torn from our sorrow,
That Death's fingers can never destroy."

And forever their memories we cherish,
And amid Earth's sorrow and strife,
They whisper "there's rest for the weary,
When d ne with the turmoil of life."
And though absent, they are not forgotten,
In each heart will their image remain,
Till at home in that Heavenly mansion
We all are united again.

CLARA A. LYNN.

—A young Connecticut lady was lately taken aback when her swain got upon his knees before her and read a declaration of his love, which he had nicely written off.

—A curious method of evading a will is reported from Warsaw. A girl of twenty-two was left a fortune on condition of marrying. Her relatives pressed an unwelcome suitor upon her, hoping to share the money with him if he should be accepted, and with the prospect of getting the whole if he were refused. The lady, instead of giving way to despair, made a bargain with an elderly mendicant of eighty-two, who, for a stated sum, consented to become her husband, as a matter of form, and to disappear afterward. The arrangement was carried out, all the beggars of the town attending the ceremony. The property was duly transferred to the bride, and she started forthwith alone upon a tour of the continent.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Fever, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they exceed other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to heal. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

About the richest specimen of "pure cheek" that has been presented lately comes from the Hampton-Butler-conciliation chivalry of South Carolina. While they are engaged in punishing every republican and Union man in the State, for the crimes of supporting the Union during the rebellion and opposing the secession democracy since, by means of a partisan Court and the evidence of a confessed scoundrel who has a lot of "notes" that no one but himself can decipher, they demand "universal amnesty" for all Ku-Klux outrages and political murders by democrats. They tell us plaintively that "numbers of the most prominent citizens of the State [democrats, of course,] are exiled through fear of prosecution under the Enforcement Act, for participation in alleged Ku-Klux performances and the Hamburg and Ellenton riots;" and it is announced that a bill is to be introduced in Congress extending full and complete amnesty for all such offences, as a measure of conciliation. It would seem that the South Carolina chivalry should pass a State law pardoning the men who fought for the Union for that terrible crime against South Carolina democracy, before asking Congress to go into business as a wholesale whitewasher of midnight assassins and such daylight ruffians as "Gen." Massacre C. Butler.

Naval Affairs.

G. A. Scott, a cadet midshipman from Indiana, has been dismissed from the naval academy at Annapolis for hazing.

The nomination of Rear Admiral Howe to command the South Pacific squadron was on the 20th inst. confirmed by the Senate.

Pay Director George F. Cutter was nominated as Paymaster- eneral of the Navy, and Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, on the 20th inst.

Constructor Easby's nomination as Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair is still pending in the Senate committee on naval affairs, and it is said great efforts are making to prevent his confirmation, though his friends are confident he will be confirmed.

The Secretary of the Navy sees no objection to the adoption of the metrical system in the Navy, except that if applied to soundings given in charts it would probably involve a total loss of all charts and plates now in use, and be prejudicial to the exchange of charts with England.

Advices from Washington of Nov. 19th say: "United States steamer Enterprise at Norfolk will be ready for sea to-day. She is under orders to proceed to New Orleans. The Huron arrived at Hampton Roads Saturday afternoon from New York. The Tallapoosa left Norfolk yesterday afternoon for Washington, via. Annapolis. The Pensacola will leave San Francisco in the latter part of this month for the Sandwich Islands."

News and Notes.

The mother of Mayor Pierce, of Biddeford, was found dead in her bed Monday morning. Heart disease was probably the cause.

Steamship Strathsay, laden with grain for Scotland, was lost on the Island of Miquelon, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Capt. Small and the crew of twenty-five men were saved. Insured $66,000, full value.

Gardner Chilson, inventor of the Chilson furnace and cooking range, died very suddenly at Mansfield, Mass., on Wednesday, at the age of 13 years.

The examination of Deacon Smith and Mrs. Champlin for the alleged poisoning of Mrs. Smith at Vergennes, Vt., last August, was commenced on Tuesday, the 20th inst.

Julius Kircher of New York city cremated his infant child to prevent family difficulty as to its burial, he being a Lutheran and his wife a Jewess. He burned the body in the furnace of his paint manufactory.

The silver men in the Senate finance committee won a big victory over their opponents in the rejection of all the proposed amendments to the Bland bill.

The commander of the Spanish forces in Cuba has issued a private order that all Cuban prisoners be killed, and reported as killed in battle.

In the Superior Criminal Court in Boston, on the 20th inst., Col. Henry R. Sibley pleaded guilty to the charges of forgery brought against him, and was sentenced to four years in the State Prison.

Gen. Melikoff, the captor of Kars, has arrived at Erzeroum with a portion of his army, and made a demand for the surrender of the city.

Congress.

The House on Tuesday passed the bill appropriating $150,000 for the Paris Exposition, after a long struggle.

The republicans in the Senate concluded to give Davis, of West Virginia, an opportunity to make a full investigation of his alleged discrepancies in the Treasury Department, and to show, if possible, the truth of his oft-repeated charge that the Treasury balances were habitually farces. The Vice President on Tuesday appointed Mr. Davis, of West Virginia, chairman of the committee of investigation, and Mr. Beck, of Kentucky, was named for the second place. Mr. Allison of Iowa, Mr. Ingalls of Kansas, and Mr. Cameron of Pennsylvania, are the republican members, with Davis and Beck at the head of the committee. Every opportunity possible is given to the democrats for proving the charges made. No better proof could be given by the republicans of their belief in the utter lack of foundation for Mr. Davis' charges than the composition of this committee, and virtually placing the whole machinery of the investigation in their hands.

New Hampshire Items.

An incendiary fire in that part of Rochester called Gonic, Tuesday morning, destroyed the building owned by the Gonic Manufacturing Co., and used by Riley Parker, machinist, and Hon. N. V. Whitehouse as a sawmill. Loss $6000. Parker and Whitehouse lose $3000, with no insurance.

Ned Howe, aged twenty, son of A. P. Howe in West Enfield, was instantly killed Monday, 19th inst., by having his head crushed between two trees, while chopping in his father's wood.

A two-story building in New Ipswich was burned on the night of the 20th inst. It was occupied by George A. Burton, a printer, who loses $8000 on stock and materials, with about $5600 insurance. The building was insured $600; loss $1000.

THE CITY.

Mr. John E. Roberts, of this city, delivered a temperance lecture at Newcastle on Wednesday evening.

John E. Johnston of this city has been appointed to take charge of the Insane Hospital at the County Farm at Brentwood.

The sunken locomotive was raised to the surface on Wednesday, when the gear gave way and down to the bottom it went again.

It is reported that permission has been given by the government for the brig Clara J. Adams to go into the dry dock at the navy yard, for repairs.

Mr. Lewis G. Davis, recently elected President of the Mechanics' Association, entertained the officers of the Association at the Kearsarge House, Wednesday evening.

A despatch from Gloucester, Mass., to this city, Wednesday forenoon, reported the loss of four of the crew of fishing schooner Grace Choate, but gave no particulars other than that they were lost while out in their dories after their trawls. Their names are Thomas Benson, Daniel McDonald, Henry Anderson and Frank Lawrence. Benson was the only married man of the four.

SUPREME COURT--6th WEEK.

Wednesday, Nov. 21, before Stanley, J.

In the case Boss vs. Elwyn, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, in the sum of $260.

Gerrish & Adams vs. Major Samuel Langdon: an action of assumpsit for undertaker's services, coffin, etc., amounting to $51.25. Defence was, payment to J. D. Butler, an attorney with whom the plaintiff left the bill for collection before this suit was brought, for a part of the items; and a general denial of liability as to the others. Verdict for the defendant. Call for plaintiff; Page for defendant.

Frank G. Bean, against whom two indictments for selling liquor were found at the present term, paid the costs in the cases, with the understanding that if no further sales are complained of, the indictments will not be brought forward.

Francis Hilliard vs. John W. Noyes and George W. Ross; action to recover a balance of $39.25 on an account for apples sold by the plaintiff, a resident of Kensington, to the defendants, who live at Barnston, in the province of Quebec, Dominion of Canada. The controversy is concerning twenty-seven barrels of apples, which the plaintiff, a fruit raiser and trader, claims to have sold to the defendants and delivered at Exeter depot in two lots, one lot consisting of eighteen barrels of No. 1's, and the other lot of nine barrels of No. 2's, which latter lot it is claimed was delivered subsequently to the other, but was not received and paid for, remaining until late in the year, when a part was taken away by the defendants, or one of them. The price of No. 1's was $2.25, and of No. 2's $1.25 per barrel, sold before picking; the bargain was made in September, and the first lot was delivered about the 20th of October. Several witnesses were in attendance. A deposition, taken by the defendants in Canada, was rejected by reason of an error in the notice. The case occupied the entire day. The Court came in at seven o'clock in the evening. This being the last jury trial, Judge Stanley told the jury that he should ask this additional service of them, that they might be discharged on Thursday. All the jurors not engaged in this trial were discharged in the forenoon. Marston for plaintiff; Hatch for defendant.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

There was a large audience assembled at the North church on Wednesday evening.

The praise service was preceded by prayer, offered by Rev. Mr. Haines of North Hampton. The selections were "Precious name," "Something for Jesus," "Are your windows open toward Jerusalem," "In the silent midnight watches," and "Once for all."

The regular service was opened by singing "I love to tell the story." Rev. Mr. Hubbell led in prayer, and Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "He knows," the last composition of Mr. Bliss.

Mr. Whittle having been called away, by a telegram, telling him that his brother fell dead on the street in Chicago that morning, his place was supplied by Mr. Morehouse, an English evangelist, who has been laboring in Manchester with great success.

Mr. Morehouse began by asking all to bring their Bibles that they might test the truth of his preaching; if it be scriptural, then they that hear must either accept or reject God's word. He then read the 53d chapter of Isaiah with brief comments and the congregation sang "Precious promise." Mr. Morehouse took for his text 1st Peter, 1:19: "The precious blood of Christ." Once Peter did not believe in Christ, once he did not believe that Christ was to die on the cross; and once he received a severe rebuke from the Lord. But after the death and resurrection of Jesus, Peter began to preach a crucified Christ. Some say Jesus died only as a martyr, as did Abel, Stephen, and others, but the Bible nowhere says that Abel or any other man died for our sins or as a substitute for us, as did Jesus. Without the blood of Christ there can be no salvation from sin. The paschal lamb was a type of Christ. The Jewish nation began its real life as a nation when it first came under the blood of the paschal lamb; so the Christian's life begins when he comes under the blood of Christ. If we reject the sacrifice of Christ, we shall never be saved. The apostle says, "Ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation, but by the precious blood of Christ." The speaker gave a very affecting account of the conversion of a Yorkshire collier, and closed with an appeal for sinners to come to Christ.

The exercises closed with singing "There is a fountain filled with blood," after which the usual enquiry meeting was held, a large number remaining.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

Adjourned meeting, Wednesday evening; present, the Mayor, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Knight, Messrs. Shannon, Pender, May, Gardner, Goodrich, Hutchinson, Hackett, Sherburne, Vaughan and Wendell.

Sundry bills were approved.

The salary of the writing master was fixed at $24 per week, when employed, and he was required to visit the suburban schools.

The subject of additional school accommodations in the westerly part of the city, in District No. Two, was discussed; and it was voted that application for the needed increased accommodations be made to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, and Messrs. Hutchinson and Gardner were constituted a committee to present the subject to the City Government.

The subject of dismissal of schools on stormy afternoons was discussed, and referred to a committee consisting of Mr. Hackett, Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Vaughan.

Adjourned.

THE PAUL JONES' TRIP.

The men who went around from this city to Baltimore "by the run" in the new ship Paul Jones have returned, and from them we gather the following particulars of the trip, which may be of interest: The Paul Jones left this port on Thursday, Nov. 1st, and next morning was some fifteen or twenty miles to the southward and eastward of Gloucester, Mass., and at about six o'clock bore up for that port for shelter, having taken the heavy southeast gale which blew throughout that day and Saturday. She brought up inside of Eastern Point at about eight o'clock, and glad enough the crew were to get there; for it had become evident that the ship was insufficiently ballasted, so that she could do nothing on the wind, a moderately strong breeze laying her down on her side and sliding her off to leeward like a milk-pan in a mud puddle. Being in such an unfavorable trim, it is more than improbable that she could have made Portsmouth harbor again or kept off shore during the gale, had she been unable to get into Gloucester. The ship laid at single anchor until Sunday morning, the 4th, when she towed to sea and continued her voyage; and on the following Saturday, (having in the meantime been so far off shore as to be close to the Gulf Stream, if indeed she were not once in its edge,) at about five o'clock in the evening she brought up in the Horseshoe, just inside of Cape Charles, the wind at the time blowing a gale from the northeast. Here the ship laid until Monday morning, with seventy-five fathoms of chain out on one anchor and about fifty fathoms on the other; the anchors were then weighed and she started for Baltimore in tow, arriving at her dock at about five o'clock on Tuesday evening, Nov. 13th. Owing to the lack of ballast, the ship had no chance on the trip to show what she could do as a sailer, as it was impossible to do any carrying sail worth the name, except when dead before the wind, which is by no means a ship's best point of sailing; about eleven knots was the best she made at any time, we are told,—but she will do two or three knots better than that under favorable circumstances, unless her looks belie her greatly.

We judge from the way the crew talk that they are not great admirers of Capt. Jacobs; they speak in the highest terms of the seamanship and office-like bearing of Capt. Henry L. Marcy, who went around in the vessel; but they appear very enthusiastic the wrong way when they speak of the ship's commander. They say that the morning after the vessel's arrival at the dock he ordered them to get their traps ashore out of her in twenty minutes, and that he turned one of the ship's boys (Walter H. Prior) adrift without any means of reaching his home, the crew having to "chip in" and pay his fare back to this city, or else leave him to take the long tramp alone and with no money to pay for food and lodging on the way.

Industrial Sketches--No. 4.

PORTSMOUTH BREWING COMPANY.

Written for the Chronicle.

In the year 1800, one of the buildings that stood against the rocky and abrupt cliff that forms a part of the border of what was then known as "Strawberry Bank," was occupied by Mr. Mark Simes as a warehouse for the sale of grain and flour, and by Mr. Joseph Walker, who used the upper story for a sail-loft. The wharf connected with this building was the last of the piers that ranged along the south part of the town until Church-hill point was passed, the interval being marked by a swift current, which sets so strongly against the shore as to be dangerous to navigators at all times, and forbids any encroachment from the shore into its rapid waters. At this date Portsmouth boasted of an extensive commerce. Many of our wharves, which at present seem as if they had merely stepped into the water to partake of a foot bath and had fallen asleep, were then the scene of life and enterprise. Vessels from every clime could be seen loading and discharging their varied cargoes. From the West Indies was received coffee, rum, sugar, and molasses; from Russia and Sweden, iron, hemp, and duck; from Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, hides and tallow; from India, saltpetre, silk and wool; from England, salt, crockery, etc.; while the outward bound vessels with cargoes of fish, beef, horses, mules, oxen, sheep, pigs, poultry, flax-seed, lumber and pearl potash, together with a large number of coasting and fishing vessels, presented a scene that to those who lived amidst its busy turmoil and contrasts it with the present, can only find pleasure in the memories of past associations. Mr. Mark Simes retired from business and was appointed postmaster under the administration of President Jefferson. In March, 1821, Mr. Joseph Walker, who was assisting Captain Vaughan in moving a vessel, fell into the water, and lived only a few days after the accident, the injuries he received at the time causing his death.

In 1824 the building referred to became a sugar refinery. [The Browns of Portland, who have for years carried on extensive sugar works in that city, are said to be descendants of the parties who first started the Refinery here.] In the years 1826, '27 and '28, Mr. Daniel G. Brown manufactured in it potato starch and vinegar, and the tubs which were used at that time have recently been sold to parties in this city.

In 1832 a corporation was formed, styled the "Portsmouth Iron Foundry Company." They erected a substantial brick building where the present gas works are located, and the warehouse or factory was used in connection with the foundry for office and storage purposes until 1845. During this time it was occupied by Jefferson McIntire & Badger, who manufactured looms for the Portsmouth Stocking Factory; afterwards by Messrs. Israel & Cushing, who made machinery for factories in the neighboring towns; and by Col. Samuel Gookin & Sterns, for the manufacture of baggage cars complete. From 1845 to 1849, Mr. Jasper Crane occupied the building, and made a superior quality of ribbed woolen hose. It was next used for storage until 1856, when it was again converted into a stocking factory, under the superintendence of Mr. Simeon Straus. In 1858 it passed into the hands of Mr. Benjamin F. Webster, who purchased it for a workshop, and in connection with his house-carpentering business kept on hand a large stock of blinds, sashes and doors. During its occupancy by Mr. Webster it was burned, and again rebuilt; the present building being nearly a counterpart of the original.

In 1870, Messrs. Arthur Harris and N. F. Mathes purchased it, to occupy for the brewing of ale. Mr. Mathes retired from the business in 1871, disposing of his interest to Mr. William E. Hadley, who in 1873 sold out, the business being continued under the firm name of Harris & Co. In 1876 it merged into a stock corporation under the title of the "Portsmouth Brewing Company," who are its present occupants. This Company includes twelve stockholders, six of whom are directors. Five are residents of this city, viz.: George Bilbruck, Arthur Harris, John Dixon, William Ward and John Conlon. President, Mr. Bilbruck; Vice President and brewer, Mr. Harris; Treasurer, Mr. Dixon. [Mr. Dixon, on account of ill health, has recently resigned, and is succeeded by Mr. Patrick McGlinchy of Portland.] Although in extent of buildings the premises of the Portsmouth Brewing Co. may not compare with some other breweries, yet the business is so systemized that it requires less room, and the visitor can easily trace the different processes, from the mashing of the malt to the final act,—the storage of the ale.

The main building is 60 feet by 30, five stories high, with an extension of 40 by 45 feet. The upper room contains cisterns for hot and cold water. On the fourth floor is the malt room, and the mash tub, and the boiling tub, which sinks through the floor into the third story, in which is the surface cooler, mill and office. On the second floor is the tun room, at the back of which is the refrigerator. A part of the racking tub is also in this room, descending into the cellar or storage room below. The boilers, engine room and scald shed are under another roof, but connected with the main building. There are thirteen cisterns, including tubs, etc., with an average capacity of 170 barrels each; one engine, and one boiler of seventy-five horse power. They use daily about 250 bushels of malt. The average number of men employed is fifteen. The cooper's shop is opposite the brewery, and one can judge from the number (8000) of hogsheads, barrels, etc., which are required by this company, that there is a large amount of labor performed in this department. The conveniences for drainage cannot be surpassed, as the building is on a line with the river wall, and all the refuse is run into the stream, effectually preventing any unpleasant odor. The team (as in all breweries) is a point of attraction, necessarily demanding the heaviest draught horses.

In the few years that this brewery has been in operation it has gained a reputation that classes it with the older and well known companies. Mr. Harris, the brewer, has been connected with some of the principal breweries in the United States; and in the manufacturing of porter, stock ale, and the finer brands, such as pale India and Bass' English ale, it is claimed he has no superior in this country. The company have a constant demand for the higher grades, chiefly from the large cities. They introduced for their late summer trade the hop beer, resembling in color and liveliness the common draft ale; it acts as a tonic, is very pleasant to the taste and is free from any alcohol, except what one might find in a loaf of bread. They have sold large quantities in Maine, where the prohibitory law is enforced, and also in many of the cities and towns in Massachusetts where the sale of liquor is prohibitted by local option. It is intended to make this a specialty for the summer trade.

One of the features in the making of ale by Mr. Harris is the mashing machine, and it seems more like a toy when compared with the cumbersome structures of the older inventions. It is placed on the top of the mash tub, and is self-acting, doing away with all belting and machinery. Mr. Harris is the inventor, and in addition to the advantages of the simplicity of its construction, and the saving of expense of steam and other driving power, he claims that a larger extract is obtained from the same amount of grain than can be produced from the old methods. Science in this, as in other improvements, has made rapid strides, and if one could see the old methods of mashing in contrast with the present mode he would be not only interested but amused. The "sparger" or sprinkler, (a description of which was given in the first number of these sketches,) was introduced by Mr. Harris eight years ago, and is now universally used.

The extent that beer making has arrived at in this country is not astonishing, when one takes into account the increase of the foreign element, from countries where beer has almost from time immemorial been a common beverage. The first brewery built in Massachusetts was by Captain Sidewick, in 1637. Now New England has its hundreds of breweries; there is annually used about twenty million bushels of malt, from which is obtained seven hundred thousand bushels of sprouts, equivalent to nine hundred million pounds of hay. The sprouts are considered excellent feed for cattle, as they contain, to a great extent, albumen, the highest nutritive power. The amount of beer manufactured in the United States will approach three hundred million gallons a year, one brewery alone furnishing over four million gallons. And one significant fact connected with this, is, that while the building of breweries and the drinking of beer are on the increase, distilleries, and the use of strong alcoholic drinks, have materially decreased. One can hardly estimate the amount of capital invested in this vast business. The immense quantities of barley and hops consumed, the building of breweries and malt houses, the employment given to architects, engineers, mechanics of almost every branch, laborers, and farmers, will amount to millions of dollars. Statistics give the amount of tax received from brewers, nine millions of dollars.

In regard to the medicinal virtues of ale, its advocates quote the following authorities: The Director-General of the Army Medical Staff of Germany, recommended it for the soldier "in the camp and in the hospital, in time of peace and in time of war;" Prof. Moleschott, in his "Chemistry of Food," says it increases the secretion of the digestive juices and promotes solution of the food; that it is nutritive, and used in moderation is salubrious. Dr. T. K. Chalmers, Robert Ward, and Dr. Schoffern of the School of Chemistry, London, and many other eminent men who have made a study of its effects on the system, speak in favorable terms of it when used in moderation; as like water, tea or coffee, when used to excess it becomes injurious.

This Company has purchased land connected with the brewery and intend making extensive additions in the spring. The constant rivalry among brewers to excel in producing a superior quality of beer, shows that the efforts of the Portsmouth Brewing Company have met with a well merited success.

In the "Rambles about Portsmouth" we find the following mention of breweries and persons allowed to brew beer: "Samuel Wentworth (the father of the first Governor John and son of Elder William Wentworth of Dover) was the first of the name in Portsmouth. In the year 1670 our town records show him licensed with libertie to entertain strangers and sell and brew beare;" and in 1790 a brewery was located near the corner of Deer and Market streets.

The second record we find of a brewery in this city is of one located on the southwest corner of Fleet street, fronting Court street. The proprietor was Mr. James Foster, and judging from the ledger account of the year 1795, his customers must have been numerous and embraced a highly respectable class of citizens. On Sunday morning the pater-familias or some other member of the family would be seen going and returning with jugs of various sizes, according to the quantity wanted, and the occupants of the brewery were as busy as the bakers are at the present day in dealing out the Sunday morning breakfast of baked beans and brown bread.

The third one was on Adams street, near the Kearsarge mills, and was carried on by Mr. Peter King. The beer made in those days was called "strong beer," resembling the present stock ale. They also made a light beer for the table, which was in common use in most families. Mr. King had in his employ Michael Martin, who had figured in Ireland as "Lightfoot," a notorious highwayman, in connection with "Thunderbolt," who also came to this country and opened a barber shop in Portland, Maine. After the giving up of brewing or decease of Mr. King, the business was continued by Martin; and the stories of his adventures in Ireland, which he related, were often retold to the many who visited him. He is described by those who knew him as a great athlete. He was about five feet nine inches tall, with a strong, muscular frame. Among the many feats which he performed, was one of placing five molasses hogsheads in a row and jumping from one into another in five consecutive leaps. Another was the jumping over two horses, placed side by side. He frequented Wilde's Hotel, (later the Franklin House,) which was a popular rendezvous in the evening, and his performances of strength, and recital of incidents in his life were often the feature of conversation. He made his exit from Portsmouth by hiring a team from Mr. Stacy Hall, who kept a livery stable, which team he disposed of to another party. When next heard from he was arrested for robbing Major Bray on the highway in Cambridgeport. Major Bray's wife was with him, but Martin's gallantry would not allow him to take any valuables from a lady. This was his first and only attempt at highway robbery in this country, as he was arrested, tried, and sentenced to be hung. While at the jail in Cambridge he attempted to escape by jumping over the wall, a feat which was deemed impossible for any one to accomplish. He was captured after considerable trouble, and his sentence was carried out. After his death he was examined by the physcians, who stated that he was double jointed. In business he was not successful; his creditors not hearing from him, after a time took the brewery, and found themselves heavy losers.

The readings from Dickens and other authors, at the second entertainment given by the Hutchings Association this evening, will be of a most pleasing character; the most indifferent admirer of Dickens cannot fail to be interested. Tableaux illustrating the readings will be shown; also several pieces of statuary.

—A Texas exchange says: "W. P. Toodle, a Houstonian, has been fined $100 for shooting one William Burton in his trestle work!" In what part of a man's anatomy is his trestle work!

—A father of three sons and five daughters was asked what family he had. The answer was: "I have three sons, and they have each five sisters." "Mercy!" replied the interrogator, "such a large family."

—A fox played a shrewd trick upon the "Queens county hunt" on Long Island recently. A wild animal not being procurable, a tame one was furnished and let loose before the hounds. The fox was scared by the noise behind him, and ran until nearly exhausted, until at last he came to a farmhouse and dashed into the kitchen. Being thoroughly domesticated he made known his need of food and drink to the housewife, and when his wants were provided for quietly stretched himself out before the fire and fell asleep while the huntsmen and hounds howled about outside, wondering at the mysterious loss of the scent.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them feeling it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always restores to youthful color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, prevent premature decay, both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,
For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable hue, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc., etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinarians. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Grubs and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that promotes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot succeed with a superior article. By research or superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery
Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is Pectoral.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is a Chalagogue, or Liver Stimulant.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is Tonic.
Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness, Tropid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and a coated tongue, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.
Purely Vegetable. No care required while using them.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Multum in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their searching impress. They are not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated so they can be taken by the most sensitive, and thereby preserved uninpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the only pill which has been put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus, or falling of the Womb, Inflammation of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but not mentioned here.

The following Ladies are a few of the many those who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Methvin, Hatcher's station, Ga.; Mrs. F. A. Symour, Rome, N. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; then renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expansion; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft — under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Dose SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most responsible people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy that is in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which unsolicited have been offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any compound or known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small portion of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

NESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen,—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I could have no relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried it, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me inestimable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS, AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

ON DOING WITHOUT.

Pale blue, and tea roses, half blown and such lace!
I'm sure that some poet could write a sweet sonnet
About it, when over—well, somebody's face.

The cost? Thirty dollars. You know it's im ported.
The fashion, you see, dear, has but just come out,
I tried it on, Tom, and, oh! I was transported.
Can't have it? Now, Tom, why? Can't I do without?

Let's see: there's the gas bill, the milk, and the grocer;
Jack wants his new shoes, and the butcher's bill is due;
And the dress-maker—There, I see you wish to know Sir,
How much it all makes. Well, of course, forty-two.

Have I bonnets up stairs? Yes. Worn out?
No, of course not.
But—There! I can't have it; to argue's no use.
Well, Tom, then that table, all gilding and what not,
We saw at the auction. Don't scowl so, you goose!

The table is lovely. I'm sure that we need it:
The parlor, you know, dear, is really quite bare.
Twenty dollars; 'tis nothing; you will never miss it.
Why, Thomas, I'm shocked! Was that meant for a swear?

Very well, Sir; there's surely no use of your scolding.
The gas bill, I hate it; the butcher still more.
You're always reminding me— Hark did the bell ring?
A bundle for you has just been left at the door.

What's in it? No matter. I'll see for myself, then.
The shoes that you got on your way from the cars?
Oh, Tom, what a story! There, now, it is open.
As I live, you extravagant wretch, it's cigars!

"Mr. Smith, for tobacco, to So-and-so debtor."
Five hundred cigars. Fifty dollars no doubt.
Now, then, Sir—the gas bill—the milk—you had better Preach poor. Now that bonnet I shan't do without.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Irregularities and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Ulcers, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but power ul to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Congress.

The result of certain test votes in the Senate, Wednesday, is regarded as indicative of the admission of Hamburg Butler from South Carolina, and the two democrats from Louisiana, thus making the Senate politically a tie, leaving the casting vote with the Vice President. The death of Senator Morton thus becomes of serious consequence to the country.

The Senate on Thursday adjourned to Monday. The republicans are satisfied that Conover of Florida and Patterson of South Carolina have been bought by the democrats to vote for the admission of the democratic claimants for seats in the Senate from South Carolina and Louisiana.

Boston and Maine Railroad.

We have received the report of the Directors of the Corporation showing the results of the operations for the year ending Sept. 30, 1877:

Gross receipts	$2,267,019.43
Operating expenses	1,423,182.62
Taxes paid	95,672 35
Rent of leased lines	87,200.00
Total expenses	1,606,054.97
Leaving as net earnings	660,964 46
Interest paid	245,802.73
Leaving balance of	415,161.73

This is a decrease in gross receipts as compared with the previous year of $103,600.10; in the expenses, including interest, taxes and rent of $7627, and in the net balance of $95,973.10. The report says:

"This decrease in gross receipts, and small decrease in expenses, is due to various causes. There have been now four years of great depression in all kinds of business that contribute to the support of a railroad. We have felt it from year to year in reduced receipts from our local business, and never more so than in our receipts from passengers during the year just closed. With no general improvement in business, the people all along our line of road have become poorer, have less money to spend, ride less, and in many instances have given up business altogether; this depression will of course be temporary, and business will in time revive and return again. Again, the low rates that have ruled during the past year on freight from the western States have seriously affected our gross earnings. The volume of business done during the year, in the department of freight, is but little short of the year previous. The sharp competition between all the trunk lines running west from Boston and New York has had its effect upon our line of road as well as upon all the others forming a link in the great chain of connecting roads extending from the East to the West.

Another important feature in the business of this road during the last year, and the cause for decreased traffic as well as increased expenses over ordinary years, was the strike of the engineers and firemen in the month of February last; which caused the entire suspension of all freight business over our road for nearly one week, and a considerable reduction in our passenger traffic. The effect of this disturbance remained well into the summer before traffic in both passengers and merchandise had fully resumed its accustomed line of travel.

A serious element of expense is the alarming increase in State and municipal taxes, which railroad corporations have been subjected to within a few years. State and municipal debts have increased so fast, that the authorities have become alarmed, and are driven to every expedient to find the means to meet their expenses. As corporations are bodies whose complaint can only be made by proxy, advantage has been taken of them, and a large share of this increased municipal indebtedness has been put upon them, until the taxes on railroads have become a grievous burden. The increase in taxes on the Boston and Maine Railroad has been from $6000 per annum in 1860 to $106,000 per annum in 1876.

Another large item of expense on our road the past year has been that of steel rails. We have purchased and laid down during the year 2060 tons, which cost us more than one hundred thousand dollars. Twenty thousand dollars, the difference between the cost of steel and iron, could have been properly charged to construction, but the whole amount has been charged to expenses. These are facts, and while they account in part for the reduced receipts and the comparatively small reduction in expenses, they at the same time show a healthy and sound condition in the road."

The history of the strike, so familiar to our readers, forms a part of the report. The Directors make the deserved acknowledgement of the ability, firmness and tact displayed by Mr. Furber, when they say "Much praise is due to our General Superintendent, Mr. James T. Furber, for his prompt, vigilant and earnest effort, during the disturbance, to bring order out of confusion and protect the property of the company, as well as to all other employees, who remained loyal to the road." None of the strikers have since been re-employed by the Company.

The bonds of the road and other liabilities, including the above item, are stated at $5,011,390.95 Capital stock, $6,921,-274.52.

Considering the state of business for the past year, the concentrated efforts of the striking engineers expended upon the corporation, and the reasons stated in the report, the showing of results is all that could have been expected. The road is economically managed and has but few complicated alliances, to impoverish its treasury; while the triumphant manner in which the General Superintendent guided the affairs of his department through the severe struggle of the strike, and has since weeded out dishonest servants by a system of surveillance at once quiet and effective, shows the stockholder that the running department of their road could not be in better hands. The meeting of the shareholders occurs at Lawrence, Mass., Wednesday, December 12th.

News and Notes.

Capt. Howgate has received a letter via Scotland, from Capt. Tyson, in command of the Florence, the advance vessel of the American Arctic expedition, dated September 20th. He reports their safe arrival at Numtilleck harbor, Cumberland Gulf, after a voyage of forty days. He proposed moving to the head of the Gulf in a few days to go into winter quarters, and carry out the instructions in reference to the collection of material. The crew were all in good health and spirits. Messrs. Sherman and Kumlein are reported doing well in their respective departments.

Hon. Israel Washburn, Jr., of Portland, has recently received an elegant otter robe, together with the photograph of a colonel in the United States army now stationed at Oregon, whom he appointed a cadet at West Point from Orono twenty-four years ago, when a poor boy.

A great temperance revival, under the direction of the Murphy Club of Philadelphia, is now in progress at Morrisville, Pa. With one exception every hotel and saloon has been closed, and nearly everybody has signed the pledge. On Monday evening a large torchlight procession took place. Boats filled with young ladies singing, "Give us water and no whiskey," paraded the streets, while in the center of each boat stood a young lady attired in the habiliments of the Goddess of Liberty, and held in her hand a large glass of water. This was said to have been one of the most striking and interesting features of the occasion. All the hotels and saloons, save the one alluded to above, were brilliantly illuminated.

Gen. Joseph Johnston says that Gen. Longstreet's description of the Gettysburg fight is the only satisfactory one that has ever appeared. Gen. Longstreet has received approving letters from officers of high rank in both the Northern and Southern armies.

Cora Young has been acquitted at Auburn, N. Y., of shooting her paramour, Barrett, last Summer. She fainted at the announcement of the verdict, and in the confusion Barr, the murderer of Prison Keeper Castle, who had just been brought in for trial, tried to e-cape, but was overpowered and chained after an exciting struggle with the officers.

That is a strange history of the British ship Ida Iredell, which, while on a voyage from the Clyde to San Francisco, took fire and was abandoned in the South Pacific on the 15th of October, 1876, and the iron hull of which drifted about until June 9, 1877, when it was found with all the wood-work destroyed, and was towed into Tahiti with its 100 tons of ashes and debris. Within nine months it had drifted 2,359 miles from the spot where the fire occurred, and was brought into the same port at which the captain and crew had landed seven months before.

Catherine Lester, wife of Professor Lester, the astrologer, committed suicide at Blackwell's Island recently by hanging herself. She was committed to the Island about a week ago as a lunatic.

Mrs. Jane M. Swett, of Kennebunk, Me., who was sent to prison for six years in 1866, for the memorable murder of her husband, Dr. Charles M. Swett, though she claimed she gave him morphine with his whiskey only to sicken him and cure him of his drunkenness, has just died at the Kennebunk poorhouse.

Double postal cards, affording facilities for reply, are already in vogue in several countries of Europe, and have been found of immense convenience.

Last summer the teacher who had been engaged for a school in Cayuga county, N. Y., stayed in the school house every day, waiting for pupils who did not come. Her engagement was disliked by the people, but by attending regularly she established a valid claim for wages.

A woman has been for several years, and is now, drawing a pension as the widow of a Union soldier, whose husband was not only never in the Union army, but was actually in the rebel army, and was shot for desertion, at Dalton, Ga. A special bill in this case was passed several years ago, and a recent investigation by a special agent has just brought the facts to light. All the testimony in the case was manufactured by rascally claim agents, who even invented six small children for the widow, in addition to the three she really had. She is likely to lose her pension.—Washington letter.

A correspondent says: "The President and Mrs. Hayes decline all invitations to the theatre and places of amusement. Managers feel that they have lost good advertisements, since they can no longer notify the public that the President and family will occupy a private box during the performance on certain evenings. Mr. and Mrs. Hayes are very devout Methodists."

The oldest man in the State Prison at Thomaston, Me., is the wife murderer, Pangborn of Penobscot, 84 years old, who is serving a life sentence. He is very weak, and unable to leave his bed.

There was a daring attempt at abduction and outrage in the outskirts of Providence one night recently by a fellow who seized a fourteen-years-old school girl, hustled her screaming in his wagon and drove off, closely pursued by two men who had noticed the occurrence. The man evaded his pursuers by furious driving, and attempted to take the girl into Roger Williams park, but she finally loosened the fellow's hold and rolled from the wagon, not much hurt, but with her clothing wholly stripped from her body. The scamp cannot be found, though he is known.

A woman lobbyist is trying to get Congress to pass a resolution for the recognition of Cuban independence, and claims to have twenty-three Senators and sixty-three Representatives already pledged.

Hard times have caused a fearful increase of crime and vagrancy in New Hampshire. Farmers in sparsely settled regions say that they have never lived in such fear of violence from tramps, nor suffered so much from thieving from their granaries, poultry yards and their clothes lines, and in more than a score of places extra policemen are nightly on duty unknown to the public. The State prison has nearly double the average number of convicts from 1870 to 1875. They now number 175, with the promise of an increase to 200 by the time the Legislature meets.—Syracuse Journal.

Political.

The order that reigned in Warsaw is illustrated by the South Carolina dispatch that reports that not 25 republican votes were cast Tuesday in an Assembly district where, last year, the republicans had 2000 majority.

Baltimore republicans are hinting that Conkling's plan in regard to the New York appointments is to do his fighting over the shoulders of Collector Thomas, of Baltimore; that the case of Thomas will be first considered by the committee on commerce at the next regular meeting, Thursday, and Conkling will then throw down the gage of battle. As far as any principle is concerned, the New York and Baltimore cases are precisely similar, old officials having been removed without direct charges, during their term of office. Conkling claims that all of these instances are direct violations of the tenure of office act, and means to get an expression from the Senate on the point.

A Wonderful Feat.

The Detroit News, of Nov. 17, says: Yesterday morning an unprecedented feat of engine building was executed at the shops of the Michigan Central railroad at Jackson—a feat which reflects credit not only on the men engaged on it, as masters of their craft, but also places the shops in which they work in the first rank of mechanical achievement in the world. In the large locomotive works of the United States and Great Britain, the problem, how long does it take to "set up an engine?" has received several solutions, according to the speed of the workmen, and the capacity of the establishment in which they are employed. Heretofore the usual time for doing this work, with a gang of five or six men, in the "Baldwin locomotive works," of Philadelphia, an establishment famed all over the world for the excellency of its manufactures, has been from nine days to two weeks.

When, therefore, the fact had been accomplished at Jackson by Robert Stewart, with fourteen men, in twenty-five hours, and by Walter Eddington, with his gangs in sixteen and a half hours, the engine builders of the country were loud in their expressions of disbelief, and sneered lustily at the "big whoppers" of the Jackson engine builders, who were trying, as they said, to build a reputation on falsehoods too monstrous for belief.

This piqued the Jackson men, and they determined not only to transcend all previous efforts, but also to place their work on record before witnesses in such a manner that even brazen envy would not dare to express its disbelief. Yesterday morning at seven o'clock the parts of two new locomotive engines, number 44 and 61, which had never been placed together, were lying in the engine shops at Jackson, while on two trucks in the yard were the boilers.

As the clock struck seven, two gangs of fourteen men each, one commanded by Robert Stewart, and the other by Walter Eddington, sprang to their work. Each man was an excellent workman, clear-headed, swift and accustomed to every detail required. The boilers were raised by jacks on the massive frames, the driving-wheels secured in their places, the cylinders, valves, link motions, connecting rods, levers, smoke stacks, jacket bolts, etc., numbering altogether thousands of pieces, were all secured in their respective places. The fires already lighted convert into steam the water run in shortly after the start. One gang beats the other about a minute in the finishing touches. The engineer, standing in his place, blows the whistle, turns on the steam, the driving-wheels revolve, and the first engine moves down the yard. A few seconds later the other, with a shrill clarion whistle, follows its completed companion. The spectators, 200 in number, who watched every detail of the work with breathless interest, break into a cheer, to which the grimy workmen, drenched in perspiration, give hearty echo. Two hours and fifty-five minutes is the record from fifty watches, and the Jackson shops and workmen are covered with a blaze of glory.

At eleven o'clock the two engines were attached to an excursion train filled with employes, and the exultant crew arrived here in Detroit last evening.

Each engine made the trip of seventy-six miles without heating a journal, and they both ran as smoothly as if they had been months in commission.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints of which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys Lungs, Eruptions and Irregular Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors. Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE CITY.

Major Daniel J. Vaughan has been appointed on the staff of Gov. Prescott, with the rank of Colonel.

The dry dock at the Navy Yard was on Thursday being put in readiness to receive the brig Clara J. Adams for repairs.

The loss of four men from the schooner Grace Choate, before reported, occurred on Sunday, 18th inst., on the Middle Bank, where the schooner was haddocking, having left this port on the Friday previous. The sea was running high, and the two dories were capsized.

SUPREME COURT--6th WEEK.

Thursday, Nov. 22d; Stanley, J.

Case Hilliard vs. Noyes and Ross was given to the jury. The jury, after a deliberation of five hours, returned a verdict for the defendants.

New England News Company vs. Augustus H. Wiggin and Mary J. Wiggin was heard. This was a proceeding in equity brought to set aside the conveyance of certain real estate in Exeter, which complainants allege was (as against them, as creditors) fraudulently conveyed by A. H. Wiggin to his wife, while he was owing certain debts still unpaid. Sargent and Chase of Concord for plaintiff; Marston and Mugridge for defendants.

The following divorces have been decreed:

Carrie F. Smart vs. Charles F. Smart; Jona. Smith for libellant.

Orville A. Peabody vs. Emily Peabody; Cross and Burnham for libellant.

Delia A. Brown vs. Nath. G. Brown; divorce with custody of child, as prayed for; Hatch for libellant, Hills for libellee.

Elizabeth H. Tucker vs. John A. Tucker; divorce with custody of child, as prayed for; Frink for libellant.

Case Joshua Getchell vs. Lewis T. Sanborn, action for goods sold, (plea in defence statute of limitations) was tried by the Court. Lamprey for plaintiff, Wood for defendant. The amount at issue in this case is abalance of $70.

A hearing was heard in the case on the new docket of Wm. Currier vs. Albert Janvrin and Churchill and Co., trustees. This was a hearing upon the claimants' motion as to their right to fund held by the trustee which are claimed by Albert Janvrin as trustee of minor grandchildren of Geo. Janvrin. Towle for the plaintiff; Hatch for trustee. A judgment was rendered in this case Nov. 5th, but it was afterward vacated by order of the Court.

In the afternoon the hearing of case State by Abbie A. Dunbrach vs. Washington H. Hobbs, postponed from last week, was resumed, and witnesses for the defence were examined. Lamprey and Wiggin for complainant; Marston for defendant.

Ham (of Newmarket) et als. vs. John Hayes and the County of Rockingham, trustee. There is in the hands of the trustees the sum of $75, for certain fees for the commitment of prisoners to the County House by Hayes, a former police officer of Portsmouth. Other parties claim this sum to be a common fund, in which all the police officers of the city then in office are interested, under the agreement that Hayes should convey the prisoners sent by the Police Court of Portsmouth to the County Farm, and the amount should be divided between eight officers, and Hayes is entitled to an eighth part of the amount only. The plaintiff denies that such an agreement can be enforced as against his right to this sum, received under the trustee process. The Court granted further time to the claimant to be heard. Smith for piff.; Call for deft.; Frink for Watkins, Smart and other claimants.

Court adjourned to Friday morning, at half-past ten, when case Dunbrack vs. Hobbs will be argued.

The jurors have been discharged.

A BAD JOB WELL DONE.

The wrecking gang under direction of Capt. Moses B. Tower on Thursday succeeded in raising the sunken locomotive and placing her on the anchor-hoy, with the rest of the gear which went down with her. Though the gingerbread work has been roughly used, the principal parts of the engine are not greatly damaged. The place where the train was sunk was a very bad one for the wreckers to work, owing to the narrow space in which the cars were, the swift current, and the deep water; in addition to all this, the telegraph cables were under the mass of wreck, necessitating great care and a perpendicular lift on each piece to avoid breaking the wires; and the wrecking schooner had to keep out of the way of the draw, and to get out of the way of any vessel that wanted to pass through. [She didn't get out of the way quite quick enough, once, and had her jib-boom knocked off.] Considering all the difficulties, the job has been got through with in good time. The engine will be mounted on its wheels to-day, on board the anchor-hoy at the railroad wharf; and another locomotive, that hasn't been overboard, will then tow the disabled one ashore on rails laid down for the purpose.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, Nov. 22d; Batchelder, J.

Isaac Welsh, a drunken tramp, was sent to Brentwood for thirty days, then to work out $6.90 costs.

Edwin H. Goodwin, for an assault on Joseph Spinney, was fined (with costs) $9.90.

William Howard, who escaped from officer White on August 28th while out searching for some one willing to pay his fine, was re-arrested in Dover this week, but was willing to pay additional costs instead of being returned here; so he handed over $15.90.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The North church was nearly filled at the gospel meeting Thursday evening.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Goss, then the usual praise service was held, the selections being, "Hallelujah, 'tis done," "There's a light in the valley," "What shall the harvest be," "The half was never told."

The congregation united in singing "Jesus loves even me," and Dr. Alden led in prayer. Mr. Moorhouse read Matt. 2:1—12 as a scripture lesson, and then "My Redeemer" was sung by a quartette of male voices.

Mr. Moorhouse took for his text Galatians 1:20, "Who loved me, and gave himself for me." There is no more precious and beautiful text in all the scriptures. John 3:16 is a very precious scripture, but not so much so as this of our text, because we desire to know that the love of God is personal. Paul believed in good works, but he did not believe that we can be saved by them, as he expressly says in Gal. 2:16. We have broken the law of God. How can we be saved by it? how can we be justified by it? Christ has died to save us, and to renew within us a new spirit. Jesus loves us, he wants us to love him, and to give him our hearts. His love exceeds that of any other friend,—"he gave himself for me," himself the price of our salvation. Salvation is so simple, and so easy that a child can comprehend it. It is hard to understand how men can reject the Savior who has done so much for them when they were sinning against him, when they were opposed to him.

At the close was sung "God so loved the world of sinners lost," and then the usual enquiry meeting was held.

THE VICINITY.

G. Harrison Jenness, Esq., postmaster at Rye Beach, opened a course of lectures at Epsom Short Falls on Thursday evening; subject "The world we inhabit."

One evening recently the Eastern Railroad officials at Seabrook received telegraphic advices from Hampton to "look out for a car of live stock" that was to be left there by a train then nearly due. Much speculation was occasioned, the Seabrook men wondering who had a car of live stock to leave at that place, and what in the world they should do with the stock over night. When the train arrived the "cattle car" was found to be a box car, and the documents were all right for "160 lbs. live Indian, drunk in freight car." When the freight agent stirred up the "cattle" the latter answered with a genuine Indian grunt, and then showed how far he had advanced in civilization by sitting up in the straw and trying to sell to the railroad man at a discount the ticket he (the noble red man) had purchased in Hampton, but had not been obliged to use.

COMMUNISTIC SOCIETIES OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Amana Community, Amana, Iowa.—Germans. Number of members about 1500. Live in seven villages, all of which have a common interest. Own from 25,000 to 30,000 acres of land. Businesses: agriculture, manufactures and merchandise. Emigrated to America and settled near Buffalo in 1842. Removed to Iowa in 1855. Marriage permitted, but not encouraged. Strongly religious. Call themselves "The True inspirationists." Present leader in spiritual things, or "inspired instrument," Barbara Heynemann—now over eighty years of age. The temporal affairs are managed by trustees.

The Harmonist, Economy Penn.—Germans. Emigrated to this country in 1803—4. Organized into "The Harmony Society" in 1805. First settled in Butler County, Penn. Removed to Indiana in 1841, and built the town of Harmony. Sold that place to Robert Owen and returned to Pennsylvania in 1824, and built their present town of Economy on the eastern bank of the Ohio. Businesses: agriculture, manufactures and merchandise. Estimated worth several million dollars. Membership fifty years ago 1000; now 100. Marriage practiced until 1807. Celibacy has since been the rule. George Rapp was their founder and leader until his death at the age of ninety. Jacob Henrici and Jonathan Lenz are now their leaders. The Harmonists base their organization on religious principles.

The Separatists, Zoar, Ohio.—Germans. Emigrated from Wurtemburg in 1817, under Joseph Baumeler. Adopted communism of property in 1819. Businesses: agriculture, manufactures and merchandise. Estimated value of property one million dollars. Amount of land 7500 acres. Celibates until 1828; marriage has since prevailed. Jacob Ackerman present leader, but shares his responsibilities with trustees chosen by the members. Basis, Religion.

Dr. Keil's Communities.—The one located at Bethel, Shelby County, Missouri, was founded in 1844. Highest membership 650; present about 250. Mostly Germans and from Pennsylvania Dutch. Business: agriculture, manufactures and merchandise. Own 4,000 acres of land. Governed by president and trustees. Favor marriage. Founded on religion. That at Aurora, Oregon, where Dr. Keil now resides, was founded in 1855, and is the more prosperous, having 18,000 acres of land and about 400 members. Their basis principles are of course the same as at Bethel. The two communities are substantially one, having a common interest. Many persons at Aurora went from Bethel, which accounts for the latter's decline in numbers.

The Shakers.—Mostly Americans—a few of other nationalities. Followers of Ann Lee. Seventeen societies in seven States. Each society is divided into two or more families or separate communities; so that there are in all over fifty Shaker communities. These had at one time a membership of five or six thousand. The present membership is not far from 2,400. The Shaker communities are all large land-owners. Businesses: agriculture and manufactures. The Shakers are religious celibates. Each family has its Elders, Eldresses, Trustees and Deacons; and every two or three societies have a ministry, consisting when complete, of two males and two females. The Central Ministry of all the Societies resides the greater part of the time at Lebanon, N. Y., occasionally visiting the other societies. Daniel Bolar and Giles B. Avery now stand at the head of the Shaker ministry.

The Perfectionists.—Founded by John Humphry Noyes, as a religious sect date from 1834; as communists from 1846. First organized in community at Putney, Vt. Removed to Oneida, N. Y., in 1848. The branch society in Wallingford, Conn., established in 1851 Whole number of members 301. Businesses: The manufacture of silk threads and steel traps, the canning of fruits and vegetables, and agriculture. Social system, complex marriage. Theodore R. Noyes, a son of the founder, is now President of the two communities, which have a common interest, interchanging men and capital as occasion requires.

The Icarians, Corning, Adams Co., Iowa.—French. Their first leader and president was Etienne Cabet. Securing one million acres of land in Texas, he established a colony there in 1848, which removed to Nauvoo, Illinois in 1849, and in 1853 purchased land for a branch community in Iowa, which in time became the only Icarian Community. In 1855 there were 500 Icarians at Nauvoo. The Icarians have encountered many trials, including the death of their founder, and now number less than 100. Their business is mostly confined to agriculture. They own nearly 2000 acres of land. Marriage is obligatory. No religious bond.

The Respirationists.—Their community at Brocton, N. Y., was founded by Thomas D. Harris and Lawrence Oliphant, 1867. Its membership nearly reached 100, but is now much less, owing to the removal of many of its members to California, where another organization has been started. Their principal business at Brocton have been horticulture and wine-making. Their religion is a modified form of Swedenborgianism.

Of other and smaller communistic societies we have no definite statistics.—American Socialist.

TILTON KEEP'S FOR SALE
WHIPS, RUBBER WASHERS,
And all articles expected to be found in a first-class Harness Shop, at
No. 18 Congress St.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.
Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.
It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, liching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.
By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.
As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.
Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,
For the Whiskers.
This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, as directions. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

37 SOMETHING NEW. Have you seen that nice CHOUAGUEN? At 37 Market Street.

Centaur Liniments.
They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.
The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per formed more wonderful cures of obstinate cases of children cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ringbone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a tallow. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.
J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey
To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.
COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.
Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:
I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I realize a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.
Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES
Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.
NATURAL SELECTION.
Investigators of natural science have demonstrated, beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot supersede a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the annual exported footo up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery
Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is Pectoral.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is Tonic.
Golden Medical Discovery
By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood in the skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.
Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have a sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness," in many cases of "Liver Complaint," unfortunately, and expect a certain cure.

P.P.P.P.
Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.
Purely Vegetable. No care required while using them.
The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Nature in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.
As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION. DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION.
The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has proved justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and WEAKNESSES PECULIAR TO FEMALES.
Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Bearing-down Pressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensations, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic weaknesses peculiar to women, but not mentioned here.
The following Ladies are afew of the many those who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:
Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Methvin, Hatcher's Station, Ga.; Mrs. F. A. Seymour, Rome, N. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; it often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thin brittle, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrh Affecting, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimony from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines was such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 30 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous lining had become so inflamed, and the stench so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me invaluable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

A Light in the Window.

Off the coast of one of the Orkney Islands, and right opposite the harbor, stood a lonely rock, against which in stormy nights the boats of returning fishermen often struck and were lost. Fifty years ago there lived on this island a young girl in a cottage with her father; and they loved each other very tenderly. One stormy night the father was away on the sea in his fisherman's boat, and though his daughter watched for him in much fear and trouble, he did not come home. Sad to tell, in the morning his dead body was found washed upon the beach. His boat, as he sought the harbor, had struck against the "Lonely Rock" and gone down.

In her deep sorrow, this fisherman's orphan did not think of herself alone. She was scarcely more than a child, humble, poor and weak; but she said in her heart that no more boats should be lost on the "Lonely Rock" if a light shining through her window would guide them safely into the harbor. And so, after watching by the body of her father, according to the custom of her people, until it was buried, she lay down and slept through the day; but when night fell arose, and lighting a candle, placed it in the window of her cottage, so that it might be seen by any fisherman coming in from sea, and guide him safely into the harbor. She sat by the candle all night, and trimmed it and spun; but when the day dawned, she went to bed and slept. As many hanks as she had spun before for her daily bread she spun still, and one over, to buy her nightly candle; and from that time to this, for fifty years, through youth, maturity and old age, she has turned night into day, and in the snow storms of winter, through driving mists, deceptive moonlight and solemn darkness, that northern harbor has never once been without the light of her candle. How many lives she saved by this candle, and how many meals she won by it for the starving families of the boatmen, it is impossible to say. How many dark nights the fishermen, depending on it, have gone forth, cannot now be told. There it stood, regular as the lighthouse, steadily as constant care could make it. Always brighter when daylight waned, the fishermen had only to keep it constantly in view and were safe; there was but one thing to intercept it, and that was the "Rock." However far they might have gone out to sea, they had only to bear down for that lighted window, and they were sure of a safe entrance to the harbor. But what do the boatmen and the boatmen's wives think of this? Do they pay the poor woman? No, they are very poor; but poor or rich, they know better than that. Do they thank her? No. Perhaps they think that thanks of theirs would be inadequate to express their gratitude; or perhaps long years have made the lighted casement so familiar that they look upon it as a matter of course and forget for the time the patient watcher within.—Jean Ingelow.

—One bad result of female suffrage in Wyoming is said to be that the young men wickedly keep a record of the ages of unmarried spinsters who vote.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.

The Paris Exposition bill came up yesterday as unfinished business from the day previous. There was a sharp and protracted debate, and Cox was outgeneraled, the friends of the original bill voting in favor of Hamilton's substitute for Cox's amendment and then, in turn, voting it down, leaving the bill of the committee to be acted on. The amendments are substantially as follows: Not more than one commissioner nor more than five honorary commissioners shall be appointed from any one State; that there shall be four practical agriculturists, and that the Commissioner of Agriculture shall be required to prepare for exhibition specimens of the agricultural products from all the States and Territories. Instead of vesting the appointment of all the honorary commissioners in the President, he is authorized to designate twenty-four, including one from each Territory; and the Governors of the States are to appoint the balance—two from each State. An analysis of the vote with reference to party, shows the republicans largely for, and the democrats against the appropriation.

Considerable surprise was manifested by members of the House, Monday, over a motion by Mr. Atkins to recommit the deficiency bill to his committee. Every one seemed at a loss to account for the movement; but it has since transpired that there was struck out of the bill the following provision, viz: "For the expenses of the Commission appointed by the present Executive to go to Louisiana, $4,115.17." The reason assigned for Mr. Atkins' hurried reconsideration of his committee's work was a rumor to the effect that General Butler and Mr. Knott were preparing to attack the allowance on the ground that, as there was no law for the Commission, the payment of its expenses from the public funds would be clearly illegal. We may conclude at least that Mr. Atkins and his associates of the committee dared not risk the issue, and discreetly withdrew the offensive item. It is said the money has been already paid out of the secret service fund, and that the Senate will restore the section; but it is difficult to see upon what grounds they would seek to justify it, and many predict that it will arouse a storm, should the attempt be made, that will shake the Capitol to its foundations.

We have finally got through with the army bill, the Senate receding from a few unimportant amendments, and passing it as it last came from the House with the army's numerical strength restored to the old limit of 25,000. Both it and the naval deficiency bill were yesterday signed by the President, and payments to the army and navy will be immediately begun. Of the business recommended in the President's message, the House now has to act upon only the deficiency bill, and the Senate has in addition the Paris Exposition bill. The anti-resumptionists strove to bring forward Ewing's bill for consideration, before the Paris bill was taken up; but Mr. Randall ruled them out, and Buckner got out of temper, apparently. It was thought Ewing would, to-day, contest the right of Singleton to a hearing on the deficiency bill, until he (Ewing) had been allowed his hour in which to close debate on his bill and demand a vote. In any event it is not thought Singleton will detain the House long, should he be decreed precedence; and time will probably be obtained during the day to dispose of both, in the House. Otherwise Mr. Ewing is thought likely to ask an evening session. The friends of the Bland silver bill are confidently counting on a report from the Senate finance committee in its favor, with some material amendments; and with a fair amount of diligence there appears no reason why an adjournment should not be reached by Saturday.

Tell it in Gath and everywhere else, that "Bob" Ingersoll has clearly vindicated his right to a reputation for eccentricity, by refusing a good, fat, foreign appointment—the Berlin mission.

A good many slow-going people here who think they are somewhat acquainted with the deserts of Mr. A. B. Mullett, late Supervising Architect, are much astonished at his proposal to allow him to go before the Court of Claims for more pay for work performed while under contract with the Government at a good salary and perquisites, if there were any such. In short, they feel that he has been tolerably well paid for his services already, and that until there shall have been a general increase of salary, to be made retroactive, it would be gross injustice to thousands of industrious government employees who have given their whole time to it at a much smaller salary; and it is safe to assume that the majority of tax-payers would regard a vote granting Mr. Mullett's modest request as nothing short of an outrage.

On the whole, participants in the two recent republican Senatorial caucuses do not appear to have gained much that was satisfactory through the delegation sent to the White House conference; and I think I am safe in assuring your readers that "we shall soon see what we shall see." KNOX.

The Eastern War.

Some minor Turkish successes are reported in Bulgaria, but nothing to offset their disasters.

A heavy fight was reported in progress at Tirnova on Friday.

It was authoritatively announced, from England, Friday evening, that that country will declare war if Russia wins any further success.es

News and Notes.

The Fisheries Commission on Friday awarded the British $1,500,000 for the permission to fish in Canadian waters by the Americans.

Henry W. Hilliard, United States Minister to Brazil, was a passenger on the steamer Parana, from Bordeaux for Rio Janeiro, wrecked October 8th, off Bahia. All hands were saved.

Mr. Louis A. Godey, who has published the Lady's Book for nearly forty-eight years, retires from its active management after next month. He has been an industrious, hard-working man. The new ship Vigilant, of 1800 tons burthen, sailed from Kennebunkport on Thursday, bound to New York, where she is to load for San Francisco.

The name of John O. Hanscom appears in a list of persons arraigned on indictments found in connection with the issue of fraudulent navy pay certificates. Mr. Hanscom is the son of his father.

Steamer J. B. Walker, from New Haven Oct. 23, with a cargo of arms and ammunition for the Turkish government, arrived at Constantinople on the 21st inst.

The revenue cutter Samuel Dexter is in Bristol (R. I.) harbor, under orders, it is understood, to watch the new steam yacht Estelle, now nearly completed by the Herreshoffs for Kobbe, of New York. The Washington authorities seem to have a suspicion that the trim, swift-sailing craft is intended in some way to violate our neutrality laws in connection with the Cuban insurrection. The vessel is yet in the builders' hands, not being quite complete, although she has made a successful trial trip.

Thirty thousand dollars' worth of elegant furniture, placed on storage in New York at $450 per year, while its owner travelled in Europe, was sold by the keeper of the storehouse for $1200, which fact its owner discovered last week on his return. Purdy, the storekeeper, formerly a Tammany politician, has fled to Paris.

George Crispin has received a verdict of $10,000 at Utica, N. Y., for the loss of an arm in the machinery of Babbitt's factory, while employed there, through the carelessness of the superintendent.

A company of the 7th U. S. Cavalry has arrived at Deadwood to support the civil authorities in their endeavors to take the Keets mine from the miners who seized it for non-payment of wages. The miners returned a defiant answer to the first demand for a surrender of the mine.

A man named Norton was stabbed in a drunken quarrel at St. Louis, Mo., recently, was taken to the police station and kept several hours, and when sober was discharged and walked home. He died next morning, thirty hours after the assault, and on a post mortem examination being made it was found that he had been stabbed twice in the heart, either wound being sufficient, according to all preconceived notions, to cause almost instant death. The case stands out as one of the most remarkable instances of vitality in the history of crime or medicine, the several cases of life being prolonged while bullets were in the brain of the victims, sinking to insignificance beside this one.

St. James Episcopal church at Keene was concentrated Thursday by Bishop Niles of this diocese, assisted by Rev. George W. Brown, rector, Bishop Clark of Rhode Island, Revs. Renouf (former rector) and Hubbard of Claremont, Dawson of Hanover, Ogden of Bellows Falls, Putnam of St. Johnsbury, Burchmore of Clinton, Mass., Smith of Fitchburg, and Whitcomb of Concord. The services in the evening were by Rev. Stephen Tyng, Jr., D. D., of New York. The services were very impressive and the singing was fine. The music of the Venite te Deum was composed for the occasion by the rector. Gen. Griffin gave a reception in the evening to the visiting clergy and others.

The criminally bad failure of the Carroll County Savings Bank at Wolfeboro', has started inquiries as to the value of official examination. Only last March the Bank Commissioners reported that the bank had a splendid surplus, that its funds were well invested, its loans good, its books well kept, and that it had no debts. The Commissioners now say that it was the fault of Treasurer Brackett, who concealed from them a large amount of liabilities, falsely reported the assets and lessened the amount due depositors fully $40,000, and that, worse than all, Treasurer Brackett's own account was short several thousand dollars.

The Bazar is the organ of the fashionable world and the expounder of that world's laws; and it is the authority in all matters of manners, etiquette, costume, and social habits.—Boston Traveller.

The Bazar commends itself to every member of the household—to the children by droll and pretty pictures, to the young ladies by its fashion plates in endless variety, to the provident matron by its patterns for the children's clothes, to paterfamilias by its tasteful designs for embroidered slippers and luxurious dressing-gowns. But the reading matter of the Bazar is unfo mly of great excellence. The paper has acquired a wide popularity for the fireside enjoyment it affords, and has become an established authority with the ladies of America.—N. Y. Evening Post.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humers in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE CITY.

Rev. James DeNormandie will preach at the Congregational church in Eliot on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock.

A part of the boilers of the U. S. S. Iowa, now at the Boston navy yard, and one of her smoke stacks, will be sent to the navy yard near this city to be placed on board the U. S. S. Ticonderoga.

The eighty-first birthday of Mrs. Mark Dennett, which occurred on Friday, was remembered by several of her friends and former pupils, who visited the venerable lady on that occasion, bearing many kind tokens of regard.

The dredge and mud-scows that have been in use in deepening the Cocheco river for some time past, came down the river on Friday and brought up below Portsmouth bridge. The dock at Walker's coal wharf we understand is to be dredged out.

An attempt was made on Friday to take the brig Clara J. Adams across the river to the floating dock, which had been hauled out in the stream and was awaiting her reception; the tug Clara Batemen took hold of the brig, turned her around, and moved her from where she had been lying, near Union wharf, a couple of lengths toward the channel, where she took the ground again and had to lay over for the tide.

In Somerville, Mass., "an ample shed has been erected in the rear of the police building, filled with wood and supplied with saws and saw-horses, and on Friday morning the ten or fifteen tramps who took lodgings at the police station the previous night were set at work. The idea of requiring tramps to work is a new one in that city, suggested by the Overseers of the Poor, and as several public buildings are to be supplied with wood the idea meets with general approbation. It is probable that the poor of the city, who have been helped by the city and are able, will also be set at work." The festive tramp still visits this city regularly, in force, as heretofore, for his lodgings at the station house and his crackers and fish and coffee, but he departs in the morning unmolested by having any work thrust under his nose. The bill for his entertainment, however, will be thrust under the nose of the tax-payer at a future day.

Hartz, the great magician, holds the boards at Franklin Hall next week, commencing Monday evening. He will appear in a series of wonderful illusions that have won for him high praise wherever he has appeared. His feats are all new, and some of them are wonderful beyond conception. Among them is one called the "Burmese Box and Spiritual Canopy Mystery," which it seems is so astonishing as to mystify everybody. His ability is said to be unrivaled, while his magical efforts have everywhere created great surprise and laughter. The following words are from the Pittsburg Leader:—The Academy of Music last night held an immense audience, every seat and aisle being occupied, and all intent upon seeing the great conjurer, Hartz. Yesterday he was comparatively unknown, and to-day his name is on everybody's lips in Pittsburg. He is certainly one of the most talented artists in his line that we have ever seen, his magical illusions being accomplished with supreme ease and grace, while the feats are mostly new. The feats of the "Birth of Roses," the "Floating Coins" and the "Flying Glass of Water" were quite surprising, while the "Burmese Box" trick is certainly very wonderful and utterly beyond comprehension.

On Friday the anchor-buoy, with the recently sunken railroad gear on board, was taken alongside the Concord Railroad wharf; a temporary track was laid on timbers, reaching from the scow to the track on the wharf, the engine having previously been jacked up and had its wheels placed in position beneath; and at high water, when the scow and the wharf were nearly on a level, another locomotive was hitched on and easily drew the wrecked one on shore and away to be overhauled.

Capt. Moses B. Tower, who has had charge of the work, has for ten years and more been general wrecking agent of the New York and Boston boards of underwriters, for the New England coast east of Newport, R. I.; and previous to his taking that position, unless our memory is at fault, he for a long time commanded the underwriters' steamer R. B. Forbes. His experience in getting wrecked ships off the land and wrecked cars out of the water has of course been very extensive; but notwithstanding the amount of hard work he has done and the exposure he has faced, he is still as active and vigorous as many a younger man, and bids fair to do good service for a score of years yet.

SUPREME COURT--6th WEEK.

Friday, Nov. 23; Stanley, J.

The Court was occupied in hearing the arguments in the case of Dunbrach vs. Hobbs, and in listening to motions, etc., in other cases.

Twombly vs. Lewis, a case on the new docket, was tried in the afternoon. The action relates to the title of certain real estate on Christian Shore in this city. The case was postponed for further evidence. Hatch for plff.; W. H. Y. Hackett for deft.

Court adjourned to come in on Friday, the 30th inst., at which time the final adjournment will take place.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, Nov. 23; Batchelder, J.

Business very poor. Edward Chamberlain, for having been very decidedly drunk, was directed to hand over the usual $9.90. The price of drunks in this city is higher now than it was in war times.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Messrs. J. H. Hutchinson and C. W. Gardner appeared in behalf of the Board of Instruction and asked for a primary school room near the corner of Union and State streets.

Voted, that the committee on school-houses be empowered to lease of James Moses for the term of five years, his building on State street, for a primary school, provided it can be obtained for the sum of one hundred and twenty dollars per year, and provided also that the owner will put the building in a condition satisfactory to the committee on school-houses.

The Board then granted a hearing to parties on the petition of Isaac Dow and others for the widening of Penhallow street. There were present, Messrs. Isaac Dow, James P. Bartlett, John R. Holbrook, John Nutter and George W. Plummer for the petitioners, and Robert F. Gerrish for the remonstrants. John R. Reding, by the city clerk, asked leave to withdraw his name from the petition, and A. J. Penhallow, in writing, explained his signature to the same. Further consideration of the matter was postponed until the next meeting.

Amendment to Chapter 14, Section 2, of the city ordinances, offered by Alderman Hadley, was read a first time, and the rules being suspended, was read a second time and passed. Sent to the Common Council and concurred in by them.

Communication from the collector relative to F. W. Miller's tax, was referred to Ald. Hadley.

The petition of Rev. James De Normandie and others for the use of ward-room on State street for an evening school, was referred to the committee on school-houses with power to grant the use of the ward-room, the court-house or the common council room.

Claim of John H. Grant for damage to fixtures, etc., in store in the city building, was referred to the committee on claims.

Joshua Stackpole was granted leave to encumber Market street.

The committee on gas lights, to whom was referred the petition of Frank W. Miller for acceptance of naptha lights, reported in favor of acceptance. The report was adopted.

The Common Council passed a resolution appointing a joint special committee, consisting of two Aldermen, three Councilmen and the Mayor, whose duty it shall be to examine the plan of the proposed sewers and report the exact route and owners of lands through which the sewers may pass, and all other matters relating to the construction thereof; and also to consider and report upon the best means of obtaining money to pay for the same. The committee consists of the Mayor, Aldermen Hadley and Norton, and Councilmen Hodgdon of Ward Two, Long and Walker.

The Council also passed a joint vote requesting the Concord and Eastern railroads to erect gates at both sides of their tracks, the former at the Creek street crossing and the latter at the Green street crossing.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The attendance at the North church Friday evening showed that the interest in the revival meetings was still unabated, the large house being filled to overflowing.

The regular service was preceded by the usual praise service, the following selections being sung: "Safe in the arms of Jesus," "Refuge," "I am coming to the cross," "Where are the reapers," "Tolling On."

After the opening hymn, Rev. Mr. Noyes offered prayer, Mr. Moorhouse read as a scripture lesson Luke 15, the congregation united in singing "Once for All," and then Mr. McGranahan sang "Eternity."

Mr. Moorhouse took for the subject of his discourse Luke 15: 22—24. We here see the love of the father to the sinner; and the same truth is expressed in the other parables in this chapter. We shall look at this text in connection with the church. The greatest harm comes to the Christian church from those who have been professed followers of Christ. The skeptic, the unbeliever, the atheist can never successfully assail the church. In the olden time it was the publicans and the sinners that crowded around the feet of Christ. In the story of the lost sheep, we have a description of the Savior seeking after his wandering sheep. When he found it, he bore it to his own house to show it how much he loved it. The son spoken of here, lost his home, that place for which we all care so much; he was a stranger in a far country, and had no food which he could eat. He lost also his work. [Christ calls his subjects into his church to work and not to be idle, but when in a back-slidden state they can scarcely do anything for his cause. One of Mr. Moody's teachers in one day's earnest work succeeded in bringing fifteen souls to Christ. Again he lost his testimony; so cold hearted Christians have no influence in their testimony for Christ.] But he did not lose his father's love; that still remained. If there be wanderers here, no matter what offences may have been received, come back to that father who loves you still.

The exercises closed with singing "What a friend we have in Jesus," after which was held the enquiry meeting, a large number remaining.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

At the Universalist church, preaching at 10:30 A. M., by Rev. E. M. Grant.

At the Unitarian church, preaching at 10:30 A. M.; vesper service at 7:30. Preaching to-morrow by the pastor, Rev. James DeNormandie; subject of morning discourse, "The Accepted and the Rejected."

At the Advent church, services at 10:15 A. M., 2:45 and 7:30 P. M. Elder T. W. Piper of Melvin Village, will preach; and the Reform Club, by special invitation, will attend the evening service.

At the Methodist church, preaching at 10:15 A. M., by Rev. James Noyes, the pastor.

The regular afternoon services are omitted at the Baptist, Christian, Methodist and Congregational churches.

THE VICINITY.

Scarlet fever is becoming prevalent among the children in Kittery, and there is talk of closing some of the schools in consequence.

It is reported that Hon. N. J. Marshall, of York, has sold to his son, Mr. Edward S. Marshall, the fine summer hotel known as the Marshall House, at the entrance to York river. Also, that Mr. Brad. Marshall has purchased a large ice-farm at Ayer Junction, Mass.

A correspondent wishes us to announce that on Thanksgiving Day, at Stratham, "Shadow" of that town, who weighs ever-so-many pounds, will run a foot-race of five hundred yards against any and all comers. We do not believe the correspondent tells the truth, so we decline to do as he requests.

Portsmouth Chronicle

A Brave Man.

A sanguinary red bull dog was one of the most marked features at the Bench Show. So abnormally savage was this creature that his food was always thrown to him from a convenient distance, and his drink pushed within his reach by means of a long pole. He was in a state of sullen fury from the moment he arrived at the Pavilion, and made numerous furious attempts to break his powerful chain and attack the other dogs and the spectators.

One Thursday afternoon, while Colonel W. H. L. Barnes was standing about the middle of the hall, and explaining doubtless, to some gentlemen, his failure to crate as advertised on the opening night, a terrible outcry was heard in the direction of the bulldog department. The red dog referred to had, in some way, slipped his collar and instantly seized a small child, the daughter of Mr. Enos Rockley, the lumber merchant, whom it was apparently tearing to pieces. There was probably not one of the group of gentlemen referred to lacking in physical courage, but the two things every man shrinks from "tackling" unarmed are a rattlesnake and a bull-dog.

However, Col. Barnes instantly rushed forward and seized the canine demon by the throat. Fortunately, the beast's fangs contained more of the child's dress than its flesh, and by tearing the former, the other gentlemen released the girl from her dangerous position, and with only a bad looking flesh wound.

The scene that followed was horribly exciting. The doubly enraged dog then turned with terific snarls upon the Colonel, who held him with both hands by the throat. The animal weighed over fifty pounds and was unusually powerful, and after an exhausting struggle the Colonel, who is fortunately an exceptionally strong man, found his only chance was to hold the dog bodily up from the floor at arm's length.

All this time a messenger had been dispatched to obtain a pistol from a saloon, there being none among the bystanders. At the critical moment this arrived, and the muzzle being inserted into the ear of the foaming brute, his canine intellect was distributed rather unpleasantly over the clothes of the spectators.

"How do you feel, Colonel?" was asked, as the dog stopped kicking. "I feel," said that distinguished lawyer, as he held up his still cramped and livid hands, "I feel like a little brandy." It is to be hoped he got it.—San Francisco News Letter

—"Jane," cried a fond mother, sticking her head out of the bedroom door, "it is eleven o'clock; tell that young man to please shut the front door from the outside."

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Irregularities of the Skin, Dizziness, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cleanse out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health to the system in the whole being. They cure not only the every-day complaints of every body, but the formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the as cet and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable color to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

37 SOMETHING NEW. Have you seen that nice CHOUAGUEN? At 37 Market Street.

Centaur

Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailments upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ringbone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling around on crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Grubs and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & Co., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. When the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure in every worm, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that conducts to vigorous life and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot survive beside a superior article. By a process of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors, Ulcers or Old Sores, Blotches, Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Bilious ness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint," and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, but have no mouth, mucous heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from torpid liver, or "Biliousness," in many cases of "Liver Complaint," only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Multum in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unparalleled. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured dyspeptic cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies to their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a medicine of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby curing it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz.: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women. Nulliparous women are benefited.

The following Ladies are a few of the many those who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Meehan, Butcher's station, Ga.; Mrs. P. A. Spencer, Rome, N. Ayer's Hair Vigor, FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the fall of the hair immediately; then renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubtedly some specific curative properties in the remedy used. DOCS SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following uncolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some month felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefits I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous lining of my nose was so inflamed, and the stench so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from it daily use is to me inestimable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for use in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canada. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

How the Voting is Done in Paris.

Toward noon I met a friend at the Cafe de la Paix and went with him to his voting place. It was against the law for any but voters to go in; but my friend took the responsibility of seeing me through. We walked up to the Rue de la Fayette and turned into the building called the Cite d'Antin. There was no sign of a crowd or of excitement. Near the door which led to the voting room stood half-a-dozen men with their hands full of tickets. They wore no badges or ribbons, and were innocent of those graceful aprons with which our fellow citizens sometimes decorate their manly forms on similar occasions. They did not come to greet us, but stood in the way as if ready to hand tickets rather than solicitous. We each took a ticket of both kinds—large, square papers, bearing the names respectively of E. Daguin, the conservative and official candidate, and of the late President of the Chamber, Jules Grevy. We were in M. Theirs' arrondissement. No one questioned us as we advanced, or came hurriedly forward, armed with a book and pencil, to ask our names. No banners invited votes from us and admiration from the gamins of the neighborhood. No stiletto was pointed the "turncoats" and "disloyal" into the paths of them that scratch. All was peace and quiet and great decorum. We traversed an entry and entered a room. Three or four well-appearing men stood near a table at which another sat. My friend handed his paper "carte d'electur"—to the sitting individual who examined it critically and compared the signature on it with one which my friend then wrote in the book. This done the ticket was stamped, and we walked into the next room and took our place in the line. About a dozen men stood in single file, advancing slowly, paper in hand. Behind a long table sat three or four individuals with books, a huge square box and a pile of cut corners of electors' cards in front of them. The voter advanced in his turn and gave his name. The book was examined, the name and number found—the number written on the ballot—the ballot deposited in the box, a corner cut off of the elector's ticket with a pair of scissors, and we departed with a "Bon jour, Messieurs."

Such is the method of voting. The checks against fraud, you see, are many, and I presume there is no such a thing as personation or repeating. I was struck with the neatness of the proceeding and with the appearance of those who supreintended it officially. From six to six this scene was being enacted all through France, with a quiet and a decorum that was certainly admirable. It is quite likely that where improper interference with the ballot begins with us it ends in France. There the "work" is put in effectually before the voter goes to the poll. I am credibly informed that it is elsewhere otherwise. Intimidation beforehand is the French method; mutilation afterward, the American. They believe in the ounce of prevention; we in the pound of cure. They prescribe a "counter-irritant" before the attack; we rely on a "mild alterative" afterward. The systems are different, but each admirable of its kind; it is not for the likes of me" to say which is the most worthy of a great and enlightened nation.—Cor. Phil. Times.

TERRIBLE SHIPWRECK.

LOSS OF THE U. S. S. "HURON,"

With One Hundred Lives.

The signal service observer at Kitty Hawk on Saturday reported that at about half-past one o'clock that morning the United States ship Huron struck about two miles north of Station No. Seven; when the despatch was sent the vessel's foremast and maintopmast were gone, the sea was making a clean breach over her, and she appeared to be a total wreck; several bodies had been washed ashore.

The Huron was a third-rate of the Ashuelot class; tonnage, 541; displacement, 1020; screw propulsion; armament, four guns. She was officered as follows:

Commander George P. Ryan, commanding;

Executive officer, Lieut. Arthur H. Fletcher;

Second Lieutenant, Lambert G. Palmer;

Masters, William P. Conway, George W. Mentz, Walter S. French;

Ensigns, Rogers H. Galt, Lucien Young;

Surgeon, George S. Culbreth;

Passed Assistant Paymaster, Cary N. Sanders;

Captains Clerk, J. W. L. Calvin;

Chief Engineer, Edmund Olsen;

Assistant Engineer, Robert G. Denig;

Cadet Engineers, George S. Willits, Edgar T. Warburton, Edmund U. Loomis.

She carried a crew of 134 men.

A despatch from Washington, Sunday morning, says:

The steamer is ashore on the Carolina coast, and reported to be a total wreck; only thirty-four men reported to be saved. The navy department authorities are taking measures to get prompt information from the wreck, but the facilities are not very good. The list of persons saved received at the signal office contains the name of one officer, Ensign Lucien Young; others, undoubtedly, who were in the boat, were thrown upon the beach, but in such an exhausted condition as to prevent resuscitation. Of course, up to this time there is no clear ground for assertion of such incidents, but in conversation among naval officers here these ideas are advanced as not improbable.

A later despatch says:

The only surviving officers are Paymaster C. N. Sanders, Ensign Lucien Young, Assistant Engineer R. G. Denig and Cadet Engineer E. T. Warburton; besides these, about thirty men were saved. All these were taken off the wreck by the surf-men from the life-saving station. The Huron has been attached to the North Atlantic squadron, with the exception of two or three cruises, since she was built. The principal event of her career was the part she took in the engagement at Fort Fisher, where she was commanded by Capt. Thomas A. Selfridge, since promoted to Rear-Admiral, and retired. Since the war the Huron could have been frequently seen at the Brooklyn navy yard; she left that port on Saturday, 17th inst., and arrived at Norfolk on Monday, where she coaled; her destination was the West Indies, with orders to stop at Havana. She was built at Chester, Penn., and was first christened the Alliance, and those who know her say she was not a first class job. She was schooner rigged, and when she went ashore had a crew of 119 men and 15 officers.

Suicide at Lowell.

Mrs. Lois Thompson, 47 years old and wife of George H. Thompson, of Lowell, committed suicide at about three o'clock Saturday afternoon, by hanging herself to a cross-board nailed between the rafters of the unfinished attic of her residence. She had complained of a bad feeling in her head for several months, and had been quite despondent, expressing a feeling that she should come to want. Her husband, a son 19 years of age, and herself, were the only occupants of the house. When her son came home from his work at about five o'clock he found two letters from his mother on a table in the sitting room, one in an envelope directed to herself at Newburyport, and the other directed to her husband and son. On the latter were the words, "you will find my body in the attic." The son, with Mrs. Harper, a neighbor who had been summoned, went to the attic and found her hanging as stated; she had stood on a chair to adjust the knot and then kicked the chair from under. Her feet were several inches from the floor. The knot had cut her neck, and three fingers of her right hand were caught between it and her neck. The substance of her letter was a desire to have her son well cared for, and the expression that she was tired of life. She took a bath and changed her clothing entirely, before committing the deed; and put the clothing in which she desired to be laid out, on a table. She was an estimable woman, and was a sister of United States Senator Sargent of California.

Congress.

The House of Representatives, Friday, by a vote of 133 to 120, finally passed the bill to repeal all that part of the act, approved Jan. 14, 1875, known as the Resumption Act, which authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to dispose of United States bonds and redeem and cancel the greenback currency, and entitled, "An act to provide for the Resumption of Specie Payment." The anti-resumptionists have but a faint hope of carrying their bill through the Senate, and if successful there they fear that the President will veto it. Having finished this job, the House adjourned until Tuesday, and many members left for home, it being understood that an adjournment before the regular session is not probable. The only Congressman from New England voting for the repeal was Phelps of Connecticut, democrat; Gen. Butler dodged the vote on the final passage of the bill, though he voted with the anti-resumptionists on all the preliminary questions.

News and Notes.

The police of Biddeford broke up a gang of juvenile thieves, Friday, arresting four street arabs named Traverse, Besom, Bates and Whitten. They had been cutting lead from houses and pilfering stores and dwellings.

The Keet mine at Deadwood was taken from the miners who had seized it, on Friday. The soldiers having surrounded the mine, under direction of the Sheriff closed all the openings except the main shaft, and the process of smoking the miners out by sulphur was resorted to and successfully carried out. The last of them came up at ten o'clock at night, and all were put under arrest.

A San Antonio dispatch says Gen. Ord has received an official copy of the order of President Diaz to Gen. Daleou, commanding the Mexican forces on the border to repel invasion by United States troops by force, and that Gen. Trevino is ordered to the Rio Grande with 2500 troops to carry out the order. Gen. Ord has telegraphed to the President for another regiment of cavalry.

At the Girard House in Philadelphia, Saturday morning, Attorney General Lear was present to hear from the Western Union Telegraph why a writ of quo warranto should not be issued against them for violation of the constitution of the State in consolidating with the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph. Mr. B. H. Brewster being indisposed, the hearing was left open until Friday next. Gen. Collis, however, proceeded with his arguments in favor of issuing the writ. This was the first of a series of hearings.

On Thursday evening, at Pottstown, Pa., John Potts, a young drunkard, being censured for his continued misconduct, made a desperate attempt to drown his father, an old gentleman for whom the town was named, and failing in this he followed him to the house and murdered him with a hatchet. The whole community is aroused, and threats are made to lynch the scoundrel.

Peter Mahoney, charged with the brutal murder of Bridget Frances Kenealey at South Boston, has been committed to jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury.

In October, 1876, the German Consul at Leon, Nicaragua, was assaulted by Francisco Leal, a Nicaraguan, who had married his stepdaughter. He longed a complaint with the authorities, but, so he avers, no action was taken by them. Some time afterward he and his brother, also a Consul, were walking in the street with Mrs. Francisco Leal, when he asserts that he was again assaulted by Leal, who was, further, helped by the police to take his wife away. The Consul, finding that he got no reparation, appealed to his Government through the Charge d' Affaires, and the German authorities have in consequence demanded elaborate amends from the Nicaraguans, which include the payment to the Consul of $30,000, as a compensation for insult, and the solemn salute of the consular flag of Germany by a division of the army. The payment of the money to be made on the same day. Failing this, a large indemnity will be exacted and a fleet sent to extract it. The Nicaraguan Minister begs a suspension of action pending explanation, and declines relations with the German Charge, whom he accuses of misrepresentation.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. George W. Tash was last week nominated by the democrats of Dover as their candidate for Mayor.

William Cunningham, a native of Whitefield, was killed Thursday night while running a freight car into Bartlett's mill at Carroll, being caught between the car and a piece of timber and crushed. He lived about one hour.

Farmers along the Wilton Railroad are now getting twenty-six cents a can for milk. A can holds eight quarts, wine measure, and the retailers get seven cents a quart, the contractor's profit coming out of the difference.

The jury for the September term of the Supreme Court at Dover were discharged Friday, after serving nearly three months. Hon. S. M. Wheeler, in behalf of the jurors, presented an elegant ebony cane to Judge W. L. Foster, as a token of their appreciation of his able and impartial service during the term. A large amount of work has been accomplished, there being nearly fifty jury trials, with but two disagreements.

Coal is a dollar a ton cheaper in Concord than last winter. The poorer classes in New Hampshire are said to be as well, if not better, prepared for the cold season than they were a year ago. In the agricultural sections they are hoping that the wood and lumber business will start up again, as it would afford employment for many.

The Burnap tannery at Marlow will be immediately rebuilt. The town will exempt the property from taxation for ten years and give Mr. Burnap a two per cent. gratuity.

Hops in Coos county are selling for eight cents a pound, as against thirty cents last year. Those crops that were kept over from last season were so injured that they brought only three cents a pound this Fall.

At Franconia $16 a ton is paid for hay and forty-two cents a bushel for oats, to be consumed at the hotel stables in that section.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

Hon. Frank Jones returned home on Saturday evening.

The brig Clara J. Adams was on Saturday taken into the dry dock at the navy yard, for repairs.

Arrangements are in progress by the Signal Service Bureau for the daily display of weather signals in this city. There is no small port on the coast where such signals are more needed than here, this being an important shelter port and rendezvous for fishing vessels in the winter.

An easterly gale—the heaviest one of the season—accompanied by a pouring rain, kept most people indoors, Sunday afternoon and evening. The light-keepers at Whale's-back had the fog-horn going through the afternoon and night, its blasts being plainly heard all over the city.

The Maverick National Bank, which is one of the most enterprising and successful Boston banks, makes an announcement of interest to banks and institutions, as well as to individual capitalists and business men. They solicit accounts, allow interest on time deposits, discount business paper, and give careful attention to the collection of notes, drafts and coupons, and the purchase, sale or exchange of United States bonds. The well-known character of the board of directors for financial strength and business ability is a guarantee that all business intrusted to them will be promptly and faithfully transacted.

The bad failure of the Carroll County Savings Bank, at Wolfeboro', we are informed has startled quite a number of country depositors in the Portsmouth Savings Bank into coming into town to withdraw their deposits in that sound and cautiously-managed institution. Where they can hope to find a safer place of deposite we cannot imagine. But it is a good thing for the bank, for those who withdraw their deposits lose whatever interest has accrued since the books were last made up. Some of the withdrawers we are told have since wished to put their deposits back, but the bank doesn't want the money, having on hand quite as much as there is profitable use for just at present.

The Western Union Telegraph Company having swallowed the Atlantic & Pacific, the office of the latter line in this city will be discontinued on the 1st of December. Mr. Jo. Neff, who has had charge of the office here since it was opened, has made a friend of every one who has had business to do with him, and of a good many who have had none; and whether he remain here or goes to some other city he will have the good wishes of about all who have made his acquaintance. This re-establishment of the old telegraph monopoly will undoubtedly be a good thing for the monopoly, but it will be a little tough on the public after they have tasted the sweets of opposition.

President Rockwell of the Eastern Railroad has issued an order prohibiting conductors from passing their own friends or relatives, conductors of other roads, or any person whomsoever, unless they have a pass properly issued from the President's office. Conductors are allowed no discretion; all persons claiming to have a pass must show it, or pay full fare. We saw an official of the road who had left his annual pass at home, pay his fare to Boston last week, though he was known to the conductor as the holder of a pass. But the fact that a man has held such a pass is not to be regarded as a reason for passing him, unless he shows it whenever he seeks to pass on the trains without a ticket.

The ill-fated sloop-of-war Huron, whose total wreck at Kitty Hawk, on the Carolina coast (exactly what part of that coast we have been unable to learn, as "Kitty Hawk" is not down on any chart we can find, nor in the list of beacons and buoys,) on Saturday, resulted in the loss of a hundred brave men, was a three-masted schooner in rig, and came into this port in September, 1876, under command of Commander Chas. C. Carpenter, after a year's cruise in the Gulf. From Comdr. Carpenter we learn that she was not the original Huron, which vessel was one of the "ninety days" crafts, and was either sold or broken up soon after the war. The late Huron was an iron vessel, built by contract at Chester, Pa., by John Roach & Co.; it was intended originally to call her the Alliance, but the latter name was transferred to a vessel then building at Norfolk, Va., and the Chester sloop was then named the Huron. She was one of the eight sloops last built, under the act of Congress under which the Essex and the "contract ship" Enterprise were built at this navy yard.

THE SHIP IN A BOTTLE.

As the miniature steamship in a bottle, made by a man at the jail and for some weeks hung up for public inspection in the window of Goodrich's bookstore, has been removed, we will now explain, for the satisfaction of the many who have puzzled themselves over the question of how so large an object could have been put together in a bottle with so small a neck, how the thing was done. The hull of the steamship, which was as large as the neck of the bottle would admit, was hollowed out; the masts and funnel were stuck on pins, (which admitted of their being laid down inside the vessel, pointing over the stern,) the yards being fastened to the masts with thread, which admitted of their being laid parallel with the masts. The vessel having been all rigged and her braces and stays all made fast as the maker wanted them, masts and yards were laid flat down inside the hull and the whole lot put into the bottle, the maker of the puzzle retaining his hold of a string which was fastened to the foremast head,—a pull on that string raised the masts and funnel to their places and squared the yards, the string was made fast to the bowsprit to serve for a fore-stay, the cork was put in the bottle, and the puzzle was complete. And a real good puzzle it was, too.

THE DIVIDING LINE.

At the Unitarian church, Sunday morning, the pastor's text was selected from Matthew 7:20; "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them." The speaker referred to the line which the Evangelical sects draw between themselves and other Christians. This line he regarded as authorized solely by the assumed religionists, and not from any recognized power. He does not hold that we are saved by what we believe, but by the characters we maintain. He instanced the successful Boston merchant who did not invite his less fortunate brother to his entertainment, because, as he afterward explained to a guest, "he thought he must draw the line somewhere." The line between the sheep and the goats was not one of sectarian creed, but because of results. The goats were without practical virtues; there was no condemnation as to their belief. The inheritors of the kingdom had fed the hungry, clothed the naked and had abounded in good works. It was only these simple practices that had saved them. However we may believe, it is by our lives of purity and holy living and not by our professions, that we inherit eternal life.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, Nov. 24th; Batchelder, J.

William Sullivan and Patrick Kelly, two drunks, were assessed $9.90 each. Having no money, they will board it out at the County Farm.

John Sullivan, a tramp, was sent to jail for sixty days, and ordered to pay $5.76 costs.

NAVAL MATTERS.

Chief Engineer Richard M. Bartleman is ordered to hold himself in readiness for sea service.

Commodore John C. Howell has been commissioned to be Rear-Admiral from April 25th, 1877.

Lieut. Comd'r Charles S. Cotton has been commissioned to be a Commander from April 25th, 1877.

THE SHOW TO-NIGHT.

Of Hartz, the "Crown Prince of Wizards," who appears this evening in Franklin Hall, the Baltimore American says: he "for two hours kept the multitude in a state of bewildering surprise by the continuous display of a series of the most astounding tricks ever beheld in Baltimore. The artist, as a conjurer, is far superior to any and all whom we have yet seen, and his grand success is certainly well deserved." The New York Tribune speaks of him as follows: "Hartz is, beyond all doubt, the most accomplished performer in his line that has visited this city, and it is doubtful if his superior exists anywhere. His feats in magic are entirely new, and many of them wonderful beyond conception; none whom we have ever seen bear the slightest comparison to the talented gentleman who, last night, delighted his large audience." And the New York Times says: "The most entertaining, instructive and amusing Wizard that New York has seen for years, is Prof. Hartz. His feats are entirely original and thus are doubly interesting, while the lively play on words and the many quaint jokes which permeate the entertainments keep visitors in fine humor and send them away in the best of spirts."

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The prayer meeting at nine o'clock, Sunday morning, was well attended.

Notwithstanding the heavy rain in the afternoon, the meeting at the North church was quite a large one, the body of the church being very nearly filled. Mr. Moorhouse preacced, and at the close of the service announced that he would give a Bible reading at three o'clock Monday afternoon, in the Methodist church, the subject being "The Pearl of Judah;" and that Mr. Whittle would conduct the gospel meeting Monday evening.

The drenching rain had a sensible effect upon the attendance at the gospel meeting at the North church, Sunday evening, yet there were several hundred persons present, a fair proportion of them being ladies. Mr. Moorhouse addressed the congregation, the lecture being preceded by the usual praise service.

THE VICINITY.

The school in district number three, of Seabrook, has been closed on account of scarlet fever.

Members of the recently organized Masonic Lodge (Winnicut, No. 92) of Greenland, will give their first annual Masonic Ball on Thanksgiving night, Nov. 29th. Harlow's quardrille band will furnish music. Only those holding invitations will be admitted. It will be the first ball of the season and the first in Greenland's new town hall.

While Michael Ward, an employee of T. H. Wiswell & Co., paper makers at Packer's Falls, Durham, was in Newmarket with a horse and wagon a few days since, in attempting to back the team out of a narrow passage way it was precipitated into an open cellar sixteen feet deep—horse, wagon, and driver included, all in a heap. Strange to relate, all came out again in good shape, save the wagon, and that with only a broken shaft.

A Newington correspondent of the Exeter News-Letter says that judging from the company at an assembly in the town hall at Newington recently, "which consisted of sixteen gents and four ladies, we are inclined to believe that the abiding interest which most of the people have taken in dancing, a short time since, is on the wane. Owing to the small number of persons present, the only figure of the dance dxecuted was: All forward and back—home."

Interesting Law Question.

Alderman Asa A. Breed of Lynn was set upon by three parties in Boston, some weeks since, and robbed of $8000 belonging to the Central National Bank of Lynn. The bank officials have consulted counsel to ascertain if Mr. Breed were responsible for the loss of the money, and their inquiries were answered in the affirmative. The officials claim that the original contract with Mr. Breed for carrying the funds of the bank to and from Boston was made when he was in the express business, and he was then liable as a common carrier. Mr. Breed sold out his express business after the contract was made but still continued to carry the funds of the bank. The question arises whether or not Mr. Breed was a common carrier after closing up his express business by continuing in the service of the bank. The bank officials further claim that Mr. Breed did not exercise due caution. On the other hand Mr. Breed claims that his liability as a common carrier ceased when he closed up his express business, and that he retained the trust by carrying the funds and was paid as an employe of the bank. There are good points on both sides of the question of Mr. Breed's liability, and the developments when the case comes to court will be awaited with interest.

—The Cherokee Advocate, the Indian Territory newspaper, requests vigilance committees not to hang any more men in front of its office, as such things annoy the compositors.

—A jolly son of the ocean was about being put on board an outward-bound ship, for which he had previously entered, when he asked leave to have another run "up town." Being informed that he could not be permitted to go, as the ship was about to sail, he sang out to a man on the wharf, an entire stranger to him, "Here, my friend," throwing him five shillings, "spend that for me—I'll do as much for you another time."

—There was a wedding of the most public sort at Coventry, Conn., the other day, of a sixty-five-year-old man and a twenty-five-year-old widow. The man got his license in Coventry, but had arranged to be married in Mansfield. When the knot was about being tied the mistake was noticed, but the expectant couple, determined to go off on their wedding trip as planned, took the parson to the bridge over the river dividing Coventry and Mansfield, and were married there in full view of a factory whose every window was filled with interested witnesses, having just time to catch the train.

Littell's Living Age.

The success of this sterling periodical is owing to the fact that it enables one, with a small outlay of time and money, to keep pace with the best thought and literature of the day. The ablest living contributors to periodical literature are represented in its pages, some of whose names will be found in the prospectus published in another column. It has always stood at the head of its class, both in the quality and quantity of the reading furnished; and in fact it affords, of itself, so thorough and complete a compendium of what is of immediate interest or permanent value in the literary world as to render it an invaluable economizer of time, labor and money. For 1878, an extra offer is made to all new subscribers; and reduced clubbing rates with other periodicals are also given by which a subscriber may at remarkably small cost obtain the cream of both home and foreign literature. Those selecting their periodicals for the new year, would do well to examine the prospectus. In no other way that we know of can a subscriber be put in possession of the best which the current literature of the world affords, so cheaply or conveniently.

—A San Francisco inventor has completed a boot and shoe making machine which he thinks will save nearly seventy per cent. in the cost of labor and material. The machine, at one operation, makes the metal screws with which soles are fastened and puts them in place. The inventor says that his machine will turn out from thirty to forty pairs of boots or shoes in an hour, and that while the screws used in the old machine cost from $1 to $1.20 a pound, those used by him cost only thirty-five cents a pound, the price of the plain wire.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

ASHES OF ROSES.

Soft on the sunset sky
Bright daylight closes,
Leaving, when light doth die,
Pale hues that mingling be—
Ashes of roses.

When love's warm sun is set,
Love's brightness closes;
Eyes with hot tears are wet,
In hearts there linger yet
Ashes of roses.

Eliza Cookes (13 years old), St. Nicholas for December.

St. Louis Amusement.

St. Louis had a touch of the war in Turkey the other day, when two mortal enemies, a physician and a bank cashier of that city, engaged in a most ludicrous encounter, while enjoying the luxury of a Turkish bath. It so happened that both entered about the same time, duly occupying neighboring couches in the hottest room of the establishment, and were enjoying a thorough steaming before they noticed each other. A wordy warfare was instantly begun, which soon developed into blows, and the two naked citizens, with drenched with perspiration, were locked in a deadly struggle. The strip of matting, which protects the bathers' feet from the almost red-hot floor, was soon pushed aside, and the fight went on furiously upon the blistering pavement. As the floor began to burn their bare feet, the combatants capered up and down in agony, pounding each other's faces with the fury of despair. The wildest dervish dance never exhibited so extraordinary a spectacle. At last the attendants rushed in and separated the gladiators, the war was summarily ended, and the doctors proceeded to bind up the many wounds. The shrivel-skin peeled from the soles of the doctor's feet like parchment, and the cashier was also pretty well roasted. They parted full of threats, but when they fight again, it probably won't be in the midst of a furnace.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or so agreeable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

PLANTATION BITTERS

THE WONDERFUL OLD HOME TONIC AND HEALTH RENEWER.

For the Stomach.—Ensuring hearty appetite, good digestion and vigorous health in every sense of the word.

For the Bowels.—Regulating the action.

A Boon to delicate females in a thousand ways not necessary to speak of.

Sold everywhere.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test or time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, String-halt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping-Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. We at the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior article may secure a superior article, if it proves a superior merit. Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. The sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported looks up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, such as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties put it in equipoised rewards for Biliousness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint," and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

When the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an early cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, or quick of the stomach, experience bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and feel the need of a tonic, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only portions of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

Purely Vegetable. No care required while using them.

"I little Giant" Cathartic, or Nature's Purgative Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Accumulations from Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, it would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninjured for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap, wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

PRESCRIPTION.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a novelty of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases amongst others, for which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Bearing-Down Pressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Debility, Nervous Prostration, Sleeplessness, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but too numerous to here mention.

The following Testimonials are a few of the many thousands who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Methvin, Hatcher's Station, Ga.; Mrs. E. A. Sumner, Rome, N. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

O ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; then renews the growth; and always restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves the hair and its beauty. Thus lifeless, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft — under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And valuable as it is, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffer my humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incredible, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained. Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS, ARIZONA, N. T., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

The Most Productive Mine in the World.

The metalloid tellurium is frequently found with lead and bismuth, but rarely with gold and silver. However, when found with the precious metals, the ore is usually surpassingly rich. Veins seldom exceeding 1-16th of an inch in width have been successfully worked in Transylvania for over a century. It has been found to a limited extent in California, but by far the most extensive deposits known were discovered in the fall of 1873, in Boulder County, Colorado, determined by subsequent explorations to cover an area of about twenty-nine miles by four.

In 1874, near the centre of this belt, the American mine was discovered. This mine has since produced the largest masses of tellurium associated with gold and silver, of any mine in the world. The product of the American has not ceased to be a wonder to mineralogists and precious metal miners since it was opened. The press of Colorado, and mining and scientific journals at home and abroad have had constant occasion during the past three years to note the remarkable results from this mine. The display of specimens from it at the Centennial was one of the attractions to scientists and miners and capitalists, and so interested General Galetin, the Russian mineralogist, and Prof. Posepay, the geologist of the Austrian Government mines, that they made a special visit to the property. Lately, the American and the Ajax, an adjoining mine, have been consolidated under one corporate management, and the stock placed on the New York Mining Stock Exchange. The Centennial case of specimens and others from later work are now at the Company's office, 31 Broad street, and will well repay examination by any one interested in mineralogy or mining.

The ore is generally of light gray cast, usually showing neither gold nor silver, and pieces worth fifty dollars a pound would be cast aside as worthless by the uninitiated; but there are specimens showing native gold and silver in nuggets, plates and wires. Among the specimens here are the following. The size of specimens named will average 20 lbs. The values given are the assays per ton of 2,000 lbs.: No. 1. Telluride and pyrites, gold, $6,201; silver, $126 50. No. 2. Same ore, gold, $49,049; silver, $810.80. No. 3. Same ore, gold, $35,139; silver, $207. No. 4. Surface ore, gold, $65,523.90; silver, $195.50. No. 5. Sylvanite, gold, $5,157.50; silver, $86.25. No. 6. Sylvanite, gold, $51,385.42; silver $1,345.50. No. 7. Telluride ore, gold, $120,000; silver, $7,680.50. No. 8. Hessite, gold, $9,318.25; silver, $7,-860.50. Among the more interesting specimens, in appearance, are one of iridiscent telluride, one of calvarite, free gold in pocket, free gold in wires, and roasted sylvanite showing drops and blisters of gold all over the surface. The pyrites specimens are very brilliant, particularly those embossed with the metal and containing occasional fossils in pyrites. There are two masses of the ore, showing the vein from wall to wall to be nine inches wide.

A lot of the American ore, 800 lbs., sent to San Francisco, yielded $5,420, or at the rate of $13,550 per ton. The general yield is indicated by returns from smelters. Prof. N. P. Hill, the well-known Colorado smelter, says: "Of the various lots of ore from the American Mine which we purchased in the years 1874, 1875 and 1876, the assays varied from 4 oz. gold and 20 oz. silver per ton, to 215 oz. gold and 255 oz. of silver, per ton, and the average grade of the ore was very high." Mr. J. H. Boyd, the enterprising smelter of Boulder, says: "I have been purchasing ores from the American Mine for some months past, and the lowest assay is 4.8 oz. gold and 8 oz. silver; the highest, 319 oz. gold and 257 oz. silver."—(Dated April 25th, 1877.) The Great Smelting and Refining Company, of Omaha, say, May 1st, 1877, of the lots shipped them, that they noted assays at $5,444 80 and $3,840.64 per ton, and add: "All of the different lots of the first class are assayed about as the above."

The following, from the Boulder News of May 26, 1876, is a sample of the local press notices:

The American mine is the most extensively worked of any in the district, and for quantity and richness of ore is one of the most wonderful mines in the world. It is turning out large quantities every month, that sells to the smelters at from $100 to $6,000 per ton, and has paid large dividends constantly from the very commencement. The first class ore, by the ton, assays $5,000 to $12,000; the second class about $800, and the third class $200. Pieces can be picked from any of the first class sacks that will yield from $1 to $3 40 per ounce, or at the rate of $20,000 to $100,000 per ton. The quantity and quality of the ore has gradually but constantly increased from the surface, and now, at the depth of 220 feet, the vein is twice as large as it was at the surface and the ore is far richer.

From what is already known of this remarkable vein, few will dispute the assertion that no mine thus far recorded in the history of the world has produced such extraordinary yields as the American at Sunshine. Its character under development proves it to be a true fissure vein, very strong and exceedingly rich in precious metal. Its net returns at this time, and since the first ten feet of opening had been accomplished, have been, and are, greater than those of any other deposit of gold bearing mineral in Christendom. Much of the crevice matter is worth from ten to forty dollars per pound, and selected specimens have returned at the rate of $200,000 per ton.

From the Company's reports, it appears that the American mine was purchased for $18,000 in November, 1874; when it was opened but a few feet showing a narrow streak of telluride ore, very rich in gold. When only 17 feet deep it had yielded about $7,000 more than expenses, and since then it has continued to pay handsome dividends, make extensive developments and accumulate a plant estimated worth over $80,000. The total product to date, under the necessary disadvantages of first work, small force, in a new district and lack of machinery, has exceeded $400,000.

The openings on the American aggregate some 1,300 feet, exposing a large reserve of ore, but embracing less than 1-5 of the claim on the vein in length. The discovery shaft is now down 280 feet on the vein, with five levels from 100 to 300 feet long. At the surface the vein is only about one inch wide; at the third level it averages six inches; from there to the fifth level, it is from 10 to 18 inches wide. So far the vein has not only shown no barren places, but increases in richness as well as width with depth. Test shafts, 900 feet from the discovery shaft on the vein, show continuity in length and general characteristics. These facts, with the production of telluride ore yielding over $2,500 per ton, at a depth of 475 feet from the surface, in the Corning Tunnel, are cited by Prof. J. Alden Smith, State Geologist of Colorado and Superintendent of the American, as conclusive evidences of the permanency in richness of telluride ores, and that the American is a true fissure vein. Prof. Smith also reports the indications on the Ajax as being fully as flattering as those of the American at the same stage of development.

From the foregoing, and the results of other mines in the Telluride or Sunshine District, which now has some five hundred mines, a thriving village of 900 inhabitants, good roads and a telegraph line, it appears that Colorado's deposit of telluride ores, associated with gold and silver, is on the scale of large dimensions that characterize the Centennial State.—N. Y. Reporter.

The wonderfully profitable tellurium mines contiguous to the famous "American" have surprised their owners by the richness of the ore taken out. A three-fifths interest in one of them was offered to Portsmouth parties in 1876 for $1500. It is a mine that required but simple tools and no machinery to operate, the owner, who was in consumption, desiring to return to Southern California. The parties here to whom the control of the mine was offered, finally declined to purchase, and it was sold last November for $3500. In February following, the two purchasers realized a profit of $11,000 for that month's work, and refused to sell the mine at that time for $35,000.

The wreck of the Huron loses nothing of its shocking features or its mystery by later reports. How the vessel came to be where she was, only twelve hours after leaving Hampton Roads, is not yet explained; nor why she left her safe anchorage to put to sea in the teeth of a furious gale, when the storm signal had been flying from the Wednesday previous, and was still up. Two stories are told as to the responsibility of putting to sea under such circumstances: One that Captain Ryan requested to be sent out, another that both he and Executive Officer Simons remonstrated against being ordered to sea in the face of the coming storm.

The Huron left the Roads at four o'clock Friday afternoon, and encountered the gale before getting fairly out to sea; and between one and half-past one o'clock next morning went ashore about two miles north of Oregon Inlet, near Cape Hatteras. It is scarcely possible the vessel could have lost her reckoning, and the most plausible theory advanced to account for the disaster is that she became unmanageable when off the breakers at Kitty Hawk—whether from the breaking of her engines or not cannot yet be known; that her sails were useless, and she was driven ashore with tremendous force. The accounts given Monday morning were not very coherent, but all agreed that the vessel was under sail when she struck, and had had several sails blown away previously. When she struck, all her boats were washed away but the first cutter, which was swamped in launching, and the survivors all saved themselves by swimming, the surf being so heavy that no aid could be rendered from the shore.

There were several errors in the list of officers as first published. Neither Lieut. Fletcher nor Master George W. Mentz were on board; Lieut. Sidney A. Simons was executive officer; and Master James W. Wright and Ensign F. W. Danner, whose names did not appear in the first list, were on board.

Paymaster Sanders, at first reported saved was lost, Master Conway, Ensign Young, Asst. Engr. Denig and Cadet Engr. Warburton being the only officers saved.

The United States steamers Powhattan, Swatara and Fortune were opposite the wreck on Sunday, but owing to the heavy sea could render no aid. Food and clothing for the survivors reached them on Sunday. The wrecking steamer B. & J. Baker attempted to land a surf-boat Sunday afternoon, but it was capsized and five men of its crew of nine were drowned, including Capt. J. J. Guthrie, chief of life saving stations from Kitty-Hawk to Hatteras.

Kitty Hawk, where the Huron was wrecked, is on the bank at the mouth of Albemarle Sound, exactly on the 36th parallel, and about fifty miles north of Cape Hatteras.

The Storm.

The storm which reached this city on Sunday began in Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania on Friday, and continued up to Sunday afternoon—about the time it commenced here. The rain fell in torrents, and the damage done to roads, railroads, bridges, buildings and farms is immense. Rivers overflowed their banks, the Potomac at Georgetown being higher than since 1852, and at Harper's Ferry twenty-five feet above low water mark. Much damage was done in Baltimore by the wind, and the overflowing of Jones' Falls creek. Richmond, Lynchburg and other cities were partially overflowed; in Richmond alone the damage is estimated at over $2,000,000. Danville and Richmond were in darkness at night, the gas-works in both cities being submerged. The telegraph lines were greatly injured, and many railroad bridges carried away, in Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland and North Carolina. The flood is the most disastrous one since the great one of 1870, and it is feared the losses will exceed those of that year.

The torpedo boat Alarm, which left New York for Washington on Thursday, had not reported up to Monday noon, and much anxiety is felt for her safety.

The Russian barque Johan Lang was totally wrecked on Sunday afternoon, ten miles south of Cape May. The crew of seventeen, including the captain's wife and child, safely landed on a raft.

Congress.

Forty members of the U. S. House of Representatives asked for leave of absence on Saturday, but it was refused to all those who were not able to put in a plea of sickness.

The question of seating Massacre C. Butler as Senator from South Carolina came up in the Senate on Monday; Senators Conover and Patterson made speeches in answer to the charge that they had been bought by the democrats, explaining that they were no such men, but true patriots. Senator Edmunds said he believed the sale had been made, and that an investigation would prove it.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.

The Star of last evening said of Mr. Ewing's pet: "The anti-resumption bill seems to get knocked about unmercifully. Gen. Ewing, who has charge of it, contemplated to-day that the pending deficiency bill would soon be passed, and that the resumption repeal bill could be brought up and a vote reached. First to antagonize it a large number of private bills were introduced, and then Mr. Hall of Maine, moved to discharge the election committee from the further consideration of the Colorado election contest of Belford vs. Patterson, inasmuch as the committee had failed to agree. Speaker Randall ruled that the question was one of the highest privilege, debate forthwith ensued, and the outlook for the repeal men became more gloomy than ever." The extract seems to express the sentiment of indifference or disfavor which appears to have been growing in the House toward the measure since the temporary furore which first greeted its appearance. It has had the effect to demoralize its friends, and the many rebuffs it has received has driven its parent well nigh distracted. He, however, obtained an opportunity yesterday afternoon after the passage of the deficiency bill, to rid himself of the speech he has been incubating during many anxious days and nights. But little was said that had not already been reiterated many times by amateur financiers who utilized the issue as a stepping stone to places of influence and power. No vote was reached but it is hoped it may be disposed of in the House to-day.

Mr. Bland is understood to have said that his bill, as amended by the Committee and reported to the Senate, will not be accepted by the House; that it is really more objectionable than none at all. The substitute offered by the free coinage provision makes it incumbent on the Secretary of the Treasury to buy silver bullion at the market price, in amount not less than $2,000,000 per month, to be coined into dollars of the weight (412 1-2 grains) and fineness (9-10) specified, the gain accruing to be paid into the Treasury to the credit of the silver profit fund, as provided by the law relative to subsidiary coin. It is complained that it would take years to coin sufficient silver to make it equal to the amount of gold coin now existing in the country, at the rate provided by the bill, thus defeating the object to make it interchangeable with gold.

The Senate has amended the Paris Exposition bill so as to make the appropriation $175,000 instead of $150,000; and in lieu of $1,000 as the rate of compensation to the under commissioners the amount has been increased to $1,200. With these and some other changes it is believed the House will refuse to concur, and that a conference committee will have to decide the points at issue.

The rumored defection of Conover and Patterson and the possibility that they may hereafter ally themselves with the democrats on all party questions, involves interests of such momentous importance that their hesitating, halting course the past few days has made a profound impression throughout political circles. It must be conceded that the policy of the Administration has not been such as to encourage southern republicans to continue their party organization. But no action of the Executive will be held to justify these two in disregarding the vote by which they were elected as republicans, by their party associates here; and should they prove recreant they must be prepared to encounter a storm that will test their endurance as few men are tested in a life time.

A sharp encounter took place between Conkling and Thurman yesterday morning on a motion by the latter to amend the journal; and another occurred the day previous in which many members of the House rallied about the principal disputants of their respective sides. Frye, of Maine, put the ball in motion by some severe strictures upon the action of Col. Polk in removing several door-keepers who have been borne on what was known as the "soldiers' roll." It was claimed that Polk had only substituted democratic Union soldiers for republicans; but Frye's point was that able-bodied men had been given the places of cripples, contrary to the spirit of the law; and it looked at one time as though there were to be a hot discussion of some of the merits of the late war. During his heat Frye very emphatically expressed his sentimenls of dissent to the appointment of democrats to Federal offices by a President elected as a republican. And the statements and insinuations of the "metropolitan press" to the contrary notwithstanding, the almost universal feeling here is that the President and the republican leaders of the Senate are farther apart than they were before the late conference; and that a hurricane is impending that may burst at any time with almost annihilating force.

News and Notes.

General Burnside has received information of the death of his brother at Indianapolis. He was very ill a few weeks since when the General was there in attendance on the funeral of Senator Morton.

A passenger train on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, in South Carolina, went down with a trestle bridge into Falling Creek, on Friday evening, carrying twenty passengers and the train men. The creek was swollen by the rains to a depth of twenty feet, and many persons were downed—how many is not yet known.

McMahon of France having formed a new Ministry, the new Assembly on Saturday passed a vote of want of confidence, by 323 to 202.

Moses H. Grinnell, the eminent shipper of New York, died in that city on Saturday at the age of seventy-five years.

The striking cigar-makers of New York have won a victory over the employers in at least one large establishment, Lery & Ullman, who employ 500 hands, having surrendered unconditionally and announced that in the future they will submit to all the rules of the Cigar-Makers' Union.

The award of $5,500,000 made to Great Britain by the Fisheries Commission seems to startle some folks. It does seem to be a pretty steep verdict, but after submitting to arbitration it would be awfully undignified to growl because the decision is not favorable to our side.

A fearful gale raged around the British Isles Saturday night. Thirty vessels are ashore between Ramsgate and Deal, and many lives are reported lost.

The managers of the Permanent Exhibition at Philadelphia have concluded to close its doors on Sundays. The managers state that this is done for the welfare of the exhibition and in deference to the wishes of many members of their Board who were opposed from the outset to Sunday opening.

Assistant Secretary McCormick will leave the Treasury Department in a few weeks, and will be succeeded by Mr. Russell Hastings of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Hastings is a gentleman of standing and ability, was Lieutenant Colonel of President Hayes' regiment, and for a time under Grant was Marshal of northern Ohio.

A San Francisco special says Senator Sharon declares he will not go to Washington until the latter part of December. Business interests involving a million dollars keep him in California—viz.; negotiations for the sale to the city for twelve millions of water works, in which he is the principal owner, and a big mining stock deal in Ophir. His volunteering to resign amounts to nothing, as the seat would be filled by a democrat by the present Governor of Nevada.

THE CITY.

The Unitarian Church will be open (Court street door) on Wednesday after ten o'clock, for the usual Thanksgiving offerings for the sick and destitute.

The ninety-second birthday of Mrs. Laighton, widow of Hon. John Laighton, was celebrated on Friday last, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of the old lady being present.

If any one in Portsmouth has a copy of the life of Mike Martin, the highwayman, written by himself while confined in jail awaiting his execution for highway robbery, they will much oblige us by the loan of it.

Though no provision has been made by the city authorities for introducing the visiting tramps to buck-saws and cord-wood, Portsmouth is likely to lose the reputation it has so long had of being a perfect tramps' Paradise. Instead of an abundance of crackers and coffee and fish, all of the best quality, which the tramps formerly received, they now get only biscuit and water—the water being the very best that can be procured.

THE GRACE CHOATE DISASTER.

We have learned from one of the crew of the schooner Grace Choate the circumstances attending the loss of the four men (Thomas Benson, Daniel McDonald, A. E. Anderson and Frank Lawrence,) on Sunday, the 18th inst. The schooner left this harbor on Friday, the 16th, for a fishing cruise, intending to make Boston a market for her fish. On Saturday the crew set their trawls on Middle Bank, and on Sunday went to haul them. After getting their dories out and commencing to haul (they had got in about two tubs each,) the wind came off northwest in a squall and rapidly increased to a gale, the sea making very fast, as the current was setting to the north. Some of the dories went alongside the schooner, threw out some of their fish, and went to the other end of their trawls to finish hauling; but the captain did not deem it prudent to remain any longer and hoisted the signal to return on board. The crews of some of the dories, that were within gunshot distance of those lost, saw the latter when they started to go to the schooner, but after getting part of the distance to the vessel looked around and could see nothing of them. The remaining men went to work and reefed the schooner down snug, and used all efforts to work her up to the other dories, but owing to the violence of the gale did not make any headway. After using all possible endeavors to get where the missing boats were last seen, the anchor was let go but did not have any more effect at holding the schooner than a fish-hook would have had. The schooner cruised around from that time until Tuesday morning, when being out of wood and coal she ran for Gloucester harbor. They had been as far off as Georges and spoken several vessels, notifying them of the loss of the dories, and they will be on the look out for them. There is still a possible chance that they may have been picked up by an outward bound vessel, and may again be heard from; and we sincerely hope they may be. The men were all hardworking and honest men, and bore a good reputation among their associates.

A BEAUTIFUL PHENOMENON.

Notwithstanding all that has been said and sung about the Isles of Shoals, all the peculiarities of that favorite pile of big rocks in the ocean are not yet known to the public. For instance, it is not generally known that the Shoals have two moons, one being the well known article which does duty pretty much all over the world, and the other an eccentric moon that occasionally rises in the southwest, the two sometimes running opposition by both rising at the same time. A correspondent out there, writing under date of November 3d, (the mails are not regular at all between there and here, in the winter season,) says:

"Between the hours of one and three o'clock this morning we were treated to one of the most magnificent sights in nature, in the shape of a wonderful display of northern lights. They first made their appearance in a circle similar to a rainbow, and then the moon arose both in the northeast and the southwest at the same time, its rays starting from those two points and spreading out in fan-like form until they met at the zenith. A peculiar thing about these lights was that they were exactly the same at both north and south, with first a bright ray, and then a dark line looking exactly like rain or squall clouds, alternating and meeting each other overhead. As seen from White Island Light-station, the lights appeared to take for their stand-points Boon Island Light in the northeast and Plum Island (Newburyport) Light in the southwest; finally ending as they began, in rainbow form toward the north,—and leaving us with but one moon, and not much of a moon to brag of, at that."

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

At the gospel meeting in the North church, on Sunday afternoon, Mr. Moorhouse announced the subject of the Bible reading to be "Assurance." He had met many Christians who were afraid to say that they were saved. The Christian will be saved if he trusts in Jesus, even though he have not assurance, but the want of it will affect his life here. It is the Christian's privilege to know that he is saved. Luke 1:10 was first quoted to show that we may have knowledge of salvation from sin. John 5:24 declares that "He that knoweth my word, and believeth on him that sent me hath everlasting life." A very distinguished Christian worker in Philadelphia acknowledged to Mr. Moorhouse that he had often doubted his salvation. Mr. Moorhouse asked him to take out his pocket knife and cut out those parts of the Bible that he did not believe. He then requested him to read this passage, showed him that it was the word of God, and he must accept it, or reject Him, for it says, "hath everlasting life," not hopes for it. Colos. 2:2 speaks of the "full assurance of understanding." We are not to be governed by mere feeling, for no passage in the scriptures speaks of feeling as being assurance. Isaiah 32:17 shows us that "the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance forever." In 2d Tim. 1:9, we are told the ground of our assurance: God "hath loved us not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace;" and in verse 12 Paul declares, "I know whom I have believed." The speaker then called attention to the baths in Col. 1:12, 13, 14, 20 and 21. John tells his brethren why he wrote to them in 1st John 5: "That ye may know that ye have everlasting life." In 1st John 1:1—2, we see why the world scoffs at Christians, and calls them hypocrites. One would not sell his child for gold, nor will God sell his people whom he has redeemed. Satan made a great bid for them, one day, offering "all the kingdoms of this world." God will keep his own, "having loved them to the end."—The meeting was closed with the benediction by Dr. Alden.

On Sunday evening Mr. Moorhouse took for the subject of his remarks, Luke 4: 14-21: Jesus overcame the power of Satan by the word of God; when he said "it is written," Satan was silent. Jesus came to preach the acceptable year of the Lord, and not the day of vengance. He might have read terrible threats and denunciations from the book of Isaiah, but he passed these by to say that he was "annointed to preach the Gospel to the poor." Many other passages, he could have read, but these he passed to say that he came "to preach deliverance to the captives." He came to preach the "Gospel," good news, or glad tidings to all. It is sweet to get good news from a far country, or good news from friends, but the "good news" that Jesus brought was sweeter than any of these. Many think that they must become good before they are accepted of God; they think that they must do something to merit salvation; but salvation is by faith in Christ. Paul declare that justification is "through Christ," and not by works. Christ is the friend of sinners; he loves them, and wants to save them.—The closing hymn was "Come to the Savior," and then the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Noyes.

Owing to the severe storm the attendance at the North church Monday evening was small compared with the former ones, yet quite a large one considering the state of the weather.

The praise service consisted of "Coronation," "Precious promise," "The new Song," "Draw me nearer," "Are your windows open toward Jersalumem," "Salvation," "What hast thou done for me."

The congregation united in singing "My faith looks up to thee." Rev. Mr. Hubbell led in prayer. Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang a song entitled "Blessed hope," and then "Guide me O thou great Jehovah" was sung, after which Mr. McGranahan sang "There's a light upon the shore."

After invoking the blessing of God, Mr. Whittle selected for his text Matthew 11:28—29. Though not in a condition bodily to speak, yet he wished to speak of what Jesus is to those who come to him. "Heavy laden" is what we all are; is the experience of every one of us. The old Roman and Greek philosophers, the old statesmen, all that have lived have met disappointments. What is the "rest" that Jesus will give and for which we all so much long? The world's rest is but trouble and care. First, this is rest with God; the knowledge that he has forgiven our sins, which is the privilege of each to know. We must also know that we can be kept from the power of sin. We need also a hope for the future, for unless we have the Christian's hope we can have no true rest of soul. No hope of this world can compare with the hope of a future life with God beyond the grave, beyond the morning of the resurrection.

The speaker gave some affecting incidents in the life of the brother who had recently died, reading a letter written by him, giving an account of his conversion, and he closed by inviting all to come to Christ. At the close of the service an enquiry meeting was held.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, Nov. 26th; Batchelder, J.

Patrick Reagan, for brawl and tumult, was fined $3, costs $6.90, which he paid.

RYE LETTER.

RYE, Nov. 26th.

On Sunday, the 18th inst., the Christian church was well filled by an audience attracted by the announcement that Major Whittle, the evangelist, would preach, and Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan would sing,—and the three made their entrance into the church at 10:45 A. M. and immediately proceeded to business, which consisted in their taking such part in the services as is their custom in Portsmouth and elsewhere.

Monday evening the Town Hall was occupied by the band; the vestry by the committees appointed to take charge of the approaching Festival to be given by the Congregational society; and the Christian church, by members of that society to make arrangements for a Sunday school concert.

Tuesday evening there was a minstrel show at the Town Hall, which was not patronized to any great extent,—and if all accounts are true, did not deserve to be.

Wednesday evening, Rev. Mr. Bowdish, of the Christian church, delivered a lecture in the Town Hall, subject, "Victory," for the benefit of the Sunday school connected with that society.

A dancing school, at the Town Hall, was commenced on Thursday night, the instructor being Mr. Turner of Portsmouth.

Friday evening the Town Hall was comfortably filled by an audience drawn together by the announcement that the Portsmouth Dramatic Club would give an entertainment, and from the way "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was performed by the company in the same place, last spring, something of real merit was anticipated; and it may be, that the majority of those present were entirely satisfied, and thought they got their money's worth; but it does not seem to be treating the public quite fair to appear before them with parts not half committed to memory, thereby requiring the prompter's assistance in such constant demand that not only his voice, but his presence also, was at all times apparent, both to the ear and to the eye of the audience. And, if it was absolutely necessary to have singing by some of the characters, it does seem as though a little time might have been used to advantage, in a rehearsal by the singers and the orchestra, so that the lack of harmony might have been toned down a litile. That the stage in the hall is entirely inadequate for representing anything more than a lecture, in a proper manner, is admitted, but that defect, serious though it may be, is no excuse for parties taking the public's money, and then failing, through lack of preparation on their part, to render a satisfactory equivalent.

The centre and west schools commenced their winter terms last Monday. The former is taught by Mr. C. F. Larrabee of Portsmouth, and the latter by Mr. Nathan R. Goss of this town.

Rev. Mr. Hadley of Newington will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday. NAT.

THE GRUMBLER.

HIS YOUTH.

His coat was too thick and his cap was too thin,
He could n't be quiet, he hated a din;
He hated to write, and he hated to read,
He was certainly very much injured indeed;
He must study and work over books he detested,
His parents were strict, and he never was rested;
He knew he was wretched as wretched could be,
There was no one so wretchedly wretched as he.

HIS MATURITY.

His farm was too small and his taxes too big,
As was seldom and lazy, and even as a pig;
His wife was too silly, his children too rude;
And just because he was uncommonly good,
He never had money enough or to spare,
He had nothing at all fit to eat or to wear;
He knew he was wretched as wretched could be,
There was no one so wretchedly wretched as he.

HIS OLD AGE.

He finds he has sorrows more deep than his fears
He grumbles to think he has grumbled for years.
He grumbles to think he has grumbled away
His home and his fortune, his life's little day.
But alas! it is too late—it is all to no say
That his eyes are too dim, and his hair is too gray.
He knows he is wretched as wretched can be,
There is no one more wretchedly wretched than he.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

JAN. 1, 1878, THE LIVING AGE enters upon its 135th volume. During the year it will furnish to its readers the productions of the ablest living authors, above named and many others, embracing the choicest Serial and Short Stories by Leading Foreign Novelists, and an amount

Unapproached by any other Periodical in the world, of the most valuable Literary and Scientific matter of the day, comprising the Leading Essayists, Scientists, Critics, Discoverers, and Editors, representing every department of Knowledge and Progress.

THE LIVING AGE is a weekly magazine giving more than double-column octavo pages of reading-matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering the amount of matter, (equivalent, owing to its weekly issue, and with a satisfactory completeness attempted by no other publication, the best Romance, Heroism, Criticism, Travel, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific, Biographical, Historical and Political Information, from a combined body of Foreign Periodical Literature.

It is therefore invaluable to every American reader, as the only fresh and COMPLETE compilation of all indispensable current literature,—indispensable because it embraces the productions of

in all branches of Literature, Science, Art, and Politics.

OPINIONS:

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the iodides of Potassium and Iron, makes a most efficacious cure of a variety of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Dropsyand Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from inherent ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver-Complaint and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

TILTON KEEPS FOR SALE

WHIPS, RUBBER WASHERS,

No. 18 Congress St.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all spurious, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, as directed. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have any other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules bable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is wonderfully valuable. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons bedridden upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot supersede a superior article. By reason of superiority, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported feeds up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Bilious Fever, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

When the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or when there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellow spots or pimples on face or body, or frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and loss of vigor, loss of appetite, irregular appetite, and bad nature, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" this portrait these symptoms are experienced. As a rule for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as hundreds of its perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Anti-bilious Purgative, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Nausea, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, it would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of unsurpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but too tedious to mention here.

The following testimonials are a few of the many thousands who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Methvin, Butcher's station, Ga.; Mrs. E. A. Seymour, Rome, N. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

O ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; then renews the growth; and always restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with livelier expressions; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft — under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, means undoubted specific curative properties in the remedy used. Does SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. The proprietor believes, in his history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And while this results, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day offered by friends to friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, but shun the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit that I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I came to relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The changes of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me incalculable, and I s a hopeful be completely cured, and at least arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1876. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for cure in all cases. Price $1.00. For sale by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

Daily Chronicle.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 160.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Brentwood is an old town. But twenty-seven had been incorporated before it in the State and one of them, Windham, the same year, but four months previously; another, South Hampton, but one month. It was incorporated June 26, 1742. North Hampton was incorporated the same year, Nov. 26. Of the twenty-seven towns before Brentwood, sixteen were in Rockingham county.

The name "Brentwood" signifies burnt wood. In early records and dates of documents, it is frequently written "Brentwood."

The population at the first census, 1775, was 1100. It has never been so great since. At the last census, in 1870, it was 895, or 205 less than 95 years before.

It is designed to notice some of the events of 1815, or 62 years ago. The population at the census five years before was 905, or ten more than in 1870, sixty years later. The Congregational society had been without a settled pastor from the death of Rev. Ebenezer Flint, a little more than eleven years. For the last two however, Rev. Chester Colton had been the stated supply. On the 25th of January, 1715, he was ordained pastor of the church and society. Rev. William F. Rowland, of Exeter, gave the discourse, from the words: "It pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them which believe." The salary agreed on was $400 and fifteen cords of hard wood, brought to his door. Mr. Colton was a native of West Hartford, Conn., and was a graduate of Yale College. When he came to Brentwood and was inducted into the pastoral office he was in the strength of his manhood, 32 years of age. He was very successful, about forty having been added to the church in 1818-19. He continued in the place ten years.

June 21, 1815, a council commenced in the Baptist church, which stood across the way south of the present church, and ordained Henry Veazy of the town, and I think a native of it, to the work of the ministry. Sermon by Rev. John Peak from the passage, "Finally, brethren, pray for us that the word of the Lord may have free course and be glorified as it is with you." Rev. H. Veazy two years later took charge of the Baptist church in Bow, where he continued many years, and where, I think, he died.

Nov. 4, 1815, Rev Samuel Shepard, familiarly called Dr. Shepard, as he was a practicing physician, died, aged 76 years. He was a native of Salisbury, Mass., was ordained in Stratham in 1770. The next year he came to Brentwood and the Baptist church was organized. He had charge of it to his death, 44 years, but having branches of the church in other towns, he preached abroad considerably, extending visits back at some distance in the State.

Walker's Wants.

The following letrer is said to be the genuine production of an applicant for a clerkship in Washington. It was addressed to Senator Jones, of Nevada, who very properly considered it too good to keep:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8 1877.

Most Argentine Senator:—Providence, you know, designs some men for Senators, some for advocating female suffrage, and others for government clerks. I was fitted up by the Most High for one of the latter class, and it's flying directly in the face of the Revelation when I'm left out in the cold, while slender-legged young men from Skowhegan catch flies off of government desks. I am the only person in Washington who wants an office, and I feel that I ought to be cherished as a natural curiosity, and put in a department, so that when strangers visit this part of the moral vineyard, they can gaze upon a noble patriot, whose soul is above lucre, and whose principles are modeled upon those of the administration—no matter whose administration.

Now, there's a show in the interior department, over which the philosophical Carl presides, and I want to get before that civil service examining board so that, I can let loose some of my wisdom. The havoc I will create among common fractions will cause weak-minded persons to howl, and the consternation that will seize the different parts of speech, will make Lindley Murray crawl out of his tomb and fill his coffin with tears. The geography of this country will undergo some rather startling changes, and, Lord! how the confidence of the public will be shaken in Daniel Webster as a constitutional expounder when I tackle that ancient document!

The only thing is to get before the board. I've got thirty-seven applications on file in the various departments, and I've told them in all sorts of ways that I'm a nice young person who would be an ornament to any well regulated office, but somehow or other they don't seem to have that glowing faith in my declarations which is so captivating in the head of a department; so, therefore, I am still out in the cold world, and my autograph decorateth not a pay-roll.

Boss, were you ever busted—broke—up a tree? Were you ever haunted by wild-eyed grocers, and pursued by the savage smiles of an unpaid landlady? Did ever that time come to you when a dollar bill looked like unto an Iowa cornfield, and a five-cent nickel was as hard to raise as a chunk of pig-iron? Did it ever occur to you in your career that a saloon-keeper's confidence in your promises to pay was as full of holes as a cane-bottomed chair, and that ragmen tried to sell you to paper-makers? I'm one of those fellows.

Unfortunately, I'm not the man who first introduced Hayes to the notice of the American public; I'm not the original Jacobs, and, though a Walker, alas, I'm not "Vinegar Bitters" Walker, who had barrels of money. Therefore, silver-mounted Senator, I lack "influence." Get me into the interior, and that department will secure the services of a clerk who will never resign when another war comes on and leave the government in the lurch, and Carl can go to the Schutzen park and drink beer in peace and have his mind easy, knowing that I will run things on a strictly civil service basis.

If I can't get a clerkship, I'll open doors, oysters, canned tomatoes, or anything else that comes handy. I'd like a job of licking postage stamps. I believe myself especially qualified to sit out in a hall in a chair, or I would be simply invaluable as a man to absorb the time of book-canvassers, so that Carl would have an opportunity to get his teeth repaired after cussin' the clerks in his native language. If I were bossing a pen in the interior department, I'd shed a lustre upon his administration, so to speak, and remote generations would name their children after the man who got me in.

I'd like to get a mortgage on your good word with Brother Schurz. It don't make any difference about your not knowing me—you don't know anything about half the fellows whom you recommend for places, and I'm not prejudiced against you on that account.

If I have not said anything about my wanting a clerkship in the interior department, and that I'd like to have you speak to the Secretary in my behalf, then I beg leave to convey that impression to you in as diplomatic a way as possible.

In sunshine or shadow, joy or sorrow, drunk or sober, I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

D. G. WALKER.

Congress.

The Senate held in session throughout Monday night and Tuesday, the democrats, aided by Conover and Patterson, trying to seat Massacre C. Butler, and the republicans trying to prevent it. Conover and Patterson voted with the democrats on every question. At a quarter before three o'clock Thurman's resolution was passed by a vote of 29 to 27.

The Eastern War.

A Russian official despatch announces that the Russians on Saturday captured the fortified town of Eutrepol, about twenty miles north of the Balkans, with trifling loss. The Turks fled in disorder. A despatch from Berlin says it is reported that Mehemet Ali has evacuated Orchanie. This is deemed improbable. A despatch from St. Petersburg says: "Russian newspapers profess a strong desire for peace. There is much talk, and the probability of such settlement is said to grow stronger daily. Russia is reported to be making special exertions to secure at any rate England's exclusion from the negotiations."

News and Notes.

The torpedo boat Alarm, concerning whose safety much anxiety was felt, is all right. She was anchored off Stapleton, S. I., during the storm, waiting for good weather before proceeding to Washington.

In the case of H. N. Stiles, on trial for perjury at Portland, Or., in connection with the Grover investigation, the jury stood eleven for his conviction and one for acquittal, and were discharged. A new trial will be had. The case of H. B. Higby, indicted for subornation of perjury, in the same connection, was set for the 27th inst. Important developments are anticipated.

Owing to the prevalence of scarlet fever at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass., the authorities have temporarily suspended the school.

Kansas leads every State in the Union in the yield of corn per acre, being 43.5 bushels. New Hampshire comes next, with a yield of 42. Vermont follows with 39; Ohio, 36.7; Wisconsin, 34; Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska, 30; Michigan, 29; Missouri, 27.9; Minnesota, 25.4; Texas and Illinois, 25 each.

A Havana correspondent reports another serious military disaster for the Spaniards. A great battle was lost by the Spanish forces on the 16th inst. Gen. Daban, at the head of 3000 troops, was attacked near Holgesim by the combined forces of Gomez and Garcia, and after four hours' skirmishing and fighting the Spaniards were forced to abandon the field, leaving 25 per cent. of their number in killed, wounded and prisoners. Among the former were a major and several commissioned officers.

The steamers Old Colony and Newport, which will take the place of the Bristol and Providence on or about December first, have been extensively improved since they were withdrawn from the line last spring, the former being repaired $25,000 worth and the latter $40,000. The past season, considering the reduction in the price of freights, has been one of the most successful ever enjoyed by the Company. The Bristol and Providence will be laid up at Newport as usual, and soon after a large force of workmen will be employed in getting them ready for the season of 1878. It is the intention of the company to build a new steamer at an early date.

There seems to be a very general opinion among naval officers that the loss of the Huron and so many valuable lives was caused by her unseaworthy condition. In fact Captain Ryan, just before he left Boston, told a friend of the writer that he did not feel safe in going to New York in her. Another officer said he "would almost as soon go to sea in a spoon as in such a coffin ship." It will be remembered that the Huron was built under a contract with John Roach, who turned out those showy Pacific Mail steamers, which only needed one voyage to prove their flimsiness of construction. The unanimity of opinion among naval men as to the unseaworthiness of the Huron demands a rigid investigation, and if it shall be shown that defective construction of the vessel or machinery was the cause of her loss, constructors and officials alike should be held to a strict accountability.—Globe.

Steamer C. H. Northam was partially burned in New York on Tuesday, and three colored men were burned to death. Loss $175,000; insurance $120,000.

Schooner Frank Jameson, of Rockland, went ashore Sunday night on Smith's island, and was a total loss, with the captain and six men. One boy only was saved.

The Charleston (S. C.) News says that both North and South can agree upon one point respecting Senator Morton, namely, that he was an honest man. No higher tribute can be offered by a bitter adversary.

A construction train on the New Jersey Southern Railroad, on Sunday, set out to repair a break occasioned by the storm, but was itself wrecked. Three men were killed and seven wounded.

At Bridgeport, Conn., Alderman Patrick Fagan, a democratic politician, has been arrested for forging the names of county commissioners to liquor licenses, 16 of which, for a hundred dollars each, have been found, and more it is thought are afloat.

New Hampshire Items.

On the 20th of this month, Sheriff Kent received notice from Capt. E. P. Howe, City Marshal of Haverhill, Mass., that he was very anxious to get one Charles A. Sleeper, charged with the larceny of $117, and that he had reason to believe that Sleeper had fled from Haverhill into Rockingham County. The Sheriff at once sent a personal description of Sleeper to his deputies, and on Tuesday he received news that Deputy Samuel E. Woodman of Kingston had secured the man, and taken him to Captain Howe at Haverhill.

The case of A. L. Haines vs. the Republic Fire Insurance Company, to recover $3500 insurance on buildings burned in 1875, was tried Saturday at Plymouth. A verdict was rendered for the company. Plaintiff moved to set the verdict aside and carry it to the Law Court.

Some friends of ours lately stopped at the house of John Chase in North Salem. Their horse was put into the barn and fed with hay which was 40 years old, and at the table they had an apple pie made from apples which had been kept from the crop of 1875. They found a sister of Mr. Chase wearing a dress which was 35 years old. A visit there would seem like going back in "ye olden tyme."—Canaan Reporter.

Our Dover National Brass Band are to join the American Band of Rochester on Thanksgiving eve, and give a grand complimentary benefit to Mr. John Carty, the teacher of both bands and recently of the U. S. Naval Band of Portsmouth. The entertainment will be given at Rochester, and is to consist of a concert by the two bands, numbering forty pieces, and Edgerly's Orchestra. It will be a fine affair as ever known in Rochester, and we hope the people there will put in their appearance universally and make it a complete success.—Dover Democrat.

Solomon H. Foye was re-elected Mayor of Dover on Tuesday by 58 majority over Geo. W. Tash, democrat, and the temperance vote. Last year Foye's majority was 712. Eight republican aldermen and thirteen republican and two democratic councilmen, were elected.

The survivors of the Huron's wreck arrived at Washington on Monday. The following is the principal part of Ensign Young's account of the wreck:

Left Hampton Roads about eleven o'clock on Friday morning and steamed out in charge of a pilot. The pilot left us at one o'clock. I had the afternoon watch. There was a stiff breeze and a heavy sea running from the southeast. We took our departure at 1:25 P. M., from Cape Henry light, bearing west by south, distant about five miles, and steered south by east, three-quarters east. Unbent chains and secured anchors for sea. About two o'clock made all plain sail; wind hauled more to the south, and took in topsails; at four o'clock wind increasing, also sea increasing, and ship rolling to leeward about ten degrees. I was relieved by Ensign Danner about four o'clock. About eight o'clock Mr. Danner told me that the jib and flying jib-stays were carried away and the wind was blowing a gale; went to bed about 8:30; was aroused at midnight by the Quartermaster calling Mr. French; heard Mr. French ask him the state of the weather; the Quartermaster replied, "bad;" I dozed off again, and was again aroused about 1:10 by the thumping of the ship when she struck bottom; heard the captain sing out as he came from the cabin, "laid down." I put on a coat and a pair of pants, ran on deck and found that the wind was blowing a fresh gale; heard the order, "Brail up the main staysail," and assisted, but could not take it in then. Asked the captain if we should throw the guns overboard; he said, "Yes, do it as quickly as possible." Got tackle hooked to the lee gun, but could not remove it because she had bilged, and could not get it over for the sea. The captain then ordered me to bring all the signals I could. In the meantime all the port boats and the cutter had been carried away. The ship was lying on her port bilge, inclined about forty degrees and the seas breaking clear over her. I went into the cabin and saved two boxes of Costen lights, sent up five rockets and burnt over 100 signals. The sea was then caving in the cabin very rapidly. When I heard the order given for all hands to go forward as quick as possible I hurried the Quartermasters who were with me and some other men to go forward. As I passed the cabin door Mr. French asked me if that was all? I slipped, and told him "Yes." Then he said, "We must go quick." We all started together. I had hold of the Gatling gun, when a heavy sea came over and washed myself and about five others down to the leeward. All but myself went under the sail, and they were drowned. I was caught in the bag of the sail and hurt both legs against the gaff. I regained the gear of the nine-inch gun and worked myself forward. I thought I saw Mr. French go in the main rigging. I saw a number of men standing in the starboard gangway and on the first launch, and a number of men underneath the topgallant forecastle. I succeeded in getting on the topgallant forecastle, with the assistance of the men there. A number of men had on life-preservers, and one rubber bolsa was rigged on the forecastle; the topgallant forecastle was full of men and officers; two or three men lashed themselves to the bowsprit; every one was perfectly cool and showed no signs of fear. The majority of us got close together on the upper side of the forecastle, suffering much from cold and exposure; the seas would break clear over us and nearly suffocated us. Mr. Conway, watch officer, had on a blanket and shared it with Mr. Danner, Mr. Loomis and myself. We sounded the side and found about six feet of water; a little after we sounded again and got seven and a half feet and then eight; saw a light about one point on the starboard bow, and we gave three cheers and repeated them several times. We then saw that the flood tide was making fast and the sea was breaking over us more. We here saw the first launch, the only boat left, stove in, and the same sea knocked Capt. Ryan and and the navigator overboard. I saw two men killed on the forecastle. Mr. Conway suggested that we make some effort to get a line on shore; I said I would attempt it, and called for men to put the bolsa over, when a three-inch line was made fast in the bolsa and the same lowered overboard, but it fouled with the jibboom foreyard and other spars; I got down on the torpedo spar, and worked about ten minutes to clear the bolsa, and called for some one to help me; Mr. Danner came part of the way and said he was too weak and could not get on. I then told him that it was our only chance, and he had better try. He said he could not, but would in a little while. Williams, a seaman, then came down and said he would go. In about ten minutes we succeeded in getting the bolsa clear of the spars. I could get no mainlines, and the 1st lieutenant, Mr. Simons, Mr. White, and many others on the forecastle, sung out to me, "The line is out, cut and get on shore, if possible, for assistance." I had a small penknife, but could not open it, because my hands were benumbed. Williams opened it, and I succeeded in cutting the rope; was then struck several times by the spars, once in the small of my back and across the hips. We thought the beach ran perpendicular to the ship. It was foggy, and we could not see the shore. When the line was cut the bolsa went toward the stern of the ship, and we thought we were going to sea, which was one thing that fooled the majority of the ship's company. We paddled the bolsa with pieces of panelling. Near the stern of the ship a heavy surf struck us and capsized the bolsa end for end, my leg being jammed. It had me underneath the water for awhile, but I regained the bolsa, when I told Williams to get on the end and we would then steer the bolsa in fear of another capsize. We were thrown over again and this catastrophe threw Williams about ten feet, my arm being jammed; I was thrown on my back. When we came up again it was rather still water; I swam and pushed the bolsa toward Williams; he got on this and stood up and looked around, and said he saw the masts of fishing vessels ahead, which proved to be telegraph poles on shore. I told him I would steer for it. We capsized twice more, and before we knew it we were on the beach. I told him to haul the bolsa up, as we might want to use it to send off to the ship. We landed about three-quarters of a mile up the beach from the wreck.

The rescued seamen make the following statement: The vessel was heading her course south-southeast, wind blowing strong, under after sail to steady her, and steaming along. There was no event to excite apprehensions of any danger. Master W. S. French had the deck. She had sighted and passed Currituck Light, and orders were given to keep a bright look out for Body's Island Light. At 1:40 o'clock the vessel struck, when all hands impulsively rushed on deck. Capt. Ryan and the officers acted promptly. The crew responded to all orders with alacrity. The surf was terrific. Shortly after the vessel struck, a boat was lowered, but immediately swamped. The vessel slued broadside to the sea, which made a clean break over her, sweeping everything from the decks and carrying the boats from the davits. Many seamen and officers were washed overboard, and several were killed by pieces of the wreck. The vessel broke up fast, and the surf became more and more furious, making it beyond all human efforts to hold on. It was dark. Signals of distress had been given, but no response had been made. No one knew where we were, and all who did get ashore were washed there by the surf.

—Texas is usually associated with the idea of a free, wild country, where people "take life easy." But recent doings there show that there is not much toleration yet for heterdoxy. Dr. Russell, a prominent resident of Bell County, Texas, who is known to be a free-thinker, having been inveigled lately into a wood near his home, was surrounded by a mob of indignant Baptists, who stripped him and announced their purpose, through their spokesman as follows: "We know you are an honest man and a good man, but we will tolerate no infidels in Bell County, so by the help of God we will stop your career of infidelity." A strong, tough raw-hide was then produced, and, amid a deep silence, intended to impress the victim with the enormity of his offence, a hundred lashes were administered on his bare back. He was then set free, and a notice stuck up stating that infidelity in future would be punished in Bell County by the use of torch and halter. Professor Tyndall, Mr. Huxley and other leading thinkers of the day will evidently do well to give Bell County a wide berth.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

DWELLING HOUSE FOR SALE.

THE subscriber offers for sale the DWELLING HOUSE owned and occupied by him, situated on Water Street near the South Mill Bridge and numbered 77. Said House is in thorough repair, contains nine rooms and a good attic, and is well furnished with gas and fixtures. To any one who desires a comfortable residence in a pleasant portion of the city, the above offers rare inducements, as the price will be made low to a cash purchaser. Possession given early in the Spring.

E. G. PIERCE, JR., P. M.

THE CITY.

Eastern Railroad stockholders' and certificate-holders' meeting, in Boston, on December 12th.

There was a brisk thunder storm, with brilliant lightning and very heavy rain, Tuesday morning, not long after midnight.

The heavy storm of Sunday and Monday threw up immense quantities of seaweed on the beaches at Rye, and on Tuesday scores of farmers' teams were engaged in hauling it away. On Odiorne's Point was more sponge than we ever saw on the beach in this vicinity before.

The usual Thanksgiving services will be held at St. John's Church on Thursday at half-past ten o'clock A. M. The offering will be for the benefit of the Children's Home; any one preferring to send any of the fruits of the earth in aid of this deserving charity, rather than to contribute money, can send them to the Rectory at any time previous to the service.

We had an idea that we had already seed the ugliest specimen possible to be produced of the monstrosity known as "the ulster," until we met one on Saturday, that surely can never be out-done in hideousness; and yet the wearer, as he swept through Congress street, seemed to fancy himself, as its possessor, the envy of every other youngster in town. It would be a valuable acquisition to the wardrobe of a company of colored comedians, or corps of antiques and horribles, such as appeared in our streets on the last 4th of July.

People are said, at times, to be tight all over. Such an one was seen, a day or two since, as he lay at the entrance of a yard in Vaughan street, trying to make a pillow of his shocking bad hat, when a humorous passer-by stopped thus to address him: "My friend, I advise you to get home as soon as possible before a policeman gets hold of you. This is a most expensive place to get drunk in, so much so, I can't afford to get tight here; they charge us about $10 for the luxury, and if we have not the money, make us work it out. I intend to leave soon." The devotee of Bacchus was too far gone to heed the advice given him, and we thought, in taking our departure, that one who would sell liquor to a man in that condition ought to be compelled to pay his fine, besides spending a month with him at Brentwood.

Hartz, the magician, opened at Franklin Hall on Monday night, had a large audience, and amused and astonished them with his wonderful sleight-of-hand tricks. There is a distribution of presents at each entertainment,—baskets of groceries, castors, cases of table cutlery, bags of flour, hams, etc.,—and the distribution seems to be made in a perfectly fair and impartial manner. On Tuesday evening the show was attended by another large audience, and some of the principal gifts were awarded as follows: M. H. Fernald, large, silver-plated ice pitcher; S. Langdon, Jr., metal toilet set; T. R. Farr, set silver-plated knives and forks; F. G. Sherburne, silver-plated castor; C. W. Shannon, of Kittery, silver-plated toilet set. There will be no performance this evening, the hall being engaged for the Light Artillery ball; but there will be a matinee to-morrow afternoon, and exhibitions each evening thereafter. Seats can be secured for each entertainment, at Preston's.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

On Tuesday evening, a large audience again assembled at the North church, the house being filled, and many obliged to stand.

At the praise service were sung "There is a fountain," "White as snow," "I love to tell the story," "My high tower," and "To the work."

The regular service opened with singing "The holy spirit," Rev. Mr. Noyes led in prayer, Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "Hear ye not the Savior calling?" and after the announcement of meetings, Mr. McGranahan sang "Where wilt thou spend eternity?" The subject of Mr. Whittle's discourse was Prov. 1:23. By wisdom we understand Christ speaking to us and telling us to turn to him. We ought to heed this call when we take into consideration the one who speaks to us, just as we act upon the testimony of men on those things of which we ourselves know but little, such as the facts of geology and other sciences. We have all had this reproof from different sources. There are three classes spoken of here: "simple ones," "scorners," and "fools." The majority are those who just drift along without caring for religious affairs, unconcerned about their souls; they care not whether the Bible is true or not, or if there be a heaven or not; these are the "simple ones." The "scorner" is one that does not believe in religion, that rejects revelation, and that will not believe unless he can reason out the process of salvation. The third class are those that know that they are wrong and yet deliberately keep on in the wrong way. There are many of this class; they know that they ought to be Christians; they acknowledge the claims of Christ upon them, yet they will not turn to him. To "return" is to repent of sin; and there are three things to be noted concerning it: it must be sincere, it must be entire, it must be immediate. "Behold now is the accepted time." To-day turn ye to God. Lastly, those that turn to Christ shall receive strength; upon them will he pour out his spirit. If the threatenings of God will not cause you to turn, let the sorrow and sufferings of Christ move you to repentance.

While all bowed in silent prayer, Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "Why not?" During the singing several arose for prayer, then Mr. Whittle offered prayer and the meeting closed with singing, after which a large enquiry meeting was held.

—Prof. Gunning has been lecturing in the West on the glacial epoch. He says that in a million years the glaciers will be at work again in New England, but that, after 250,000 years possession by the ice, she will come out again as good as new.

—A gratifying rumor has recently gained circulation that the inventor of the telephone is at work upon a new instrument. It is a contrivance which can be applied to street organs, hurdygurdies, German bands, and pianos out of tune. It will collect the sounds and convey them noiselessly away to commons and other waste places, or out to sea, and there the objectionable music will disperse harmlessly. This is a better idea than the telephone, and as soon as the inventor can get it to work he ought to secure a large sale.

—An interesting and suggestive conversation is reported to have taken place the other evening between Governor Tilden and Rev. Dr. Bellows. The two are old acquaintances, and of about the same age. The Governor asked Dr. Bellows how many children he had. "Four," was the cheerful reply. "How old are they?" An expression of bland surprise at such minute interest in the subject, on on the part of a venerable bachelor, flitted across the aimable face of Dr. Bellows, but he did not withhold the desired information. "The oldest is thirty-two," he said; "the second, twenty-nine; the third, two years and five days; and the fourth, at this very moment" (looking at his watch), "is precisely twenty-four hours old." Governor Tilden asked no further question; he seemed to be absorbed in thought.

—On the road from the Mount of Olives to Bethany the remains of a Crusader's church have recently been discovered on the spot to which tradition has long pointed as the place where the Saviour mounted the ass for his triumphal entry into Jerusalem. In the chapel, which dates from the twelfth or thirteenth century, there is an almost square block of masonry covered with paintings, which are well executed but badly disfigured. On the south side is represented the raising of Lazarus; on the north are the disciples fetching the ass; on the west there is a niche covered by an arch which was probably supported by two small columns; below the niche is a portion of an inscription still remaining. This square block is supposed to be either an altar a shrine, or a portion of the rock cut out and ornamented.

—It is astonishing what an immense interest the tramps of this country have in the repeal or non-repeal of the resumption act. Mr. Kelley thinks that repeal is a big thing for the tramps—the very making of them. "Repeal that act, restore confidence," said he in his speech in the House recently, "allow the tramps and millions of workingmen and women who are now living in despair, to go to work on your raw material and supply each other's wants." That will do very well so far as the workingmen and women are concerned, but talk to the tramps about "going to work on your raw material," or supplying anybody's wants but their own, or supplying their own by "working on your raw material," and they'll take to the woods. The loftiest pinnacle of the Alps, "tempest-scarred and thunder-splintered," or the mountain cataract, "clothed in rainbows and in foam," is not more sublime than is the tramp's contempt for "your raw material." He wants his material cooked; and—if there happen to be no man about the house—he'll be dashed if you're to be all day about it, either. Mr. Kelley is said to have made a fortune out of pig-iron. He must have done it by putting tramps to work on his raw material. —Courier-Journal.

for those who use Sozodont to decry it, for the moment they opened their mouths, the state of their teeth would contradict the slander of their tongues. It removes discoloration, imparts a glittering whiteness to the enamel, and renders the decomposition of the teeth impossible.

An article of prime necessity.—Spalding's Glue.

The announcement that the grand distribution to be made by the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place at New Orleans, on December 11th, under the entire personal supervision of Generals P. Portsmouth Chronicle

—A year ago a Reading lawyer successfully defended a friendless German brought up on a charge of larceny. Last week the same gentleman received a letter from Germany from his client, enclosing a fee of twenty guldens (about $120), and a hearty invitation to visit Germany. At the lawyer had entirely forgotten the matter of his defence of the poor German, the evidence of the latter's gratitude was very welcome.

—In front of the house of Baron Rothschild, in Paris, a beggar accosts a lady passing by and asks alms. The lady stops, puts her hand in her pocket, but owing to the tightness of her dress has some difficulty in finding her pocket-book. Suddenly the beggar leaves her, observing brusquely, "Beg pardon, little woman, here's the Baron Gustave stepping into his carriage; you can wait for me, for I must go to him before I attend to you!"

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a powerful and effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the development of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who e substance they disorge and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Irritative Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from its foul secretion and uterine diseases, Irregular, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

TILTON KEEPS FOR SALE

WHIPS, RUBBER WASHERS,

No. 18 Congress St.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all dandruff, itching and disagreeable odor.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or so durable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the whiskers to gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at direction. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quick and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

THE WONDERFUL OLD HOME TONIC AND HEALTH RENEWER

For the Stomach.—Ensuring hearty appetite, good digestion and vigorous health in every fiber of the system.

For the Bowels.—Regulating the action.

A Boon to delicate females in a thousand ways not necessary to speak of.

Sold everywhere.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;

They subdue swellings;

They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures of obstinate bedridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniments; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relative to valuable horses have been specdily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,

NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest covered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Sprains, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. Wear the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specific in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial property of man? An inferior article soon cede a superior article, by reason of superiority. Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have overrated all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, is cured Bronchitis, Throat, and Lung Affection; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties are known to equal remedy for Biliousness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint," and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

When the skin is all warmed and covered with blotches and pimples, or when there are scrofulous swellings and Humors, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If your food, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish brown spots on face or body, or queer humors under or around, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and loss of vigor, lingering symptoms simulate some organic disease, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" one bottle of this medicine is experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, and is free from injurious effects, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Aullum in Parvo Pills, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, but do more good in less time.

As a remedy for Headache, Congestions, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Accumulations in the Intestines, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their beneficial impress. Are does not impair the powers of the Stomach. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved in any climate for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of two Pellets has cured the most obstinate cases of scrofula, Tetter, salt-rheum, hypepsias, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in conjunction with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

O ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; then renews the growth; and always restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As A dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

THE EYE, EAR, and THROAT

Successfully Treated with

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SUCCESS is the test of merit, and success in the treatment of Catarrhal Affections, after so many miserable failures, and unfounded specific claims, properties in the remedy used. DOES SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE for Catarrh possess such properties? The evidence, in the shape of unsolicited testimonials from the most respectable people in all stations of life, must be conclusive on this point. Never, we believe, in the history of popular medicines has such valuable testimony been offered, freely offered, in favor of any remedy than that in the possession of the proprietors of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE. And yet, this solid fact, it does not represent a thousandth part of the recommendations which are to-day received by friends of friends in its favor. People of wealth and refinement in all parts of the country daily admit its superiority over any method of cure known to the regular medical profession, although the publicity incidental to a published statement. Hence the testimonials in our possession represent but a small part of those withheld for the reason mentioned. The following unsolicited testimonial from HENRY WELLS, Esq., of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, is an outspoken indorsement of which we are justly proud.

INVALUABLE.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER, Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.: Gentlemen.—I have for some months felt it a duty that I owe to suffering humanity to write you, stating the great benefit I have derived from the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH. For more than 20 years I have been afflicted with this very troublesome complaint. I have tried all the remedies that I could find, but without material or permanent benefit. Last fall the disease had arrived at that state that I must have relief or die. The entire membranous system had become so inflamed, and the stomach so disordered, that it was a doubtful matter whether I could go to the Pacific coast, or if I did go whether I should live to come back or not. I saw an advertisement of this medicine, and although being very incredulous about specifics or nostrums of any kind, yet in sheer desperation I tried this, and was at once benefited by it. The change of climate, a chronic disease of the liver, and my age—over 70—may prevent my entire restoration, but the benefit I derive from its daily use is to me inestimable, and I am hoping to be completely cured, and at last arrive at a respectable old age.

If this statement of my case can be of any service to those afflicted as I have been, and enable you to bring this remedy into more general use, especially on the Pacific coast (where it is much needed), my object in writing this note will be obtained.

Very truly yours, HENRY WELLS,
AURORA, N. Y., June, 1875. of Wells, Fargo & Co.

The Mule of Sumter

When Dahlgren's iron-clads began operations in Charleston harbor the 10th Army Corps made a sudden dash and drove in the thin lines of pickets which the rebels had posted on the eastern end of Morris Island. When daylight came every gun which Beauregard could bring to bear upon the new work began to rain shot and shell, and from daylight till noon there were lively times in and about Charleston Bay. Shortly after noon Fort Sumter opened furiously, and it was feared that an attempt was about to be made by the enemy to advance. There were enough men there, it was thought, to hold it, but there was a deficiency of ammunition, and so a mule-driver volunteered to deliver the ammunition. The only road was the smooth and sandy beach along the bay, and the distance between the two points about a mile and a half. Half that distance was within easy range of Fort Sumter, and Battery Wagner's guns covered all the way to the sand hills, behind which was the Federal camp.

I am describing this incident as it appeared from the shipping in the bay, and what called attention to it was the sudden waking-up of every gun on the southeast angle of Sumter. Looking to see the cause of the furious cannonading, everybody was surprised to see a mule team tearing up the beach in the direction of the new work. The driver was laying the lash on, and that mule had its ears laid straight back and was making its legs go. Occasionally a shell would touch the beach, bound up, and explode, and the mule would then hesitate and try to turn back. But the driver would lay the cowhide on with renewed vigor; then the mule put on another spurt, until at last it became entirely demoralized by the explosion of a ten-inch shell almost under his belly. Every glass in the squadron was levelled at the spectacle. The driver got off his seat, took the animal by the head, whirled it around once or twice and started it up the beach once more. Fort Sumter flashed and flamed, Battery Wagner belched and thundered, and still that daring driver urged his mule along, though the way was swept by at least thirty guns.

At last he reached his destination, but he could not stay there, and in a moment he was turned around and exhorting that animal to do its level best. The mule did not need to be told to step out, for in its rear there was roar and racket, and about its ears were flying sand and scraps iron, which seemed to stimulate its fleetness. Down that hard beach flew the mule, the light cart bobbing and swaying, and the driver's arm rising and falling as he dealt out lash after lash. At last they near the friendly shelter of the sand hills. In another minute they will be safe, but just as they near the place to turn aside a shell came screaming from Sumter. Everybody could see the huge mass of iron as it roared through the air. It struck the beach directly in the rear of the mule, and with a bound it overtook it and exploded with terrific violence. A general exclamation is heard from Dahlgren's flagship, where the Admiral and his staff are earnestly gazing at the adventurous mule and his daring driver. Fort Sumter's ramparts are black with men, they, too, willing witnesses of Yankee pluck. Along the swell of Morris Island, and covering every elevation, can be seen the Union soldiers, who stand with bated breath, anxious and full of suspense, and every eye intently taking in the scene. When the shell exploded the circle of smoke hid the mule for a moment, but when the smoke cleared Mr. Mule had his ears laid back, and, with head down and legs lashing wildly out, he was making kindling wood of the cart, which had been hardly demoralized by a fragment of the shell. Presently the driver is seen jumping to the mule; in a second the mule is free from the cart, and, with the driver on his back, and in a flash of white of his tail, disappears behind the curve of the hills.

The thousands of boys in blue cheer in a long and hearty hurrah; the sailors wave their hats and shout themselves hoarse, and, hark! the rebels have caught the infection, and are cheering, too.—Hartford Times.

To Protect Trees from Mice.

It often happens that during a winter of deep snow young fruit and other trees are injured by mice, and especially when they stand near grass land, or near a wall along which rubbish accumulates. In some cases great loss accrues in consequence of these little rascals, which might easily be avoided with a little pains and care. Years ago we adopted the plan of using birch bark, allowing it to curl around the small trees two or three times. This answered a very good purpose. We also used tin for this purpose, bending it round the tree for a foot up from the ground. Some used tarred paper for the same purpose. Another way and perhaps an easier one, is to make a cone of earth up around the tree a foot high or more; the field mice usually work near the ground. Still another way to prevent their ravages, but one often neglected, is to tread down the snow about the young trees so hard that the mice will not find it easy to get at the same. Where there is danger, some one of these methods should be adopted —Congregationalist.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1877.

Congress.

On Tuesday, the House did but little business, the attention of members being directed to the contest in the Senate over the admission of Massacre C. Butler, the Ku-Klux-conciliation candidate. Mr. Shelley of Alabama asked leave to offer a resolution setting forth that it was believed that the loss of the United States steamer Huron was attributable to her unseaworthiness, that other vessels were in the same condition, and directing the Secretary of the Navy to stop all repairs on vessels upon which repairs were ordered since March last until after an examination has been made by a competent board of naval officers, which board is to visit the several navy yards and examine all the naval vessels and report the results of their examination. Mr. Hale of Maine objected, saying the matter could be safely left with the department.

Among bills introduced under the call by States, were the following:

By Mr. Blair of New Hampshire, extending the thanks of Congress and the people of the United States to Henry M. Stanley, for his valuable explorations in Africa; also a bill relating to African explorations.

By Mr. Shelley, authorizing the appointment of a board of naval officers of high grade, to examine the vessels now undergoing repairs at navy yards and to submit the result of the examination to the House.

By Mr. Robertson of Louisiana, a bill to refund the cotton tax and provide a mode for refunding the same.

By Mr. Riddle of Tennessee, a bill to restore to the pension rolls the names of persons stricken therefrom for disloyalty; also a bill to repeal the revised statutes which prohibits payments to claimants of the United States who were charged with disloyalty.

The House at an early hour adjourned until Friday, on account of Thanksgiving Day.

In the Senate, Wednesday, as soon as the journal was read, Mr. Wadleigh moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the resolution declaring Kellogg entitled to a seat. Mr. Thurman objected; the chair ruled the question one of the highest privilege; Thurman appealed, and the chair was sustained by a vote of 29 to 28, Conover voting with the republicans and Patterson with the democrats.

The question was then on taking up Kellogg's case, and the vote was 29 to 29, Conover and Patterson dividing; the Vice President gave the casting vote in favor of the motion.

Thurman moved to substitute Butler's name for Kellogg's; negatived, 30 to 30, Conover and Patterson dividing and the chair giving the casting vote.

Mr. Thurman raised a question if the Vice President had a right to vote on a question affecting the right of a person to a seat in the Senate, and there was a long wrangle over the question whether the committee on elections has been dilatory in considering the Eustis case.

The Eastern War.

Mukhtar Pasha reports to his government that the Russians in Armenia are going into winter quarters.

The Turks on Monday, Nov. 25th, attacked the Russian positions at Tirstenek, Polomarko and Kazelero, but were repulsed at all points, losing very heavily at Tirstenek.

The Wreck of the "Huron."

Captain Marchant of the brig Mississippi, which arrived at Baltimore on Monday, Nov. 26th, reports that on Friday evening, just before dusk, he met and passed the United States ship Huron, sixteen miles south-southeast of Cape Henry, heading south, under full sail with the exception of mizzen gaff-topsail, with steam on, and apparently using it. The Mississippi passed to leeward of the Huron, so close that Captain Marchant says he could have thrown his cap on board her. He describes the officer of the deck and gives details of the steamer's appearance at the time of passing; wind east-southeast with a velocity of fifteen miles per hour. The Huron was close-hauled, heading two points west of the line of the coast—that is, in exact direction of and not thirty miles from the place where she struck. She was pitching heavily and going through the water slowly when passed by the Mississippi. She was six and a quarter miles off False Cape, in eight fathoms of water. There was nobody in the chains heaving lead at the time, and Marchant, who is an experienced shipmaster and intimately acquainted with the coast, was astonished to see the Huron running in the direction she was. He says she could have sailed back to Cape Henry with the wind abaft her beam at any time during the night. He was probably the last person who saw the vessel before her loss.

The bodies of J. J. Guthrie, captain of the surf-boat which was swamped at Kitty Hawk, and two colored men drifted ashore at life-saving station No. 6, and Lieut. Simons and twelve others near Station No. 5, on Tuesday, Nov. 27th. Twenty-one dead bodies, lashed to the main and mizzen rigging of the Huron, could not be got at on account of the surf.

An Ingenuous Thief.

Elbert A. Woodward, one of Boss Tweed's men, was examined by the Tweed Investigating Committee on Tuesday. His testimony was substantially that he had settled with the city of New York, and cannot be called upon to testify as to what money he had before he was Clerk of the Board of Supervisors. He thought that the compromise was for $150,000; he couldn't say what his income was before he went into the Comptroller's office. His percentages did not amount to $500,000; he can't remember what they amounted to; it was about $150,000; the proposition to settle for $150,000 was not made by him, but he was always in favor of settling with the city in cash since he went away; he did not believe he got more than $200,000 from the city, and he paid back $150,000; he thought it best to keep the balance, and it was not his intention to return anything. The witness never saw an honest politician in his life; he met them of all stripes, and said that if any person there was placed in his position he would have done similarly, and he would do the same over again if he had the chance. The witness did not profess to be a reformer. He thought that there was a basis for all claims against the city, even for his own five per cent., since he well earned it in serving Tweed and managing the details of the frauds; in fact, for all he knew, his five per cent. might have been the only honest portion of a bill. Mr. Tweed was also entitled to his twenty-five per cent. Since the legislatures in those days were republican, it was necessary to buy them, and Tweed had to have money with which to do it; whatever Connolly, Sweeny, Watson and Hall received he regarded as money dishonestly gained!

At the ecclesiastical council convened in Milton, Nov. 22d, to ordain and install Rev. J. N. Lowell as pastor of the Congregational church in that place, Rev. G. B. Spalding of Dover was chosen Moderator, and Rev. J. O. Jenness of Wakefield, Scribe. The following Order of Exercises was observed; Introductory prayer by Rev. A. J. Quick of Rochester; reading of scripture by Rev. E. Owen of Portsmouth; sermon, from St. John 20:7, by Rev. John Pike, D. D., of Rowley, Mass.; ordaining prayer and charge to the pastor by Rev. G. B. Spalding of Dover; right hand of fellowship by Rev. D. E. Scott of Milton Mills; charge to the people by Rev. Frank Haley of Seabrook; closing prayer by Rev. Benj. Dodge of Lebanon, Me.; benediction by the pastor.

A meeting of the democratic State Committee to appoint the conventions has been appointed for Thursday, Dec. 6th, in Concord.

The catalogue of the Pembroke Academy shows an attendance of 100 persons, divided into 12 in the classical department, 88 in the English department, and 9 in the preparatory department. There are 49 ladies in the school and 60 gentlemen.

A man named Crawford opened an extensive produce establishment in Manchester a month ago, under the firm name of R. N. Miller & Co., and has since victimized large numbers of farmers and others in Vermont, New Hampshire, northern New York and Massachusetts, who consigned produce to him and failed to get their money. Crawford has vanished and the establishment is seized.

Political.

"I have 300 tons of silver bricks waiting for the passage of the silver bill," telegraphs Sharon. "Senate may go to ——." This is the first instance where Senatorial honors have been so frankly rated according to weight. When placed in the scales against 300 tons of silver they don't amount to much—with Sharon. —N. Y. Sun.

Here's treason in the camp of the reformers. The Boston Globe says: "Mr. McCormick's successor in the Treasury Department will be an Ohio man. If this thing goes on the republican party in Ohio will have to be dissolved for want of a quorum."

On Tuesday, at the city election in Providence, R. I., Mayor Doyle, the republican candidate, had a plurality of about 60 over Barnaby, the democratic candidate, but the scattering vote defeated a choice. Last year Doyle's majority was 1336; but last spring the democrats carried the city by 886 majority. Barnaby, and a disgruntled republican named Clark, have put out immense sums of money to defeat Doyle, and the purchase of voters is said by the Providence Journal to have been extensive and openly carried on in Barnaby's interest. Another election will have to be held. The Councils are republican.

News and Notes.

A three-mile single-scull race between George H. Hosmer of Boston and M. F. Davis of Portland was pulled on Charles river on Tuesday. Davis was given the race by the referee.

At the annual meeting of the Old Colony Railroad, Nov. 27th, Hon. Onslow Stearns resigned the position of President, held by him during the past eleven years. He was elected a Director.

Among the unfortunate crew of the Huron was George W. Price, who held the position of ship's writer. It is supposed that Mr. Price was the same person who was employed as ticket agent at the Brooklyn Theatre when it was destroyed by fire on the 5th of December, 1876.

An attempt was made by the students to blow up Mills Seminary at South Williamstown, Mass., on Saturday. A keg of gunpowder had been buried in the cellar, but was discovered and removed. They threw a barrel of hot coals into the cellar for the purpose of setting fire to the building, but without success. Two students, supposed to be the ringleaders, have been sent home under escort of the principal.

Robert L. Case, President of the insolvent Security Life Insurance Co., of New York, has been sent to State Prison for five years.

Michigan is proposing a ship canal enterprise across the lower part of the State, connecting the upper waters of lake Michigan with the Detroit river. It is proposed to utilize the Kalamazoo river to Battle Creek, thence strike eastward by Eaton rapids to the Detroit river—a distance not far from one hundred and fifty miles. Could this project be carried out, it would shorten the distance by water between Chicago and Detroit nearly five hundred miles, saving to each vessel on the round trip nearly one thousand miles of travel, besides avoiding the perils of lake navigation for that distance. The advantages claimed for this enterprise in the way of a saving of time and distance and expense and freedom from risks, would seem to far outweigh its first cost. A convention is soon to be held at Allegan, Mich., to consider the matter.

A man named Roper, alias McGhee, who attempted to outrage Miss Betty Templeton near Columbia, Tenn., some days ago, was taken from jail in Columbia on the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 27th, by a mob, who, after several unsuccessful attempts to lynch him, allowed a committee of twenty to take him into the presence of the lady, and she positively identified him. He was then hung from the third story of the Court House in the presence of 2000 persons.

One man and probably two were killed on the Worcester Railroad, near Lonsdale, R. I., Tuesday evening, while walking on the track. One is believed to have been knocked into the river. One whose body was mangled by a train on each track is believed to be James Costello of Manville.

Steamer Westover, on Tuesday, Nov. 27th, picked up three men who were clinging to the bottom of a boat, at sea, and put them on board a steamer bound for Baltimore. How they came in such a situation is not known.

At Buchanan, Va., twenty colored people were drowned by the great flood during the late storm.

Isaac B. Sawtelle, Jr., of Boston, was recently convicted of a criminal assault on a little girl. His counsel took exceptions to the verdict, but the exceptions have been over-ruled and a new trial will not be granted.

Thomas H. Davis, of Boston, better known as "Propeller," a well known printer, dropped dead in that city on the afternoon of the 27th, of heart disease.

Only one person was killed and six wounded by the fall of the bridge and train into Falling Creek in South Carolina on Nov. 23d, before reported.

A Fine Microscope for a Few Cents.

A well made, genuine Microscope—not a bit of molded glass in a paper or metal ring, or tube—but one with triple Lenses, Diaphragm, Stand, etc., is not only useful in every family, but is very Interesting. Such instruments have hitherto been too costly for the general public. The Editors of the American Agriculturist, in connection with an Optical Manufacturing Company, have, after many experiments and much invention, succeeded in producing a genuine Microscope, with three fine Lenses, Stand, etc., which, by use of machinery, and very large manufacture, is now made at far less cost than has ever before been done. Scientific men, and others, say it is decidedly superior to anything ever before offered so low as $2.50; but this one is sold for $1.50. But one is given to every Subscriber to the American Agriculturist, who simply adds forty cents to the regular subscription price—that is, the paper is sent one year, with the $1.50 Microscope, for only $2.00. If to be delivered free to any part of the country, 15 cents extra is to be added. A full description and all particulars can be had by sending your address on a Postal Card to Orange Judd Company, New York; or better still, send them 10 cents (half price) for a postpaid sample copy of the paper,—which will give a full description of the Microscope, and also much valuable reading and engravings, etc., and be richly worth far more than its cost.

For the sum of $3.10 we will send to any address the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE and American Agriculturist from now until January 1879, and also one of the above-mentioned microscopes.

THE CITY.

Thanksgiving Day to-day. No CHRONICLE to-morrow.

Post-office hours to-day: general delivery open from 8 to 11 o'clock A. M. and from 5 to 6 P. M.; box office open all day.

Hartz gives a matinee performance in Franklin Hall this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. He also performs in the evening. See advertisement.

A meeting of the Board of Trade is called for next Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Common Council room. PER ORDER.

U. S. S. Enterprise, Commander George C. Remey, arrived at Port Royal, S. C., on Monday, Nov. 26th, at noon, from Hampton Roads, Va.

Mr. Loyne reports the theft of $150 from a drawer at Faith Home, by a colored man named Charles Green, who has been employed there for a short time past. The thief is about twenty-five years old, and asthmatic.

Two schooners with cargoes of coal for Dover arrived at this port on Wednesday, and four more are on the way, or soon will be. All these vessels will go to Dover to discharge their cargoes, so it seems the clearing out of the Cocheco river does really amount to something.

Contrary to general expectation, the long continued and heavy storm of wind and rain that extended all along the Atlantic coast from Nov. 23d to the 25th, inclusive, instead of "clearing off cold" died out into weather unusually warm for the season. Tuesday and Wednesday were more like the first of October than the last of November, and overcoats generally were left at home.

The Boston Globe says: "The year 1874 is often referred to as the 'curious' year in the city of Cambridge's financial history, and as being compared with the present which, under Mayor Allen, has been a year of rigid economy. In 1874 the city paid $6000 for cigars, paper, pens and inkstands, $4500 for carriages for city officials, and $8000 is alleged to have been embezzled by the Water Registrar. This year only $500 has been paid for stationery, $150 for carriage hire, and it is hoped the Water Registrar has been honest." The Mayor Allen under whose administration such a favorable change has taken place, is Frank Allen, formerly of this city.

Poultry was abundant in this city on Wednesday, and prices ran very low for the day before Thanksgiving,—or any other day. Very fair turkeys sold in the forenoon at fifteen cents a pound, and extra large and fat ones at twenty cents; chickens brought from twelve to seventeen cents a pound, according to quality; geese went at fourteen cents a pound and ducks at eighteen. The trade was brisk during the forenoon, and the loads in the farmers' wagon were largely reduced before noon, many of their wagons being emptied before that time. The low prices ruling were largely due to the remarkably warm weather. Prices varied greatly, there being nothing like a settled rate for any kind or quality of poultry.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The attendance at the gospel meeting on Wednesday evening, was large, the North church being well filled.

The usual praise service preceded the regular exercises, consisting of "What a friend we have in Jesus," "Rejoice and be glad," "The half was never told," "O, sing of his mighty love," and "Only a step to Jesus."

The congregation united in singing "The great Physician," Mr. Goss led in prayer, Mr. and Mrs. McGranahan sang "In the presence of the king," and Mr. Whittle announced that the exercises on Thanksgiving day would be a praise service, and preaching by Mr. Hubbell, at eleven o'clock A. M., and the usual gospel meeting in the evening, and then Mr. McGranahan sang "Yet there is room," the choir joining in the chorus.

Mr. Whittle then preached from Luke 14:7—12. This man was bidden to the feast, but came there in an improper attire. Every one of us needs a change before we can get to heaven, before we come before God. We may be fitted for society, we may have culture, and yet not be prepared for the kingdom of heaven. This man came in from the street, and could not prepare a robe. We cannot be justified by our good works, we cannot get to heaven by any righteousness of our own. The king had provided a robe for this invited guest, and he was condemned because he did not receive it; so Christ has prepared a robe of righteousness for every one that believeth and confesseth him. We cannot be righteous according to the law unless we perfectly keep the law. Jesus met the penalty of our transgressions, and his righteousness is perfect, and we are accepted when we receive him. This man insulted the king by coming into his presence without proper apparel; he took advantage of the generosity of the king and abused his love. Men, now, abuse the love of God by refusing to obey him, by refusing to call upon him, because they feel that they are too great sinners. Some are unwilling to have it known that they desire to be Christians; pride keeps them from doing what they know to be right. If we have made up our minds to be Christians, let us take no half way measures, let us accept him wholly, and acknowledge him everywhere; let us accept him and make the morrow the happiest Thanksgiving we have ever seen.

After singing "Rejoice and be glad," the usual enquiry meeting was held, a large number remaining.

SERVICES TO-DAY.

There will be services at the Unitarian church to-day at the usual hour for morning worship. Sermon by the pastor, upon the subject "Thanksgiving for Human Nature."

Mass praise meeting at the North church this forenoon; preaching in the evening at same place, by Mr. Whittle.

The usual Thanksgiving services will be held in St. John's church at half-past ten o'clock A. M.; the offering will be for the benefit of the Children's Home.

Thanksgiving services will be held in the Universalist church, at the usual hour, this forenoon.

POLICE COURT.

William Roberts, drunk, fine and costs $9.90.

Frank Hendrick, vagrant, same sentence; jail in default of payment.

THE VICINITY.

An agent of a large shoe manufactory in the eastern part of Maine, employing one hundred men and two hundred girls, has been looking around Kittery, with a view of removing the factory to that town provided sufficient inducements will be offered. The agent examined the building familiarly known as the "Tabernacle," owned by the Hayes heirs, and expressed himself much pleased with it. The firm, who do a large shipping business, want to get nearer and cheaper railroad facilities.

"Harry" the Rye correspondent of the Times, writes that paper as follows: "The Portsmouth Dramatic Club played 'Bombastes Furioso,' 'Turn Him Out,' and 'The House Dog,' to a good audience on Friday evening. In the first piece the numerous local 'gags,' brought down the house with repeated shouts of laughter, and in the 'House Dog' Bryant's funny acting caused intense merriment. In Turn Him Out' it turned out that the prompter had the toughest role of the evening,—that worthy functionary having all he could attend to to get the play through. A little more rehearsal was what was need. As a whole, the performance was very good indeed, and the most of the audience heeded the injunction to 'laugh and grow fat.'"

The Cause and Cure of the Snore.

The snorer is a common pest. He or she is found in nearly every household. Unfortunately he is generally a sound and good sleeper, and falls into the oblivion of sleep and the business of snoring long before others are able to reach the happy unconsciousness which, by his horrible performances, he is able to monopolize. The habit of snoring is peculiar to no class. This demon of the night may be the most amiable and refined of human beings.

The above remarks have been made because a contributor of the Popular Science Monthly prints an article telling us how snoring may be cured. He first tells us about the cause. The air reaches the lungs through two channels, the nose and the mouth. The two currents meet in the throat below the soft of the palate, the end of which hangs loose and swings backward and forward, producing the snoring. If the air reaches the lungs through the nose, as it should, no noise will be made. If it reaches the same through the mouth the palate will make more noise, since it is not the natural channel. But when it rushes in through both these channels, then it is that the sound sleeper banishes rest from the pillows of his companions by his hideous noises.

The remedy for snoring is to keep the mouth closed, and for this purpose Dr. Wyeth, the writer of the article referred to, has invented an apparatus so simple that any one can make it and no snorer should be without it. It consists of a simple cap fitting the head snugly and a piece of soft material fitting the chin. These are connected by pieces of elastic webbing, which are connected with the head cap near the ears. The contrivance prevents the jaw from dropping down, and thereby renders snoring impossible.

The greatest trouble will be to get people to adopt this invention, since the most honest and upright of men and women will rarely ever confess that they snore, and will be very indignant if accused of it. As a further inducement to the introduction of this contrivance of Dr. Wyeth, it may be added that breathing through the mouth is very detrimental to the health, and that many diseases of the throat and lungs are contracted or aggravated thereby.

—It does not follow that a person is musically inclined because he has a great many crotchets in his head.

—The New York Times says that the idea of teaching every girl to thump a piano and every boy to be a book-keeper, will make potatoes worth $4 per bushel in twenty years from now.

It Would be Ridiculous

for those who use Sozodont to theory it, for the moment they opened their mouths, the state of their teeth would contradict the slander of their tongues. It removes discoloration, imparts a glittering whiteness to the enamel, and renders the decomposition of the teeth impossible.

An article of prime necessity—Spalding's Glue.

The announcement that the grand distribution to be made by the Louisiana State Lottery Company will take place at New Orleans, on December 11th, under the entire personal supervision of Generals P. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early, of Va., has created much excitement throughout the entire country. The prizes include six capitals, $100,000, $50,000, $25,000, as well as the other attractions of fortune, and are such as will invite any one desirous of investing to address M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., for information or advice. The entire scheme of distribution will be found in our advertising columns. 11d&w

A Lamp-Tender's Trick.

Any person who looks at the lamps in the burnt district will be under the impression that they are filled with oil and ought to shed an abundant light; nevertheless many have wondered why they went out every night about half-past eight. Among the puzzled persons have been the police, who have watched for a clue to the secret. Whenever the lamplighter was spoken to about it he would state that the fault was not his, for, as they could see themselves, the lamps were well filled with oil, and must be extinguished by the wind. One night, however, a policeman accidentally discovered the secret of the dodge. His lantern went out on account of insufficiency of oil, and so he resolved to borrow a little oil from a street lamp, which he observed was out, intending, of course, to replace it at the earliest opportunity. He clambered up the lamp post (imagine the spectacle!) and, having removed the lamp, slid softly down again to the ground. He then poured enough of the supposed oil into his lantern to properly fill it. Having done this he attempted to light the lantern. In vain, however, were his endeavors so to do, and at last he discovered that the supposed oil was water. He then knew the secret of the lamps being extinguished. The lighter would fill the lamps nearly full of water and pour a little oil on the top to make the lamp burn for an hour or so.—St. John (N. B.) Telegraph.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the foulest humors in the system, that underpower health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organ, whose action they derange, and who's assistance they elevate and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Lungs, Stomach, Kidneys Lungs, Dropsies and Erective Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Kidney Disease and General Debility. With their expulsion health returns.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their accustomed vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any unfashionable shade to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur

Liniments.

They relieve pain;

They subdue swellings;

They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc., etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have overcome more wonderful cures of obstinate bedridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinarians. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to blowing, Ringbone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Spavin, Wind-Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly sold for effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are not to many eyes. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Fitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gives nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 8, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medical preparation I know. I feel a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,

NOHMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. When the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is adapted to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, when we Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are respectively intended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of men? An inferior article may exclude a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported reads up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Chalagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil, Tumors, Ulcers or Old Sores, Blotches, Pimples, and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Bilious diseases, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

When the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or, where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If your feet do dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, in question ache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint," both of these symptoms are experienced. As a rule for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's

Pleasant

Purgative

Pellets.

These little Sugar-coated Cathartics, or Anti-bilious Pills, are scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, gross, drastic, sickening pills, here before so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Giddiness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sensative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pill, which are put up in cheap, wooden or pasteboard boxes, to dail, and use. Two Pills is the recommended dose. Sick Headache, Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Scrofulous Humors, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore Eyes, and Erysipelas. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

FAVORITE

PRESCRIPTION.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, of which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies to their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for the many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It imparts vigor, surpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby enabling it to build up vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz.: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural suppression, Weak Back, Prolapsus or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Irritability, Despondency and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to our wives, daughters, and sisters.

The following lists are a few of the many thousands who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Perryville, Md.; Mrs. Thos. J. Mellhan, Hutchin's Station, Ga.; Mrs. E. A. Spencer, Rome, N. Y.; Mrs. Francis Husswell, Versailles, Ohio; Mrs. Lucy Putnam, North Wharton, Pa.; Mrs. Mary A. Hewell, Adams, Mich.; Mrs. Mary A. Frisbie, Lemuel, Pa.; Mrs. D. L. Gill, Chillicothe, Ohio; Mrs. Harriet E. Malone, West Spring Field, Pa.; Mrs. R. Holt, Emporia, Kan.; Miss Louisa Pratt, Dodgeville, Mass.; Mrs. L. A. Dashiell, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. C. A. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

O ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth of hair; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity,—and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1849, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

CATARRH

Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and of Foul Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with others was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was not troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell, which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD,
Short-Hand Writer.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 3, 1876.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived here to-night all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have not been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried SANFORD'S CURE. You can refer any one you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 15, 1876.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

not only promptly arrests the corroding discharges in Catarrh, but, by sympathetic action, it restores to sound health all the organs of the head that have become affected by it, and exhibits any of the following affections:—

Defective Eyesight, Inflamed and Mattery Eyes, Painful and Watery Eyes, Loss of Hearing, Earache, Neuralgia of the Ear, Discharges from the Ear, Ringing Noises in the Head, Dizziness, Nervous Headache, Pains in the Temples, Loss of the Senses of Taste and Smell, Elongation of the Uvula, Inflammation of the Tonsils, Putrid Sore Throat, Tickling or Hacking Cough, Bronchitis, and Bleeding of the Lungs.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full and carefully prepared directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

COLLINS'

VOLTAIC PLASTER

AN Electro-Galvanic Battery, combined with a highly Medicated Plaster, forming the greatest curative agent in the world of medical science, infinitely surpassing all other Plasters heretofore in use. They accomplish more in one week than the old Plasters in a whole year. They do not pulliate, but CURE. They Relieve Affections of the Chest.

Relieve Affections of the Lungs.
Relieve Affections of the Heart.
Relieve Affections of the Liver.
Relieve Affections of the Spleen.
Relieve Affections of the Kidneys.
Relieve Affections of the Spine.
Relieve Affections of the Nerves.
Relieve Affections of the Muscles.
Relieve Affections of the Joints.
Relieve Affections of the Bones.
Relieve Affections of the Sinews.

No matter what may be the extent of your suffering, try one of these Plasters. Relief is instantaneous, a fact supported by hundreds of testimonials in our possession. Bear in mind that the most important discoveries in pharmacy date back less than ten years, and that combinations of gums and essences of plants and shrubs are herein united with Electricity to form a curative Plaster, in soothing, healing, and strengthening properties as far superior to all other Plasters heretofore in use as the scientific physician is to the horse-leech.

Price, 25 Cents.

Be careful to call for COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER lest you get some worthless imitation. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Justice to Howard.

Xenophon's account of the Retreat of the Ten Thousand is as nearly immortal as any Greek prose classic is likely to be. Sherman's march to the sea, as a campaign crushing all before it, is and will remain one of the most notable on record. And Howard's march of two thousand miles across and up and down the Rocky Mountains in hot pursuit of the Indian chief Joseph, with his desperate band of Nez Perces, considering the natural, one might almost say the preternatural, difficulties in the way, is a feat or achievement of personal, heroic hardihood, persistence, pluck and ready resource never before surpassed. But the truth compels one to add there probably never was a campaign which, at the time of it, was more misunderstood or more misrepresented and egregiously lied about than this.

The long agony of the march, with its repeated and fierce battles, is over. General Howard was in this city a few hours yesterday, looking in rugged health, yet showing abundant signs of the terrible wear and tear necessarily incident to such an experience. He is now on his way to the Pacific coast again. We learn that both he and his men feel somewhat keenly the gross and, as it seemed to them under the circumstances, the infinitely unkind misrepresentations with which a large part of the daily press for a time followed them. And it must be acknowledge that for a while a kind of epidemic of remorseless disparagement, and of wit, grown bold chiefly by its ignorance and safe distance from the scenes of action, prevailed, which did not show off the American character or the American press to its best advantage. It should be said, however, in truth as in charity, that much of this was the result of mere ignorance rather than of malice or downright meanness. Before the matter passes out of mind it seems proper to correct certain popular misapprehensions and current misstatements.

It is said that General Howard failed to overtake Joseph because he would insist on having his men keep Sunday in camp. The fact is, however, they never stopped for this purpose; that during the march of 2,000 miles, occupying nearly five months, they stopped to rest, all told, only four days. And that was done at the imperative command of the army surgeon. For the whole time of the march the daily average of the distance was nineteen miles. As to the story that he peddled out Bibles to the soldiers, he might have been glad enough to have had Bibles to give them; but there was not one in the force, the General himself only having a "Daily Food" selection of Bible texts, which he carried in his vest pocket.

Again, it was said that he was delayed by his wagon trains. He started out without any wagons at all, using only pack mules. In course of the march in Montana, whenever he could, he impressed teams into his service to carry provisions to the wounded and sick, and at the earliest moment, when they were either not absolutely needed or else could not be used to advantage, dropped them and pushed on. The Indians had the advantage of him in an abundant supply of fresh ponies and mules, and yet never got any further ahead of their pursuers than they were at the start.

As to General Gibbon, the facts are that, in spite of the most desperate fighting he was finally surrounded, and had not General Howard arrived as he did there would have been less of him and of his command just so much as was left of Custer and his brave troops. And as to General Sturgis, his subsequent management of his forces, right on the march and in battle, deserve the receive the highest praise. And no one was more willing that he should share with General Howard himself, to whose command General Sturgis, with his cavalry, had been attached. Indeed, it was due to Howard's characteristic, and many will regard excessive, generosity, that the whole credit of the thing was given to Sturgis.

But perhaps the grossest misrepresentations current have relation to the surrender. It has been generally reported that General Howard did not arrive at General Miles' camp until several hours after Joseph's surrender; it is even stated that Joseph contemptuously refused to surrender to Howard, while willing to give his arms to Miles. The facts are these: General Howard was met by a courier from Musselshell Creek to General Miles, then near the mouth of Tongue River, telling him just where and when (within six miles) Joseph would be ready to cross the Missouri, and directing Miles to intercept him at that point. General Miles sent back word asking for nine days to get ready and in position, and requesting

General Howard to "slow up" accordingly, so as to keep the Indians back. This was done. The battle was fought in the Bear Paw Mountain. General Howard, with thirteen of his men, arrived at the scene of action twenty-four hours before the surrender. Joseph stubbornly refused to surrender, and afterward declared that he had no idea of surrendering to General Miles until he heard Howard had come up. And he did not decide to surrender until General Howard's interpreters went over to Joseph's camp and, in General Howard's name, demanded the surrender. And when the conquered chief with his men came into camp he first offered his arms to General Howard, who, with very extraordinary generosity not often witnessed among rival army officers—and in spite of the fact that Howard was the ranking officer, and Miles had only done what Howard suggested, and, after a 2,000 miles' pursuit, enabled him to do—declined to receive them, at the same time waving him to General Miles. The jealousies of army officers are well known; in striking contrast this instance of extreme disinterestedness and generosity is deserving of recognition. Probably very few would have done as General Howard did; we are not sure that it was quite the wisest thing to do, but he may be allowed to be his own judge on that point.

The facts are as here stated. We give them only in the interests of truth and justice. Generals Howard, Miles, Sturgis and Gibbon have each done well. Absolute bravery, conjoined with heroic endurance, was never more signally illustrated. That an army, shamefully left by their country to go for nine months without pay, should have served their country with such sublime devotion, is a wonder and a cause for the highest admiration. Heartily to acknowledge it is now the least we can do.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1877.

Congress.

The Senate on Thursday continued the battle over Butler and Kellogg. Butler was sharply lashed by Conkling, and Wadleigh cornered Ben. Hill on the Spofford case; Gordon defended Butler, and made the hero of Hamburg out to be an epitome of everything noble and pure. No vote was reached. The House was not in session.

The Senate on Friday passed the Paris Exposition bill, appropriating $150,000. The Butler-Kellogg discussion occupied the rest of the day, but both parties seemed worn out, and nobody listened to the speeches. No vote had been reached at three o'clock.

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. Sarah W. French of Chester, widow of Hon. Daniel French, who was once Attorney-General of the State, is ninety-five years old, but retains her faculties and physical powers in a large degree. Her eyesight is quite good, and she reads a newspaper easily. Mrs. French is the oldest lady in Chester. She was the mother of the late Hon. B. B. French.

Samuel Thayer, the New Ipswich forger, who recently surrendered himself to the authorities, has been sentenced to seven years in the State Prison at Charlestown, Mass., and was placed in confinement last week.

Daniel J. Blake and Mrs. Mary A. Hill of Ellsworth, arrested last spring for concealing the death of an illegitimate child, were convicted at Plymouth and sentenced, the former to two years and the latter to one year and one day in the State prison. Exceptions were taken and the case will be taken to the full bench.

The contracts for the Manchester Soldiers' Monument have been awarded, and the total expense of the work will be $16,418. It is not yet decided where to locate it.

Oliver Pearl and J. P. Battles of Lawrence, Mass., have brought a bill in equity, in the Circuit Court of the United States, against the Jackson Company at Nashua, complaining that they are infringing upon a patent invention of Pearl for an improvement in bobbin spindles for spinning machines, claiming said patent has been confirmed in cases of Pearl and Battles against the Ocean Mills and Somerset and Dwight Manufacturing Companies. Defendants controvert this. A hearing is to be had upon a motion for an injunction in Boston at some time. A like motion in the suit against the Lowell Machine Shop is to be heard before Judge Shepley on the 20th of December. D. Hall Rice of Boston and Benjamin F. Thurston of Providence represent the plaintiffs, and Charles Levi Woodbury is counsel for the companies.

The large wooden building known as Floral Hall, on the Sullivan County Driving Park at Claremont, was consumed by fire on the morning of Nov. 28th, burning several carriages, sleds mowing machines belonging to private individuals, deposited there for the winter. The fire was the work of an incendiary. Fully insured.

The dry-house of George F. Lane & Son, at East Swanzey, was burned Nov. 28th. Loss $500; no insurance.

News and Notes.

Edward Moore, a switchman on the Boston & Providence Railroad, was run over and killed recently. He had been thirty-five years in the road's employ. He was run over and lost an arm six years ago.

Matthew Davenport, an Englishman, aged about fifty years, attempted to murder his wife, from whom he has been separated for some time, and a man named Pratt, (whom Davenport says is his wife's paramour,) at Northampton, Mass., on the morning of Thanksgiving day. The murderer hid all night in the cellar of Mrs. Davenport's house, armed with a knife and base ball bat, and when his wife came down to kindle a fire knocked her down and stabbed her. Her screams brought Pratt to the scene, when he too was stabbed. Davenport was arrested, and pretends he was insane when he committed the deed. The wounded parties positively deny any improper intimacy. Pratt will probably die, but Mrs. Davenport may recover. Davenport is a drunken, worthless fellow, and this is his third wife.

David Stillman and wife, an invalid couple about 70 years of age, were found murdered with an axe, in their house at Sheffield, Mass., Friday morning. John Feneyck, a colored man who went to the house to buy butter, was arrested on suspicion, and held to await action of the coroner's jury.

A Vermonter denies emphatically that Ezra P. Smith, who is accused of poisoning his wife, was ever a deacon of the Baptist church in Vergennes, or, indeed, of any church in the State.

An Incident of the Wreck.

We extract the following from the New York Tribune's account of the loss of the Huron. Capt. E. M. Stoddard is well known in this city.

About two o'clock Captain E. M. Stoddard, with a crew of six men and two passengers, were seen to man a surf-boat and leave the wrecking steamer B. & J. Baker and pull for the shore. On board were Captain E. M. Stoddard; Captain J. G. Guthrie, Paymaster of Life-Saving Stations between Capes Henry and Hatteras; Henry L. Brooke, local reporter of the Virginian; and a crew consisting of James Saxton, Stephen Bell, Dennis McCoy, Willis Walker and James T. King. The boat came shoreward gallantly until she reached the surf breaking over the outer bar, about 200 yards from the shore, and just about 100 yards south of the Huron. She passed the first breaker and shot ahead with lightning rapidity. The next lift of the sea seemed immediate, and in a twinkling twisted the surf-boat broadside on, and, catching it on the crest of the waves, threw it bottom upward into the air about ten feet. All in the boat were literally spilled into the surf just as one would empty a box of matches. Captain Stoddard, Mr. Brooke and one of the crew got on the bottom of the boat. All of the others were thrown into the sea; and after struggling a while in the surf, all, with the exception of a negro, named Wilson, disappeared and were seen no more, being swept up the coast with the swift current. The boat drifted slowly to the shore, rolling so violently that the men could scarcely hold on. The boat finally got near enough for the men to be drawn in by the crowd, very much exhausted. The negro Wilson swam like a bluefish, and came to the shore apparently little weakened. Mr. Brooke lost his hold on the boat at one time, but secured an oar which materially assisted him in swimming.

THE CITY.

Hon. Marcellus Eldredge presented each employe at his brewery with a Thanksgiving turkey.

Friday was St. Andrew's day, and was observed with the proper religious services at the Episcopal church.

The Hussey house, on Islington street, has been purchased by Mr. Stephen W. Clarke, Principal of the High School.

The Hutchings Association advertise their third entertainment. An entertaining but not a lengthy programme will be presented.

Paymaster C. F. Guild was detached from this navy yard as Inspector of Provisions and Clothing, on Friday, and ordered to settle his accounts.

The new ship Paul Jones, Capt. B. F. Jacobs, which left this port a short time ago for Baltimore, where she was chartered to load, is, on account of some hitch, to go to New York after freight.

At the Hartz matinee, this afternoon, the magician will make a lot of candy "out of pure air," and distribute it to the children present. Admission—adults 25 cents, children 15 cents,—everybody to get a present.

Mr. D. Hamilton, proprietor of the new meat market on Vaughan street, has engaged in the wood business at the Rogers yard on Vaughan street. He proposes to bring wood from Maine and sell it at moderate prices.

Some one attempted to effect an entrance into Mr. Chas. H. Joy's store, Thanksgiving night, by breaking in the glass and sash of a cellar window; but finding a stout joist across the inside of the window as a bar, which could not be removed by anything short of an axe, the attempt to enter was given up.

Sheriff Kent brought to this city from Manchester, Wednesday night, and committed to jail, Charles E. Witham, who was indicted for assault. He is an old offender, and has already served several sentences. He was brought before judge Stanley on Friday, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

On Thanksgiving eve a man from one of the surburban towns took a dozen pairs of stockings which were suspended from the awning frame in front of C. Dwight Hanscom's auction store. The clerk was engaged in the back part of the store at the time, but fortunately saw the act, and the man had hardly got beyond the store when he was overhauled and the stockings recovered.

Nathaniel Green, one of the democratic leaders of a former day, and Postmaster of Boston from 1829 to 1841, under Jackson and Van Buren, died in Boston on Thanksgiving day, aged eighty years. He was born in Boscawen in this State; learned the printer's trade with Isaac Hill, in the Patriot office; at the age of fifteen edited the Concord Gazette; and previous to his removal to Boston resided in this city for some months, having charge of the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE during that time. He was a man of vast energy, a poet, and an able and pleasing writer.

The Times of Friday says: "Affliction has been brought to a home in this city consequent on the wreck of the United States steamer Huron, in the announcement of the drowning of Captain E. M. Stoddard, son-in-law of Hon. William H. Y. Hackett, whose life was heroically sacrificed while making volunteer efforts to render assistance to the ill-fated vessel. * * Capt. Stoddard was about forty years of age, and married Miss Ellen Hackett. At last accounts his body had not been recovered," We are happy to be able to say that Capt. Stoddard did not lose his life, as will be seen by an article from the Tribune, in another column.

Hartz, the great magician, gives his last entertainments in this city this afternoon and evening, the afternoon performance commencing at half-past two o'clock. A large number of valuable and useful presents will be distributed among the audience at each entertainment, by the same fair and impartial method heretofore employed in making the awards. The sleight-of-hand tricks of the magician are most confusing to the ordinary understanding, and the presents each and all worth getting. The leading present on Friday evening, a gold watch, was drawn by Mrs. A. Carroll, of No. 41 Fleet street. The leading present this evening is a complete set of chamber furniture bough at Fletcher & Tanton's; and every buyer of a 50 cent ticket will receive a present. Seats secured at Preston's.

The colored thief, Charles Green, whom we have recently chronicled as having stolen $150 from the Old Ladies' Home in this city and run away, was tracked by Sheriff Kent from this city to Manchester. In the latter place Green got drunk, was arrested as a tramp, locked up in the Manchester police station over night and set at liberty on the following morning. He gave his name there as George Washington; and the police, regarding him as a drunken tramp, did not search him. From Manchester he went to Boston, as Sheriff Kent on Friday received a despatch from City Marshal Kenniston of Manchester that Green left on the noon train of Wednesday. He has doubtless ere this left for the South.

DROWNED.

At 8:30 o'clock, Friday morning, Mr. Sullivan, mate of the brig Clara J. Adams, saw a man in the water at the head of Adams and Broughton's lumber wharf, clinging to a chain. The police were notified and took the body to the station house, where it was resognized as that of Jeremiah Mack, of Epsom, who came to this city to spend Thanksgiving with his brother-in-law, Jere. Dwyer, who lives on Court street. He left Dwyer's house at about four o'clock Thursday afternoon, and his watch stopped at twenty minutes past six. He had on his person when found one hundred dollars, and a watch and chain. He was fifty-seven years old. His remains were taken in charge by his wife, and removed to Epsom for burial. As there were no indications of foul play no inquest was held.

SUPREME COURT.

Friday, Nov. 30th; Stanley, J.

The Court came in and the call of undisposed of cases on the docket proceeded.

In case 91, Crowley vs. Hayes, tried before the Court, an action for wages for labor, defence payment of part and a tender of the balance, the verdict was for the plaintiff in the sum of $36.00. Hatch for plaintiff; William H. Hackett for defendant.

John Getchell vs. Lewis T. Sanborn. Verdict for plaintiff for the three last items, not barred by statute. Lamprey for plaintiff; Wood for defendant.

Patrick Kiely vs. William Patterson: action for services as stevedore in discharging a cargo of coal from schooher Jefferson Borden in Portsmouth; defence that part of the coal taken was the property of Patterson, the defendant, who was master of the schooner. The Court rendered a verdict for the full amount claimed. William H. Hackett for plaintiff; Page for defendant.

Ordway vs. Sanders: a case reserved and continued on law questions arising upon the trial to await the decision of the full bench.

Chas. E. Witham, of Northwood, was arraigned on an indictment charging him with an assault upon William P. Jenness at Brentwood on the 25th day of June last. Respondent pleaded guilty and stated to the Court the circumstances of the affair. He was sentenced to imprisonment in the jail in Portsmouth for thirty days.

A further hearing was had in the case of Twombly vs. Lewis, on the new docket, which was partially heard last week. Decision reserved. Hatch for plaintiff; W. H. Y. Hackett for deft.

In case Messer and others vs. Smith: action on new docket, a plea in abatement was filed. Plaintiff moved to reject the plea, because the summons enrolled was not filed. The Court held that such filing was requisite, and that the plea was bad. Question reserved for the Law Court. Small and Hatch for plff.; Hariman and S. C. Eastman for defts.

In case Jane S. Janvrin vs. George Janvrin, judgment was ordered on the report denying the divorce. Question as to referee's fees to be passed upon by the full court in conference. Stickney, Marston and Small for libellant; Hatch and Leavitt for Mr. Janvrin.

The Court was constantly engaged during the entire day, from half-past ten in the morning until a few minutes before four o'clock in the afternoon. Every case on the continued, new, equity and sessions docket was called and disposed of,—when Judge Stanley ordered the Sheriff to make the "previous proclamation." The High Sheriff then proclaimed: "Hear ye! All persons having any further business before this Supreme Court, held here, this day, within and for the County of Rockingham, may at this time draw near and declare it, for this Court stands on its adjournment." A number of lawyers drew near the bench to have final disposition made in their cases, and Judge Stanley shortly after ordered the adjournment of the Court without day. The out-of-town lawyers hastened to the Concord Railroad station, the venerable messenger assisted the functionary who has charge of the records to hasten his departure, and the end of the October term was reached at the close of the last day in November. The Court has been in session forty days, and a diligent work has been accomplished; hardly one evening has passed, when Judge Stanley was in town, that he was not engaged in some hearing in chambers, and the number of trials and cases disposed of shows his untiring energy and unflagging industry, while every suitor who desired to try his cause has been able to have his day in court.

The law term of the Court begins at Concord on Tuesday, the 4th inst.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, Nov. 30th; Batchelder, J.

John L. Stanfield, for drunkenness, was assessed the frequent $9.90.

HOWARD BENEVOLENT SOC'Y.

At the forty-eighth annual meeting, on Saturday evening, Nov. 24, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President, Hon. Ichabod Goodwin.
Secretary, Lewis W. Brewster.
Treasurer, John Stavers.
Directors, Wm. Day, Benjamin Cheever, Samuel S. Green, Benjamin Carter, John H. Broughton, Lyman D. Spalding, J. Chaplin Carr, Wm. D. Fernald, John S. Hand, T. E. O. Marvin, George Annable, Wm. A. Vaughan Jr.

The disbursing committees are as follows:
For Dec., Messrs. Goodwin, Day, Annable.
For Jan., Messrs. Green, Cheever, Vaughan.
For Feb., Messrs. Stavers, Carter, Carr.
For M'ch, Messrs. Broughton, Spalding, Marvin.
Apr. to Dec., Messrs Fernald, Brewster, Hand.

The Treasurer's report shows an outlay for:

Provisions,	$1268.14
Coal,	102.32
Wood,	49.40
Total	$1419.86

Nearly a thousand orders have been filled by Mr. J. W. P. Carter for groceries to pensioners during the year ending at the annual meeting. The funds of the treasury have been drawn upon very extensively, and are consequently quite low for the opening of a winter with such prospects as the coming one. Last year there was a generous response to the call of the Society's collector, and it is hoped that a like generosity will be shown this season.—Journal.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

ANOTHER HITCH.

The Eastern Railroad Company has issued the following circular:

To the holders of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Bonds: The Directors of the Eastern Railroad Company are advised that the special statute and mortgage, under which they are now acting, in effect prohibits their paying interest on the Conway Bonds. To settle the question finally, suit has been brought in the Supreme Judicial Court, which will be pushed to the speediest possible conclusion, and will be decided, it is believed, within three months. Meanwhile, as security for the bondholders, the Directors have set aside a fund equal to the interest accruing December 1st, which is appropriated solely to paying that interest, should the Court decide in favor of the right of the Company to pay it.

Whether the bondholders will be content to abide by a decision of the courts of Massachusetts, or will wish to try the remedy in the State where the property is situate, remains to be seen. We should suppose that if the conditions of lease to the Eastern Railroad of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway is broken by the nonpayment of the interest, that the road will probably be taken possession of by its stockholders and run separately; but as the majority of the stock is held by the Eastern Railroad, the bondholders would probably have relief only after a protracted litigation.

THE REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The Thanksgiving and praise service at the North church, Thursday morning, was as fully attended as could be expected in such stormy weather. At the praise service were sung "Coronation," "That heavenly land," "Revive us again," "Are your windows open towards Jerusalem?" After invocation by Mr. Noyes, the congregation united in singing "O, think of the home over there," and then Rev. Mr. Goss led in prayer. Rev. Mr. Hubbell announced that the public revival services would close on Sunday, and that the meetings on Monday would be devoted to inquirers and converts. Remarks were made as to the expenses of the meetings, and voluntary contributions were desired. Mr. Hubbell then preached from Eph. 5:20.

The gospel meeting on Thursday evening was largely attended, considering the unfavorable weather. The usual praise service preceded the regular exercises, and the following hymns were sung by request: "What shall the harvest be?" "Almost persuaded," and "Oh where are the reapers?" The services opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Noyes, Mr. McGranahan sang "Grandfather's Bible," Mr. Whittle read as a scripture lesson Luke 15, then Mr. McGranahan sang "The ninety and nine," and "Memories of childhood." After invoking the divine blessing on the songs sung and on the service of the evening, Mr. Whittle took for the subject of his remarks 2d Sam. 9:1—13, as illustrating the scripture, "by grace are ye saved."

A large attendance at the North church Friday evening, showed the undiminished interest in the meetings. The praise service was rendered with spirit, the selections being, "I need Thee every hour," "Where are the nine," "Trusting Jesus, that is all," "Salvation," and "White as snow."

Mr. McGranahan sang "Tell me more about Jesus," the choir joining in the chorus, prayer was offered by Dr. Alden, the congregation sang "Arise, my soul, arise," Mr. Whittle announced that on Monday, from 10 to 12 o'clock A. M., and from 2 to 4 o'clock, afternoon, there would be an enquiry meeting at the Baptist church on Middle street, and then Mr. McGranahan sang "Eternity."

After invoking God's blessing, Mr. Whittle took as the foundation of his discourse Eph. 1:6. There are three things found in this passage: first, by whom we have redemption "through his blood;" second, what we have, "forgiveness of sin;" and third, how we have it, "according to the riches of his grace." If men are really sinners they ought to know it, if they are living for self they ought to understand it. According to the scriptures all men are sinners, they are aliens from the kingdom of God, being "dead in trespasses and sins." There is not one promise in the Bible that any man can claim unless he has received Christ. It is vain to suppose that any man can get to heaven by his good works, for no one ever perfectly kept God's law, and therefore, under it all are in condemnation. Redemption comes to us through the grace of God, and not because of any good in us. "Not by works of righteousness which we have done but according to his mercy he saved us." We have come under the penalty of the law, and Jesus has redeemed us from that penalty, and on the cross bore our sins. Jesus is a true Redeemer for he has purchased our salvation. How is this redemption to be received? We must believe in that redemption and we must receive it. We are utterly helpless to redeem ourselves, Christ alone can save us. God forgives sinners according to his own knowledge of them, and not according to the feeble knowedge they have of themselves. The more one sees of this gospel the more holy life he lives, the more he desires to be like Jesus. Jesus has paid all the price, and all we can do is to receive him. This gospel is free as air, this salvation is free to all, but we must accept it, or it will not avail us anything.

Mr. McGranahan, assisted by a quartette of male voices, sang "My Redeemer." Mr. Whittle offered prayer, a hymn was sung, and then the usual enquiry meeting was held.

A meeting of the Board of Trade is called for next Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Common Council room. PER ORDER.

Portsmouth Chronicle

A Remarkable Presentiment.

In March last, while the ill-fated United States steamer Huron was lying in the harbor of Port Royal, S. C., Lieutenant Arthur H. Fletcher, her executive officer, left the vessel on a twenty-four hours' leave of absence, and, failing to return at the expiration of that time, the ship sailed for another port without him. A few days after Mr. Fletcher returned to Port Royal, reported to Commodore J. H. B. Clitz, "senior naval officer present," and stated to him that for some time past he had a presentiment that if he went to sea in the Huron for the purpose of finishing the cruise (two years) he would be wrecked. This feeling took complete possession of his mind, and he used every means to get detached, but the Navy Department refused to order it without a better reason. When he found that all his efforts had failed he left the Huron in the manger stated, with the intention not to return. For this he was placed under arrest and tried by court-martial at the Washington Navy-Yard in August last. In defense he made a statement in substance as above, and called Com. Clitz, Commander George P. Ryan, of the Huron, and other officers, to prove that before leaving the ship he had told them of the dread—in fact horror—he had of finishing the cruise in the vessel. This is a matter of record, on file in the Navy Department, and, though such a line of defense was laughed at when made, the fate of the Huron will cause many superstitious people to think that Mr. Fletcher's premonition was fully proven to be a true one by the wreck off Kitty-hawk, N. C.—N. Y. Sun.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purpose."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur

Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have proved more wonderful cures of obstinate bedridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ringbone, Sweeney, Callus, Strengthening Ball, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling about on crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a tumor. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefits I have received by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specific in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial property of man? An inferior cannot supersede a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors, Ulcers or Old Sores, Blotches, Pimples; and Chronic Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Bilious ness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and Scrofula, is pen boiled or Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If your feet ch ll, drowsy, debilitated, have callous color of skin, or yellowish spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy foreboding, irregular appetite, and t ngue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint," one part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all these ailments, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Aloline in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland or organ escaping thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are always ready for a reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes, the daily use of two of which for a few days will most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, sore Eyes, and Eruptions. They, however, recommend not to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, to which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for the many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and

WEAKNESSES
PECULIAR TO FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of surpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring a healthy tone. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz.: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion or Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Dyspepsia; and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but to enumerate them here.

The following Ladies are a few of the many those who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. Methvin, Butcher's station, Ga.; Mrs. L. A. Symonds, Rome, N. Y.; Mrs. Frances Buswick, Versailles, Ohio; Mrs. Leroy Putnam, North Wharton, Pa.; Mrs. Mary A. Hurold, Adena, Ohio; Mrs. Mary A. Frisch, Lehmann's Store, D. T.; Geo. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; then renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brash, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, dishcase of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and of Foul Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with others was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was not troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell, which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD,
Short-Hand Writer.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 3, 1876.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived here to-night all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have not been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried SANFORD'S CURE. You can refer any one you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 15, 1876.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE

not only promptly arrests the corroding discharges in Catarrh, but by sympathetic action, it restores to sound health all the organs of the head that have become affected by it, and exhibits any of the following affections:

Defective Eyesight, Inflamed and Mattery Eyes, Painful and Watery Eyes, Loss of Hearing, Earache, Neuralgia of the Ear, Discharges from the Ear, Ringing Noises in the Head, Dizziness, Nervous Headache, Pains in the Temples, Loss of the Senses of Taste and Smell, Elongation of the Uvula, Inflammation of the Tonsils, Fœtid Sore Throat, Tickling or Hacking Cough, Bronchitis, and Bleeding of the Lungs.

Each package contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full and carefully prepared directions for use in all cases. Price, $1. For sale by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

COLLINS'

Treasures Under the Sea.

An expedition is now preparing at New York for an errand of rare romance in this prosaic time. Its object is to search with all the appliances of modern science, for some of the "unsunned heaps" of jewels with which centuries of war and wreck are supposed to have strewed the bottom of the Spanish main.

One of the most gorgeous of the authentic tales of this enchanted region is that of the loss in 1815 of the Spanish treasureship San Pedro Alcantara with over $6,000,000 in gold, silver, and precious stones, off the Venezuelan shore. This vessel had been sent by King Ferdinand VII. to convoy some provision ships for the fleet engaged in subjugating to Spanish rule the States along the south shore of the Caribbean sea. There were 1300 men on board, and the chests contained $3,000,000 in silver.

On reaching Caracas, a revolution was found in progress, and the Spanish citizens hastened to put their property on board the San Pedro. The gold alone amounted to $1,000,000, and the jewels probably to as much again, and this vast treasure was increased by more than as much more by a descent on some of the revolted towns on the coast and the carrying away of all the wealth the insatiate mariners could lay their hands on.

The acquisition of these riches completely turned the heads of the Spaniards, and officers, soldiers and sailors prepared to celebrate their fortune by a grand debauch. In the midst of their revelry the cry of "fire" was heard. The drunken mob, fighting desperately for the life-boats, made no effort to save the treasure or to check the flames, which soon reached the powder-magazine, and the huge three-decker was almost instantly blown to fragments, almost all the lives destroyed, and the untold wealth of metals and jewels strewn over the bottom of the sea.

Since that day one of the favorite undertakings of marine adventurers has been to raise the lost treasures of the San Pedro Alcantara. These attempts have all failed from varieties of causes, chiefly the inadequacy of diving and dredging apparatus to work effectively at the depth of over 60 feet, in which the vessel lies. Perhaps $50,000 in all have been recovered, which is but a small proportion of the millions which undoubtedly repose there among the sands.

The present expedition, however, which will start during the coming month, has good assurance of success, as Capt. L. H. Folingsbee of San Francisco, the projector, has supplied himself with drags and dredges of the most improved pattern and which his experience has shown him are entirely adequate for the purpose. He believes that the chests of gold were tossed by the explosion to a greater distance from the vessel than the explorers have searched, and have sunk deeper in the sand than their instruments could penetrate. He has obtained permission of the Venezuelan government to search for the treasure for six years in consideration of the payment of five per cent on all sums recovered, and as he can examine minutely all the ground necessary in eight months, he starts out with the confident expectation of returning within a year, possessor of all the unvalued wealth of the ill-fated galleon.

—A Dumfriesshire (Scotland) gentleman protests against the ravages caused by botany classes. He says that the intense desire to obtain specimens will lead, by and by, to the actual extinction of many beautiful forms of British flora.

—On a railway line, recently, a passenger stopped the conductor, and asked, "Why does not the train run faster?" "It goes fast enough to suit us. If you don't like the rate of speed, get off and walk," was the rejoinder. "I would," replied the passenger, setting back in his seat, "but my friends wouldn't come for me until the train comes in, and I don't want to be waiting around the station two or three hours."

—Rev. T. Dewitt Talmage, was moved by the Vanderbilt controversy to say something on wills and will making, the other day, and this is the way he put it: First, let your wife have at least two-thirds, and your children share and share alike. If you have $100 to bequeath, don't give $95 of it to one boy and $5 to your wife and other children. That family is awfully askew when the son receives more than the wife. When a man takes a wife she should be made queen—first in every ambition, first in every provision—and when a man does not act in this way I conclude that he is cursed with a very poor wife, or that she is cursed with a very mean husband.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1877.

Congress.

The Senate session on Friday continued from its opening until 2:30 A. M. Saturday. During the day a shrewd trick was played in the absence from the chamber of Messrs. Edmunds and one or two other prominent republicans. Some one asked Conover to move an executive session. The democrats voted solidly with him, and the result was a brief session at which the nominations of Harlan, for the Supreme Judge, and Hilliard, for Minister to Brazil, were hurriedly confirmed. But the opponents of these gentlemen got wind of the game, and arrived in the chamber in time to move a reconsideration in each case, which was granted. There was the usual amount of speechifying on the Butler-Kellogg matters, but nothing of great interest occurred except that Patterson made a red-hot attack upon the President and Senators Conkling and Edwards. At two o'clock Saturday morning, by agreement, a vote was taken on both Kellogg's and Butler's cases, Kellogg was admitted, Conover and Patterson voting for him and Davis of Illinois against him. Butler was admitted by a vote of 29 to 28; Conover and Patterson voted for Butler; Davis did not vote. The new Senators were sworn in; and at half-past two o'clock the Senate adjourned.

The House was not in session, no quorum being present.

The Eastern War.

The Turks claim a great victory at Plevna, and that they have captured three Russian redoubts.

Servia is taking active measures for joining in the war against Turkey.

A despatch from Bucharest says that the Turks have evacuated Lom Palanka. A despatch from Constantinople says that Mehemet Ali has informed the Seraskurati that he cannot attempt the relief of Plevna unless he is strongly reinforced.

A rupture between Turkey and Italy, consequent on the seizure of two Italian vessels by the Turks, seems probable.

The British fleet at Besika bay, which had been ordered to Smyrna and Malta for the winter, will remain in Besika bay.

News and Notes.

The bodies of Commander Ryan, Lieut. Simons, Engineer Olsen, Ensign Danner and Cadet Engineer Loomis have been found; also the bodies of about forty of the crew of the Huron. The bodies were picked up scattered along the beach for a distance of fifteen miles or more from the wreck.

Gov. Van Zandt of Rhode Island sent an eighteen-pound Narragansett turkey with his compliments to President Hayes, and it was served at the White House, Thanksgiving day.

Mr. Samuel Bowles, of the Springfield Republican, was stricken with paralysis of the brain on Saturday, and cannot recover.

An ignorant colored girl at Norwich, Connecticut, was caught trying to cut off her hand with a large knife, because she had literally read the Scripture, "If thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut it off."

A bright, educated young woman has within six months stolen jewelry worth eleven thousand dollars from Chicago families. The method was to engage as a servant, and by intelligence and good conduct to win the confidence of her employers. Having established a reputation as a "jewel of a girl," she improves the first chance to steal.

A small boy named Frank Thompson, while crossing Main street, Springfield, Wednesday evening, near the First Baptist Church, was run over by a horse car and almost instantly killed.

A daring attempt at murder was made at the residence of Christopher Purmont, near North Troy, Vt., early Wednesday night. Mrs. Purmont, who was sleeping in a room on the ground floor, was awakened, about ten o'clock, by the report of a gun and the crash of the window to her sleeping apartment. Hastily arising she summoned her husband, who sleeps in the second story, and an investigation was made which revealed that a shot had been fired from the outside of the house, at Mrs. Purmont, who was sleeping in the bed. The shot passed through the window, breaking two panes of glass, and struck in the bed without injury to the lady. The shot must have been fired close to the window, as the curtain was blackened by the powder and a piece of the wadding was found in the bed. The lateness of the hour and the darkness rendered an attempt to pursue the would-be assassin futile, and no arrests have been made.

Hon. G. V. Fox, in an open letter to the Mayor of Boston concerning the figures on the Battle Monument recently dedicated in that city, says: "There are four bas-reliefs of bronze on its respective faces, to which I desire to call your attention. Two are appropriated to the army, one to the Sanitary Commission of the army and the fourth to the navy. On these are some seventy or eighty human figures, every one of which, the sculptor informs me, is a portrait, but not one, even on the naval bas-relief, represents any regular or volunteer officer or sailor of the navy or of the marine corps."

An operative in one of the largest mills at Rockville, Connecticut, gave up his place recently because his mother-in-law had died, and the folks wanted him to come and take care of the old place. "Then, besides, she left me a little sum, about forty thousand dollars, which will need some looking after." And all that joy didn't kill the man.

Mr. Joseph Seligman, the banker, who has just returned from Europe, reports that after the lapse of twelve years since he saw them, he found his children and grandchildren abroad, numbering some sixty, all in perfect health.

The widowered King of Holland has determined upon contracting a morganatic marriage with a dramatic star of small magnitude, known on the boards as Mlle. Emilie d'Ambre, for whom the King has obtained from a neighboring serenity the title of Comtesse d'Ambroise. It is to enjoy a life of domestic happiness with his beautiful young wife that his Majesty has acquired a hotel in Paris, to which he is sending his art collections and other treasures. The marriage is expected to take place soon.—London World.

An Englishman in India has invented a solar battery consiting of 200 small mirrors, so arranged that they focused the sun's rays upon a small copper boiler, and generated steam in it in twenty minutes. He contends that he could by the same means generate heat enough to drive the largest spinning mill in Bombay.

The timber used in the Comstock mines, Nevada, costs $17,000 a day; the firewood, mostly consumed by the steam engines, $6000; candles burned in the mines $10,000; the quicksilver lost $2000; and the ice needed to cool the water for drinking in the hot lower levels, $1000 a day.

On Thursday morning, in Philadelphia, John H. Brown (colored) shot William Kelley, a son of Congressman Kelley, while riding in a street car. The ball entered Mr. Kelley's right cheek and lodged in the back of his neck, but the wound is probably not fatal. The assailant had been drinking and shot Mr. Kelley without provocation.

Who Was Responsible?

The sad circumstances attending the loss of the U. S. S. Huron naturally call for an enquiry as to the causes and reason why a government vessel, so short a time at sea, with a good departure, should be lost less than one hundred miles from port. I would not reflect on Capt. Ryan's responsibility for the sad affair, but rather throw the mantle of charity over him, for there is and can be no doubt that he did all that could be done under the trying circumstances of the wreck; but why did he put to sea when the danger signal was flying? Any one acquainted with the official relations between the commanding and subordinate officers in the navy, is aware that although some orders are not made imperative, that are transmitted from one to the other, still they are couched in such language that the subordinate will construe them as meaning a request and will use all reasonable endeavors to carry them out. We think that the blame of the Huron's going to sea belongs to the commanding officer of the North Atlantic squadron, Admiral Trenchard; for he, as commanding officer, clothed with authority, should have ordered the Huron to remain at her anchorage while cautionary signals were displayed at the signal stations, for it certainly seems that some one was remiss in his duty in allowing the ship to leave port. The government at a large expense has organized a signal office with stations along the coast in charge of responsible officers, who display the storm signal as soon as ordered from the chief's office; but in face of these warning signals the government vessel left a safe anchorage and went to her doom. After being at sea everything was made snug; sails were set, which being reefed should not have blown away at that time, but did blow away, and no doubt that circumstance aided somewhat the unfortunate accident. The engines are reported to have been in perfect working order, and were used for some time after the ship struck, which speaks well for them. The statement of one of her officers was that they were steering S. S. E., with the wind E. S. E.; that course should have carried them clear of everything, had they made that course good. We think the current could not have been strong enough to have drifted her so far out of the course as to carry her on the beach, and the only cause there can be assigned for her going ashore so soon is that a local attraction disarranged her compasses, which must have made them steer a course two points to westward of the true course, and there should be a thorough examination on that point made, as that might relieve the commander from any blame which some persons might attach to him.

THE CITY.

A meeting of the Board of Trade is called for next Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Common Council room. PER ORDER.

The tenth anniversary of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry occurs Tuesday, Dec. 4th, and will be observed by Portsmouth Grange by a harvest supper at their hall on that evening.

Only $1.50 for the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE from now to the first of January, 1879. Delivered free of expense to each subscriber,—by carrier in the city, by mail anywhere within the United States.

Sunday was a pleasant winter day—the first real winter day we have had this season. The sky was clear and the sun bright, the air still, fresh and crisp, and the thermometer stood at ten degrees above zero in the morning.

The brig Clara J. Adams, now in the dry dock at the navy yard, is being repaired under the direction of the well known master ship builder, Mr. Wm. F. Fernald. The brig will receive nearly an entire new keel and new stern post, as well as considerable new planking.

The special revival services conducted by Major Whittle closed on Sunday evening, when that gentleman preached his last sermon here. There will be enquiry meetings to-day from ten o'clock to noon and from two to six P. M., and a prayer meeting for converts and enquirers only at 7:30,—all at the Middle street church.

On Saturday evening there was a collision on Pleasant street, near Mr. Thos. H. Odlon's house, between Mr. M. H. Wentworth's carriage and one of Jackson & Co's Express wagons, in which the carriage came off second best, having a wheel knocked off and being in other ways demoralized so that the occupants had to get out and walk, the horse being then taken out of the shafts and the wreck drawn off by hand.

Mr. Thomas S. Gay of Portsmouth, N. H., writes to the Post to say that Acting Master William H. Howartz, U. S. N., a Boston boy who formerly resided on Kneeland street, and who fought with Cushing and was present at the destruction of the rebel ram Albemarle, deserves credit as having an honorable naval record. Paymaster Swan and Mr. Gay are the only surviving officers who assisted in destroying the Albemarle.—Boston Post.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, Dec. 1st; Batchelder, J.

Peter Hart, for drunkenness,—the evidence showed that Peter was very drunk indeed, Friday evening—was fined $3, costs $6.90.

Peter Hart, for brawl and tumult, consequent on his very drunken condition indeed, Friday evening, was fined $3, costs $8.04. The total, $20.94, added to what he paid for his grog, made this a very high priced drunk for Mr. Hart.

Samuel Flanigan, a young fellow who was brought up charged with having been drunk, refused to own the soft impeachment; furthermore, he promised that if he were let off he would "keep straight for a year," and as he is not one of the regular customers of the Police Court he was dismissed on probation.

MASONIC ELECTION.

On the evening of Nov. 30th (St. Andrew's Day) the annual election of officers took place in St. Andrew's Lodge, No. 56, the following brethren being chosen to serve for the ensuing year:

John Pender, Worshipful Master.
William A. Hodgdon, Senior Warden.
William A. Ashe, Junior Warden.
Wingate N. Disley, Treasurer.
Alfred F. Howard, Secretary.
S. C. Whittier, W. P. Walker, Standing Com.
Joseph Parry, Rep. to Grand Lodge.

THE JACKSON HILL STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Having a curiosity to see for what Messrs. Frank Jones and others wished to expend $2000 of the city's money in these times of economy and high taxes, I recently visited the locality of the proposed Jackson Hill Street extension. The street seems to be, in the start, somewhat crooked, and the petitioners, some of whom are heavy taxpayers, ask for a new portion of the street to come out near the blacksmith shop on North street, making two avenues, where but one—now but little used—ought to answer. This seems reasonable if the property to be benefitted can be sufficiently increased in its taxable valuation to warrant the great outlay. The street leads to the residence of one of the aldermen and is not a thoroughfare; but few carriages or teams pass over it, and the accommodation is for a few individuals and not to any extent for the public convenience. On the entire street are six occupied estates. The taxed value of these is $7650. The cost of land damages, building the road, etc., would require an annual appropriation for interest of $120. The property in the first instance ought to be increased in its taxable valuation $6000, if our rate of taxes can be put down to two per cent. on the hundred dollars, to make the city whole in the expenditure. This is perhaps low, but it is allowing something for the general use of a road that is only used by the abuttors, some of whom are better accommodated by the road as at present located. Will the property bear this increased valuation? if not, the game is not worth the candle. We are hoping for better times, but even should the times improve, can we afford to expend money upon a street where a way now is found that certainly is far more convenient than several in other localities. Is it contended that any new taxable property will come into market, or that increased valuation of the few estates on this way will be even as much as shall yield in shape of taxes, the interest on the cost of the outlay? A prominent gentleman who signed the petition, to oblige some one, holds to the theory that the property owners on the street should be allowed their request, and then be made to pay for the cost of taxation. But will the assessors in the future look at it in that light, or is that a safe precedent to establish? The assessors must appraise the real estate there at its true value, and is there any pretence that the land or houses on this street will really be of any greater value after the outlay than they are to-day? Can they possibly become enhanced a hundred per cent.? It has been suggested that this is a dull season of the year, and the building of the extension would give some employment to many men and teams, and the land damages would probably be less than the Aldermen estimated them. It is not a question of expediency. The enquiry is, not will it pay, but is it a proper expenditure to saddle upon the city in these times,—when so many with difficulty can pay their taxes, and when the great shrinkage of property, both real and personal, makes the burthen of taxation so severe that nothing should be added to it, that possibly can be avoided?

ECONOMIST.

THE VICINITY.

A horse valued at $1200, belonging to Mr. W. Scott Kelley of Stratham, was found cast in his stall last week, and died from his injuries.

The recent heavy rains have done much damage in York county, Me. At York bench several buildings were injured, and half the cellars in Kittery were flooded.

A son of Mr. Addison Norton of Cape Neddick, Me., while playing in a stable recently, was kicked in the forehead by a horse and died next day. The boy was two years and a half old.

The new Town Hall in Stratham was dedicated on Wednesday evening with appropriate services. Hon. Joseph A. C. Wingate, a native of that town, delivered an address, after which were remarks by Hon. John J. Bell of Exeter and others.

Not over 2000 miles from Stratham lived a wood merchant, whose traffic was confined to the disposing of his fuel by the cord, at a neighboring village. Upon a late date he fell ill, and was obliged to abandon his calling. His son, a shrewd youth of fifteen summers, informed his father that he was anxious to assume control of his business, but the parent strongly hinted that he was no more calculated to sell wood than that warm abode of the wicked was suitable for a powder magazine; in fact, he did not understand the first rudiments of the business; or in plainer words, he did not know how many feet it required for a cord. The lad was very positive that he was thoroughly posted. His sire then put the question: "How many feet make a cord, my son?" The answer was promptly given—"Seven, father." The sick parent warmly grasped the hand of his promising young hopeful, and in a voice trembling with pleasing emotions, he said: "My son, my noble son, you will do!"—Cor. News-Letter.

A Monkey's Death Scene.

"I never saw such a thing in my life," said James Donohue, the night watchman of the Central Park museum, New York. "On Tuesday Zip, one of Barnum's monkeys, fell suddenly and dangerously ill. He was a great favorite with his companions—their leader in mischief. Superintendent Conklin examined him and said he would die. We got a bed of straw and cotton for him, and left warm milk by his side.

At 11 o'clock I went to the cage. Usually the monkeys at night sit huddled together, sound asleep; but this time they were all wide awake, sitting silent and moveless, watching Zip's dying agonies. Zip lay in a corner sobbing and moaning. Jack and Pete, the two trick monkeys, were at his side. Jack had Zip's head resting on his bosom, while Pete every now and then dipped his paw in the milk and wet Zip's lips.

But there's a stranger thing about it yet," Mr. Donohue continued; "at midnight Zip died. Then came what my partner Reilly, and Barnum's man, say they never saw the like of. As Zip's head fell limp in the arms of Jack, he gave a little low squeal, and Pete sprang to his side. Pete looked at Zip, lifted up one of his paws, tapped him gently on the breast, put his ear to his heart, raised his head, and then gave a shrill squeal. Jack in answer dropped Zip just as naturally as a human being would at the first intimation that the form he held was dead. Pete was the first to recover himself. Slowly he approached Zip, examined him closely, raised him in his arms, dropped him hard on the floor of the cage, and, as Zip did not move, sprang to the uppermost perch. Wasn't that strange?"

The reporter assented.

"Then, sir," continued Mr. Donohue, "came the most extraordinary thing ever witnessed in the park. The monkeys set up the most piercing screams. The baby monkeys pressed close to their mothers, and the females close to the males. All chattered and chattered, and pointed to poor Zip. Finally, Pete and Jack, followed by all the others, sprang to the bottom of the cage. They were all silent now, moving slow, and in the form of a circle they gradually came nearer and nearer. Then, hugging close, they stopped. All night long they remained watching the body, and I never saw a wake that could beat that one for earnestness and sympathy."—N. Y. paper.

—An unsatisfactory meal—A domestic broil.

—The spectacle of a cartman dumping seventy-eight bars of solid silver, averaging 150 pounds in weight, on the sidewalk before the New York stock exchange the other day, caused quite a crowd to collect. The whole lot was worth $140,000.

—Penn, the founder of Pennsylvania, abhorred smoking. His Quaker council one day observing his approach, laid down their pipes. "I am glad to see," said Penn, "you are ashamed of that vile habit." "Not at all," returned a principal Friend: "we only laid them down lest we should offend a weak brother."

—A few days ago a customer in a wholesale house remarked to the dealer that he noticed an unpleasant odor upon the premises. The latter did not perceive anything, and the customer added: "Well, I guess it is the cellar that smells." The other replied: "Not at all, I smell nothing. It seems to be the buyer who smells."

—Miss Eagan, the Fall River mill girl who so mysteriously lost her speech a few weeks ago after dreaming that she would lose it, recovered it in a way fully as singular. She felt a sudden shock and a choking sensation, causing an exclamation, and from that moment her voice has gained strength and distinctness. She felt considerable pain at first about her chest and lungs, but that is gradually wearing away.

—An attempt to break into the safe of a Middletown quarry company was made the other night, and the criminal was detected in a singular way. During his attempts a button was torn from his coat and picked up subsequently by a policeman, who paraded the streets next day until he found a man with a missing coat button, and, on arresting him, found that the button he held matched those still remaining.

—They tell an amusing musical story of a young lady in town, who drops in her lover's place of business daily, and leaning upon his shoulder gently perambulates his coat collar with her jeweled hand and sweetly warbles in his ear, "I Need Thee every Hour." The youth instantly suspends business, encircles her waist with one arm, presses fervently her disengaged hand, and responds in dulcet tenor strains, "Hold the Fort, for I am coming."

—It is related that Col. Ingersoll once gave an ingenious explanation, at a Parisian dinner party, of the American practice of carrying weapons. A French guest turning to Ingersoll exclaimed: "Will the Colonel explain this matter? Why, Messieurs, I can travel all over France armed with only a bodkin." The Colonel rose to his feet and replied: "The explanation is this: A Frenchman's rights are so few in number, and so insignificant in character, that they can be enforced with a bodkin, or for that matter with a tooth-pick. But in America a citizen's rights are so numerous and important that he needs a whole arsenal to defend them. Hence the practice of carrying weapons in America.'

—A neat swindle was perpetrated on Henry Ward Beecher at Brooklyn recently. A young man named James Collins, who was formerly employed by Mr. Arbuckle, one of Mr. Beecher's parishioners, called at his house with a note purporting to be signed by Mr. Arbuckle desiring the loan of Mr. Beecher's dictionary. Without stopping to consider the singularity of the request, he gave a $25 Webster's Unabridged to the messenger, who at once made off with it, and has thus far evaded arrest.

Portsmouth Chronicle

—Senator Withers, of Virginia, has a daughter called Virginia Secessia Withers. She was born on the day Virginia seceded.

—In the New York Stock Exchange recently the "boys" determined to have Jimmy Davis, a member, dance on the main table on the rostrum. Notwithstanding the gentleman flatly refused to make a public exhibition of himself, he was tossed on the table and forced to comply with the demand of his persecutors. The President attempted to put a stop to the disturbance, but was hooted down.

—Gen. Longstreet has written to the Philadelphia Weekly Times an interesting and valuable description of the battle of Gettysburg. He advised Lee to decline attack at Gettysburg but to interpose his army between Meade and Washington and compel the Union forces to open the fight. But Lee had other plans and directed Longstreet to make the opening assault. His corps numbered 13,000 men. It charged up Cemetery Ridge with such bravery and audacity that Gen. Meade thought that Gen. Lee's whole army was at his heels. Reducing his right wing to one brigade, Meade harried the others to the support of his imperiled left, and forced Longstreet back. When night came, Longstreet found that he had lost 4529 men, or more than one-third of his corps. Longstreet charges the failure of his assault to Ewell's inactivity, declaring that if Ewell had attacked Meade's weakened right wing, it would surely have been overcome and the battle won. He also criticises Pickett's assault on the second day of the battle, and says that it was a great mistake in Gen. Lee to order it made.

MacDonald, Matthew Arnold, Turguenief, Auerbach, Ba-kin, Browning, Longfellow, and many others, are represented in the pages of

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

Jan. 1, 1878, THE LIVING AGE enters upon its 135th volume. During the year it will furnish to its readers the productions of the foremost authors, of world-wide and many others, embracing the choicest Serial and Short Stories by Leading Foreign Novelists, and an amount in the world, of the most valuable Literary and Scientific matter of the day, from the pens of the Leading Essayists, Scientists, Critics, Discoverers, and Editors, representing every department of Knowledge and Progress of all nations.

Unapproached by any other Periodical

THE LIVING AGE is a weekly magazine giving more than double-column octavo pages of reading-matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a satisfactory completeness attempted by no other publication, the best Essays, Reviews, Criticisms, Tales, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific, Biograph cal, Historical and Political Inform tion, from a entire body of Foreign Periodical Literature.

It is therefore invaluable to every American reader, as the only fresh and COMPLETE compilation of all indispensable current literature,—indispensable because it embraces the productions of

in all branches of Literature, Science, Art, and Politics.

TILTON KEEPS FOR SALE

WHIPS, RUBBER WASHERS,

And all articles expected to be found in a first-class Harness Shop, at

No. 18 Congress St.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

THE WONDERFUL OLD HOME TONIC AND HEALTH RENEWER.

For the Stomach.—Ensuring hearty appetite, good digestion and vigorous health in every clime of the body.

For the Bowels.—Regulating the action.

A Boon to delicate females in a thousand ways not necessary to speak of.

Centaur Liniments.

They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.

The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have per ormed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinaries. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, String-halt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been specially restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly sold of the effects upon the human family. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a failure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.

Honey

To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is particularly adapted to Teething and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gripes nor gripes.

COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1876.

Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:

I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been saved from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefit I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.

Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest and most wonderful remedies ever discovered for all flesh, bone, and muscle ailments—Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for the human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, while use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD REMEDIES

Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.

NATURAL SELECTION.

Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that vouchsafes thrift and perpetuity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot successe a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivalled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and real upon any other basis than that of merit.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Pectoral.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.

Golden Medical Discovery

Is Tonic.

Golden Medical Discovery

By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness, Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint," and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.

Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness," in many cases of "Liver Complaint," only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.

P.P.P.P.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets.

Purely Vegetable. No care required while using them.

The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Multum in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the gross, nauseating, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.

As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness and Oppression of the Chest, Hot Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, I would say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved uninjured for any length of time, so long they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. Nearly one-half of the Pellets are cured the most obstinate cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore-Eyes, and Eruptions. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

PECULIAR TO

FEMALES.

Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic to the relaxed system. It is a most potent, surpassed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppressions, Weak Back, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, which I mention elsewhere.

The following Ladies are a few of the many those who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription from experience and observation:

Mrs. Cornelia Allison, Peosta, Iowa; Mrs. Thos. J. McBride, Hatchetown station, G. J.; Mrs. T. A. Symour, Rome, N. Y.; Mrs. Francis Huswick, Versailles, Ohio; Mrs. Leroy Putnam, North Wharton, Pa.; Mrs. Mary A. Russell, Edina, Mo.; Mrs. Mary A. Friebie, Lehman, Pa.; Mrs. D. L. Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1877.

Congress.

In the House, Saturday, a resolution instructing the committee on patents to report a bill to prevent the maintaining of suits against persons who ignorantly purchase patented articles which have been infringed upon was adopted—yeas 113, nays 43.

Mr. Knott of Kentucky introduced a bill for the relief of sufferers by the wreck of the United States steamer Huron. The bill proposes to give each surviving officer the sum of $1000, and each surviving seaman the sum of $100, to reimburse them for the loss sustained. It also provides that the heirs and representatives of those lost shall receive a sum equal to twelve months' sea pay, in addition to that due at the time of the disaster. An amendment was inserted to include the families of Captain Guthrie of the life-saving service and his crew, who went to the rescue of the Huron. Memrs. Hale of Maine, Garfield, Butler of Massachusetts, Goode of Virginia and others commended the object of the bill and hoped that it would pass. Mr. Butler took occasion to call attention to the importance of the Life-saving Service, and expressed the hope that when the subject properly came up a liberal appropriation would be made for that service. The bill was passed unanimously.

In the Senate, in executive session, Fitzsimmons was confirmed as Marshal of Georgia, Stanley Matthews, Conover and Patterson voting in favor.

The House bill for the relief of the Huron's men was sent to committee on naval affairs.

Senator Wadleigh, from the committee on elections, submitted a report in the case of James B. Eustis, claiming a seat in the Senate from Louisiana, accompanied by a resolution declaring Eustis entitled to a seat in the Senate as Senator from Louisiana, for the term ending March 3d, 1879. Placed on the calendar. If Eustis (democrat) is admitted the Senate will stand as follows: Republicans 36, not counting the Nevada silver mines; democrats 36, not counting Davis; Conover and Patterson left over, to hold the balance of power.

The extra session of Congress terminated at noon Monday, when the regular session began. The two houses were called together on the 15th of October, to provide for the pressing necessities of the army and navy, for deficiences in the appropriations, for some other branches of the public service, and for the representation of the United States at the Paris exhibition next year. They have been in session seven weeks, though all the business done might and should have been done in a fortnight.

Both branches of Congress adjourned at ten minutes before twelve o'clock, Monday, the Senate having held no open session. At twelve o'clock both bodies came to order in regular session, and notified the President, the Senate then taking a half-hour's recess. The President's message is a very long one, and strongly opposes any remonetization of silver that does not exempt the public debt from its influence. "The policy" is proclaimed an entire success, and the "peace and good will" that reign in the South glorified.

Report of the Secretary of War.

The following are the estimates of the War Department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1879, as submitted to Congress with the Secretary's report Monday: Salaries, contingent expenses and postage, $1,193,884; military establishments, $31,597,270.68; public works, $7,953,077.86; miscellaneous, $2,571,210-80; total, $43,115,443.24. After alluding to the injurious effects of constally interfering with the army by legislation threatening reduction, the Secretary of War urges an elastic system of organization which will be capable of extension in case of necessity to aggregate a force of from 30,000 to 40,000 men. He thinks the condition of the country makes necessary a military force not less than that now authorized by statute, which should be capable of being raised to a standard necessary to meet any ordinary contingency by increasing the numerical strength of the companies. The Secretary's report, in speaking of the Indian service, favors the feeding of all Indian nations now provided with rations by the Government through the Commissary Department of the army. On the subject of the retirement of officers from active service the Secretary urges legislation which will remove the present limitation as to the number of officers who may be on the retired list at the same time. This number is now 300. The removal of this limitation will not materially increase the number, as a careful inquiry shows that with the proposed changes there will be only about forty officers to add to the list. The Secretary does not favor any change in that portion of the statutes which leaves the question of retirement to the discretion of the President. It has always been urged by younger officers of the army that it should be obligatory upon the President to retire officers at the age of sixty-two.

Report of the Secretary of the Navy.

The Secretary of the Navy, in his annual report, gives the number of vessels in the navy as follows: Sixty-seven steam and twenty-three sailing vessels, twenty-three iron-clads, two torpedo, one ferry and twenty-six tug boats. There are twelve iron-clads at convenient places in fresh water in readiness for active employment when needed. In the list of vessels in active service, in ordinary, undergoing repairs, etc., is mentioned the Colossus, on the stocks at New York, so decayed, having been built of white oak, that she is not worth completing. The Massachusetts is in the same condition at Kittery, and the Oregon at Boston. The wreck of the Huron is alluded to, and the Secretary of the Navy will make the report of the Board to investigate the cause of the unfortunate loss the subject of a special report to Congress. The Connecticut, Iowa and Pennsylvania at Boston, the Java and Susquehanna at New York, the Congress, Kansas and Sabine at Kittery, the Worcester and Shawmut at Norfolk, the Saco, Nyack and Cyane at Mare Island, the Frolic at Washington and the New Orleans at Sackett's Harbor also are mentioned as so much decayed that they are unfitted for repairs or completion. The Rio Brava was sent up the Rio Grande river more than a year ago, and is anchored at Brownsville, from which place she cannot proceed either up or down the stream in consequence of the shallowness of the water. She can, therefore, only render such assistance to that exposed frontier as could be afforded by local fortification with the same number of men and guns, or by transferring the men for military service on shore in case of necessity. The active list of the navy is composed of 828 officers of the line, 594 officers of staff and 249 warrant officers. The retired list is composed of 135 officers of line, 103 officers of staff, 27 warrant officers and four professors of mathematics. There were in service on the 24th of November, 1877, 7012 enlisted men and boys.

The "Superior Creature" Rebuked.

The New York Nation, the high-toned paper that for years has so ably championed free trade and the interests of British manufacturers, has recently stirred up a hornet's nest. The dignified Evening Post calls the Nation "a female Pope;" and the Tribune, having been assailed, hits back as follows:

"We know it is a species of leze-majesty to accuse this Superior Creature of the common failings of journalism, such as falsehood, malice, ignorance and that curiously defective sense of responsibility which manifests itself in a propensity to make injurious statements without inquiring into their truth; but the extract cited above seems to us a load of reckless abuse which ought not to be dumped by an ordinarily decent cartman at a man's door without eliciting a protest."

The Tribune goes on to show that the Nation is guilty either of deliberately lying or recklessly slandering,—and shows it, too; and then gives the following severe (because truthful) description of the "independent" paper in politics:

"The trouble is that the tea-caddy school of journalism has no idea of independence. As a mischievous old maid prides herself upon 'frankness' when she retails slander, and tears reputation to tatters, and vilifies her intimate acquaintances more outrageously than anybody else, so the Superior Creature makes it a point to believe all evil of his own side and to say nothing but good of the other, and he calls that impartiality. The one person who is the most certain of injustice at his hands is his next friend. The party against which he directs all his attacks, in time of political warfare, is the party with which he professes to be acting. He is not a dangerous adversary, but he is an exasperating ally. If we were going into battle along side of this person, we think we should feel safer if we killed him before the fighting began. In a charge upon the enemy he is worth nothing; but like the mule he is formidable behind."

A Storm in a Teapot.

Of all the bubbubs caused by the appearance of Col. Bob Ingersoll on the lecture platform in New York State, that at Albany takes precedence. The morning after the lecture the Albany papers came out loud in its praise, and the Argus declared that henceforth "no lecture course in Albany can be complete without Col. Ingersoll." This was followed in due time by a denunciatory protest signed by nearly thirty clergymen, headed by Bishop Doane of the Episcopal church, and to which Bishop McNierney appends a declaration on behalf of the Catholic clergy expressing approval of the paper, and calling the utterances of the lecturer "shocking." This protest sharply excoriates the Young Men's Association, and denounces the lecture as follows:

In itself illogical, inconsequent, irreverent; coarse without strength; destructive without suggestiveness, the lecture deserves no notice. The right of an individual to such thinking, if it be considered a right, and it it can be called thinking, may well be conceded to any one who counts such operations of the brain thoughts; and the right to utter such thoughts in their crudeness, which the law denies to the profane man in his oaths; to the libertine in his licentiousness; or to a traitor in his sedition, may perhaps better be tolerated for its general harmlessness, than be dignified with denial or repression.

The result of this was the adoption of a resolution by the executive committee of the Association disclaiming responsibility for Ingersoll's utterances and upbraiding him as having violated the amenities of the platform. Close upon this comes a published card from the chairman of the lecture committee, Mr. Barnes, assuming all the responsibility for the engagement of Ingersoll, and defending the latter against the attack of the committee upon the ground that the Association is not a "Christian board," and that it would exceed its province "to denounce a speaker because he attacks Christianity." The very natural outcome of all this "tempest in a teapot" is that Ingersoll, at the instance of an enterprising and acute speculator, has engaged to repeat his lecture on the 22d of December, receiving double price, naming $500. But the most amusing and characteristic incident of the whole affair is the changed position of the Argus, which first endorsed Ingersoll, as above noted, but has now withdrawn its endorsement of him, and insists that he is a "buffoon," and that the matter of his lecture is "balderdash," and its "raillery indecent and disgusting."

News and Notes.

During the trial at Auburn, N. Y., a week or so ago, of Cora Young, a beautiful but abandoned young woman who murdered a paramour, a vast deal of sickly-sentimental sympathy was created in her behalf, and she was acquitted. One of the jurymen on the case was Mortimer E. Durkee, a wealthy citizen of a neighboring town, whose wife was one of the most earnest friends of the murderess; and no sooner was the latter discharged than she showed her gratitude and her worth by eloping with old Durkee, leaving Mrs. Durkee half-crazy.

The Department of Justice recently sent an agent to Newport, R. I., to investigate the steamer Estelle, and, if possible, to ascertain her mission. This agent has returned to Washington and made a report to the Attorney-General, which establishes the fact that the vessel belongs to, or is chartered by, friends of "Free Cuba" for the purpose of visiting Cuba with assistance for the patriots. The report will be turned over to the Department of State. A revenue cutter will continue to watch the movements of the Estelle.

The barn of James Corrigan, in Newport, R. I., was partially burned Sunday. The fire was probably caused by Corrigan's four-year-old boy, whose dead body was found in the debris.

Captain Eads states that there is a twenty-two foot channel the whole length of the jetties. The narrowest channel (of twenty-one feet depth) is 180 feet.

The sale at auction at the Mare Island (Cal) navy yard, not long ago, of five hundred barrels of condemned beef, realizing $2,300 for what cost the government $9,500, led to a newspaper investigation of the transaction that unearthed a pretty complete system of government swindling on the following general plan: A parcel of beef is sold to the navy yard; after a little time it is examined by an inspector, one or two barrels of tainted meat being slyly pushed to the front for that officer's benefit. Upon the discovery of the taint in the sample of a report is made condemning the whole parcel, which is accordingly sold at public auction. A "ring" of speculators bid it in, separate the tainted meat and sell the rest to private ship-masters for use on their seagoing vessels. A barrel of good beef bought at $4.50 or $5, for example, is readily sold for $6.50, and the tainted barrelfuls are put through trying out processes for the fat they contain. No wonder people complain of hard times, when they are compelled to pay taxes into the pockets of swindlers at such a rate.

On Saturday morning, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, a brakeman got his foot fast in a frog, and the conductor attempted to rescue him when a freight train struck them, killing both.

Schooner C. & C. Brooke, at New York from Virginia, reports that November 28, 10 P. M., off Barnegat, she was run into by the torpedo boat Alarm, which struck her on the starboard bow, starting the stem, tore the mainsail, stove a boat, knocked off one davit, carried away sails and caused the vessel to leak badly. The Alarm took her in tow and held on for three hours when the hawser parted, and the Alarm returned and anchored off Staten Island to procure a boat, having lost one.

The remains of Henry H. Crossman of Clarendon, Vt., who has been missing since Oct. 17, were found Thursday afternoon in the woods by a boy who was hunting, and taken to Rutland, where an inquest showed that he had died from exposure while intoxicated. A three-gallon can, partly filled with rum, was found at his side. He was a pensioner of the Mexican war, having lost an arm there, and leaves a wife and seven children.

Antonio Nicrosi and Aurelia Sharp were found dead in a cemetery at Montgomery, Ala., on Saturday, with a bullet hole in each head. A note left by Nicrosi, intimates that he murdered the girl and then shot himself, they being "willing to die for each other." They were a pair of nincompoops.

A New York expressman on Saturday stole a trunk in transit, belonging to a Mrs. Pemberton, containing $15,000 and some costly silk dresses.

Sixty-one bodies from the Huron, most of them mutilated past recognition, had been buried by the crew of Life Saving Stations Four, Five and Eight, up to Saturday night.

Charles R. McGill, of Cleveland, Ohio, on Saturday murdered his mistress, Mary Kelley, in a house of ill-fame, shooting her eight times in the head and twice near the heart. The murderer has a wife and child living in Columbus.

Henry Blackman, of Beamingham, Mich., on Saturday murdered his mother and sister and then set fire to the farm buildings. The wretch was lodged in jail.

The public debt statement for November shows a decrease in the debt for the month, of $1,525,634.

New Hampshire Items.

Thomas Ingalls, a farmer of Nashua, was arrested at Lawrence Sunday on a complaint of bastardy preferred by Mrs. Clara Feltch. Ingalls is an old resident of Nashua and owns considerable property. It is believed to be a case of blackmail. The woman has been living at Lawrence lately with a married man named Woodward, who was sent to the House of Correction for one year for an assault on his wife.

While shooting ducks, Saturday, off Branford, Conn., shore, Arthur Samuel Thompson, of Nashua, a graduate of Dartmouth and a member of the Junior class in Yale Theological Seminary, was fatally shot by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of Andrew Grannis, an East Haven farmer. He lived only two hours and a half, the charge having entered his back. He was twenty-four years old.

Political.

The Boston Globe of Monday had a column editorial headed "an alleged newspaper." It was intended as a withering sneer at the Concord Monitor, the sturdy republicanism of which paper seems to sorely trouble the policy-holding conciliationists of the Globe; but in the whole column of wisby-washy twaddle there is discernable but one idea, viz.: "great, and pure, and wise is the Boston Globe; let all country papers bow in humble adoration." The trouble is that the Monitor does not bow to any appreciable extent.

In awarding special credit for the successful contest in the United States Senate during the week, in which the republicans displayed the highest courage and skill, the names of Senators Edmunds, Hoar and Wadleigh appear conspicuous. As chairman of the committee on Privileges and Elections, it was Senator Wadleigh's first trial before the Senate in that position, and it is the universal verdict that he acquitted himself with great credit, and contributed largely to the ultimate republican success.—Nashua Telegraph.

It is now confidently asserted that the New Orleans grand jury will indict Senator Kellogg for malfeasance in office. This is a matter of course. The "conciliated" ex-rebels would indict the angel Gabriel were he admitted to the United States Senate as a republican.

Hamburg Butcher Butler's record, in the South Carolina investigating committee's report, shows him to have been a negro murderer and Ku-Klux leader, and quotations from his utterances are given to show the character of the man. In his testimony before a Congressional committee in 1872, under oath, he said: "I worship no God but the war," and went on to explain that he based his fortunes on the result of the rebellion, and being compelled to remain in the Union was a curse to him. To-day this same Massacre C. Butler is a Senator of the United States, put there by murder in South Carolina and corruption at Washington.

If it is contrary to the policy of reconciliation to stir up the things in the dead past against Butler—and how many dead there are in his past let the story of the Hamburg massacre tell—it must be equally flagitious for a jury out in Oregon to attempt to besmirch the title of Grover.—Cinn. Times.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30th.

All that has always been disagreeable in the House proceedings has been conspicuous in those of the Senate for the past week. Venerable Senators grown gray or bald in the public service, and trained to a serene command of themselves, have been as violent, as abusive, and as tricky as New York aldermen. They have turned the Senate into a boar garden, have kept their seats or their feet all day and all night, and behaved so badly in general that Representatives who wandered over to the Senate wing and looked and listened, blushed at seeing themselves outdone in their own line of business. All this comes, not on a question of legislation, but simply upon the admission of Senators from South Carolina and Louisiana. Yesterday, Thanksgiving Day, the Senate remained in session, each side trying to outwit the other. The prayer at the opening was all that reminded one of the fact that the day was set apart for religious purposes. At this time, Friday noon—it is impossible to tell whether or not any of the contestants will be seated during this session, though it is likely Butler of South Carolina, and Kellogg of Louisiana, will be.

The House was not in session yesterday, and will not meet to-day with the intention of transacting business, but merely as a matter of form. It is waiting for the Senate to act on various bills of public importance, already through the House. Among these is the Paris Exhibition bill, which has a decided majority in both Houses and would be approved by the President, and which seems to have steadily gained friends throughout the country since it was first proposed. The miserable squabble in the Senate may defeat it. Let me venture a prediction that extra sessions of Congress will not be frequent after this most extraordinary one is over.

Outside of the Senate the day was spent much as holidays usually are here. The churches were well filled; places of amusement were largely patronized; and places of business, except restaurants, were closed at mid-day. The population of Washington is very orderly, and there are few arrests necessary on such occasions.

Your readers may have seen a statement of the rate of deaths to the population of this District, which is being extensively circulated, and which, unexplained, will create an impression unfavorable to the healthfulness of the Capital. The ratio is indeed larger than in that of many other cities, but a full statement of the facts explains why this is so. Among whites only eighteen or nineteen die out of each thousand each year. Among negroes, however, the mortality is so excessive, being between forty-one and forty-two per thousand each year, that the general average is increased. There is no healthier city in America than Washington, and the mortality among negroes is no greater than in other large cities where they congregate. Our reports on this subject are also more complete, probably, than those of most other cities, which makes the rate of deaths to population comparatively larger than elsewhere. We are fearfully in debt—we don't deny that—but in all other respects we claim that we have the most attractive city in the Union.

Many of the officers of the Huron, wrecked one week ago to-day, had relatives and warm friends here. Aside from National regret at the loss of so many lives, there is therefore in many cases a feeling of personal sorrow. One much respected gentleman, a resident of the city, who a few years ago lost a son in a similar manner, looses another—and his last—by the death of Walter S. French, Master, who perished in the late disaster; Lieut. Palmer, also lost, had just applied for leave to witness the marriage of his sister here, to an attache of the English Legation. It is proposed to continue for a time the pay of the officers lost to their relatives, and also that of the men, for which there are said to be precedents.

With other correspondents I was pledged not to mention the Washington monument again till action looking to its completion could be noted. But there is another scandalous proposition to depart from the original plan and use the shaft to exhibit some thrifty artist's statue of Washington, Peace, Agriculture and what not; and I wish to protest against such desecration. KNOX.

—The Thanksgiving day which the Canadians celebrated last week was the first one in the history of the young dominion.

THE CITY.

A meeting of the Board of Trade is called for this Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Common Council room. PER ORDER.

A large fleet of coasters in the lower harbor went to sea on Saturday.

Hon. Frank Jones started for Washington on Monday. He was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Josiah Morrison, who goes to Florida in search of health.

Mr. Charles H. Rowe sustained a very severe fracture of the left leg, Sunday evening, occasioned by his slipping and falling in jumping out of a carriage to hold a restive horse, the horse falling upon him.

The Boston Globe of Monday says that J. M. Edmunds, Postmaster of Washington, whose term of office expires in January next, will be succeeded by Hon. Thomas L. Tullock, at present Assistant Postmaster.

The Secretary of the Navy in his report says the iron-clad Massachusetts, on the stocks at this navy yard, is so rotten as not to be worth finishing, and that the Congress, Kansas and Sabine are not worth repairing.

The CHRONICLE and Times on Saturday sold the Hussey house on Islington street to Stephen W. Clark, Esq., and he didn't know he had bought the house until he saw it in the papers. There is nothing equals the press as a disseminator of intelligence. Now is the time to subscribe.

The revival meetings are to be continued here this week, as follows: Morning prayer meetings every day at the Baptist church, and preaching at the North church on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening by the pastors of the city, the choir to be present at each of the latter exercises.

Mr. George Price, who, it will be remembered, was the snare drummer in the late Marine Band, was among the number who perished on the United States steamer Huron. He was ship's writer. According to an Associated Press dispatch his body was recovered and buried near by the scene of the disaster. —Times.

There was good skating on the North Millpond, Monday, and some fifty boys improved the opportunity. The ice we should think could be hardly thick enough for safety, though we are assured it is several inches in thickness. The South Millpond is skimmed over much more lightly, the larger quantity of fresh water running into the North pond probably accounting for the difference, as the fresh water keeps on the surface, and freezes more readily than that which is salt.

The Secretary of the Navy, in his annual report, says of the Kittery navy yard: "No new improvements have been made during the fiscal year. The appropriations for repairs and preservation were barely sufficient, with the practice of rigid economy, to make such repairs as were most urgent. The excellence of the machinery and workshops at this yard, the abundance of skilled labor in its immediate vicinity, the healthfulness of its climate which has caused it to be selected as the port to which vessels of war, suffering from the pernicious climate the West Indies and Mexico shall be ordered for sanitary purposes or for repairs, all combine to recommend it to the fostering care of Congress. The amount of appropriations asked for is small and is urgently needed."

THE VICINITY.

Henry Brown of Seabrook fell through the railroad bridge at Newburyport, Mass., on Wednesday night, Nov. 28th, and was drowned. He was intoxicated.

A tramp, giving several names, shot an estimable lady named Bennett at Newmarket Junction on Saturday, for refusing to give him money wherewith to purchase tobacco, the ball passing through her thigh, making a very bad wound. The lady, a widow, fully identified the man among a number of tramps who were speedily arrested as soon as the shooting became known. He denies the crime, but the evidence is very strong against him.

The reliable house of ALEX. FROTHINGHAM & CO., No. 12 Wall St., New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper, called the Weekly Financial Report, which they send free to any address. In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the rises and standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. FROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," now one of the favorite methods of legitimate speculation. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—New York Metropolis. eod1mo78

FOR 1877-78.

Without recalling the excellence of the past, the publishers of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY announce, for the year to come, the following papers:

THE PICTURESQUE SIDE OF AMERICAN FARM LIFE.—This subject will be treated in a series of separate papers engaged from writers who stand in the front rank among American, both in qualities of style and in keen insight of nature. Mr. R. Robinson, author of a delightful paper on "Fox-Hunting in New England" in the January number, will represent the same section in this series. John Burroughs, whose papers on similar topics have been a highly prized and popular feature of SCRIBNER will write of Farm Life in New York. Maurice Thompson, the poet-naturalist, will describe the characteristics of Western farming, of which but little has been written. It is expected that the illustration of this series will be of a refined and typical character, comparable with the subject matter. It is thought that no paper or series of papers yet issued in SCRIBNER will so fully realize the constant desire of the magazine to keep out of the ruts, and, both in text and illustrations, to obtain quality rather than quantity, and to print fresh, strong and delicate work from original sources.

"ROXY," — by Edward Eggleston (author of "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," etc.). This new novel will doubtless be the most important American serial of the year. The first number was published in November. Those who have read it in manuscript declare ROXY to be much the most striking and remarkable story this author has ever written. It is illustrated by one of the ablest of the younger American painters—Mr. Wladislaw Shirlaw, President of "The American Art Association."

AMERICAN SPORTS.—Some of the most novel and entertaining of these papers are yet to appear, the scenes of which will be in the West, the Middle States, the South, New England and Canada.

OUT-OF-DOOR PAPERS.—By John Burroughs, author of "Wake Robin," etc., will contain not only articles on Birds, but on "Farming—Making Out," and kindred topics. Mr. Burroughs' papers will begin in the January number, the first being entitled "Birds and Birds," and illustrated by Fidelia Bridges.

ARCHITECTURE OF BIRDS.—Dr. Thomas M. Brewer will contribute four exquisitely illustrated articles on birds'-nests, which every lover of nature will delight in. Dr. Brewer has probably the finest collection of birds' eggs in the world to draw upon for the illustration of these papers.

THE SADDLE HORSE.—Col. George E. Waring, whose excellent work in agricultural arts our readers are familiar, contributes two illustrated articles on the horse. He treats specially of saddle-horses and their use for pleasure and for sport, including road-riding, fox hunting and racing. The nature of the English thoroughbred and that of his Eastern progenitor (the Arabian) are fully considered in relation to these uses.

SAXE HOLM.—New stories by this popular writer will be given in early numbers of SCRIBNER, beginning with "Joe Hale's Red Stockings," to appear in January. This novelette" chronicles an episode of the late war for the Union.

"HIS INHERITANCE."—By Adeline Trafton, so well begun in the Midsummer Holiday number, will be continued nearly through the year. It will be found to be of increasing interest to the very end.

"A KNIGHT OF FORTUNE."—Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen's new novel—will be begun in SCRIBNER at the conclusion of "His Inheritance." It will reveal a phase of American society unfreamed of by most of our readers, and will be certain to increase the reputation of the writer as a master of English and of his art.

THE EDITORIAL DEPARTMENTS will continue to employ the ablest pens in America, and will include the present admirable summary of English publications. Besides the special articles above enumerated, the magazine will contain Poems, Sketches, Essays, Reviews, and shorter Stories of the highest character. A large practical reduction in price is made by an increase in the number of pages.

THE ILLUSTRATIONS of the MAGAZINE, in variety and excellence of design and in typographical execution, will continue to be in advance of those of any other popular magazine at home or abroad.

Subscription price, $4.00 a year, payable in advance or in six monthly book-sales.

No club rates or other discounts to subscribers. The Magazine is worth all it costs, and its circulation is increasing in a constant and steady ratio from year to year.

High Heels.

If the young ladies who choose to distort themselves by carrying their heels high in the air in preference to preserving the bearings given them by nature, knew how much they were endangering their health by so doing, they might in some instances be induced to abandon those outrages upon common sense, the French heel shoe. The present style of "Bottines Louis Quinze" originated in that hotbed of absurd fashions, Paris, about the year 1780, and were extensively adopted at that time. A person need but watch the unnatural gait of women wearing high and narrow heels to discover that it is in direct opposition to the laws of nature. The oblique position of the foot removes the weight of the body from the natural point of support, the heel, and throws it forward on to the arch, bringing great and unnatural strain upon this part, and the forced depression of the front portion of the foot produces a relative displacement of the articular surfaces of the bones, resulting in an acute inflammation. The toes, from their cramped position, and the contraction of the muscles of the feet, become permanently distorted. That such deformities may result from the use of high-heel shoes ought to be sufficient to deter any rational person from their use, but all has not yet been said that might be truly told to their discredit. In view of these facts, for facts they are, I am led to ask, why wear an article which produces discomfort, deformity, disease, and distorts the beautiful form which the Almighty has bestowed upon us.—N. Y. Tribune

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.
This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.
Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.
It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff, and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.
By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.
As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.
Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purpose."
BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,
For the Whiskers.
This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, as direction. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Centaur
Liniments.
They relieve pain;
They subdue swellings;
They cure burns without a scar.
The White Centaur Liniment is now the standard remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Frost Bites, Caked Breasts, Itch, Cutaneous Eruptions, etc. These Liniments have stood the test of time. They have performed more wonderful cures of obstinate bed-ridden cripples, and have alleviated more pains in a shorter space of time, than have all other Liniments, Embrocations, Extracts, Ointments and Salves in existence. Their sale is increasing regularly and rapidly. Their best endorsers are physicians, surgeons and veterinarians. There is literally no case of flesh, bone, or muscle ailment upon either man or beast which the Centaur Liniments will not alleviate and generally cure. But it must be understood that there are two kinds of Liniment; the White is for family use and the Yellow for horses and animals. For horses and mules liable to Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Galls, Strains, Stringhalt, Poll-evil, etc., the Yellow Centaur Liniment is worth its weight in gold. We have thousands of certificates relating how valuable horses have been speedily restored by a dollar bottle of this wonderful all-healing remedy. The same is constantly told of the effects upon the human frame. Persons hobbling upon crutches for years from Stiff Joints, Tumors and Old Sores, have, by the use of a few bottles of the White Centaur Liniment, been restored to the use of all their limbs. The effects are next to marvels. We will give the Liniment to any person who ever heard of a full cure. Such a case has never been reported to us. These Liniments are now sold throughout the habitable globe.
J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Honey
To the taste but death to Gripes and Stomach complaints. Pitcher's Castoria is a complete substitute for Castor Oil, and is as pleasant to take as Honey. It is pacific, fairly adapted to feeling and irritable children. It destroys worms, assimilates the food, regulates the Stomach, and cures Wind Colic. No remedy is as efficacious for Feverishness, Croup, Worms and Whooping Cough. Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, more effective than Castor Oil, and neither gags nor gripes.
COLUMBIA, CONN., May 3, 1870.
Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., N. Y.:
I have a family of eight children, and have used your CASTORIA. I have never found anything equal to it. My children have been from severe sickness by the use of CASTORIA. I recommend it in preference to any medicine I know. I feel it a pleasure to give this certificate on account of the benefit I have derived by the use of your admirable preparation.
Very truly yours,
NORMAN P. LITTLE.

The Centaur Liniments are the greatest remedies ever discovered for all death, bone, and muscle ailments. Bites, Bruises, Swellings, Burns, Rheumatism, Stiff Joints, etc. What the White Liniment does for human family, the Yellow Liniment does for horses and animals. They are cheap, they are convenient, and they are certain in their effects.

Children cry for Pitcher's Castoria. It is as pleasant to take as honey. It contains no morphine or other deleterious ingredient, and is sure to expel worms, cure wind colic, regulate the bowels and stomach, and overcome irritation caused by rash or cutting teeth. Mothers can rest, and children enjoy health, who use Castoria. It is harmless, it is certain, it is speedy, and it is cheap.

DR. PIERCE'S STANDARD
REMEDIES
Are not advertised as "cure-alls," but are specifics in the diseases for which they are recommended.
NATURAL SELECTION.
Investigators of natural science have demonstrated beyond controversy, that throughout the animal kingdom the "survival of the fittest" is the only law that conducts to thrift and longevity. Does not the same principle govern the commercial prosperity of man? An inferior cannot compete with a superior article. By reason of superior merit, Dr. Pierce's Standard Medicines have outrivaled all others. Their sale in the United States alone exceeds one million dollars per annum, while the amount exported foots up to several hundred thousand more. No business could grow to such gigantic proportions and rest upon any other basis than that of merit.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is Alterative, or Blood-cleansing.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is Pectoral.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is a Cholagogue, or Liver Stimulant.
Golden Medical Discovery
Is Tonic.
Golden Medical Discovery
By reason of its Alterative properties, cures Diseases of the Blood and Skin, as Scrofula or King's Evil; Tumors; Ulcers or Old Sores; Blotches; Pimples; and Eruptions. By virtue of its Pectoral properties, it cures Bronchial, Throat, and Lung Affections; Incipient Consumption; Lingering Coughs; and Chronic Laryngitis. Its Cholagogue properties render it an unequaled remedy for Biliousness; Torpid Liver, or "Liver Complaint;" and its Tonic properties make it equally efficacious in curing Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, and Dyspepsia.
Where the skin is sallow and covered with blotches and pimples, or where there are scrofulous swellings and affections, a few bottles of Golden Medical Discovery will effect an entire cure. If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have sallow color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills alternated with hot flashes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite, and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint," only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy.
P.P.P.P.
Dr. Pierce's
Pleasant
Purgative
Pellets.
The "Little Giant" Cathartic, or Multum in Parvo Physic, scarcely larger than mustard seeds, and are sugar-coated. They remove the necessity of taking the great, crude, drastic, sickening pills, heretofore so much in use.
As a remedy for Headache, Dizziness, Rush of Blood to the Head, Tightness about the Chest, Bad Taste in Mouth, Eructations from the Stomach, Bilious Attacks, Jaundice, Pain in the Kidneys, Highly-colored Urine, and Internal Fever, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are unsurpassed. Furthermore, it could say that their action is universal, not a gland escaping their sanative impress. Age does not impair the properties of these Pellets. They are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are always fresh and reliable. This is not the case with those pills which are put up in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes. The daily use of these Pellets for a month will eradicate chronic cases of Scrofula, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Blotches, Pimples, Sore-Eyes, and Kindred Humors. They are, however, recommended to be taken in connection with the Golden Medical Discovery, in order to secure the best results.

The remedial management of those diseases peculiar to women has afforded a large experience at the World's Dispensary, in which Dr. Pierce is the chief consulting physician, in adapting remedies for their cure. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the result of this extended experience, and has become justly celebrated for its many and remarkable cures of all those chronic diseases and
WEAKNESSES
PECULIAR TO
FEMALES.
Favorite Prescription is a Powerful Restorative Tonic for the entire system. It is a nervine of the superaxed efficacy, and, while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked magic cures, viz.: Leucorrhœa, or "Whites," Excessive Flowing, Painful Menstruation, Unnatural Suppressions, Weak Backs, Prolapsus, or falling of the Uterus, Anteversion, Retroversion, Bearing-down Sensation, Chronic Congestion, Inflammation and Ulceration of the Uterus, Internal Heat, Nervous Depression, Debility, Despondency, and very many other chronic diseases peculiar to women, but too numerous to mention.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

O ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; then renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray.

It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus lusterless, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expressive, falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

CATARRH

Of Ten Years' Duration. The Discharges Thick, Bloody, and of Foul Odor. Senses of Smell and Taste Wholly Gone. Entirely Cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen—I feel compelled to acknowledge to you the great benefit SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE has been to me. For ten years I have been afflicted with this loathsome disease, and especially in the winter time has it been most severe. The discharge has been thick and bloody, emitting a foul odor so bad that my presence in a room with others was very offensive to them. One week after commencing the use of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE I was not troubled with it at all. My senses of taste and smell, which were wholly gone, have now fully returned, and my general health is much improved. Yours,

MELBOURNE H. FORD,
Short-Hand Writer.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 3, 1876.

LATER.

Gentlemen: The package of SANFORD'S CURE arrived here to-night, all right. I don't know what I should have done if it had not been for this remedy. I have tried Nasal Douches and everything else, and although I have been able to stop the offensive discharge, I have not been able to recover my senses of taste and smell until I tried SANFORD'S CURE. You can refer any one you choose to me, and I will cheerfully inform them in detail as to the benefit the remedy has been to me.

Yours, MELBOURNE H. FORD.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Nov. 15, 1876.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The full text of the President's message would take up much more room than we have to spare. The following is a synopsis of it:

After the customary introduction the President immediately enters upon the discusssion of the action of the administration with regard to the withdrawal of troops from the Southern State House, and the present administrative policy. The facts in the case of South Carolina and Louisiana are briefly recited. The President considers that the effect of his Southern policy has been beneficial. The Southern States are at peace, there have been no political murders, the material condition has improved, credit is better and manufacturing industries are developing.

The next subject treated in the message is the financial question. Upon this subject the President's position is very positive. He considers resumption of specie payments as of the first importance and as essential both to the development of our internal trade and the extension of our foreign commerce. The President, after thorough research and careful study, declares that he is fully confirmed in the opinion expressed in his letter of acceptance and inaugural that the resumption policy must be maintained, and that no legislation that would hinder it should be enacted. He thinks a contrary course, instead of relieving the country from embarrassment and distress, would aggravate existing distrust and result in serious disaster and national dishonor. He considers that while the injurious effects of opposition to speedy resumption would not be restricted to one class, it would most seriously affect the working masses. With regard to the remonetization of silver the President is equally positive. He pronounces himself for a double standard, and thinks that silver and gold should be utilized in the currency of the country, but he does not favor a remonetization of silver so that the silver dollar shall be a full legal tender. He considers that the national debt was contracted in gold, and that it should be paid, principal and interest in that coin. He does not approve of any legislation which would compel the creditors to accept payment in silver coin. The President believes in the policy of using both precious metals, but is opposed to making the silver dollar legal tender for public debt or imposts. He would not give that dollar any higher function than that now exercised by national bank currency. The President desires the remonetization of silver as subsidiary coin only with a legal tender somewhat larger than at present, but it appears very evident from his message that he could not approve a bill which would make the silver dollar an unlimited legal tender.

Upon the civil service question the President again states in substance the opinion of his inaugural address. In consideration of the fact that his views on this question are generally known he has evidently not thought it necessary to discuss the subject at length. No allusion is made directly to the differences which have existed between the Senate and the Executive with respect to appointments, nor is there anything in the message which shows the disposition on the part of the President to quarrel with the Senate or to encroach in any way upon the prerogative of that body. His message is very positive and explicit in the language used as to civil service, but it is possible that the extreme advocates of that policy will not find as much as they have expected.

Of foreign topics, questions relating to the Mexican border are given the most prominence. The condition of affairs on the Rio Grande, as shown by official reports, is briefly reviewed, and the reasons which caused the order to be issued to General Ord are stated. The President appears to appreciate the delicate position in which the government has been placed by issuing that order, and evidently is conscious that it possibly may lead to serious international difficulty, but he defends it on the ground that the lives and property of the border citizens could not be protected in any other way, and disavows any intention or desire to provoke hostilities with Mexico. From this portion of the message it will appear that the administration is determined upon a vigorous foreign policy, one which will not seek difficulties with other nations, but which will be ready to accept the consequence of any act necessary for the protection of the rights or property of American citizens.

Secretary Sherman, in his report, does not ask for any additional legislation to enable him execute the resumption act, and the President in his message agrees with the Secretary. If Congress were disposed to favor resumption, some additional laws might be asked for, but under the circumstances the President and Secretary both think that none should be, and they will stand by the act of January 1st, 1879. The Secretary also maintains that the resumption act does not require the cancellation of three hundred millions of United States notes which remain after the greenback currency has been reduced to that maximum, and that it may be left in circulation, being always exchangeable at the sub-treasuries for gold coin.

The affairs of the War, Navy and Post-office departments receive brief mention. The recommendations of the chiefs of the departments are generally approved. In treating of the subjects which come under the Interior Department special prominence is given to the Indian question. The President insists that good faith should be preserved with the Indians. He is very emphatic upon this point. The first step toward civilizing the Indians recommended is the discouragement of hunting, by allowing them only a small supply of arms and ammunition, and persuading them to exchange ponies for cattle. This, the President thinks, will destroy or keep in check their warlike spirit. So fast as the Indians abandon hunting the President believes they should be collected upon a smaller number of reservations, and taught agriculture and herding. In teaching them peaceful pursuits their natural tastes should be considered, and those who preferred cattle raising to farming should be permitted to choose their occupation. It is recommended that the jurisdiction of the United States Courts be extended to protect the Indians, and that an Indian police, composed of Indians, be established.

Compulsory education is recommended for Indian children, the farms supported by the government to be used for the instruction of youth in the schools and the farmers to visit the farms themselves and give necessary advice on reservations. Indian labor is recommended. The President also refers to Secretary Schurz's Indian investigations, and speaks of their good results. Legislation is asked providing for more certain discovery and prevention of abuses in the Indian service.

The message contains a paragraph on the District of Columbia, the Agricultural Department, the Washington monument, (recommending its completion,) and on several other subjects of minor importance.
